Snow flakes are different sizes. The larges ones are seen on mild days when the thermometer is just below the freezing mark (at 32 degrees). The small flakes fall when it is very cold. The different patterns for snow flakes are six-sided. In one snowstorm, the flakes are usually all the same design.

WHY SNOW IS WHITE

Snow is white because the combination of the different colors of a prism produce the white shade. Snow may fill the roads and have to be cleared away. It is fun to watch the snow-clearing equipment at work. Snow is valuable to the farmer. He knows that the snow blanket, covering his field, conserves necessary moisture and protects roots from the frost.

If a child is interested in snow crystals, do have a board covered with dark cloth (preferably velvet) ready to catch flakes on its surface during the next snow fall. Many of the flakes travel a long distance and are broken in their descent. But the perfect flakes are beautiful in their lacy design. An inexpensive magnifying glass shows the outline more distinctly. A good magnifying glass is a splendid piece of equipment in a family where even one child has a nature lore hobby. The amazing loveliness of snow crystals has been copied by designers of wall paper, of cloth, of jewellry and of fancywork, too.

A PARKA can not be improved on for lightness and warmth for both little and big "men" when playing in the snow.

REAL SNOW MAGIC

To the little child there is a real magic and mystery about the snow. His parents miss something very worth-while if they do not take time to enter into his delight in the miracle of snow flakes. The older boy or girl gets a tremendous "bang" out of winter sports. As one boy exclaimed, "Who would want to be a grown-up who never skied or skated—or even went for a hike after a new fall of snow!"

HERE ARE THE TWO All-American selections for 1953—Royal Carpet alyssum, left, and Comanche petunia. Royal Carpet is a rich, deep violet, the bloom covering it so completely it seems to have no foliage. Comanche is the reddest and richest petunia so far developed. It blooms from early spring until killing frost.

YOUR GARDEN:

New Flowers; Vegetables Tested

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

Ever helpful to the gardener are the official releases of the All-America selections committee which rates the new varieties after three years of testing. The trial gardens are located in all climatic zones and geographic sections of the United States and in southern Canada.

The trial grounds, 18 for flowers and 22 for vegetables, are maintained by resident judges who watch and note the entries for two and often three seasons. These reports are submitted to the All-America Selections committee and those deemed worthy of recognitions are then introduced to the garden world. Gardeners may depend on any new selection as recommended, for it has been thoroughly tested.

Royal Carpet alyssum and Comanche petunia win the only awards and recommendations of All-America Selections for 1953. With a silver and bronze award, respectively, these are the outstanding new flowers of the year. Along with dozens of other promising annuals from around the world they have been thoroughly tested and compared with closest similar kinds during the past two years of trials.

Royal Carpet alyssum is the first new variety in the alyssum family since Violet Gem was introduced a few years ago. Royal Carpet is the color of the richest, deepest Violet Gem and flattened out to only two inches tall by 10 or 12 inches across.

Covered almost completely with a sheet of violet or royal purple bloom, it seems to have no foliage. It makes a richer and more attractive blanket of refreshing color. Carpet of Snow is the white-flowered counterpart.

Use this alyssum in sunny positions for ground cover, lowest edging, in rock and walls. It certainly creates attention and admiration, and it is about the easiest seed to grow.

Comanche petunia is absolutely true to type and color, the reddest and richest petunia so far created. Since petunias are the most widely and popular and satisfactory planted flowers of them all, Comanche has added significance and value. It is always in bloom, from early spring until killing frosts, and may be carried over the winter in the lower South.

Deeper and richer scarlet red than Fire Chief, the only other red petunia, it also has somewhat larger flowers and many more of them. Comanche plants are larger, bushier and stronger. They stand erect over a long blooming season, making a striking bedding display. Cut-flowers are long lasting and very useful for arrangements.

Comanche is a first generation hybrid, true, uniform and with extra hybrid vigor for beds, borders, lining walks and drives, pots, window and porch boxes. Fast to grow, it is the outstanding red and rich-colored petunia to date.

We cannot be sure that either Royal Carpet alyssum or Comanche petunia seed will be available in Canada this year. They have been developed in the United States, and therefore the American market will have first claim on the limited quantities of these seeds in this first year of distribution. It is usual for new American varieties to become available on the Canadian market only after a couple of years. However, the two varieties seem worth watching and waiting for.

Garden Questions

Q—From what plant is cinnamon extracted and what is the process?

A—It is made from the inner bark of an evergreen tropical tree of the Laurel family, listed botanically as cinnamomum zeyianicum. The bark is taken from the smooth - growing two - year - old branches; dried in the sun and ground.

Q—Many of our house plants are infested with plant lice and mealy bugs. Dusting with DDT has had no effect on them. What pesticide should be used?

A—Plant lice, aphids and mealy bugs cannot be killed by stomach poisons of any kind because these insects suck their food. Twice-monthly spraying of both sides of the leaves with a nicotine sulfate-and-soapy-water solution will rid the plants of these pests.

Q.—We often see lawns covered with manure in winter. Is manure recommended as a lawn fertilizer?

A:—Peat moss or a sandy loam soil to which fertilizer is added is more valuable and much easier to apply than manure. An eighth-inch layer of this topdressing should be spread and raked evenly.

Q—Will a snake-plant survive if no water is given it for two weeks? We will be away from home.

A—Your snake-plant (sansevieria) should be able to take it for two weeks. The plant stores water in the thousands of leaf-cells to carry it over a dry period, so water it well the day you leave.

Q—Ferns of any variety are not happy in our house. What are the requirements for their successful growth?

A—They should have a moist atmosphere and a fairly sunny location. If lighting is poor, place a 100 watt bulb in a suitable reflector two or three feet above them. The soil must neither dry out completely nor be soggy other than when first watered. Good drainage is important.

What's Right?

A friend from out of town that you rarely see is spending an evening in your home.

WRONG: Entertain him all evening by keeping the television turned on.

RIGHT: Spend the evening in conversation, so that the two of you will have a chance for a real visit.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Quite some time back you printed recipe for pickled eggs, with the secret of keeping the yolks from turning color. If at all possible would you give me this recipe?— R. L. P.

PICKLED EGGS

ANSWER: Twelve hard-cooked eggs (see below), 1 quart spirit vinegar, 1 teaspoon each dry mustard, salt, pepper, (OR instead of dry mustard use 1 tablespoon mustard seeds, 1 bay leaf, 6 cloves; if desired hard-cooked eggs may each be stuck with a few whole cloves). Remove shells from eggs. Boil vinegar and seasonings together from 3 to 5 minutes. Cool and pour into glass jar with cover. Drop in eggs. Cover and let stand at least 10 days before using. If desired vinegar may be colored with green vegetable coloring which tints the whites and gives pretty effect when eggs are sliced. To Hard-Cook Eggs: Put eggs in cold water to cover; bring to simmering point, do not boil. Cook at simmering point, covered, for 30 minutes. Drain, cover with cold water at once to chill through, then peel.

QUESTION: . . . would you kindly put a recipe in the paper for Patience Candy? I bought a candy thermometer and do not know what temperature to boil it to . . . G. G. S.

ANSWER: I must apologize G. G. S. It was I hwo was obtuse over your first letter.

PATIENCE CANDY

Three cups granulated sugar, 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter, ⅛ teaspoon salt. Put 1 cup sugar in saucepan and slowly heat, stirring until dissolved and golden brown and caramelized. Slowly add 1 cup hot milk (this will sputter so be careful and turn your face away) and stir until caramelized sugar dissolves into the milk. Add all remaining ingredients and cook to 236 deg. Fahr. Remove from heat at once and begin beating. Beat until it begins to retain the marks of the spoon. (This is where the candy gets it name—for this beating takes some time.) Add ¼ to ½ cup chopped toasted almonds. Press into a buttered pan. Mark into squares and cool.

QUESTION: . . . I loaned my French Bread recipe and haven't been able to get it back. Could I have it again? The one that includes the glaze of 2 teaspoons cornstarch dissolved in water then stirred into ½ cup boiling water and cooked until clear. It was the first time I'd ever seen it . . . I tried the cherry coffee cake and found it didn't bake in 25 minutes . . . but baked my second one 35 minutes at 350 deg. and by baking it longer it was grand . . . Mrs. C. H. W.

ANSWER: I am glad you were able to rectify the Cherry Coffee Cake—it may have been because your oven temperature receded a little with all of the other things baking in the oven. It could be your oven thermometer is registering a little low. Thanks for the tip just the same.

FRENCH BREAD (with glaze) (1 loaf)

Into a warm bowl put 1 cup lukewarm water and add 1 cake compressed yeast and let stand without stirring for 5 minutes, then add 1 tablespoon soft shortening and stir until shortening is dissolved Add 1½ teaspoons salt and from 3½ to 3¾ sifted bread flour. First mix with spoon, then with hand in the bowl. When dough begins to leave sides of bowl as you mix it is ready to knead for 5 minutes. Put in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled. This is a firm dough and requires maximum rising time. Punch down in bowl, thrusting fist into dough, pull edges into centre and turn dough over in bowl. Let rise again until doubled. Roll into an oblong 15 x 10 in. Roll up tightly toward you, beginning with wide side, seal edges by pinching. With one hand on each end roll gently back and forth to lengthen loaf and taper ends. Place diagonally on lightly greased cornmeal-sprinkled baking sheet. Make ¼-inch gashes at 2-inch intervals. Let stand uncovered about 1½ hours in warm place. Brush top with cold water. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Brush with glaze: mix ½ teaspoon cornstarch with 2 teaspoons cold water, then add ⅓ cup boiling water. Cook over boiling water 5 minutes, stirring twice. After bread has baked 10 minutes at 425 deg. brush with this cooked glaze, reduce heat to 375 deg. 30 minutes longer or until golden.

DOROTHY DIX:

Jealous Husband Bans Wife Attending Women's Parties

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem is making me a nervous wreck. I married quite young, and life with Phil was wonderful until we returned here, to the city where I was raised. Since then his jealousy has made my life horrible. I'm not allowed to go to any clubs, showers, or anything attended by women only. If he can't go along, I can't either. I've lost all my friends. Phil says I can't see any unmarried girl friends because all they're out for is a pick-up, which isn't true. When my mother died, I was sent for but couldn't go because Phil had to work and couldn't go with me. He claims no woman can be true, and the only way to insure fidelity is to give no freedom.

His attitude has killed all my love for him. Do you think I would be right in suing for divorce? Or should I stay on?

DONNO W.

A SUBJECT FOR A PSYCHIATRIST

ANSWER: Phil is the victim of a neurotic jealousy which will probably never be cured, but will, in fact, become worse as he grows older. His contemtuous attitude towards women belies any hope of change, and his despicable refusal to let you attend your mother's funeral brands him as a man with absolutely no decent feelings. You mean nothing more than a chattel to him. Life with him certainly holds no happiness for you, and may even lead to tragedy. Have a talk with your clergyman and get his opinion on a separation. I recommend, also, a conference with your doctor. If either one suggests pyschiatric care for your husband, follow through and see if the situation improves.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am one of a large family, whose parents did the best they could to give us an education and spiritual training. However, one of my sisters has chosen to live with a married man. I contend that her conduct should estrange her from the rest of the family, but some of my sisters have been accepting both of them into their homes as though they were married. I refuse to do so, and my husband agrees with my stand.

PUZZLED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Flagrant adultery cetainly is not a thing to be condoned or accepted. Those of your sisters who do treat the couple as honored guests are undermining the standards of their own families. How can the children of these sisters be taught right from wrong when their own parents sanction, almost encourage, so serious a sin? You quote some of your friends as saying what the erring sister does is her own business. That's true as long as her wrongdoing doesn't touch other people. When she flaunts her misdeeds to the point where the morals of younger people might be endangered, her actions become the business of everyone in the family. Stealing another woman's husband is not a pretty deed, and one indulging in it should at least have the grace to keep her mode of living private.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Before I was married, my best girl friend tried to separate my fiance and me. Now that we're married, my husband doesn't want her to come to our house. She and I always went around together and I would like to have her visit me.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband sure has lots more sense than you have. Some women really do go out of their way to look for trouble, and you, apparently, are one of them. The girl friend tried, almost successfully, to woo your fiance away from you, and I'd like to know what guarantee you have that she won't do the same with the man now that he's your husband? You're nursing a viper in your bosom, girl, and, if you want to keep a happy home, let the girl friend go her own way.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 15 and I like a boy who lives quite a distance away. He wants to write to me, but I'm worried about what my parents would say. They don't know about him yet. Should I tell them he wants to write, or correspond secretly? Also if he comes down to see me, should I introduce him to my parents?

SUZANNE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One of the most foolish things a girl can do is to correspon with, or see, a boy secretly. If you're ashamed to tell your folks about the boy, he's not worth bothering with. By all means take Mom into your confidence, and if the boy comes to visit, introduce him to your family.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend is in the Army and I just feel lost without him. We have been going steady for two years. He wants us to get married but I think I should finish school. I still have a year to go. I have lost track of all my girl friends since I have spent so much time with the boy. I'm so lonesome; what can I do?

ROSEANNA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It shouldn't be too difficult for you to pick up the threads of old friendships, or weave new ones. So many girls are sharing your problem that I'm sure they'd like to band together for mutual comfort. Scout around among your schoolmates and see how many girls are lonely because their boys are in service. Set up some sort of a project, such as sending a package to one of the boys each week, or month, as your finances permit. Periodically then, each boy will receive a box from home into which is packed all the good wishes of his old pals—as well as more substantial items.

Donald Hall Jailed, Fined For Shooting

Convicted on a charge of common assault Donald C. Hall, 29, of Scarboro on Friday afternoon was sentenced to a month in jail and a $100 fine. Judge John deN. Kennedy, presiding at county court, stipulated that if the $100 fine is not paid Hall will spend an extra month in jail.

Originally Hall was charged with firing a shotgun with intent to maim Melvin Tripp, 32-year-old Burleigh Township construction worker. This was reduced to common assault by Judge Kennedy who found the accused man guilty on Jan. 28 but waited till Friday before passing sentence so he could hear three character witnesses.

The charge arose out of a shooting affray that broke out on Sept. 27 outside Tripp's one-room cabin, four miles southwest of Apsley, where he lived with his wife and five children.

Evidence was that Hall and a Mr. and Mrs. William Clinton were walking through the bush on their way to Hall's hunting lodge. Clinton and his wife entered Tripp's cabin and got into an argument.

FIRED TWO SHOTS

Hall, who remained outside the cabin, for some reason fired two shots. One of the shotgun blasts tore through the wall of the log cabin, a few inches from where Tripp was standing arguing with the Clintons.

After the second shot, Tripp went outside with his own shotgun loaded. He said he saw Hall 10 feet away, advancing with a semi-automatic shotgun at the ready. Tripp said he fired, winging Hall in the tip of the right shoulder.

Mrs. Tripp bathed the gunshot wound and Hall was then taken to Lakefield for medical treatment. He was about two weeks in hospital and was off work for a couple of months.

As a result of the shooting affray both men were charged with shooting with intent to maim. Tripp was freed at the last sittings of the Supreme Court.

In passing sentence Judge Kennedy said that Hall could have got a much stiffer penalty but a couple of mitigating factors were taken into consideration.

"You have a good war service record . . . and you have already suffered a partial penalty by reason of being shot in the shoulder," said Judge Kennedy.

Counsel were Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw and Robert Carley who represented Hall.

Havelock Soldier Injured In Korea In Car Accident

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Menzies have received word from their son Pte. David Menzies, who is on active service in Korea with the Royal Canadian Regiment, that he has been in a truck accident, and as a result suffered a broken left arm.

The break is a serious one, as his arm was pinned under the truck for some time and the bones are splintered. He was shaken up and received some bruises as well.

Pte. Menzies was in hospital in Seoul, Korea, when he wrote the first letter to his parents about the accident. Later he was transferred to a hospital at Kure, in Japan, where the second letter was written January 25. Pte. Menzies said the cast was to be taken off the next day and then it would be decided if an operation would be necessary. If not, he expects to be coming home soon. He would have completed a year of active service in March and this accident may be the means of bringing him back a little earlier than he had anticipated.

Prior to having his arm broken, Pte. Menzies was in hospital in Korea with a wounded right hand on which an operation was performed to remove the shrapnel. He also had the flu while there. Pte. Menzies received his paratrooper wings at Rivers, Man.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzies also had a letter from Pte. Stanley Simpson of Havelock, a member of the RCR in Korea, who is a pal of their son David, and who will also see a year of service in Korea in March. Pte Simpson is a stretcher-bearer with an ambulance corps. He stated that they were enjoying the best of weather, which was just like the fall season in Canada. He said he was kept quite busy at times, especially when patrols were sent out.

Pte. Simpson told of meeting two Havelock brothers, Keith and Reginald Toms. Pte. Keith Toms is with the 37th Field Ambulance Corps and Pte. Reginald Toms is driving a dump truck for the Engineers. When the latter takes a load of Koreans up to work at "A" Company, he sometimes gets an opportunity to call on Pte. Simpson.

Wars Brought Boom, Jolliffe Tells CCF

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) E. B. Jolliffe, leader of the Ontario CCF party, said Friday night the current prosperity in Canada is "due entirely to the Second World War, the Korean war and the threat of still another onslaught."

Speaking to the Sault CCF Association, Mr. Jolliffe said a "federal or provincial system which functions on the misfortunes of other people needs to be changed." He said the Liberal government has placed Canada in the role of "date-maker" between Great Britain and the United States.

"The federal government's concept of our country in the role of introducing the two nations and patching up their quarrels is not noble and does not reflect the temper of the people," he said.

'Contempt,' PC Leader Says Of Premier Leaving House

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent left the Commons Friday night after declaring he had other things to do than to listen to a speech by a Progressive Conservative member.

F. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) was criticizing a government request for extension of broad emergency powers. The request was contained in a resolution sponsored by Mr. St. Laurent.

Noting the prime minister was about to leave his seat, Mr. Fulton said Mr. St. Laurent thought so little of his own resolution that he was leaving the chamber.

Mr. St. Laurent stopped, and said:

"The prime minister has other things to do than to listen to the honorable gentleman."

He left the chamber amid applause from Liberal benches.

"It is a perfect indication of contempt of Parliament," interjected George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, with reference to the prime minister's action.

Members laughed a little later when Mr. Drew left the chamber.

Mr. Drew was on his way out when a Liberal shouted:

"Are you going to leave, George?"

Mr. Drew stopped and sat with J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood).

"That was a sober second thought," interjected Dan Riley (L—St. John-Albert).

Mr. Drew left the chamber a few minutes later.

The young pianist has made more than 150 concert appearances in the last two years and has appeared with the Toronto, Royal Conservatory, Kitchener and Waterloo symphony orchestras.

Dudley is the second Canadian artist to sign a Columbia contract. Lois Marshall, Toronto soprano, received one in January. He will return to Europe this spring for engagements in Paris and London.

Claim Administration Plans Asian Program

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says today the Eisenhower administration is planning a long-range training and equipment program for troops of Asian countries that might wish to co-operate in the defence of Asia from Communist aggression.

The newspaper says the projected plan is understood to be an extension of the President's campaign assertion that South Koreans should man more of the Korean battle line, thus insuring that Asians would be fighting Asians.

The Times says the government already has decided to start detailed studies of the number of ground troops Nationalist China, Japan, The Philippines and Siam could provide.

Officials in chargeof the program the Times adds, concede that some Asian countries attempting to steer clear of involvement in the East-West cold war, would be unlikely to take part in the project, at least at first. Among those mentioned were India, Pakistan, Burma and Indonesia.

Grant To Town To Be Discussed At Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Public Utilities Commission of Campbellford will hold a special meeting Feb. 18 to consider what grant the commission can give the council, which is usually done each year to help lower or hold the tax rate.

The meeting will also serve to interview the pumping station superintendent, Mr. Redden; chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the council, F. M. Rutherford and fire chief Alex MacDonald. The men will be interviewed to see what they think of the idea of having the P.U.C. look after the fire fighting equipment kept in the fire hall.

After a special joint meeting of the P.U.C. and the town council held some time ago, the idea was talked over, with everyone apparently in accord. Council discussed the matter at a regular meeting later, and made a motion that the P.U.C. be hired at a nominal sum to look after the upkeep of the fire truck and to fill and maintain the extinguishers, as well as look after other town equipment kept in the fire hall.

Commissioner A. C. Newman moved to adopt the motion as it was read to the meeting by the clerk, but chairman A. J. Meyers claimed there was a possibility that the move would cause trouble between the commission and the council, or the employees at the fire hall.

It was at this point that Commissioner R. J. McGregor moved what the board argued over as an amendment to the motion. He asked that the employees, chairman of the fire, water and light committee and the fire chief be called to a special meeting to talk the matter over.

Commissioner Newman maintained that the amendment was not an amendment but another motion, but he was overruled by chairman A. J. Meyers. Mr. Meyers said "I'm chairman of this meeting and I say to vote on the amendment".

Mr. Newman replied "I strongly object to this procedure and want the clerk to record my objections in the minutes." The vote on each issue was a tie, and the original motion was lost, but chairman Meyers' 'yea' vote on the amendment carried it. The special meeting will be held on Feb. 18.

The auditor's report was received, and commissioners McGregor and Newman asked to have a breakdown of the report, showing how much money was paid each individual employee.

Mayor Locke, who is also a member of the board, said he would like to see the monthly P.U.C. pay sheet prepared in much the same manner as the pay sheet passed by the council. Each department should list its expenditures, with the wages of each employee listed, he said.

Commissioner Newman said he wanted to know how much it was costing to run each department, and to know just where the money goes.

A motion asking that a statement be prepared, showing the total wages charged against each department or accounting number, and that the statement be broken down into the individual's wages for the year ending October 31, 1952, was carried.

The board decided to ask council to permit them to establish a sinking fund to allow for capital depreciation in power and water departments.

Mayor Locke asked the board for the usual grant for the council, and it was decided to have the manager, P. C. Denyes prepare a budget of the estimated expenditures and receipts for the coming year. From this the board will be able to determine what grant the board will be able to give the council this year.

Follow These Rules When Replacing Broken Windows

Replacing broken window-panes need hold no terror for the homeowner if he follows a few simple rules. It is usually advisable to remove the sash and lay it on a flat surface, although if the window is on the ground floor the pane may be replaced with the aid of a step ladder.

Broken glass should be removed from the sash and old putty chipped off with a chisel or jackknife. Glazier's points should be pulled and the wood where the new glass is to rest thoroughly scraped. The wood should then be given a coat of thin paint or linseed oil to act as a filler and prevent the oil in the putty from being absorbed by the wood and the putty from drying out and crumbling.

It is usually better to measure accurately the size of the needed glass and to give the dimensions to the hardware or paint dealer, letting him cut the pane to the proper size, than to attempt cutting the glass at home. All four sides from wood to wood in the sash should be measured and one-sixteenth to one-eighth deducted to allow for expansion and irregularities. Measuring the four sides is advisable because some sashes are not true and do not form a perfect rectangle.

USE PUTTY CUSHION

A thin coat of putty, about one-sixteenth inch thick, should be spread on the rabbet or groove in the sash for the glass to rest in and the pane placed in the sash. Care should be taken to have the putty evenly distributed so that unfilled gaps will not appear between the sash and the glass. By pressing gently on the glass to embed the edges of the pane in the putty, the pane can be made watertight and the cushion of putty thus formed will reduce the possibility of crackingthe glass when glazier's points are put in.

Glazier's points are small flat triangular metal pieces used in addition to putty to hold the glass in place. They should be laid on the glass, about three or four to a side, on the long sides first, and forced into the sash with the side edge of the tool over the surface of the glass. If the glass is still loose after the points have been set, remove those which do not fit well and replace them pressing more firmly against the bed of putty during the process.

Putty may be purchased in the tin, in bulk, and also in self-sealing foil packages that keep it pliable almost indefinitely. To prepare the putty for use, it should be kneaded on a non-absorptive surface such as a glass plate until the mass is pliable. A small amount of linseed oil may sometimes be needed to make the putty more pliable.

For application to the sash, a small piece of putty should be rolled out between the palms of the hands to form a pencil-shaped roll. The rolls should then be laid end to end on the glass where it abuts the sash, one side at a time. The putty should be pressed down firmly but gently with a putty knife, drawing it along the sash from one end to the other.

To lessen the danger of breaking the glass by strong pressure, the putty should be soft and pliable. The putty knife should be held at an angle, guided by the glass and sash, to form a smooth bevel. Excess putty spreading beyond this bevel should be cut off and used to fill any depressions that have occurred. Care should be taken not to spread the putty far enough over the surface to show on the inside.

Concessions Unshorn Fair Board Reps Told

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of Ontario fair boards were told Friday that the average midway concession operator is usually "unshaven and unshorn" but that fair boards all too frequently did little to correct the situation.

Clarence M. Lee of Paris, describing the ideal fair from a patron's view, told members of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies that the midway was always a subject for argument. He suggested the men who run the province's fairs could do quite a bit to improve the midway situation, such as providing a washroom where the operator of concessions could clean up.

Herbert Corbett of Dundalk was elected president and Howard Giles of Almonte and Raymond Comfort of St. Anns vice-presidents.

Mt. Pleasant WA Holds Meeting

FAIRVIEW (ENS)—The January meeting of the Mt. Pleasant WA was held at the home of Mrs. D. H. Lawson. Mrs. Gordon McLean was in the chair.

Mrs. Norman Fee read the scripture and Mrs. T. W. Graham had charge of the devotional period.

New programs were distributed. The members decided to buy a new broom and mop for the church.

The Rev A. E. Larke suggested three members be appointed to make a survey of ideas for raising money in the coming year. The ideas are to be submitted at the next meeting. Named were Mrs. N. Fee, Mrs. G. McLean, Mrs. D. Lawson.

The members voted to withdraw the birthday box this year and on Mrs. Larke's suggestion to use the cent-a-day plan.

Mrs. Norman Fee was appointed to be the citizenship convener. Mrs. H. Lowes suggested that the members consider asking the WA Presbytery convention to meet at Mt. Pleasant in 1954, the matter to be definitely decided at February meeting.

Mrs. H. Bland and Mrs. G. McLean were in charge of the program. Mrs. Larke gave a reading on Christian Stewarship as it concerned family life in the home. Contests were conducted by Mrs. J. Fee and Mrs. E. McLean. Readings were given by Mrs. W. H. Lowes, Mrs. S. Tully, Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. G. McLean. Mr. Larke spoke a few words on the value of prayer.

A social hour was enjoyed and the hostess assisted by Group 5 served a dainty lunch.

BRANTFORD (CP) — Joseph Ewasiuk of Toronto was sentenced Friday to two years for defrauding a Brantford man of $741 in a card game. He pleaded guilty. Evidence was the victim, a recent German immigrant, left the money under a bed in a hotel room while accompanying Ewasiuk and another man to a house for a savings bond. The Brantford man's money was gone when he returned for it.

CCF Might Head BC Government If Socreds Fall

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Liberal leader E. T. Kennedy said in the British Columbia legislature Friday the CCF should be given a chance to govern without a new election being called if the Social Credit government falls.

The Liberals will challenge the government and cause its downfall if it "goes off the deep end" in legislation.

The six Liberal members hold the balance of power in the 48-member legislature. Social Credit has 19 members, including the Speaker, the CCF 18, Progressive Conservatives two and Labor one. There are two vacancies.

At Halifax, Premier Angus L. Macdonald forecast a $919,000 surplus for Nova Scotia in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1953. He said the figure is—"on the safe side."

QUEBEC ADJOURNS

The Quebec legislative assembly adjourned until Tuesday in honor of Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal, who will arrive Monday on a visit to Quebec.

Before the adjournment, Health Minister Paquette announced government plans for a 1,200-bed hospital in Montreal for mental patients.

Next week, the assembly will consider a government bill overhauling the Pharmacy Act. The new provisions would prevent any licensed pharmacist or organization from operating more than one pharmacy or operating a pharmacy under a name other than his own.

These provisions would not affect present conditions and would become effective on the date the bill becomes law.

Convicted Of Rape, Gets 16-Year Term

TORONTO (CP)—A 16-year penitentiary term was imposed Friday on Raymond Vatour, 23, formerly of Saint John, N.B., convicted of raping a 50-year-old woman Dec. 4 in a laneway in central Toronto.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer described the case as "shocking" and one of the most brutal to come before the courts in years.

Armenian Skips Ship In N.B. Still Unwelcome

TORONTO (CP)—A young Armenian who jumped ship at Saint John, N.B., in 1947 and worked in Canada for five years before being deported still hasn't found a country that will take him in.

Hevannes Minasyn, 30, arrived this week at Tilbury docks near London aboard the City of Glasgow, but Britain does not want him. Nor, apparantly, does any other country and his native Armenia has disappeared behind the Iron Curtain.

Minasyn, who has no passport, worked in Toronto after jumping ship, but five years later decided to make a clean breast of his illegal status. He spent five months in Don jail before being sent back to Montreal and then deported to a ship of the Ellerman line from which he had deserted.

Since last August, Minasyn has travelled as a seaman aboard Ellerman ships to ports all over the world. He has been to Britain, to Iraq, to Calcutta and back to Britain again.

An Ellerman official at Montreal said Minasyn is a problem to the line.

In a letter to friends in Toronto, the Armenian enclosed a petition from crew members of the City of Glasgow who appealed on his behalf. "Hevannes Minasyn is a good, honest seaman. We appeal for consideration in his case," the petition said.

Jailed For 15 Months For Dangerous Driving

BRAMPTON (CP) — William Fleming, 31, of Fergus was sentenced Friday to 15 months on charges arising from the June 27 traffic deaths of two teen-agers from Streetsville.

Fleming was given a year in reformatory for dangerous driving and an additional three months for leaving the scene of the accident. His driver's licence was suspended for two years.

William Green, 14, and Anne Vanderheul, 15, were killed while walking home from a movie at Port Credit. Their bodies were found later on the roadside. Fleming gave himself up to police the next day.

Feed World's Hungry Halt War: Kennedy

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Col. T. L. Kennedy, former Ontario minister of agriculture, Friday night advocated feeding hungry nations of the world instead of sending them rifles as a method of preventing wars.

Voicing confidence in Canada's agricultural future and cautioning farmers to avoid fear, Col. Kennedy said the country must do more than produce for its own needs. Canada must feed hungry nations he said.

"Feed them instead of sending rifles and you'll prevent wars," he told the Western Ontario Aberdeen Angus Association.

10 Children Rescued

OSHAWA (CP)—Ten children were carried to safety Friday when fire destroyed a three-storey rooming house. No one was injured in the blaze which left four families homeless. Cause of the fire was not known. A pet dog was lost in the fire.

Sight Two Robins

Size Of Furnace Depends On Heat Loss

BY MR. FIX

It would disturb most homeowners considerably to learn the extent of heat loss in their homes during the winter.

This can best be illustrated by a postive, rather than a negative, example.

For instance, an experiment conducted in heating at the University of Illinois has shown that a room built with walls of a two-foot thickness of corkboard could be kept at a comfortable temperature with a few light bulbs.

Of course this type of insulation is far above the building budget limits of the average home planner and impractical as well, but at least there are materials on the market which will substantially reduce the rate of heat loss through walls.

The above example indicates that every house will lose heat, that amount depending — for one thing— on how well the house is built. The better a house is built, the smaller the heating system required.

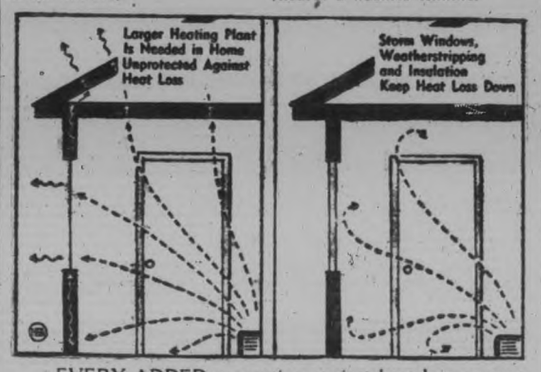
Heat always flows from a substance of higher temperature to the colder substance adjoining it. The rate of this transfer of heat is expressed in British Thermal Units (BTU's) per hour.

All furnaces used in central warm-air heating systems are rated according to the number of BTU's per hour that they are able to put into the house. When installing a heating system, it is important to know accurately the hourly heat loss of the house through walls, glass and around windows and doors in order to determine the correct size and rating of the furnace to be used.

Installing a larger furnace than necessary causes overheating and wastes fuel.

Glass has one of the highest incidences of heat loss of any building material. A plain glass window will lose heat at about twice the rate as the same window protected by storm sash.

More heat is lost through the roof than through walls. It may heated attic and out through the rise through the walls into an unroof, so it is important to block the flow where the wall plate meets the roof rafters. This may be done with loose-fill insulation held in place with boards nailed to the rafters.



Three other types of insulation are designed in such a way that installation is a simple matter for the non professional. They are blankets and batts, insulating wallboards and aluminum foil.

The latter works on a principle of heat reflection, while the others hold a mass of dead or quiet air, the poorest of heat conductors.

Because they are tightly compressed, wallboards provide less insulation than blankets or batts, both of these come in widths to fit the conventional spacing of studs may fill the entire thickness of the wall space or only part of it, and are nailed or stapled in place in a simple operation.

Wall and roof insulating materials should have vapor barriers to prevent the condensation of moisture when warm inside air meets cold exterior air.

Every additional item of weatherproofing is equivalent to moving a house several miles nearer a warmer climate.

EVERY ADDED precaution against heat loss amounts to moving a home into a warmer climate and necessitates less heat output.

Four Acts Passed Not In Force, Wait For Rules

TORONTO (CP)—Four acts passed by the spring session of the Ontario legislature are still not in force because they have not been proclaimed by the lieutenant-governor.

They are the Crown Timber Act, the Proceedings Against the Crown Act, the Edible Oil Products Act and the Ontario Cancer Institute Act.

The general reasons given for the delay are that the regulations which actually implement a statute have not been completed. It is expected that the ministers responsible for these acts will be asked questions concerning their implementation when the legislature meets next week.

The timber act, an important piece of legislation as far as Northern Ontario is concerned, was a compilation of eight existing statutes with some extensive changes. Its object is to put forests on a sustained yield basis and give the government greater control over forest practices.

EDIBLE OILS

The oil products act gives the agriculture minister power to license manufacturers of all foodstuffs containing edible oils and to regular quality, packaging and advertising of such products.

The act enabling proceedings against the Crown followed similar action in the United Kingdom in 1947 and in Manitoba and Nova Scotia in 1951. Subject to certain exceptions, the Crown can be sued in the same way that a person can.

The fourth act permits the setting up of a corporate body of nine members with power to plan, construct and establish buildings and other accommodation for research in cancer.

Quiet Haven

CAPETOWN, South Africa (CP)—Guests at a seaside boarding-house near here may not smoke, drink, play cards or wear scanty clothes. The proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Rheeder, say that since they instituted these rules 15 years ago their business has prospered.

Fast Service

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP)—A freight service by helicopter from the industrial Midlands to London has speeded overseas shipment of rush orders. One order for machinery spare parts was delivered from Birmingham to Montreal 24 hours after its receipt by telephone.

Blame Leak Of Oxygen For Twice-Fatal Fire

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—An oxygen leak in the hose of a welder's torch was blamed Friday for a fire inside an empty ammonia tank which killed two men and burned two others Thursday at the Welland Works of North American Cyanamid in suburban Stamford township.

Plant manager G. L. Berry said in a statement the investigation is continuing.

"Evidence uncovered so far indicates the strongest possibility that there was a leak in the oxygen hose where it is attached to the welder's torch," he said. "Apparently leaking oxygen enriched the atmosphere in a localized area, even though a large volume of clear air was being introduced into the tank to provide safe working conditions.

"Present evidence indicates that the welder opened the acetylene valve on his torch and proceeded to light it with a standard spark igniter. Apparently the clothing of the men caught fire because of the enriched oxygen atmosphere."

UN Relief Groups In Korea Unrealistic: Boss

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—United Nations relief agencies in Korea haven't tackled their problems realistically, Bill Boss of The Canadian Press, dean of Korean war correspondents, told the Canadian Managing Editors' Conference here Friday.

"Most of what we (the correspondents) see is spending on station wagons and movie cameras, and there is a very impressive public relations organization," Boss said. Meanwhile the Korean civilian "is in a very poor way."

UN relief agencies have a $275,000,000 budget for civilian relief in Korea, he said, and they have been at work there for about a year.

The people of Seoul are merely existing and doing whatever black marketing they can, Boss said. The city had about 1,000,000 population before the war, now it has 250,000.

Boss told the conference that Canadian soldiers in Korea were members of the best-treated army in history, and that the professional soldiers there now are the best Canada's got.

He said in answer to a question that the Canadians whose action he's covered for the last 2½ years got every comfort to which they were reasonably entitled.

In answer to just how to keep Canadians in Korea happy, Boss said simply "Plug the old line, write letters, let them know they're not being forgotten."

Editors Ask Readers' Constructive Criticism

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canadian managing editors appealed Friday for more constructive criticism and comment from readers to help them determine the content readers want or favor in newspapers.

Four managing editors took time out from their seventh annual conference here to speak to members of the London Kiwanis Club.

Editors said they felt newspapers could do a better job of giving readers what they want if they received more comment from them—good or bad.

Larry Smith, St. Catharines Standard, conference program director, said editors noticed "apathy" among readers regarding news and editorial content.

Editors felt they were partly responsible for this apathy. Some readers were quite quick to find errors in newspapers but hesitant to compliment them when a good job was done.

Mr. Smith introduced H.L. Crawford, of the Brandon Sun; John W Sancton of the Fredericton Gleaner, and J. R. Meakes of the Sudbury Star.

Recover 2 Heirlooms In Defence Department

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence headquarters reported Friday they have recovered two precious heirlooms lost for years—at defence headquarters.

Maj.-Gen. M. H. S. Macklin, army adjutant-general, recently published an article in an army publication regretting the loss of the booklets which contain the minutes of the militia council—it supervised the forces then—of 1905 and 1906.

He said he had "seven beautifully bound little booklets all marked secret" containing the minutes for 1907 to 1913 but wished he could find the other two.

Col. H. M. Jackson, director of war service records, began a search and found them among his books and made the general's heart glad. They, too, were still marked secret.

French Baby Triplets Would Die If Sent Home

By WADE JONES

PARIS (NEA) — The healthy Tinot triplets, two girls and a boy, are still in the clinic where they were born early in December. If they went home with their parents, it might kill them.

The Tinot home consists of two rooms in an old greenhouse at Melun. There are no toilet facilities, no running water, no electricity. The only heat comes from two tiny stoves. The walls are always damp. Three older children are boarded out or live with relatives.

If the Tinot's plight is a grave one, it only reflect the general situation in Melun, a little war-damaged town.

"For years now," says a town official, "60 families have been living in a wooden barracks waiting for low-cost housing."

LACK OF HOUSING

The worst part is that what's happening to the Tinots and to Melun is happening, in varying degrees, to the rest of France. Lack of housing is one of the biggest domestic problems now facing this country.

Strangely, the present housing situation is largely the product of that much-sought state of things—low rents. Rent ceilings for the majority of housing are fixed at such a low figure that incentive to build new units is virtually killed.

Property owners won't put enough into maintenance to keep buildings from going to pot. As a result, slum areas are growing too fast, officials say.

While exact national figures on this are not available for recent years, the total number of families living in slum dwellings in 1943 was officially estimated at 135,000.

"To put the situation in order," a Minister of Reconstruction official says, "it is necessary to build 20,000 new family dwelling units a month for the next 25 years."

RATE FELL OFF

But, in 1951, the rate of construction was less than 10,000 a month. According to another Ministry spokesman, 22 years of rent freezing "ravaged the country as badly as the five years of World War II." And, during the war, between 400,000 and 500,000 housing units were completely destroyed and another 1,240,800 were partly destroyed.

From the time France was liberated in World War II until the middle of 1952, 180,310 new family dwelling units had been built, 108,930 were rebuilt, 120,597 family dwellings were made available in barracks and other military buildings, and 788,445 damaged units were repaired.

While this effort may not seem too big, it must be remembered there was a lot of work to do before actual reconstruction could even begin. For instance, 13,000,000 mines had to be cleared from the land and it was also necessary to remove 17,000,000 shells, 450,000 bombs, and 659,000 coastal weapons of various sorts.

This hazardous preliminary preparation cost 520 French workmen their lives.

Another point to be remembered is that only a relatively small amount of France's reconstruction budget goes for homes. As of early last year, three-quarters of this amount went for repairing the country's economic machine—industrial expansion and modernization.

In the years immediately following the war, home building got even less—only about a sixth.

HOUSES ABANDONED

From all this housing hodgepodge, there emerges a peculiar irony. In the last 50 years or so some 500,000 dwellings, ranging from palatial chateaus to quite comfortable cottages, have been abandoned.

That's partly because their inhabitants wanted to move out of the country to industrial centers where there were better employment opportunities, and partly because of high taxes on the larger places.

The Ministry of Reconstruction has launched a publicity campaign to try to bring home to the French people the basic necessity for certain sacrifices, if they are to bring their housing standards up to those in many other parts of the world.

But whether France's economic condition and her rate of industrial production will permit a marked change for the better in the near future remains to be seen. Any such change is still insufficient to make a dent in a general housing situation which remains too obviously inadequate.

NO ROOM AT HOME—The Tinot triplets of Melun, France, huddle unhappily in the arms of a nurse at the clinic where they've had to stay since birth because of French housing shortage.

St. Laurent Sees Good Days Ahead

Predicts Economy Will Continue To Show Improvement

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent went back out on a limb today and predicted that Canada's economy will continue to show that it can do as good a job in peacetime as in war.

In an address prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, he recalled a prediction he made before the same body in 1944 when Canada's war effort was at its peak.

He had said then, "what it was possible to do for destruction in war will be equally possible for reconstruction and rehabilitation in peace."

Some newspapers had called that optimistic but "since the war we have not only maintained our production but increased it tremendously; we have maintained a remarkably high employment, have absorbed in our industry all those who were in the services and in war work and we have succeeded in reducing our national debt by no small amount."

YEARS OF GROWTH

It was true that his statement was based on a belief that years of real peace lay ahead. This had proved wrong but even so the years before Korea began were years of buoyancy and growth.

Looking ahead, Mr. St. Laurent said, "I am still optimistic enough to think. . .that, under our freedom and with our enterprise, we Canadians will be able to operate our economy as successfully for national security and human welfare in peacetime as we were doing in 1944 to meet the destructive demands of total war. I believe the experience of the years since 1944 has justified that optimism."

Mr. St. Laurent said Canada's cold-war arms production is not yet at the stage where it is flooding out "but I don't think that time is too far off."

PROBLEMS NOT OVER

". . .But our problems will not be over when the equipment and weapons needed by our forces roll off the assembly lines in quantity, as they are beginning to do now, or when the new airfields and army camps and installations are completed.

"We have to remember that what we are trying to do is to prevent a war from breaking out and that unless those who are opposed to our free way of life change their ideas quite radically we are likely to have to go on living in this hostile uncertain atmosphere for quite a long time."

For the cold war was more than an arms race; it was really "a struggle between two different ways of managing human affairs."

Launch Upsets, 6 Die

FRASERBURGH, Scotland (Reuters)—A coast guard launch from this Scottish port capsized in heavy seas today with the loss of six of her seven-man crew. The vessel was standing by some fishing boats.

RCAF Fighting Third Day Of Flood Battle

GREAT YARMOUTH, England (CP) — In driving snow and rain, 65 RCAF volunteers tonight started their third straight dusk-to-dawn flood-relief chore on Britain's east coast sea defences.

Since Saturday, the Canadian airmen have worked from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. every night, loading sandbags and taking them on flat-bottomed boats to the seawall protecting this flat Norfolk coast town.

MORE AIRMEN IN PALLING

Some 15 miles away, in Palling, another 30 RCAF volunteers are doing a daily stint. The Palling party has filled an average of 300 sand-bags per man daily.

The Yarmouth group, under Flt. Lt. Doug Cook of Montreal and FO. Ken Gildner of Sudbury, Ont., are trying to strengthen Yarmouth's defences prior to high tides expected next Friday—the 13th. An RCAF spokesman said the men are working under conditions that could "hardly be worse."

The only break is a midnight meal, with a small rum ration, served in the church hall.

Both RCAF groups are from No. 1 fighter wing at North Luffenham, Rutland.

Possibility Concerns London Gov't.

5 Main Objections Known To U.S., Fear War Extended

LONDON (AP)—Britain will firmly resist any proposal to blockade Red China, the foreign office indicated today. A spokesman recalled that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Parliament four days ago: "We have said to the U.S. that we would think it would be a mistake to have a policy of blockade" of mainland China.

His statement at a press conference was prompted by questions about Washington reports suggesting President Eisenhower's administration may be considering a blockade of the China coast as part of its general Far Eastern policy.

The spokesman said the British government has received no such official proposal from the U. S. He told a questioner "we should expect to be consulted" before a decision of that sort were taken and he added: "I believe we would be."

U.K. CONCERNED

The British government obviously is concerned about reports published here that serious U. S. consideration is being given to a blockade. That concern was reflected in the foreign office action today in commenting on a hypothetical question—an unusual step.

The British belief seems to be that the U. S. is looking at the blockade possibility only as one aspect of a new, more forceful general Asian strategy which would include the other spots of tension, such as Malaya and Indo-China.

The foreign office expects an early American move to seek the views of the main allies in Korea. If it does not come soon, British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins may be ordered to get the British government views on record once again at the first opportunity.

LIST FIVE OBJECTIONS

Officials listed five main British objections to a blockade policy which they said Britain has made known to the U. S.:

1. It might delay the ending of the Korean war by broadening the area of conflict with Red China.

Bowmanville Youth Killed In Accident, 2 Others Injured

BOWMANVILLE (Special) — James Kirkpatrick, 17, of Bowmanville, died at 3:20 a.m. today in Bowmanville Hospital, several hours after he was thrown about 30 feet through the air from the pillion seat of a motorcycle. He is reported to have hit the windshield and bounced onto the roof of an oncoming car. After falling to the highway he was struck by a second car. Two other people were injured. The accident was at the junction of Highways 2 and 401, two and a half miles west of Newcastle, and occurred at 6:25 p.m. Sunday.

Provincial Police reported that the eastbound motorcycle of Billy Couch, 16, also of Newcastle, collided with the westbound car of George K. Turbitt, Toronto. Couch was hurled from the motorcycle to the highway but Kirkpatrick was catapulted through the air for some 30 feet striking the windshield of a second westbound car, driven by Lionel Henry Rowe, Toronto.

DIDN'T KNOW

Witnesses said that a car with U.S. license plates struck Kirkpatrick as he lay unconscious on the highway. But police do not believe the motorist knew that he hit anybody.

Kirkpatrick was taken to Bowmanville Memorial Hospital with a fractured skull, leg injuries and internal injuries. He died three hours later.

His companion, Couch, was also taken to Bowmanville Hospital, where he is reported to have back and leg injuries.

Mrs. Rowe, wife of the driver of the second westbound car, received facial cuts from the flying glass, caused when Kirkpatrick struck the windshield.

OPP Constable Doug Kostke of Bowmanville investigated.

Playmates Try To Hide Chum's Death

DETROIT (AP)—A pact by frightened playmates to keep secret the accidental death of a 10-year-old chum in a rubbish pit Saturday was dissolved Sunday when the victim's brother told his mother.

Police recovered the body of David Earl Deneau of nearby Nankin township from an icy pool at the bottom of the pit.

The victim's brother, Bruce, 13, told his mother, Mrs. Ernest Deneau, after he had made a pact with another playmate, Dale Worthington, 8, to say nothing in fear that they would be blamed. Bruce said the boys had been playing in a pit scooped out for the disposal of rubbish.

Suddenly a chunk of frozen dirt and sand slipped from the top of the excavation, struck David and knocked him into the foot-deep water.

TOO HEAVY

His playmates tried to lift the frozen mass that pinned their chum but it was too heavy.

Moments later, David's head disappeared below the icy surface.

Bruce and Dale talked it over.

"We were afraid," Bruce said. "We thought we would be blamed. We thought they would electrocute us or something like that."

When David failed to return that night, his mother awakened Bruce, who said: "He's in the water."

Car Plunges Into River, Seven Escape

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Seven occupants of a late-model car escaped with cuts and bruises Sunday after the vehicle plunged down a 20-foot embankment into the Thames river below North Richmond street bridge at Broughdale.

The northbound auto failed to negotiate a curving approach to the bridge. It ripped through five of eleven new guard posts replaced only last Thursday after a London motorist plunged to his death at the same spot.

Two women and five men—including a man with an artificial leg—struggled from the half-submerged auto which landed on its side in four feet of water. The occupants, all native Latvians, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

They are Harry Briksnis, 30, of RR 5, London; John Barkmanas, 32, of Waterloo; Mike Berzins, 27, and his wife, Erita Berzins, both of Hamilton; Ralph Alksnis, 22, Albert Traube, 34, and Louise Friedmand, 17, all of Kitchener.

Mike Berzins, the driver, said he was crowded off the road at the curve by an oncoming car.

Call Conference On Strike Issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal mediators today called striking tugboat crews and their employers together to try to settle a single remaining issue in the dispute disrupting operations in the world's largest harbor.

The walkout went into its ninth day with the two sides in agreement on the key wage-increase issue, but unable to come to terms on a union demand that no crew be made up of fewer than three men.

Some 3,500 tugboat workers, members of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) are participating in the strike.

The union Sunday scaled its 25-cent-an-hour wage demand down to 17 cents. The employers accepted this figure after offering 12½ cents an hour and then 15 cents. Hourly earnings of the tugmen range from $1.36 to $2.35.

Transatlantic liners continued to manoeuvre to and from their piers without the aid of tugs. The 33,500-ton U. S. liner America docked Sunday under her own power without mishap. Three liners—the Ile de France and the British Cunarders Queen Mary and Caronia—sailed Saturday without tug assistance.

6 Munitions Plants Destroyed In Fighting

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)— Six major munitions plants used by the rebel Vietminh forces were destroyed in a six-week campaign in the area 25 miles north of Saigon, the French high command announced today.

A spokesman said it was one of the biggest operations undertaken by the French. Five battalions were supported by an artillery group and a naval squadron in the raid.

Instead of trying to keep contact with a base, the French force remained in rebel territory for six weeks. Supplies — 160 tons of them — came by air drops.

In the six plants destroyed were 29 machine-tool installations used in manufacturing artillery. Supplies of metal, spare parts and explosives were destroyed.

Icy Blizzards Lashing Dutch Floodlands Hampering Dike Forces

AMSTERDAM (AP)—New blizzards driving like icy whiplashes over the Dutch floodlands today brought further hazards and misery to the men repairing Holland's shattered dikes. The wind-whipped water, snow and ice complicated the engineering problems of the ceaseless effort to mend temporarily the vast protective network before the next flood tides on Feb. 16. Government engineers thought they could do the job. The rough weather, however, threatened to ground Dutch, British and United States planes flying in vital supplies. The men handling the picks and shovels were chilled by the bitter cold.

Despite the bad weather, three of Holland's young Princesses flew over the snow-framed flood areas Sunday.

Their father, Prince Bernhard, sent Princesses Beatrix, 15, Irene, 13, and Margriet, 10, into the sky because, he explained, young as they were, he felt they should see how much their country had suffered.

Their mother, Queen Juliana, meanwhile led her people in a day of mourning. Men and women of all denominations flocked to churches to pray for their 1,395 dead and those bereaved by last week's great flood.

In a country-wide broadcast, the Queen said the Free World had met the fierce flood tides with a mighty tide of Christian charity, re-establishing "the solidarity we knew during the war."

But the toil on the dikes went forward without cease as the stilled nation prayed. The three-country air fleet also continued their airdrops.

Other crew continued pumping the salty water from the vast flooded areas, preparatory to beginning the battle to reclaim the once-fertile acres and to strengthen the dike system.

Queen Juliana set out by boat today to tour the flooded areas. She watched long lines of men toiling to repair the sea barriers and visited several flooded villages where the only inhabitants were repair gangs.

In Washington, The Netherlands ambassador to the United States, J. H. Van Royen, told a radio audience his country would continue to press foward with its defence program and would make every effort to fulfill its North Atlantic Treaty commitment. He reminded, however, that 500,000 destroyed homes would have to be rebuilt and that the blow from the sea had been a "severe one."

Planes Pound Chinese Lines

SEOUL (AP) — Allied planes pounded anew at Communist frontline positions and supply arteries in Korea Sunday night and early today while ground fighting fell off to small-scale patrol clashes.

Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. James A. Van Fleet ended a three-day tour of the front. Taylor succeeds the retiring Van Fleet Wednesday as commander of the 8th army.

Gen. Mark Clark disclosed in Tokyo that Washington had authorized a two-division boost in the South Korean Army which increases it to 14 divisions with a strength of 200,000 men.

South Korean pilots — flying propeller-driven Mustangs — took part in today's strikes against Chinese front positions and rear-area supply dumps.

The raids followed the bombing of a key supply centre near Pyongyang by 11 American B-29s Sunday night. The air force said the 50-acre centre was left in flames.

Rob Police Officers

WELLAND (CP)—The homes of two Welland police officers were broken into Saturday night and a quantity of goods stolen, police said today. Constable Hugh Bradden's house was robbed of a radio, camera, groceries and other items. A pair of dresser lamps was removed from the house of Const. Harry Moore.

Predict Guaranteed Wage Coming For UAW Members

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL) ended Saturday with a plea for greater political action by unions and prediction of a guaranteed annual wage for members of the United Automobile workers.

CIO President Walter Reuther said in an address to the 320 delegates representing some 121,000 federation members that the guaranteed wage will be the next objective of the CIO. Groundwork for the proposed program will be laid at the convention in Atlantic City next March.

"We don't want to get paid for not working," he said, "but we also don't want to be penalized for not having a job.

"As long as working people have to bear the cost of seasonal unemployment by subsidizing the unemployed, we will continue to have unemployment. But if industry has to bear the cost of unemployment it will soon find a way to avoid it."

Debate on labor's position in politics, which had come up several times during the two-day convention, reappeared during the final session. Delegates passed a resolution commending the CCF party and another which called for greater co-operation between unions and the CCF.

Fred Young of Toronto termed the Social Credit party a "company union" in the political field and a "front for big business." The record of the Social Credit party in Alberta and in the House of Commons supported his criticism, Mr. Young said.

George Burt of Windsor, Canadian director of the UAW, was re-elected federation president by acclamation. Ed Cluney and Sam Hughes, both of Toronto, were elected vice-presidents and Cleve Kidd of Hamilton was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Turning to the threat of communism, Mr. Reuther said the "Commies can't get a baker's dozen" in countries where the labor movement is strong.

"The Communists are strong where there is weakness in the labor ranks. The average French worker is paid one quarter of what the average Canadian in similar work receives. No wonder communism flourishes in such conditions."

Depressions were not ordained by God. They were man-made and what man can make he can unmake, Mr. Reuther said.

Urges Mexico Study Trade

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Canada today extended the hand of friendship to Mexico.

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, winding up a nine-country Latin-American tour, told a meeting of Mexico's business men that Canada is "happy in your friendship" and urged them to do more trade with their northern neighbor.

"We seek also that you may know us better," Canada's trade minister said in a prepared speech. "We invite you to send a group of officials and business men to Canada to meet Canadians and to see what makes Canada the country it is."

Mr. Howe, heading a good-will trade mission, said that Canada may have only about half of one per cent of the world's population but she is the world's third most important trading country, surpassed only by the United States and Britain.

Trade Vern Stephens For Three Pitchers

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Red Sox today traded Vern Stephens, veteran slugging infielder, to Chicago White Sox for three pitchers.

The Boston club obtained right-hander Marv Grissom and Hector Brown and southpaw Bill Kennedy in the deal which Boston general manager Joe Cronin described as strictly a player swap, no cash involved.

General Lashes Parley Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt.-Gen. Edward M. Almond says the drawn-out truce talks at Panmunjom were "unpardonable."

"To harangue and delay and allow your opponent to become stronger so that he can fight you harder later on is unpardonable, in my humble opinion as a soldier."

Almond was quoted in an interview with U. S. News and World Report, a weekly newsmagazine. Stating that the interview was the first with Almond since his retirement from active duty Feb. 1, the magazine said "the army's seal on Almond's lips has been removed and he here tells the story of what really took place in Korea."

Almond was in command of the 10th corps, which was forced out of North Korea by the Chinese Communist counterattack in the summer of 1951.

Asked what he thought of the decision to hold cease-fire talks, Almond said:

"I felt at that time that the Chinese Communist and the North Korean armies were on the most wobbly legs that they had been to that date (July 11, 1951).

"They were punch drunk and ineffective, and I, personally, thought at the time that it was the time to finish off the effort.

"I had no confidence in the armistice talks then, and I don't now."

Canadian Plane Lands With Flood Aid

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian aircraft landed at London airport today with a cargo of clothing for flood victims in Britain, Holland and Belgium.

The shipment totalled nearly 7,000 pounds in weight and included shoes, stockings and blankets. An official said families rendered homeless in the floods should be wearing some of the Canadian gifts by Wednesday.

The clothing came in a Trans-Canada Air Lines aircraft whose passenger seats had been removed to make room for the gift cargo.

Fire Sweeps Hotel 2 Die In Detroit

DETROIT (CP)—Two persons died Sunday night when fire roared through the 33-room Manor Hotel in downtown Detroit. Some 50 guests, many dressed in night attire, groped their way through dense smoke to safety.

The victims were not identified. Hotel records and the guest register were destroyed.

It was believed the fire was caused by a short circuit. There was no estimate of damage. Much of the interior of the building was damaged.

Lauber Demands Pension Pay

VIENNA (Reuters) — Walter Lauber, a U.S. citizen and wounded Second World War veteran, today demanded continued payments on his disability pension even though he has fled behind the Iron Curtain.

Lauber made the demand at a press conference in Vienna's Soviet sector. He had fled there last month after being detained by U.S. authorities for questioning about two other naturalized Americans arrested on espionage charges.

"I am going to fight for my pension through a Washington lawyer," Lauber said.

Lauber said he had crossed to the Soviet sector to "escape terrorist methods of the U.S. Counter-Intelligence Corps." He said he had been interrogated for 10 days in a Vienna cellar and "pushed around and handcuffed to a bed during resting periods."

Lauber said the two arrested men, Curt Ponger and Otto Verber, were "honest people who never did any espionage." They were arrested Jan. 15 and have since been taken to the U.S.

Enemy Units Confused Fight Each Other

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) —Two Chinese Communist units fought a bitter, bloody battle between themselves recently, egged on by an American captain who directed mortar fire on each.

It started when a United States raiding patrol hit a Chinese outpost in darkness, shot it up, and then raced back to its own lines.

The Chinese were confused and poured rifle fire at one of their own patrols passing the Red outpost. The Red patrol replied in kind.

Back on the Allied lines, Capt. Amos Judd, of Honolulu, sized up the situation. He ordered mortar fire on both the Red outpost and the Red patrol, making it appear that each was firing on the other.

The fight raged 25 minutes before the Red patrol withdrew. There was no Allied estimate of Red causalties but Judd said "you can't battle like that without killing and wounding some of the other group."

Robbers 14 Hours Blasting Open Safes

LONDON (Reuters)—Six masked men Sunday broke into the Royal Bank of Canada and the offices of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, spent 14 hours blasting open safes with gelignite charges, and finally left unnoticed with less than £1,000.

Hour after hour they blasted away trying to reach the main vaults of the burglar-proof Royal Bank of Canada. But none of the milling thousands outside in Trafalgar Square heard a sound. Policemen patrolled the area continuously.

Plan No Frontal Attack Against Reds In Korea

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Robert Taft said today the Eisenhower administration apparently is not considering a "frontal attack" against the Communists in Korea.

Taft, the Senate Republican floor leader, made this statement to reporters who questioned him when he emerged from a legislative conference with President Eisenhower.

He said there are ways to bring pressure on the Red Chinese other than by direct assault on their troops in Korea. Taft has advocated a naval blockade of Red China.

FAVORS BLOCKADE

He told reporters that he had favored generally the plan of Gen. Douglas MacArthur for bringing pressure against the Reds by bombing Manchuria, using Chinese Nationalist troops, and blockading the China mainland.

Taft said he believed that if Gen. MacArthur's plan had been used it "would have won the war."

But, since then the Chinese Communists had had an opportunity to build up their defences to the point where a frontal attack against them could not be considered.

New Labor Law Attack Planned

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today was prepared to launch a new and specialized attack on the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, expected to focus on 19 or 20 major points.

AFL action will follow a statement issued Sunday by the CIO executive board in Washington criticizing changes proposed by Senator Robert Taft (Rep. Ohio) in the law.

A special committee of top AFL leaders has been studying the question for weeks. Its report is ready for study by the executive council, now in the second week of its mid-winter session.

Say Japanese Girls "Stiff Competition"

EDMONTON (CP) — Pte. Kenneth Beeds arrived here Sunday night with his Japanese bride and a warning to Canadian girls.

Beeds, 23, of Lloydminster, Sask. said Japanese women are providing stiff competition for Canadian girls. A member of the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, he married the former Teruko Matsuo of Kure a year ago.

In an interview, Beeds said Canadian-Japanese marriages are increasing. One big reason was that Japanese girls were more attentive to their husbands.

"You ask them to do something for you and they'll do it," Beeds said. "On the other hand, you ask a Canadian girl to do something and nine times out of 10 she won't."

Queen Ends Vacation Begins Heavy Duties

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen today ended a long vacation in the country and returned to London to face the heavy program of engagements culminating in her Coronation next June 2.

Accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh and her two children, the Duke of Cornwall and Princess Anne, the Queen drove two miles over snow-covered roads from her home at Sandringham, Norfolk, to board the royal train at Wolferton.

Dulles Prepares Good Report For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles flew homeward from Europe today with what was apparently an encouraging report for President Eisenhower about chances for early action to give West Germany an important role in Europe's defence. Dulles and the United States foreign-aid chief, Harold E. Stassen, concluded a swing around seven Allied European capitals Sunday and, news accounts said, left for home believing their diplomacy had been successful in getting European defence preparations back into high gear.

Dulles and Stassen come home to find a collection of problems ranging from the Korean war to matters of personnel and organization.

Dulles is understood to have followed what the Europeans regarded as a firm line about the need which the Eisenhower administration sees for urgency in unifying and strengthening Europe's defences.

APRIL 1 DEADLINE

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany said Dulles had set April 1 as the deadline for getting "clear and visible signs" that a treaty providing for a European defence force will be ratified.

Earlier Dulles had been reported as telling Britain he needed strong evidence of progress before the next meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty council, set for April 23.

It appeared that Dulles and Stassen had tried to impress upon European leaders a feeling that the chances for getting adequate aid funds voted by Congress in the next few months hinge largely on whether steps which the U. S. considers essential for Western European defence are being taken.

One such step is that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization itself be strengthened as rapidly as the resources of the member countries will permit.

Another is to close the gap between NATO and such other countries as Yugoslavia and Spain. Relations between Italy and Yugoslavia are bad, but word came Saturday that Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey will shortly begin negotiating a three - way alliance which will strengthen NATO's south eastern flank. In the case of Spain, the U. S. is trying to wind up a treaty for military and naval bases.

A third step is giving Western Germany an important role in the defence system. The French propose creation of a European defence group which would include Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Italy as well as France and Germany. This alliance was negotiated months ago and Americans had hoped it would be operating by the end of the year, but it bogged down in French and German fears and politics.

OTHER PROBLEMS

As he turned his attention from Europe to his broader responsibilities as secretary of state, Dulles faced a variety of problems of which these stand out:

1. Development of U. S. Korean war policies aimed at making the enemy "want peace."

2. Preparation of material for Congress in line with Eisenhower's call for repudiation of "secret understandings of the past," apparently meaning the 1945 Yalta agreement and possibly others.

3. Preparation for talks with a stream of visitors. The British foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, and the chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, are due here in a month. Adenauer and other foreign leaders are expected to follow.

US Farm Prices Slump Too Fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Robert Kerr (Dem. Okla.) said today President Eisenhower's new secretary of agriculture is "sowing the seeds" for a Republican defeat in 1954 by not stopping the decline of farm prices.

He predicted that the Republicans will lose Congress in the next election if Eisenhower keeps Ezra Taft Benson in his cabinet and if Benson doesn't "act to halt the drop in beef and other farm prices."

Kerr made this prediction after Senator George Aiken (Rep. Vt.) accused the Democrats of trying to use the farm situation as an issue to recapture Congress.

Aiken, chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, said the new administration expects prices of cattle, wheat and other farm products to stabilize. He said Benson "is not going to be stampeded into doing anything."

Kerr last week introduced a bill to direct federal price support of beef cattle at full parity out of $25,000,000 of agriculture funds.

Kerr said Benson has authority under legislation expiring at the end of 1954 to support beef prices at 90 per cent of parity, but has not done so. Parity is a price declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and consumers.

Two Investigators Arrested By Police

TORONTO (CP)—Two Toronto private investigators were charged Sunday night in the latest of a year-long rash of robberies from wealthy homes in Stamford township in the Niagara Peninsula.

Charged were George Craig, 49, and Fred Foden, a former provincial police constable. They are charged with breaking into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geneter.

Saturday night as Mr. and Mrs. Geneter pulled into their driveway they found another car already in the driveway facing them. Mrs. Geneter told her husband: "You take the licence number. I'll try and get their faces." About 24 hours after the licence number and description of the car was given police, the pair was arrested in Toronto.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis: A small disturbance in the vicinity of Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, early Sunday intensified greatly as it swept up the coast to the Maritimes during the day, giving strong winds, moderate snow to New Brunswick and from two to four inches of rain to Nova Scotia. As a minor result of this storm, northerly winds brought a few light snowflurries and slightly cooler aid to Southern Ontario by Sunday evening.

Skies over the southern half of the province will slowly clear today. Tuesday will be mainly sunny in all regions except the north-eastern section of the province, where cloud and a few light snowflurries will persist. Death Sentences Given For Basuto Natives

MASERU, Basutoland (Reuters) Nine African men and two women were sentenced to death today for killing a fellow tribesman and carving up his body in a weird ritual intended to improve the crops.

The killing was the latest and most gruesome of an increasing number through this British African colony. Medicine men inspire ritual murders for purposes of deposing rival chiefs, improving crops and increasing a tribe's influence.

Every inhabitant of Kubung village was invited to attend the ritual slaying of headman Pheello Smith's father-in-law. Smith, one of the 11 sentenced Africans, sought "medicine" from the flesh of the victim, Motetwa Memane, to help the crops.

Airman Held For Theft

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — An air force man has been arrested and an investigation is under way into charges that equipment was stolen from wounded Canadian veterans brought here from Korea for treatment.

McChord officials, however, denied Saturday that a theft ring is in operation or that there had been wholesale pilfering of wounded veterans' equipment.

Thirteen Canadian veterans who arrived in Toronto on leave charged that their equipment had been pilfered.

Churchill Suite Includes Medico As Aid In Moscow

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill said today if he ever goes to Moscow for talks with Premier Stalin, he will take his own doctor along.

Roars of laughter greeted the remark in the House of Commons. Russia has recently accused nine Soviet doctors of causing the deaths of leading members of the government.

CLAIM "RUNS AWAY"

Socialist members set the scene for Churchill's gibes by accusing him of "running away" from his 1951 election campaign promise to meet Stalin.

"I was not aware I was running away from anything," the Prime Minister smiled.

"You are—as fast as your legs can carry you," shouted former defence minister Emanuel Shinwell.

PROTECTS BRITISH DOCTORS

"We must try to understand the general position as it moves," Churchill said. "I think we in this country would feel very severe domestic preoccupations making it difficult to have conversations with heads of governments if, for instance, so many of our best doctors were being charged with poisoning so many of our best politicians."

As grins broke out across the House, Socialist Emrys Hughes asked if Churchill objected to meeting Stalin because he didn't want to be treated by a Soviet doctor. He added that if such a thing happened, "we would bear whatever followed with our customary fortitude."

The Prime Minister retorted: "If all the other difficulties were swept away, I could of course take my own medical adviser with me."

Will Not Interfere With Gerard Sentence

OTTAWA (CP)—Marius Gerard, 49, will be hanged shortly after midnight tonight in Fort Saskatchewan jail near Edmonton, the secretary of state's department said today. The cabinet will not interfere with the sentence.

Gerard was convicted of stabbing his common-law wife, Dorothy Donenais, to death last September in Grande Centre, Alta., 150 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Residents of Green Lake, Sask., Gerard's hometown, petitioned the cabinet to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Establishing Rule Of God In The Hearts Of Man

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD.

When we make that petition in the Lord's Prayer what do we mean by it, and what should it mean to us?

One thing is certain. When we make that prayer in sincerity and truth the Kingdom has already arrived in our hearts and lives. The rule of Christ, his law of love and the following of His example give evidence of our place in the Kingdom which is above all kingdoms and whose King is supreme.

If that rule is firmly established in ourselves it becomes a yearning, a passion, and a prayer that it might be established in all hearts, and in all the affairs of men.

It was in this way and in this spirit that St. Paul expressed the yearning when he replied to Agrippa, who was almost persuaded to become a Christian: "I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost and altogether such as I am, except these bonds". (Acts 26: 29.

In his love for those who persecuted him Paul had no wish that they be made prisoners like himself.

It is this yearning and prayer that is expressed in the next interpreting petition, "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven."

There was a time not long ago when allegiance to the Kingdom of God conflicted with allegiance to the kingdoms of earth. In too many countries that conflict still continues or has been reasserted under cruel distatorships in which godless philosophies and attitudes are manifest in suppression and persecution.

Even in the conflict of religious ideas and religious systems, those who had established the rule of God in their hearts have had to say, "We ought to obey God rather than men." Even in tolerant and democratic England it has been less than a century since civil limitations on Nonconformists, Roman Catholics and Jews were finally removed.

But today, in such democracies as Canada, the United States, and Great Britain, the evidence of almost revolutionary progress is seen in the fact that such conflicts of allegiance have almost completely disappeared.

The citizens of these great democracies who give their supreme allegiance to the Kingdom of God, far from being in conflict with the state, are better citizens because of loyalty and love for their fellow men and for their loyalty to conscience and to God.

In this respect despite all our imperfections and in humility of spirit, a humility that we do not always manifest, these democracies might well say, "would that all nations and peoples were as we are" except for all the evil that democracy has not yet conquered.

So, in faith and hope let us pray. Evil carries in itself the seeds of destruction. "Hammer away, ye hostile bands; your hammers break, God's anvil stands."

Dutch Dikes Repaired For Next Tides

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Dutch government engineers believe they can complete temporary repairs to Holland's vast network of dikes in time for the next flood tides on Feb. 16.

But the longer task, winning back from the North sea the areas it has grabbed, will never end.

Permanent repairs to dikes shattered in the Jan. 31 hurricane will merge in a land reclamation program that never ceases in this sea-girt land. Much of Holland is built—quite literally—out of the ocean.

The primitive Frisian tribesmen began the job around 400 B.C. and work has gone on ever since.

ONE-FIFTH BELOW LEVEL

One-fifth of modern Holland's 12,850 square miles of land lies below sea level. More than a half of the country lies below the storm level. The Dutch are continually seizing more land from the sea. And from time to time the jealous waters take their revenge, biting deep into Holland, as happened last week, with a loss thus far of 1,372 lives.

Living in such cruel intimacy with the floods, the descendants of the Frisians have gradually acquired skill in controlling water by dike-building and drainage. They had to become hydraulic engineers in order to survive at all.

The Dutch in 1270 dammed the river Meuse in two spots near its mouth, creating a 30 - mile - long stretch of reclaimed land. It was a staggering engineering achievement. But it was foolhardy.

The dikes held for 150 years. Then without warning in 1421 the river Meuse punched a hole in the main dike and sent a wall of water over 65 villages, drowning 100,000 people in a single night.

2. It could lead to dangerous incidents involving Red Chinese and Russian shipping and submarines.

3. It would not affect substantially Red China's war potential because less than one-fourth of her foreign trade is seaborne and most of her military supplies come overland from Russia.

4. It might upset such Asian supporters of UN police action in Korea as India, Indonesia and Burma which still trade with the Chinese communists.

5. It might lead to retaliatory Red Chinese action against Hong Kong, lying next to China. The British believe their island colony serves as the Allies' best listening-post into Red China and that it would be harmful to the Allies generally to lose it. The British, too, have been doing many millions of dollars worth of business monthly with Red China through Hong Kong.

The link that had to come

The two main roads to the solution of life's problems, divergent though they may have seemed to be, are the way of Science and the way of Religion.

These two paths converge in Christian Science. Today the rational thinker finds logic, supported by proof, in the religious thinker's deep conviction of a primal cause, or intelligence, called God.

Science and religion can now agree, for through the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the actual Science of Christianity has been revealed.

This great book shows, through reason and revelation, the solution to problems of health, supply, or of any other kind. It may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

NEW FIRE TRUCK for Warkworth will bring the village's fire fighting methods up to date. As well as a new truck, helmets and other equipment have been supplied new.

New Fire Truck Arrives In Warkworth

WARKWORTH —(ENS)— The new Warkworth firefighting equipment arrived in the village this week. It is one of the most modern outfits.

The truck and chassis were purchased from the local dealer, J. E. Edgar and Son and it was mounted at the Bickell Seagrave plant in Woodstock.

It is equipped with a 500-gallon supply tank, latest high pressure fog nozzle, capable of pumping 500 gallons per minute. It will lay seven lines of hose having approximately one-half mile of hose line.

It is equipped with helmets, coats, ladders, lights, siren, blinker, and an auxiliary pump capable of pumping 200 gallons per minute.

The community has erected a new fire hall to house the pumper and it is now over 50 percent paid for by means other than taxation.

Arrangements have been made with the northern portions of Brighton and Cramahe townships and the part of Percy township from the Brickley line south and west as far as the boundary line for fire protection in the rural areas.

A demonstration was held on Wednesday giving each of the voluntary firemen instructions on his duties. A fire marshal is expected to visit the village this week.

The fire chief of the village, W. Grant Allen, and his crew of 20 men are arranging for regular fire practices to keep them in fit shape for servicing in these communities.

The secretary-treasurer, Harold Buttars has been preparing a book to be kept in the fire truck showing source of water supply for each rural home and any particulars essential for helping the fire brigade in case of fire. It would be appreciated if those, in the rural districts particularly, would bring these particulars to the secretary.

The old fire truck has been sold but the pumper has been kept for reserve in emergency, in case the fire equipment was out on a call and another fire started. (The old chemical outfit has been dismantled, having been well worn anyway.)

Chiang Officials Urge U.S. Blockade Red Mainland

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists official Central Daily News today urged the United States to blockade the Communist Chinese mainland.

The news agency said that would not expand the Korean war but, "on the contrary, would serve as a necessary step toward ending it."

A similar view was expressed by the newspaper Kung Lun Pao, which said the U. S. should strengthen the Nationalist Navy and Air Force for use in effecting the blockade.

SOME GUERILLA RAIDS

Official reports today told of two Nationalist guerrilla raids against the Reds—one by 30 women against a small island off the coast of Chekiang last week, and the other by about 1,500 guerrillas in far-off Inner Mongolia. Both appeared to be of the nuisance variety.

In New York, the commander-in-chief of the Nationalist Navy said the Nationalists have 600,000 troops on Formosa "continuously preparing for the offensive against the mainland." Vice-Admiral Ma Chi-chuang told a civic gathering that force would be bolstered by 1,500,000 guerrillas waiting on the mainland.

STORMY DEBATE

Meanwhile the stormy debate aroused by President Eisenhower's decision to deneutralize the Formosa strait continued unabated.

Walter Nash, leader of New Zealand's opposition Labor party, charged that the action "may set alight a fire which every lover of peace and freedom desires to avoid." Members of the British Labor party expressed similar views.

Pravda, in the first direct Russian comment, described it as an act intended to prevent settlement of the Korean war and expand war activity in the Far East.

Women's Club Holds Charter Night

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Business and Professional Women held their charter night, in the form of a dinner meeting, over the weekend, when the provincial president, Mrs. Margery Pewtress, was the guest of honor.

Regional adviser Harriet Bake, and Norma Arkles, president of the Ontario Messinger, were also in attendance.

Members of the Belleville, Lindsay and Cobourg clubs were also on hand for the big evening for the Campbellford club.

The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance.

Mrs. Pewtress and Harriet Bake conducted an impressive ceremony prior to the charter presentation to the local club, following which the president of the Campbellford club, Jean Morrison, made a fitting reply.

Two vocal solos were rendered by Georgina DeCarrol.

Donate Money To Aid Strikers

WINDSOR, Ont., (CP)— Delegates to the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Labor dug into their pockets Saturday to contribute financial support to fellow union members now involved in strikes.

The collection was taken up at the suggestion of chairman George Burt after two delegates described the plight of strikers at Durham, Ont., and Montreal.

Alec McCauslan, Canadian director of the Oil Workers Union, which is directing a strike of copper workers in Montreal, said Quebec provincial police used Gestapo tactics in an attempt to break the strike.

"In Quebec we are fighting for the right of collective bargaining," he said.

Harry Ladd, eastern Canadian director of the woodworkers of America, described the strike of woodworkers at a Durham plant. He said workers there have been battling for talks with the company for the last seven months.

Mrs. Wood, small and dark-haired with brown eyes, recently began writing lyrics for some of Williams' compositions.

The white - haired composer's first wife died in 1951 at the age of 80. They had no children.

Injured are McGinnis, a soldier stationed at Trenton, who suffered head injuries, the soldier's wife who received only minor injuries and did not require hospital treatment. McGinnis was taken to hospital in Oshawa.

Police said his car hit the soft shoulder of the road and plunged over the steep embankment, narrowly avoiding the Wilson Blvd. by-pass. Body of the car, police said, was torn from the chassis. Mrs. McGinnis was thrown from the wreckage, while her husband was pinned inside.

Health Week Discussed For 2 Counties

COBOURG (ENS) — Work of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit was outlined by Dr. Charlotte Horner, chief medical officer of the Health Unit, in an address to Cobourg Rotarians here.

Dr. Horner pointed out the Health League was a voluntary organization, which for more than 30 years has been devoted to a program of health education. Nine years ago, realizing the necessity of promoting health, they had organized National Health Week.

In spite of the advance made in public health, there was still "a long way to go" to solve the major problems of cancer, arthritis, polio, and many matters pertaining to the health of the country.

However, despite National Health Week, she said, public health had to be sold every hour of the day and every day of the year.

In giving an outline of the accomplishments of the Health Unit in Northumberland and Durham Counties, Dr. Horner said many of the things done could not have been completed without assistance of doctors, service clubs, and the people of the counties. Control of communicable disease is the first responsibility of the MOH. To this end there has been planned and developed an immunization schedule in which a clinic is held in every rural school every two years and in every urban school yearly. Mothers can bring their infants to these clinics, also pre-school children, to receive protection against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and smallpox.

More than 90 per cent of the school children had received diphtheria toxoid and almost as many have been vaccinated against smallpox.

The family physician also plays a big part in the immunization program of the United Counties since approximately 57 per cent of the infants and pre-school children receive inoculations from their own doctors. There has not been a case of diphtheria in these two counties since the health unit was organized.

School health supervision is another department of the Health Unit.

Milk and food control was another department of the health unit's work and covered restaurants and milk production on farms. In 1951, the Public Health Act was amended to make Northumberland and Durham subject to compulsory pasteurization. The other branch of the health unit's work was dental hygiene, concluded Dr. Horner.

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP)—Sullen, defiant prisoners filed slowly from their cell blocks at the Arizona state prison Saturday and were questioned about the causes of two days of rebellious actions.

The questioning came in marked contrast to two sit-down strikes, climaxed during Friday night by the capture of a prison guard. A tear-gas barrage forced them to release him minutes later.

Stalin Receives Argentine Envoy

LONDON, (AP) — The Manchester Guardian suggests today that Premier Stalin received the new Argentine ambassador for a personal interview in Moscow because Russia may see President Juan Peron as a "potential useful ally" against the United States.

The ambassador, Leopoldo Bravo saw Stalin Saturday. He was the first foreign envoy to have an interview with Russia's boss since Louis Oxe of France did so last August.

The independent Liberal Guardian comments:

"The language of President Peron's propaganda, not only in his own country but throughout Latin America, runs to denunciations of 'American imperialism' and 'exploitation by the agents of Wall Street' which are not unlike Moscow's daily output."

The Shape Of Things To Come?

Three news items Saturday, taken together, give shape to an emerging American strategy in the Far East. The first is a report that the U.S. is going to demand more help in Korea from other United Nations. Whether the help is wanted in order to relieve American soldiers or to add to the total numbers and machines already committed is not yet certain. Judging from the American eagerness to end the Korean war somehow, one must believe that the new Administration has decided on a larger commitment to it. The second item indicates that Chiang Kai-shek's forces in Formosa now made free to raid China as they wish, will be given U.S. jet planes to fortify their belligerency. The third item contains more than a hint that the seventh U.S. Fleet, now freed from its buffer role between Formosa and the Chinese mainland, will be enlarged, not reduced, and used to blockade the Red China coast. If this is done, it will supplement the implied invitation to Chiang Kai-shek's forces to raid China. That is, the Chiang Kai-shek nationalists would be encouraged to wage war against Red China, and in doing so, the U.S. fleet would keep Red China from retaliating.

* * *

So the Korean War will not be expanded? So the United States has no aggressive intentions against Red China? So Red China is going to sit meek and quiet while these warlike moves are being made? A fourth news item in the same issue reports that the U.S. will have a stockpile of ten thousand atomic bombs by 1960, and that present stocks must be numbered in thousands. Perhaps it is this item which the American Administration and the Pentagon expect Red China and the Russians to see first and in biggest print.

Butter On Their Hands

A squabble over butter is being brought from cold storage into melting heat. The National Dairy Council raises the spectre of a butter shortage even by this week unless the Government releases its stocks. The Council's executive secretary, W. K. St. John, says that eight million pounds of government butter will be needed this month "to avoid a butter famine and skyrocketing prices in many areas." He says that two-thirds of the country's total stocks of butter are in the hands of the government.

Mr. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, retorts: "Mr. St. John knows as well as I do that the trade has fifteen million pounds in storage and that between now and mid-March it will get another five million pounds across Canada in positions to be sold anywhere."

What is all the fuss about? Is there a butter shortage or is there not? Is the National Dairy Council worried that there may not be a shortage in March and April, if the Government keeps its stocks intact now when there is no famine? If it releases them a month or so hence when there might otherwise be a shortage, and does so at the wholesale price of 62 cents, will the Dairy Council be disappointed that prices do not skyrocket? Mr. Gardiner says: "We intend to have butter in mid-March no matter what they do. We were out of butter by February 24th in 1950 and the price went up to 84 cents."

Why is the Dairy Council querulous? The Government puts a floor price under butter, to protect the industry when an over-supply might depress prices. It buys surplus butter at a price higher than the natural level. It stores this butter and takes all the risks of the bottom dropping right out of the market. Now, it seems, the Dairy Council wants to tell the government not only when to buy butter to the Dairy Council's advantage, but when to sell it to their advantage. Mr. Gardiner, we are glad to see, seems to have some regard for the consumers. Or perhaps the Dairy Council has too, and is really worried that butter prices may go high?

We shall stay on the sidelines, and if necessary munch marg.

Titles For Labour Leaders

There has been a hullabaloo in British labour circles because Lincoln Evans accepted a knighthood, as announced in the New Year's honours list. He is general secretary of the steelworkers' union. The weekly voice of Mr. Aneurin Bevan and the left wing of the Labour Party—the Tribune—jeered "Why the Sir, Evans?"

Sir Lincoln's acceptance of the title under Mr. Churchill's Government is condemned on two counts. It is a "treacherous" breach of the workers' solidarity against the old-fashioned class of wealth and privilege. It is also linked with Mr. Churchill's policy of denationalizing the steel industry.

The first criticism has little weight. Other labour leaders have accepted titles—Sir Will Lawther, the miners' leader, for instance. Further, the so-called privileged, wealthy class is barely recognizable these days of high taxation against incomes and estates. Certainly it is not recognized through titles; impoverished titled people are a commonplace; and for many years titles have been granted men for distinctions other than wealth and family connections, and granted to people of modest incomes whose only ancestral home is a London flat.

The second criticism against Sir Lincoln Evans is more valid. His real sin (from a Labour Party point of view) is not in accepting the title but in not opposing as bitterly as possible the denationalization of steel. Sir Lincoln argues that whether the steel workers dislike denationalization or not, it would be undemocratic to oppose a step for which the Churchill Government won a mandate from the voters. The workers' concern, Sir Lincoln says, should be only with the industrial consequence—the long-term productivity of the industry. This sort of logic, sound as it may be, puts a wedge between the unions and the Labour Party; it undermines their ideological socialism and role as Opposition to the Conservatives on matters of deepest principle.

And so Sir Lincoln Evans is under fire from heavy Labour Party batteries. His critics imply that the trade unions are being "got at" by the Conservatives, that some of their leaders are in danger of betraying the militant rank and file, and that Sir Lincoln in particular has actually sold out to the Tories.

C.A.E. Chairman and Hydrogen Bomb

Months ago, when work and research on the hydrogen bomb began, the public began to hear that it would be a weapon capable of destruction too awful to contemplate. That statement was not challenged, but it did not shock or alarm the public nearly so much as the first reports of the use of the atomic bomb. That may be due to inability to comprehend the awfulness of the new weapon, or to a feeling of apathy created by the many subsequent tests of the atomic bomb. Despite this lack of reaction, many people in the United States and other countries must feel a degree of reassurance on noting that the two U.S. legislators seeking the chairmanship of the Congress Joint Committee on Atomic Energy are far from being the sort of fire-eaters who advocate preventive war and immediate use of the new weapon.

The two men are Senator Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, a Republican, and Representative Sterling Cole, also a Republican, of Bath, New York. Both are at present members of the committee. The latter is very vigorous in advocating that the Joint Committee, hitherto headed by a Senator, should now have a chairman from the House, but he becomes quite subdued whenever the question of the H-bomb is brought up. He was almost alone in expressing doubt about the wisdom of going ahead with the project when it was under discussion. He was and still is worried about the nature of the weapon—the impossibility of using it for precision bombing and the fact that it is essentially a weapon for the destruction of large cities, which means the killing of very large numbers of noncombatants.

Senator Hickenlooper's answers to questions about the bomb are more vague, but they indicate uneasiness over the prospect of using it. Both men, however, acknowledge the logic of the question of what to do if it becomes known that Russia is piling up supplies of hydrogen bombs. Mr. Cole simply shrugs and becomes quite gloomy. Senator Hickenlooper earnestly assures his hearers that "I just don't know what to do."

It is well that the man who will have wide powers as chairman of the C.A.E. should be dubious about the use of the hydrogen bomb. The use of this frightful instrument of destruction may become necessary, yet it is to be hoped, for the sake of humanity, that all those who may be charged with reaching a decision to employ it will approach the matter in the spirit evinced by the legislators referred to above.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A judge has ruled that a man who criticises his wife violates no law. Unless perhaps the law of self-preservation.

A turkey is reported from Kentucky, with two necks. The two-necked chicken has been familiar in boarding-house circles for years.

When a woman is looking for the woman who has cooled her husband's affection toward her she should not neglect to take a long look into the mirror.

The Minister of Justice, the Hon. Stuart Garson, said in a speech recently that the Conservative party is "as dead as the dinosaurs in the Alberta badlands." If he's right, there are some uncommonly active dinosaurs in this part of Ontario.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

A NUMBER of printed programmes of the Madrigal Singers have been lent to me for my perusal by a reader who was once a member of that body. Trained and conducted by Dorothy Allan Park, who now lives in Toronto, the Madrigal Singers, a ladies' chorus of some 30 singers flourished in Peterborough in the thirties and like so many other musical organizations expired in the war years. They sang not only in Peterborough but also in Toronto and elsewhere, and received very good notices for their precision, their fine tone and diction and for their expressive qualities. Perhaps their title was not altogether well chosen, as very little indeed of their repertoire consisted of madrigals, but Mrs. Park had obviously gone through an enormous quantity of the literature of female choruses and selected the best of various ages. Thus the programmes of the singers were very varied and interesting, without ever catering to a debased musical taste. The earlier printed programmes are adorned with a number of quotations from the writings of various great men—Confucius, Martin Luther and Napoleon rub shoulders in commending the art of music. One particular aphorism of Hiller is of special application to the present day. He says: "Popularity is indeed a curious thing. It is remarkable how soon the so-called 'popular' compositions are consigned to oblivion."

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT TO RETURN to the Madrigal Singers. Amongst the many tributes of critics the late Augustus Bridle, of the Toronto Star, said: "These singers have rare quality and blend of tone, the voices are well chosen and exceptionally well trained in a wide repertory. They sing with wonderful precision, warmth of expression, delicacy of shading and perfection of phrase, with faultless diction." It is small wonder that many Peterborough music-lovers, far from thinking of the thirties as an unfortunate period of economic difficulty and growing international tension tend to look back on those times as a sort of Golden Age of choral music. It is certainly significant that former members of this group form the backbone of many existing choirs.

I HAVE JUST received a batch of anthems on approval. They are mostly new and the majority of them is by American composers. One cannot help reflecting on the mediocre, not to say poor quality of many recent offerings in the field of Church music. How has this come about, and what, if anything, could be done to remedy this state of affairs? Any choirmaster worth his salt wishes to use a certain amount of contemporary material, provided that it is of good quality. There are a few who would not include anything written after the first quarter of the seventeenth century, while others restrict their choirs to a diet of Victorian church music. This, I feel, is a defeatist attitude. We have a duty to the composers of the present day, to encourage them where encouragement is due. Moreover, amongst the vast quantity of modern dross there is some gold to be found. The malaise affecting modern church music is caused by the fact that church music is more and more becoming a little corner shop run by specialists who would not cut much of a figure in the larger musical world. Vaughan Williams, Healey Willan and a handful of other notable composers are exceptions to this general rule, and their contribution is correspondingly more vital. I do not know of any first-class American composer who has written a significant amount for the church, and American church music suffers accordingly. Poor craftsmanship, straining after cheap effect and regrettable lapses of taste mar most modern American anthems. Modern English anthems, on the other hand, are tasteful, yes, so very tasteful, but lacking in interest and colour. Sometimes they are crabbed and ungrateful, presumably as the result of the "new austerity" finding its way into every department of life. In the words of the poet,

"They use the snaffle and the bit all right,
But where's the bloody horse?"

✧ ✧ ✧

YET EVEN dullness is preferable to ineptitudes that set one's teeth on edge. One unfortunate effusion makes use of "O Star of Eve" from Tannhauser. A note at the beginning of this astonishing hodge-podge advisers the reader with unconscious humour that "The Wagner melody should be majestic instead of sentimental as in the original." Another composer heads her work with the praiseworthy injunction to "learn well and sing with an enthusiasm mellowed with reverence". I regret that I could not endorse this recommendation in this particular instance! The best of the batch in front of me is a fairly recent anthem by Healey Willan, "Sing we Triumphant Songs", written for a Festival in St. George's Anglican Cathedral, Kingston in 1950. But then Dr. Willan has won acclaim outside the specialized sphere of church music. Though this particular anthem is not in my humble opinion representative of Willan at his best (it is rather turgid and discursive) it outshines its company. Even when Willan is working on reduced pressure his keen sense of choral effect and his smooth and effortless technique are always there. He can outbox the rest of them with one hand tied behind his back. So my advice to would-be composers of church music would be to win their spurs outside the cloistered atmosphere of the church. Let them write symphonic poems, songs, concerti, cantatas, operas and even marches. By all means let them study the technique of the sixteenth century polyphonists and carry through with the great English Cathedral tradition through Purcell, Boyce, Attwood, Goss and Stainer to the present day, but with a frank acknowledgement that the main stream of present-day music is lay, not clerical. One more suggestion for the rejuvenation of the ancient but ailing tradition of church music is to encourage recognized composers in other fields by commissioning them to write anthems for special occasions, centenaries and the like. Of course one would run the risk of receiving something wildly inappropriate, such as an atonal Te Deum or a Mass in Be-Bop (instead of B minor); but something new and vital (as shown in Benjamin Britten's Te Deum) might come out of the welter of outside influences to fertilize the old tradition.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE CBC IS resuming a series of programmes consisting of music from the films. In view of what I have said about church music it is significant enough that the best film music has been written, not by the Hollywood "experts" with their lush and facile effects but by men who have achieved distinction in the concert hall, men such as Sir William Walton, Arthur Bliss and Prokofieff.

DYNAMITE, NOT MAGIC

Why Doesn't Britain Join E.D.C.?

(A British Opinion; supplied by the U.K. Information Office, Ottawa)

THE main reason that Britain has not joined the European Defence Community is that Britain, as well as being a European power, is the centre of a world-wide Commonwealth and of the Sterling Area. She considers that, if she were to become a full member of the European Communities, she would be unduly tied down in Europe and unable to attend adequately to her business in the rest of the world.

Over half the trade of the world is carried on in sterling. The U.K., through the Bank of England, is the banker for the many sterling area countries. Millions of commercial transactions arising annually in these countries and indeed in countries all over the world, are cleared through the U.K. Fifty million people crowded into the British Isles depend for their livelihood on overseas trade which extends far beyond continental Europe. As the banker of the sterling area and the supplier of goods to sterling area countries far removed from the frontiers of Europe, Britain cannot merge in a federal Europe in which her sterling area partners are not only not represented but in which their interests would be subordinated to the interests of Europe alone.

In the field of defence, apart from the permanent role Britain now plays in European defence—providing four and a half divisions for the forces of General Ridgway—Britain has defence commitments in far-flung posts and areas overseas. She shares the rigours of the Korean war with other Commonwealth countries, contributing troops to the Commonwealth Division. Britain has a large force combating Communist guerillas in Malaya, garrisons in Aden, in Cyprus, in Malta and Gibraltar and large commitments in the Middle East which have in recent years involved speedy reinforcements in days of tension in Egypt and the Suez Canal zone. If Britain merged her defence forces in the European Defence Community she would lose the right to dispose of her forces overseas as she thought fit, having regard both to her responsibilities to the world and the risks.

THERE IS NO question of Britain not co-operating with Europe. On the contrary, she has pledged herself to full co-operation; and no European power would deny that she does her share both in the economic and military fields. But Britain must choose the method of that co-operation: and the choice is for "inter-governmental co-operation", as in NATO or in OEEC, rather than "co-operation by pooling sovereignty," as in the two Communities.

Participation in the Communities is quite a different proposition from being represented by a delegation on an international body. The creation of the Communities involves the creation of a European political authority to direct them, which will be designated to take over major fields of responsibility from the participating governments. To take a Canadian parallel, the Western European countries are proposing to create a European Ottawa which, if their present plans prosper, will eventually reduce the present legislatures in Paris, Bonn, Rome, Brussels and The Hague to a status similar to that of Quebec, Toronto, Regina and Winnipeg. Could Britain, with her world-wide commitments, fairly be expected to rush into such a confederation? Confederation in Canada would have been infinitely more complicated and long drawn-out if one of the provinces had been centre of a world-wide monetary area and Commonwealth, as Britain is today.

It may, of course, be argued that a European supra-national confederation is such a compelling goal that Britain, despite the complications, should pledge herself to join at once. It is, however, far from clear that a European confederation will ultimately prove to be a desirable goal for Britain—more desirable for instance than a Commonwealth or NATO confederation. Britain is not opposed to the idea of an eventual confederation of states, but she is chary of setting out, without the greatest circumspection, on the road towards becoming a European "Province" under a European Ottawa.

WHY THEN, should other countries such as France and Germany be prepared to take this step now while Britain holds back? There are three main reasons:

(a) Because they have not Britain's world-wide commitments.
(b) Because the communities provide the only acceptable solution to the Franco-German problem, especially for German rearmament.
(c) Because the Second War has left the countries of Western Europe so weak in face of the Communist threat that they are not confident of their ability to stand alone and so are attracted by a supra-national New Deal.

It is pertinent, moreover, to ask those who criticise Britain for holding back why other countries do not join this or similar confederal projects. Why, for instance, do not Canada and the United States pool their sovereignty in the interests of Western integration? Or, why do they not make proposals for a NATO pooling of sovereignty—which proposition might be more attractive to Britain than that of joining a European confederation? The North American answer would presumably be that Canada and the United States prefer to co-operate by other methods (such as Joint Commissions) and are not yet ready for an abandonment of national sovereignty. That is Britain's position towards Europe.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: the same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.

Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb and be born?

Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee. Ye must be born again. The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, or whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit ....

If I have told you earthly things, and ye believe not, how shall ye believe, if I tell you of heavenly things? (John 3: 1-8, 12.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And such trust have we through Christ to God-ward: not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think anything as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life ....

Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. (II Cor. 3: 4-6, 17.)

Ancient Writ Serves Liberty

(Montreal Star)

The rebuke administered to the Montreal police by Mr. Justice Andre Demers is fully justified. For thirteen days they detained a woman without warrant. No charges were laid against her and she was denied the services of a lawyer. Their contention was that she was detained on a verbal order from the Coroner, an order which His Lordship found they could not prove.

This is just the kind of case the writ of habeas corpus is designed to correct. "No freeman," says the famous section 29 of Magna Charta, "shall be taken and imprisoned unless by the judgement of his peers or by the law of the land." It is from this that the modern use of the writ of habeas corpus stems, but it was in use before Runnymede and has been honoured, except in times of emergency, in every British country.

Even the king's writ does not run against it where the liberty of the subject is in jeopardy—not since 1627, when judges held that the command of the king was a sufficient answer to the writ and Parliament passed resolutions to the contrary.

A Coroner's Court order is in a sense the king's writ, and it is true that Coroners under the act creating the court have power to order a person's detention. But for how long? Forever, if police in their discretion decide?

Mr. Justice Demers did not have to decide this point to dispose of the case before him. Even the verbal order of the Coroner was not proved. It would be wise, in the circumstances, for Coroners not to issue verbal orders and for police to respect the ancient writs that safeguard the liberty of the subject. They are engaged in the investigation of a murder and must be allowed some latiture in the examination of suspects, but they must exercise this latitude with discretion and due consideration for the legal rights of the person detained.

Egad, a T.U.C. leader knighted? Then we shall have knights among the rank and file, forsooth.

Parking Tags Pose Problem

TORONTO (CP)—If Toronto's policemen were to put parking tags on all military vehicles that broke parking regulations here many of the cases might end up in court as "Regina versus the Queen."

J. Palmer Kent, deputy city solicitor, said it is actually the Queen who prosecutes car owners breaking parking rules. And as military vehicles belong to the government—which represents the Queen—prosecuting the owners of the vehicles would mean the Queen was taking herself to court.

Mr. Kent said it would be a different matter if drivers of military vehicles were held responsible for parking offences. But in almost every case the police take the licence number and the owner of the car, not the driver, gets the summons if the fine isn't paid in time.

He was commenting on a London, Ont., report which quoted civic officials as saying that soldiers driving military vehicles will be fined if they do not pay parking meter fees. Defence department officials had ruled that military vehicles do not need to pay such fines.

Calls Charge "Ridiculous"

GODERICH (CP) — Magistrate D. E. Holmes said Saturday he dismissed an indecent exposure case involving an air force mess worker at nearby Clinton as "ridiculous."

Complainant at the hearing Thursday was one of the waitresses with whom the airman worked in the air station mess.

Defence witnesses said the uniforms worn by the accused man and others were in such poor condition that exposure of some kind was practically unavoidable. One witness said "half the rear ends of the trousers are worn out." Another said the trousers were so small they burst open at the seams.

"I felt there was exaggeration on both sides," the magistrate said in a telephone interview.

Mao Pledges China Will Continue Fight

TOKYO (AP)—Mao Tse-tung, leader of Communist China, said Saturday that China "will continue fighting for any amount of years" if the United States chooses to settle the Korean question by war.

The Peiping broadcast, monitored by Kyodo news service, said Mao made the statement in addressing the closing session of the Chinese peoples' political consultative conference.

The same conference on Wednesday heard the Chinese Communist premier and foreign minister, Chou En-lai, challenge the Allies to accept a rejected Russian cease-fire plan or fight to the bitter end.

Mao repeated the old accusation that the U.S. is "plotting to expand the Korean war."

Land Reform, Birth Control, Said Keys To Peace In Terror-Ridden East Africa

By JACK ALLEN

LONDON (Reuters) — Urgent measures of land reform, birth control and character training hold the key to peace in Britain's terrorist-ridden East African colony of Kenya, according to Dr. L. S. B. Leakey, one of the greatest living authorities on tribal life in this area.

Leakey, writer and scientist, was born and bred among Kenya's Kikuyu tribe, main source of the Mau Mau terrorists sworn to oust whites from the colony. He has lived most of his 49 years among them, speaks their language fluently.

He has just written a book, "Mau Mau and the Kikuyu," in which he singles out land hunger as the greatest single factor behind the scourge.

"The dangers of the Mau Mau movement are still very grave," he declares, "and unless the new leaders can be identified and arrested, as they are appointed, an attempt may still be made to carry out the original intention of a wholesale attack on the European population."

"There is a certain amount of reason to believe that it was in the latter part of 1948 or early in 1949 that Mau Mau really got under way, and that this was linked with the news that the Duke of Gloucester (brother of the late King) was coming out to Kenya to confer city status on Nairobi."

Kikuyu agitators started spreading the fantastic story that raising Nairobi to city status would be accompanied by further 'thefts of land' from the Kikuyu by the British authorities."

TWO MISTAKES

"Since 'save the land' is the battle-cry that can stir a Kikuyu more than anything else," Leakey points out, "it was not surprising that a number of people . . rallied to the call."

But its anti-Christian organizers made the mistake of forcing genuine Christians among the Kikuyu to take the Mau Mau oath and these went to the police.

Similarly, a few old Kikuyu who remember the tribe's ancient oath-taking customs were outraged and also reported to the police.

Thus warned the authorities were able to arrest many of the most active leaders of the movement. But, Leakey says, steps were immediately taken to appoint new leaders.

Leakey says that due to increased population, the Kikuyu tribal land is grossly over-crowded.

They want security, education for their children, and the means to buy the things the white man has taught them to use.

To help to remove Kikuyu grievances and pave the way to peace additional land must somehow be found to satisfy the "legitimate need" of the Kikuyu, he says.

He favors a program of birth control because the increase in population is economically impossible.

Character - building must be stressed in education.

Britons Begin Great Trek Back To Flooded Towns

LONDON (Reuters)—The great trek back to the homes and towns, slimy and evil-smelling with the aftermath of the worst floods in modern British history, has begun in England.

Housewives are leaving their temporary flood shelters and returning to the sodden wreckage left when the waters last week oozed slowly back into the sea. Their sadness is overridden by a strong desire to get started with the mop and scrub brush.

But the return has not yet become a mass movement. Thousands of acres of once-fertile farmland are still under water, preventing even a start on reconstruction.

Hundreds who returned to Sheppey, a devastated Thames mouth island, found houses and public buildings covered with a carpet of slime. In some houses a black high-water mark reached four feet up on peeling wallpaper.

REPAIR SEA WALLS

Work is well under way on repairing the broken sea walls and enlarging them to prevent another wholesale disaster. The last time these walls gave way was in the 14th century.

Nearly 10,000 British soldiers bore the brunt of the repair work.

Government officials are working out a flood warning system to make sure that Britain will be prepared for the next onslaught—perhaps during next week's spring tides. Warnings will be based on the state of tides, and the strength and direction of the wind.

The death toll, still not complete one week after the floods, totalled 546.

Dies Year Later

HAMILTON (CP)—Harry Lee, 34, wounded during a family argument a year ago, died Sunday. He had been paralyzed from the chest down since the shooting. He, was shot during an argument with his brother, King. The brother later was acquitted on a charge of shooting with intent to maim.

Flood Aid Piles Up

TORONTO (CP)—More than 5½ tons of relief supplies for flood victims in the Netherlands have arrived at Montreal's Dorval airport, the Canadian Red Cross reported Sunday. The supplies will be flown to Holland. The shipment includes mattresses, sheets, pillows, pillowcases, shoes and infants and children's clothing.

U.S. Schools Seen Key To Victory Over Reds

CAMBRIDGE, Mass (AP)— "If the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton, it may well be that the ideological struggle with communism in the next 50 years will be won on the playing fields of the public high schools in the United States."

These are the words of retiring President James Bryant Conant of Harvard University written before his designation as U.S. high commissioner to Western Germany.

As a basis of national unity, he pleads for the strengthening and improvement of the free, tax-supported, locally controlled U.S. public school, in his new book, Education and Liberty—The Role of the Schools in a Modern Democracy.

Conant's views on private and public school education—expressed in 1952 before an educators' meeting in Boston—were laid befort the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by opponents of his new appointment. His views at the Boston meeting—interpreted by some as an attack on Roman Catholic parochial schools — are restated more fully in his book.

He writes: "I know of no one today who wishes to suppress private schools. Putting the idea into effect would involve such drastic state action as to be repugnant to our fundamental ideas of liberty."

"But, unwillingness even to consider advocating state or national action to suppress private schools is quite a different matter from being indifferent to their expansion. It is certainly a very different thing from acquiescing in the use of tax money directly or indirectly for the support of private schools.

"A dual system serves and helps to maintain group cleavages, the absence of a dual system does the reverse. This is particularly true of secondary schools. I would plead with those who insist as a matter of conscience on sending their children to denominational schools that they might limit their insistence on this type of education to the elementary years."

Two Destroyers Go To Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Canadian tribal class destroyers, the Iroquois and the Huron, will leave Halifax April 29 to relieve the Haida and the Crusader in the Korean war theatre, naval headquarters announced Saturday.

The Iroquois and the Huron are veterans of the Second World War and have already completed one tour of operations in the Far East. The Haida will return to her home base at Halifax while the Crusader will return to Esquimalt, B.C.

The Huron spent five months in the Korean theatre in 1951, returning to Canada in September. The destroyer was paid off into reserve and taken in hand for refit and modernization of her weapons. Completed last fall, the ship was recommissioned Nov. 18.

The Iroquois returned to Halifax last month from her first tour and is being refitted.

Port Dalhousie Lions Club was awarded the Cochrane Cup for obtaining the largest number of points in life-saving tests and the Chapman Cup went to Camp Ahmek for the most awards of any summer camp.

Oddfellows Beat Cobourg In 7-3 Junior Contest To Move Close To Playoffs

Oddfellows came through in fine style at Cobourg Saturday night, defeating Jays 7-3, in a fast, clean junior hockey match. The teams battled on fairly even terms to the half-way mark; then the superior skill, condition and power of the visitors asserted itself and Links dominated play, to rack up a convincing triumph over gallant rivals. The win, a four-pointer, places Peterborough close on the heels of Lindsay, currently in second place in the mad playoff scramble; and another victory over the same Jays at Civic Arena Wednesday night, will enable the Mortimer boys to clinch a playoff spot.

JUVES GO GOOD

Highlighting play throughout, in a game that saw every man giving his best, the four erstwhile Outboard Marine juvenile stars, Gary Kearns, Jerry Frizzelle, Murray Byrne and Paul Doris, were particularly effective; closely followed by Kenny Floyd —who is playing the game of his life at the moment—Bud McDougall, Gordon Coyle, Clare Ferguson, Bob Gardner, Bill Twist, Johnny Pue, fast forwards; also Roger Wilson and Gord Snape, hard-hitting defencemen. Bob Delahey, another Marine contribution to junior hockey, gave what was possibly his finest goal-tending display of the season, with amazing work in the final two periods to kick all but one out.

Jays opened fire in the first when Rollie Campbell hit the twine on a wild scramble with Links short-handed. The Mortimer lads raced back as Floyd, McDougall and Pue showed form; and the former snagged the disc near the right boards at the blueline and fired a long, high one to the upper left corner.

LED THE WAY

Gary Kearns, whose three goals and one assist led both teams, scored his first sparkler ten minutes later, when he stickhandled from centre past defence, fell, then pushed the puck past Lingard with a last-second flick-of-the-stick. The crowd gave a rousing cheer. Jim Dawe, Cobourg's dashing defence ace, fired a 60-footer outside the visitors' blueline near the gong and the bullet drive caromed off Delahey's arm to equalize a torrid frame.

The mid-session saw sustained action, rougher play but less scoring, as neither sentinel wavered despite numerous rival sorties. Finally, after three-quarter period play, McDougall and Kearns combined as the former returned from penance. Bud's shot to the short side on a wild mixup told the story.

LINKS FLEW

The finale saw Oddfellows play in flying form, opening a withering two-way attack that could not be denied. Coyle from Twist early, on a beautiful around-the-net sucker play to the open side, opened; then came a 13-minute goal famine. Kearns suddenly burst forth to elude the entire Cobourg team, defence included, and scored on the rush of the year. He tallied seconds later, again, on a loose 25-footer on the right side; Doris drew an assist. Continuing hard, Floyd and Snape rushed and the latter snared a last-second pass at the goalmouth to pot a sharp angle drive. Don Boswell wound up scoring for Cobourg.

Eaton's Gain 51-50 Win Against PCVS

An excited crowd of over 300 students and parents at the PCVS gymnasium Saturday night saw Eaton's Junior Executives' basketball team nose out the home team 51-50. Jarvis Collegiate's John Tattle scored the winning point on a foul shot with less than a minute to go. Neither team was able to gain more than a point lead through the last seven minutes keeping the crowd in an uproar. The Toronto team had forged ahead for the first time in the game at 43-42 early in the fourth quarter. However, field goals by Hendry and Corbett and foul shots by Langhorne, Allan and Griffin kept PCVS very much in the game right up to the last-few-seconds shot by Langhorne from 40 feet, which fell inches short.

THRILLED CROWD

Though the game was close and the finish thrilling to the large crowd, the basketball was not of the best. PCVS particularly was called for many floor violations which restricted their shooting opportunities. The Toronto team composed of boys from a dozen Toronto and district high schools relied largely on individual efforts and strong follow-up rebounding which finally spelled the difference as PCVS tired in the late stages. Dan Griffin was the game's high scorer with 18 points. Vic Kurdyak of the strong North Toronto Collegiate seniors was top man for the Execs' with 16 points.

PCVS Grads Victorious In Girls' Cage Tussle

PCVS Grads eked out a 13-12 exhibition basketball win Saturday over the present PCVS girls in a neat number. The seniors led until last quarter, being in front 6-2 at the halfway mark. Donna Howson fairly flew in the second half to score nine points, including the winning one, as Marilyn Vint tossed in a single just before to have it tied 12-all. D. Howson also had two points in the first half. Their other two came from Carol Raper. Betty Thompson led the losers with four, two each being counted by Janet Collins, Marg Dobson, Bev Pollock and Marilyn Vint. Teams:

PCVS—J. Collips, L. Cutmore, M. Dobson, M. Fletcher, M. Hayward, J. Naish, A. Nickson, B. Pollock, B. Rehill, B. Thomson, M. Vint.

Grads—M. Clarke P. Peryer, D. Howson, J. Krogh, C. Raper, M. Hollingsworth, E. White, P. Gaskill, J. Estlick.

Referee—B. Wilkinson; umpire, L. Derry.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The critics who wrote in last week panning TVL clubs in Marmora, Campbellford, Havelock and Lakefield, for allegedly holding secret meetings to work against the Norwood and Hastings teams, were soundly rebuked over the weekend by F. M. Rutherford. He is manager of the Campbellford club and chairman of the TVL northern division, a man who has been interested in the Trent Valley Hockey League for some 40 years. He told us that Prexy Art Duncan and the executive had been most lenient with Norwood and Hastings teams this season, that the rules were clearly defined at the start of the season but had not been observed by these two clubs, and that things would be different next year. A sharp curtailment in imports was predicted and no OHA senior "B" players permitted.

* * * * * *

"Otherwise, we'll form our own section of the league," Mr. Rutherford said, "with such teams in as Stirling, Marmora, Campbellford, Havelock and Lakefield. The TVL should stick to local players, and develop their own talent. Some of the boys considered not good enough for Norwood this year are playing for us, and Campbellford is presently tied with Marmora for the league leadership." He went on to say that the Peterborough players in the loop were all fine fellows and he had nothing against them, but he blamed the club executives for not going by the rules. The player lists were to be in by Dec. 27 for screening, and the cards all cleared by Jan. 11. Yet, he maintained, Norwood has used four different goalies— the maximum is two —as well as more than the allotted number of imports, more than the five senior "B" players permitted, and didn't always dress five Norwood players as required. Hastings offended, to some extent, too, he added.

Fans Like Home Players

"Naturally, district fans aren't as interested in outside players," the Campbellford manager went on, as he warmed up; "our games are to start at 8.15, with just 15 minutes grace allowed, or a fine imposed on the late team. But, due to some clubs having so many players coming from Peterborough, we're often as late as 45 minutes in starting a game. Your junior Oddfellows object to their boys playing in our circuit, and we don't want them there, except for a few clubs. Clubs not using a bunch of imports from the cities are drawing all right. We average between 700 and 800 fans a game, and Marmora does as well."

* * * * * *

He also asked that it be pointed out that no games in the TVL should be four-point affairs, as league rules called for those games thrown out when Norwood used Bob Thorpe to be replayed. He said clubs could not change executive rules. "As for secret meetings," he said, "that's bosh. We held one meeting to issue an ultimatum to Norwood and Hastings teams to observe the rules or the other clubs would pull out and go their own way. Why should we hold secret meetings? We have nothing to hide in our player lists. Norwood caused most of the trouble, with Hastings guilty to a lesser degree. We don't like this unpleasantness— we just want a good sporting Trent Valley League made up for the most part of local players. And that's what we intend to have in the future." He had various lists of players, dates, etc., to back up his statements.

Oddfellows Almost In

Oddfellows clicked neatly to dump Cobourg 7-3 Saturday with a good all-round showing. Goalie Delahey, the defence and forwards showed well, especially in the last half to give Doug Mortimer's squad the verdict. Gary Kearns proved top sniper with three and one. As it was a four-pointer, the IOOF-ers now have 28 points, and need one win more to clinch a playoff spot. Belleville has 40 points, Kingston 31, Lindsay 30, IOOF 28, Oshawa 21 and Cobourg is well out of it. Best Oshawa can do if they win their remaining games is 29 points, but the Links would get 32 if they beat Cobourg here Wednesday. They also play in Bella Villa on Tuesday. This week winds up their schedule.

Pro mat fans of the city and district have been asking to see Whipper Bill Watson in action, but the guy has been kept busy lately on TV grapple shows out of Chicago. However, being back in Toronto this week, the Whip was lined up to team with popular Yukon Eric in a match bout against the villainous Red Mask and huge Hi Lee for the Brock this Wednesday night. That's really something for those who like their wrestling. Four headliners in the top bout, and the Whipper is definitely the biggest draw in the game in Canada. Also has quite a following now in the USA. Semi-final has Frank Valois against Larry Moquin, with Steve Stanlee facing Earl McCready in the prelim. Sounds like fun and fury for sure along the Rue Brock this week.

Hamilton Gets Close Win Against Blacks

In one of the finest exhibition girls' basketball games seen here in years, Hamilton Zions yanked out a 61-57 decision over the local Black's LOBA intermediate team at the YWCA on Saturday night. The taller Hamiltonians, who won the provincial senior girls' title for the past two years, showed plenty of class, but had to hustle to the very utmost against the good Peterborough squad, coached by Phil Macks.

In face, Black's were leading by two points with less than three minutes left to play when they lost their margin. The lead changed back and forth throughout in fast, clever basketball, and at no time did more than four points separate the squads. Black's used a zone defence, as Hamilton played it man to man often, but sometimes switched to the zone barricade. They had the advantage of height, yet every local lass played a bangup game against stiff oppostion.

ALWAYS CLOSE

It was 16-13 for the home side in the first quarter and they had a 29-27 bulge at the half. Hamilton fought hard later and led by the narrow margin of 41-39 to end the third, and then it was nip-and-tuck right down to the final whistle in really exciting and good hoop play. The locals were guilty of 12 fouls to Hamilton's five.

Marion Hawley proved the big gun of the visitors with 19 points in a smart showing, and she was followed fairly closely by Fern McAndrew with 14, both being hard to stop as they raced in for their shots on passing plays with teammates. Jo Brennan and Joan Smethurst each clicked for six points, four apiece going to Deloris Ross and Evelyn Elmer. Nellie Maryn accounted for three, Marion Martin and Madeline Nevilles two each, and Jean Marshall one point.

Tops for Black's was Joan Dunk with 16, as Pauline Stewart tossed in seven baskets for 14. Mabel Gillen also stood out with 11 points, as W. Byers had eight, C. Raper four, G. Poast two, and M. McGill and M. Borland one apiece. Teams:

Hamilton: J. Smethurst, M. Martin, J. Marshall, M. Hawley, D. Ross, E. Elmer, N. Martyn, F. McAndrew, J. Brennan, M. Nevilles.

Black's: J. Dunk, W. Byers, M. Borland, M. Gillen, S. Dewarga, P. Stewart, G. Poast, C. Raper, M. McGill, M. Wharry.

Hockey League Rocked By Row

HALIFAX (CP)—The Maritime Major Hockey League rocked on its foundations during the weekend, but goalie Al Millar is still playing hockey.

The tempestuous netminder of Charlottetown Islanders, who drew a match penalty and an assault charge in Halifax Friday night, when he was accused of striking a woman spectator with his stick, was back in the nets in Charlottetown Saturday, facing Halifax Atlantics.

He even drew another penalty—a minor for tripping an opponent.

But for 15 minutes it looked as if the league would fall apart over the decision by the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association that permitted Millar to play.

Free on bail till his assault case is heard next Wednesday, Millar was under automatic suspension as a result of his match penalty.

The Islanders appealed to the MHA Saturday, and it agreed to overrule the suspension by the league president, J. E. Hudson.

Informed of the decision, president George Tingley of the Atlantics ordered his team to stay off the ice for their Saturday night game in Charlottetown and threatened to withdraw it from the league.

The Atlantics finally agreed to play—under protest. They won 3-2.

Canadians Win At Carnival

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Athletes from Ontario and Quebec Saturday night turned the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union meet into a Canadian track carnival.

They figured in winning efforts in five events and set AAU records in three of them.

The all-Canadian Michigan distance medley relay team of Geoffrey Dooley and Jack Carroll, both of Montreal, John Moule of Hamilton, Ont., and John Ross of Oakville, Ont., clipped nine-tenths second off the AAU record of 10:26.6 set by Loyola in 1952.

Al Rankin of Ottawa ran number two on the Michigan shuttle hurdle relay that won in :25.7. George Lynch of Toronto and Ross teamed with Americans Roy Christiansen and Bill Hickmen to win the two-mile relay in the record time of 7:43.7—4.6 seconds better than the two-year-old AAU mark.

Among other Michigan freshmen grabbing glory were Pete Sutton of Oakville and Ron Wallingford of Ottawa. Sutton won the invitational 440-yard dash in a record :49.8 and Wallingford took the two-mile race in 9:33.8.

Roy Pella of Sudbury placed sixth in the shot put with a heave of 46 feet 4⅝ inches.

The name Kawartha for a group of Ontario lakes is an Indian word meaning "bright waters and happy lands."

Dr. Ralph Clark's Quartet Sweeps District No. 5 By Overcoming Agincourt

Dr. Ralph Clark's rink, winners of Group No. 5 in the British Consols competition last year, repeated on Saturday night when they breezed home an easy winner over L. Ross, Agincourt, by the one-sided score of 16-5. The local rink will now journey to Toronto Granite Club on Thursday to play in a series with seven other group winners; and if they should be successful there, they would represent the Ontario Curling Association in the MacDonald-Brier competition, to be held at Sudbury early in March.

A GOOD CROWD

Before a crowd of close to 300, the local quartet took a lead on the very first end and they were never in danger afterward.

For the first four ends it did look as if it was going to be a real contest, as each rink was playing a strictly knock-out game, but when Clark's rink scored four ends in a row making the score 6-1 at the sixth end, the crowd began to sense what was coming Agincourt picked up two in the seventh end and that gave them a little hope, but it was short-lived, as Clark came right back on the eighth end with a big five and that did it.

ISSUE SETTLED

The crowd had gathered hoping to see a real game between two good rinks but after that big five-end they began to thin out;—that definitely decided the issue.

The Peterborough boys showed high class curling and deserved the win. It is only fair to say that the Agincourt boys can curl a lot better than they did Saturday night. It was just not their day.

2 Peterborough Men Elected Directors Of Golf Association

TORONTO (CP)—The 1953 Ontario open golf championship will be held June 18-19 at Windsor, manager E. H. Banks of the Ontario Golf Association said at the annual meeting Sunday.

He said the provincial amateur championship will be held Aug. 5-8 at Brantford.

The two outstanding events in Ontario golfing last year, he said, were Gerry Kesselring's double win in the Ontario Amateur and the Ontario Open and the 7-5 win of the Ontario juniors over the juniors from the District of Columbia.

Kesselring, Kitchener golfer who copped the amateur championship for the second successive year, defeated Jim Neale of Hamilton in the final at Kingston for the Toronto Star Trophy. He won the Birk's Trophy for the fall tournament at Brantford with a 67.

The junior contest at Mississauga July 29 was a return match between Ontario golfers and golfers from the District of Columbia, Delaware and Virginia. United States golfers won in 1951 but the championship was brought to Canada in 1952.

END YEAR WITH PROFIT

Association President Robert Abbott of Peterborough said the association closed the year Nov. 30 with a profit of $396 and total surplus of $7,640.

Mr. Abbott announced the resignation of James Traviss, honorary secretary-treasurer.

Officers elected were: W. E. Stead of Islington, president; Paul Robert of Rosedale; B. F. Kearns of Westmount and Wes McKnight of Scarboro, vice-presidents.

George T. Honer of Kirkland Lake was elected president of the Northern Ontario Golf Association.

Directors elected from clubs outside the Toronto area included: P. A. Blackshaw of Owen Sound; Bruce Bradley of Oshawa; Lionel Browne of Peterborogh; A. L. Code of Perth; Dr. G. V. Faulkner of Belleville; A. F. Fuerth of Windsor; W. C. George of Couchiching; G. R. Johnston of Brockville; J. P. Kinghorn of Lookout Point; D. E. MacDonald of Cornwall; Douglas Macklin of Sarnia; Ivan Miller of Chedoke; A. S. Mitchell of Cutten Fields; F. Moir of St. Catharines; J. B. Nash of London; Stan Payne of Peterborough and W. D. Powell of Brantford.

PREXY RETIRES — Robert Abbott, of Peterborough, retired Saturday as Ontario Golf Association president at the annual meeting in Toronto, being succeeded by Wm. E. Stead, of Islington. Mr. Abbott has long been a prominent golfer and club and provincial official. He is a member of the Peterborough Golf Club.

Prized Memento

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP)—Winnipeg's Chick Zamick, 26-year-old centre with Nottingham Panthers in the English National Hockey League, will receive a specially-mounted puck from Nottingham fans. It's the one with which he scored his 400th goal in British hockey, tying the mark set earlier by Bobbie Lee of Verdun, Que., with Brighton.

Red Wings Whip Bruins 5-2, Hitting Stride

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

A couple of weeks ago, folks around the National Hockey League circuit were beginning to feel sorry for the slumping Detroit Red Wings. Now some of the folks feel sorry for themselves. The NHL champions appear to have made a smooth transition from a jittery January into a fruitful February. Montreal Canadiens had their last chance to halt the Detroit runaway Saturday night when they took on the Wings at Montreal with one point separating the two clubs at the top of the league standings. But the Wings slapped Canadiens down 3-1.

The shattered Habitants proceeded to allow the last-place New York Rangers a 1-1 tie Sunday night while Detroit overcame a case of third-period shakes to dispose of the fifth-place Boston Bruins 5-3. That left the Wings a comfortable four-point margin, plus two games in hand, over their nearest rivals.

It was a frightful weekend, too, for Toronto Maple Leafs. Looking forward to an easy double-header with Chicago Black Hawks, who hadn't won in five previous tries, the Leafs dropped both ends of the home-and-home set by identical 4-2 scores.

IN FOURTH PLACE

That left the Leafs in fourth place, two points behind the Hawks and only two ahead of the Bruins in the last play-off position.

The Canadiens gave it a good try Saturday night. They outshot their rivals 12-3 in the first period and 13-12 in the second, but had to settle for a 2-1 deficit at that point as Terry Sawchuk worked near-miracles in the Detroit cage.

Once rookie defenceman Jim (Red-Eye) Hay gave them the lead late in the middle frame, the Wings were free to play it cosy. Gordie Howe shoved his 39th goal into an empty net in the final minute, after Montreal had pulled goalie Gerry McNeil in favor of an extra forward.

Eddie Litzenberger, a lend-lease rookie from Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, got the lone Canadien goal. John Wilson was the third Detroit marksman.

OFFENSIVE HERO

Defenceman Red Kelly, a defensive standout at Montreal, turned offensive hero at Boston as he scored twice, his second goal giving the Wings their victory. The Bruins had wiped out a 3-0 lead on goals by Real Chevrefils, Johnny Peirson and Fleming Mackell before Detroit pulled away.

Wilson and Ted Lindsay helped pile up the early Red Wing margin and Glen Skov applied the clincher with two minutes left.

Only one penalty was called, a minor to Bruin rookie Leo Labine at the 17:45 mark in the third period.

Rookie George Sěnick, called up from Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League in midseason, gave the Rangers their tie against Montreal when he batted in his own rebound late in the third period. Bert Olmstead sank Maurice Richard's relay for the lone Canadien tally.

The two Chicago-Toronto clashes followed a similar pattern, the Hawks pulling away in the late stages after overcoming Toronto leads.

Playing-coach Sid Abel, Jimmy Peters, Jim McFadden and Bill Mosienko looked after Chicago scoring in Toronto Saturday while Danny Lewicki and George Armstrong tallied for the Leafs. Sunday it was Bill Gadsby, Cal Gardner, Gerry Couture and McFadden for the Hawks, while Tod Sloan got both Leaf markers.

Rain Melts Snow Cancel Dog Derby

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1953 international dog derby, scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday, was called off Sunday after week-end thaw and rains melted all but a trace of the snow and ice on the 33-mile route.

"We hate to do it at this late date, but it would be inhuman to expect dogs to run on bare ground" said Mrs. Elizabeth Nansen, president of the Ottawa Sled Dog Club. About 25 teams had entered.

British Couple Win Champion

DAVOS, Switzerland (CP)—John and Jennifer Nicks, a brother-and-sister team from Brighton, England, edged out a Canadian couple Sunday to win the world figure-skating championship for pairs.

Frances Dafoe and Noris Bowden of Toronto finished a close second to the Nicks. The Hungarian brother-and-sister team of Marianne and Laszlo Nagy was third.

The Nicks' performance and the five-minute stint of the two Canadians were so smooth and precise that the placing was in doubt until the very end.

Miss Dafoe, 23-year-old niece of the late Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, and Bowden, 26-year-old engineer, won tremendous applause when she leaped into his arms to finish their performance.

The judges gave the Nicks 11 points to 10.91 for the Canadians. The Nagys had 10.66.

Tangier City Of Tolerance Nationalities Live Quietly

By HENRY BUCKLEY

TANGIER, North Africa, (Reuters)—Tangier is a city of tolerance where more than 75,000 Moslem Moroccan Jews, 30,000 Spaniards and 10,000 other nationalities and religions live together in friendly co-operation.

Any store accepts either Spanish pesetas or French francs.

People begin a conversation in French and end it in Spanish.

Tangier long has been a tolerant home for Moroccan nationalists seeking shelter from the French or Spanish protectorates, although lately the Tangier authorities have clamped down a little on the use of this international city as a base for clandestine activities in other countries.

One morning paper, "La depeche," is published in French and the other, "Espana," is in Spanish.

It is a friendly happy city where crime is limited and racial friction rare. An exception, the incident last April in which several Moroccans were shot during a demonstration, is attributed to poor handling by the local police.

MAKES VOICE HEARD

Tangier makes its voice heard all over the world as the most radio-saturated place known where over 60 transmitters send out their messages to the world.

From the tall steel masts of the Voice of America relay station the story of the free world is told daily to those behind the Iron Curtain.

Commercial radio companies have big relay centres here and three local transmitters broadcast in Spanish, French and Arabic.

To see Tangier at its best, one must go through the labrynth of tiny passageways of the old city where no transport but a not-too-fat donkey can penetrate, then up the hill past the Kasbah to a Moorish cafe perched on the hill-top with a superb view over Tangier and the straits, and with the lion-like rock of Gibraltar in the far corner.

For homesick foreigners there is a real American bar, a British pub and a German beer hall.

European Group Begins To Market Raw Materials

By SERGE NABOKOFF

LUXEMBOURG (Reuters)—Next Tuesday will go down in history as the starting point of one of the most far-reaching experiments in international collaboration yet made.

On that day, Jean Monnet of France, president of the European coal and steel community, will take control of raw-material resources from the Baltic to the Mediterranean and from the Atlantic ocean to the Adriatic.

He and his eight colleagues in the "high authority" as the governing body of the coal-steel pool is called, will open a single market embracing coal, iron ore and scrap in Belgium, France, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg and West Germany.

Two months later, they hope to move a stage farther in their plan for economic unification of 155,000,000 Europeans, and open a single market for steel.

Monnet has announced that some of the main barriers to free trade between the six nations will disappear overnight. These are:

1. Customs tariffs on iron ore and scrap. Duties on coal have already been abolished by agreement among the six countries.

2. National quota restrictions on the flow of goods within the pool.

3. "Double-pricing" — a system under which a nation charges more for its goods abroad than at home.

4. The most "flagrant" cases of discrimination in transport tariffs. Other discriminations will be removed gradually.

"High authority" circles are confident that if their six-nation coal and steel "baby" survives the "teething troubles" of the first single market, the single market for steel will be an easy stage in its development.

Experts say that once raw-material costs are unified, the prices of steel produced from them will be "relatively easy" to sort out. Then the way will be clear for Europe to reap the full benefit of the increased productivity and better social conditions aimed at in the merger.

He had been ill part of the winter, since before the family moved from their farm home into the village. After a week in the Cobourg General Hospital he was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough two weeks ago.

He lived all of his life on the farm home, south of Harwood where he was born.

He is survived by his sister, Miss Mary Corkery and brothers, Timothy Corkery, and one brother in the United States, William Corkery, Montana.

Requiem mass was said in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Harwood, Saturday morning by Father Fitzgerald, of Warkworth. Burial was in St. Michael's cemetery, Cobourg.

RAISE SUNKEN TUG

PORT DOVER (CP)—Sinking of a Port Dover fishing fleet tug, the J. H. Misner, was caused by water flowing through a broken pipe in the bottom of the craft, H. H. Misner, Port Dover, said Sunday night. The tug, which capsized in 14 feet of water against a harbor dock Saturday, was raised that night. Mr. Misner said damage to the $20,000 vessel was slight.

Expect U.S. Asked To Underwrite Giant Global Banking System

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain is expected to ask the U.S. to underwrite with dollars a giant new global banking system when informal economic talks begin in Washington next month.

This is one of many plans Britain and other Commonwealth partners have to beat the dollar shortage, expand world trade and give the pound sterling more punch.

Other proposals Britain intends making on behalf of the Commonwealth

U.S. dollars should be sunk in Commonwealth development.

The U.S. should lower tariffs, ease customs regulations and cut import quotas to help other countries earn more dollars.

HIGHER GOLD PRICE

The world price of gold should be increased from its present level of $35 an ounce.

These ideas, together with an outline of what the Commonwealth is ready to do, were handed to President Eisenhower last month by Prime Minister Churchill. They will form the basis of policy-making talks scheduled to start in Washington early in March among Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the chancellor of the exchequer, Richard A. Butler, for Britain and State Secretary John Foste. Dulles and Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey for the U.S.

RETURN OFFERS

This is what the Commonwealth is offering in return:

Broader, freer world trade patterns;

Eventual pound freedom — this means that sterling will become freely exchangeable for any other foreign monies, including the dollar;

Opening of Commonwealth markets to U.S. goods by removal of trade bars;

Wiping out of basic trade balances between the dollar and sterling worlds—and thus the need for any more U.S. aid in the future.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Approximately 20 Peterborough realtors are attending the 31st Annual Conference of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards being held in Hamilton, Feb. 8-10.

HIS 87th BIRTHDAY

The birthday of Robert S. Wright, Albert St., last Thursday, which was mentioned at the weekend as being his 78th, was in reality his 87th, an inadvertence which in type clipped nine years off his age as one of the elder citizens of Peterborough.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Tonight the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) will elect their 1953 officers. The election will be at 8 p.m. in the new Labor Centre, 393 Water St. Edmund S. Humphrey of Local 434, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), is the 1952 president.

SPARKS LIGHT PAPERS

Firemen were saved a trip to the home of Peter Gagliardi, 541 Donegal St., early Saturday afternoon, when a small fire was extinguished in the basement of his home while a call was being made to the fire department. Mr. Gagliardi was stoking the fire when some sparks flew out and ignited newspapers that were being kept for lighting the furnace. The blaze was quickly put out and there was no material damage.

THREE FROM PETERBOROUGH

Three Peterborough trade unionists attended the two-day conference of the Ontario Federation of Labor held over the weekend at Windsor. The three were William Triggs and Murt Kelly of Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), and Alfred Barber of Local 210, UPWA. Local 293 is the bargaining agent for production workers at the Quaker Oats Co; Local 210, production workers at Canada Packers.

Have You Noticed It?

City Water Gets Foreign Fishy Taste

By DAVE WHITE

How sensitive is your palate? Notice any change in the taste of the drinking water recently?

If you haven't noticed any change, you're no connoisseur of Adam's Ale—that favorite tipple of teetotallers and the morning-after medicine reluctantly taken by topers.

In short: For the past three weeks you've been drinking "raw" water pumped straight from the Otonabee River, with an extra dose of chlorine thrown in to kill bacteria. During a four-week change-over at the filtration plant the six filter beds are not being used. The result is a strange "fishy" taste in the tap water.

Probably nobody but Peterborough Utilities workmen and their top brass would have been any the wiser except for an unexpected factor: The mild weather. When there is a layer of ice over the river the sediment settles and the water is clear and pure; but when a mild spell comes along the open river is churned up and so is the sediment. And there is the drainage from the surrounding land adding more impurities to the river.

At the filtration plant the usual chlorine dosage is six pounds for each million gallons of water passing through. To compensate for the lack of filtration this has been increased to 10 pounds per million gallons.

A SURVEY

A check by the Examiner—along lines that would make Dr. Gallup tear his hair out—reveals that three out of every four people still don't know there has been a change in their water.

What do these people drink anyway? Maybe a check on the consumption of bottled goodness bought at the several Peterborough dispensaries is in order.

An Oshawa man downed a rye the other night and turned to a glass of Peterborough's tap water for a chaser. After a sample, he gasped:

"You sure live close to nature here, don't you. I can taste frogs, minnows, and — yes, there's a slight flavor of bullrushes. . . . Kindly show me to the gentlemen's powder room; I wish to express my stomach's disapproval. Ugh!"

Several loyal Peterborough folk remonstrated with him. They explained—in terms simple enough to be understood by an Oshawa man—that they hadn't just ladled him a quickie out of the goldfish bowl. He was drinking approved tap water. But nobody could account for the strange taste.

The man with the answer is James Harrison, chief engineer of the city waterworks.

THREE NEW FILTER BEDS

Mr. Harrison explained that three extra filter beds, each with a rated capacity of 1,000,000 gallons of water a day, are being completed. At the same time the six existing filter beds are being renovated; the power lines are being remodelled, and there is a general change-over of valves and other mechanical apparatus.

The concrete wall between the old and the new plants is being broken down. That's also a hold-up.

In a week or so the six filter beds should be ready for use and in a couple of months or so the three new ones will be ready. When the job is completed the nine filtration beds will be able to handle 9,000,000 gallons of water a day—3,000,000 more than at present.

"The water's perfectly good, but the phenol taste hasn't been taken out by filtration," said Mr. Harrison. "Probably nobody would have noticed any difference if the cold weather had stayed and the ice remained over the river. But we couldn't foresee this mild spell when we started work."

As the "fishy water" season will continue for another week — or whenever the filtration beds are ready for use again—smart hostesses will have that much more time to try a sly but unfair party dodge:

When each guest arrives at the party he is given a glass of water. After drinking it and he complains only about the poor hospitality—not about the fishy water—he is a marked man. Obviously his palate is defective. When the real party starts he gets all the poor stuff. The victim probably can't tell good liquor from bad, either.

Unfair, we said—but effective!

Editors' Assoc. Name G. W. Craw One Of Directors

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Irenee Masson of Quebec's French-language daily, Le Soleil, was named president of the Canadian Managing Editors' Conference which wound up its three-day annual convention here Sunday.

Mr. Masson succeeds R. J. Churchill, executive editor of the London Free Press, president for the last two years.

First vice-president of the conference is T. N. Morrison of the Welland Tribune; second vice-president, Claire Ganong of the Moncton Transcript, Secretary is M. McIntyre Hood of the Oshawa Times-Gazette.

The board of directors: L. H. Smith, the St. Catharines Standard; Hugh Buchanan, the Lethbridge Herald; G. W. Craw, the Peterborough Examiner; Herve Major, Montreal La Presse; W.T. Munns, the Toronto Globe and Mail; Roy Duchemin, the Sydney Post-Record; H. Koshevoy, the Vancouver Sun and Harold Vaughan, the Windsor Daily Star.

In Saturday's panel discussion on the plastic cuts or scan-o-graver, Mr. Craw, managing editor of The Examiner, was leader and was assisted by Gifford Hampshire, public relations officer for Fairchilds, New York; Robert Turnbull, chief photographer of the London Free Press and T. J. Dolan, managing editor of the Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Next year's conference will be held in Windsor, Ont.

This one ended with a civic luncheon Sunday at which Mayor Allan Rush welcomed the editors and a tour of the University of Western Ontario including tea with president G. E. Hall.

Saturday night the province of Ontario held a dinner for delegates and their wives. Agriculture Minister F. S. Thomas of Ontario handed out a bouquet at it, saying: "I have never been misquoted by a newspaperman in my life and I don't expect to be."

After the dinner the editors were guests of the London Free Press at a dance and entertainment.

Three Honored By Eaton's Join Quarter Century Club

Three employees of the T. Eaton Co. of Peterborough were the guests of honor Saturday night at a dinner marking their 25 years of service to the company. They were granted six weeks extra holidays, and were given membership in the quarter century club. Mrs. Hazel Beatty, Mrs. Marion Yokum and Miss Mary Murphy were the three members of the staff who were celebrating their 25 years of service.

Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Yokum were with the Turnbull Company before Eaton's bought it out in 1928, and Miss Murphy was employed with the Cressman store up to May of 1928.

J. H. Jamison, on behalf of the T. Eaton Co., presented Mrs. Beatty with a watch and Mrs. Yokum a diamond ring. Miss Murphy will not complete her 25 years of service until May, and she will receive her award then. A letter of congratulations from John David Eaton was read by Mr. Jamison. The staff presented Mrs. Beatty with a silver teapot, and Mrs. Yokum a chrome table, and to Miss Murphy a lamp and table.

An orchestra supplied the music for the evening, Reg. Petres sang "Oh Danny Boy" and "The Bluebird of Happiness," and Bob Peebles led the sing-song. Members of the staff put on a "Gay Nineties Review," the "Gas House Four," made up of Gail McKelvey, Shirley Moscrop, Jack Drysdale and Ken Armstrong. Following this, the "Tapping Madhatters," Nels Ballantyne, Ken Simmons, gave their rendition of "Sweet Rosie O'Grady." Bill McKelvey gave a short solo on his harmonica and then the "Two Hits and a Miss," Shirley Moscrop, Ken Simmons, Nels Ballantyne, made up the rest of the entertainment.

Car Plunges Into Ditch, Hits Pole, 2 Hurt

One man received facial cuts and another was shaken up Saturday night when the car in which they were riding went out of control, a mile north of the city, plunged into the ditch and struck a telephone pole.

Fred Todd, 52, of R.R. 8, Peterborough a front-seat passenger in the northbound car driven by Leslie A. Blakely, 33, of 529 King St. was thrown forward by the impact into the windshield. His face was cut but he did not receive medical attention.

Today in magistrate's court Blakely had three charges read out to him: being drunk, careless driving, and illegal possession of liquor. He entered no plea and the case was adjourned to Feb. 17.

The accident was at 8:20 p.m. and occurred just south of the Nassau turn on Highway 28.

Blakely was driving toward Lakefield when his 1947-model car went out of control and ran into the east ditch where it struck, but did not break, a telephone pole. The car bounced back, the front end smashed in.

Damage is estimated at $500.

OPP Constables Jack Gray and Ernie Lunn investigated.

Church Safe Robbed Of $500

Morning Collection Stolen From St. Paul's

The offering from the morning service—thought to be about $500—was stolen from the safe of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Water and Murray Sts., on Sunday before the end of the evening service. Although the church was locked all afternoon, there was no evidence of a forcible entry into the building, but scratch marks were discovered on the latch of the door to a cupboard in which the safe was situated.

Miss Isabel Braeley, church secretary, discovered the loss when she went to place the offering in the safe at the close of the evening service. She had placed the money in the safe immediately after the morning service and had closed the door, twirling the combination dial to ensure that it was locked.

DRAWER SMASHED

The safe was still locked when she went to place the money from the evening service in it. The only evidence of force, apart from the scratches on the latch of the cupboard door, was the remnants of a wooden drawer in the safe. Although the money was in the open portion of the safe, the drawer had been smashed.

Church officials surmised that, while someone might have remained in the building at the close of the morning service in order to commit the theft, the building could have been entered and the money stolen during the evening service. How the safe was opened without the use of force remains a mystery on which city detectives are now working.

As the offering from the morning service was not counted, the exact amount taken was not determined, but officials estimated it to be about $500.

No Apartments To Be Allowed As Land Freed

The future of the property at the west end of Charlotte St. which is being gradually cleared of its wartime houses is apparently being shaped toward the original wish of the city council that it become an extension of the neighboring residential area.

City planning committee recently agreed that this Hatton subdivision should not be rezoned for apartment houses.

The attitude of the committee was reflected in the motion that City Clerk Outram advise those interests who were enquiring about the construction of apartment houses "to investigate other sections of the city for such an enterprise."

The project which came to the attention of the planning committee contemplated the erection of apartment buildings on that part of the Hatton subdivision which is owned by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

TEMPORARY HOUSES

When that property was purchased for wartime housing site as being fairly close to the main industrial section at the southwest front of the city, the council of that time suggested that the dwellings built by the Crown corporation should be only for temporary occupation. Their eventual removal was included in the agreement between the city and Wartime Housing Corporation, which has been succeeded by Central Mortgage and Housing.

It was the expectation of the council that the type of residences to the east on Charlotte St. and to the north on Weller St. would generally be duplicated over the property on which the Wartime houses were erected. There was some suggestion that the city might be given first opportunity to get possession of the land when it was vacated.

In the meantime residential expansion of the city has moved out into a new salient north and west of Civic Hospital, and the frame houses built for wartime tenants are gradually being vacated and transported from the former Hatton land.

Born In Cobourg Col. Craig Dies

OTTAWA (CP) — Col. Stuart Craig, 61, commander of the Canadian Army's first anti - aircraft battery, died Saturday while visiting at Port-au-Prince, Haiti, it was learned here Saturday.

Born in Cobourg, he served overseas in the Frist World war with the Royal Canadian Artillery and won the DSO, the MC and the French Croix de Guerre.

He remained in the army between the two wars. In 1937 he went to Kingston, to command the army's first anti - aircraft battery. At the start of the Second World War he went to Halifax as fortress commandant.

Wilson Gemmell Speaks At Forum

Wilson H. Gemmell, manager of the the local branch of the Royal Bank, is being featured in the program of the annual convention of Ontario Farm Radio Forum at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, early in April. He has accepted an invitation to speak to that provincial gathering and is being headlined with "The Craig Family" of CPC.

It is probably not impertinent to recall that when Mr. Gemmell came to Peterborough seven years ago he found that his education and experience had skipped the important sector of the rural community. Presumably he decided to do something about it and at once. From that venturing out the concession lines to meet farmers and understand their problems and needs, he has now reached the stage of induction and apprenticeship in which he is recognized as having something worth while to say to a rural meeting. At any rate he has advanced in learning the idiom of agriculture, and is pretty widely accepted in the Peterborough district as a business man who went far beyond the half way mark of approach in his desire to contribute something to better relations between the city and township people.

And, it is altogether likely that no one will be more surprised than Wilson Gemmell when he hears himself being introduced to that meeting of Farm Forum folks in Toronto, April 8 or 9.

Ice On Rice Lake Nine Inches Thick

Depth of ice at the east end of Rice Lake is only nine inches as compared with three feet in old-fashioned winters which wrote their low temperatures into the district records.

Everett Elmhurst, of Birdsall, near the Otonabee - Asphodel boundary, reported today that in the Rice Lake country "there is everything but snow." About ten days ago, half a mile of Rice Lake's eastern surface broke off in a floe that floated off down the Trent River, usually occurring in the break-up and departure of winter.

If there are any cottagers who still depend on the filling of their own ice houses for summer use, they may have to look to electric refrigeration for their hot weather supply.

Convict Rehabilitation Featured In Film

Prisoner rehabilitation will be the theme of the Peterborough Film Council meeting at the Public Library Tuesday night.

Penitentiary, starring Gerry Sarracini, well known in this city for his acting in the Peterborough Summer Theatre, will be one of the two films shown. The other is, After Prison—What?

Following the films John Twigg, probation officer for Peterborough and the Rev. Gerald Gaughan will lead the discussion. Father Gaughan is prominent in social work in the city and is a member of the Peterborough Rehabilitation Committee.

Two Cars Collide On Shoulder

Three people were badly shaken up early Sunday night, when two cars collided on Highway 7, a mile and a half west of Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Baker, of Norwood, were returning home after a weekend in Toronto. A car, driven by Paul M. Ferill, 191 Ritson Road, Oshawa, was approaching in the opposite direction and was passing a line of cars on a slight curve, according to police. Ferill apparently saw that it was impossible to get back into his own lane of traffic. He swerved onto the soft shoulder at the south side of the road. Mr. Baker had the same idea, and they collided on the shoulder.

There was no serious injury to the occupants of the cars except a severe shaking up. Damage was estimated at $500. Constable George Louth, of the Provincial Police, investigated.

Parked Car Starts Up As Auto Passes; 2 Hit

Extensive damage was done to the front of a car driven by Harry E. Clark, 30, Water St. N., shortly before midnight Saturday when it was in collision with a car driven by Garret T. Holmes, 18, 509 Parnell St., on George St., between Charlotte and Simcoe Sts.

Holmes pulled out to pass a double-parked car, when it started off. Holmes slammed on his brakes to pull back into the line of traffic when the collision occurred.

Three Dimension Films Start 2nd Revolution

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie industry is suffering the pangs of the second revolution in its 50 years of existence.

Twenty - five years ago, the apathy of the movie-going public forced film-makers to add sound to the silent screen.

Today the gigantic rise of television in public favor has forced the same men to bring new dimensions to the movies.

Three - dimensional films have swept Hollywood. Rash predictions are being made. Some foresee that the present flat screen will soon be dead. Others predict there will be room for both styles.

What are these new-dimensional methods? There are two main divisions:

1. Depth pictures:

Scientists say there is only one way to achieve a sense of depth on a movie screen. That is by flashing two images on the screen and having you watch through special glasses.

It is an optical trick. The two images of the same picture are filmed from slightly different angles. Each of your eyes sees only one picture because of the special glasses.

The argument against such pictures is that people find the glasses bothersome.

2. Big-screen pictures:

These are not three-dimensional. The screen is about 2½ times normal size and curves at the sides. Because it is so big, you feel as though you are actually participating in the screen action.

There are now two main methods:

A. Cinerama. This was the pioneer. It requires three cameras and projects three images on the huge screen.

B. Cinemascope. It uses a special lens on one camera and one projector to broaden the picture to fit the giant screen. This method is owned by 20th Century-Fox, which is willing to let other studios use it.

The argument against big-screen pictures is that they require costly theatre changes.

Cinerama was the device that touched off the film revolution. Its sensational reception started movie bosses thinking perhaps new screen dimensions would help stamp out the TV peril. The clincher came when an inept quickie called "Bwana Devil" did booming business because it was in 3-D.

Mrs. Hilliard Neilson was leader for the program on Africa. Additional readings on the subject were read: "Life in an African Village" by Mrs. Aubrey Wood; "I remember Africa" by Mrs. E. W. Sargent and "To give is to live" by Mrs. John Davidson.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Sargent.

The hostess served lunch.

Before the First World War he worked for the Brandon Sun, Winnipeg Telegram and Regina Leader, joining the Edmonton Journal in 1913. He served with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and was severely wounded in the Battle of the Somme in 1916. He became sports editor of The Journal in 1917. The Edmonton Sportswriters' Association will honor Mr. Mackintosh at a dinner the night of his retirement. Later he plans to visit his native Scotland.

Urge Hungarians Up Birth Rate

BUDAPEST (AP)—The government Sunday outlined a broad program aimed at encouraging Hungarians to have more children.

To help pay the expenses, bachelors, spinsters and childless married couples were directed to pay a special tax—four per cent of their income.

A decree outlining the Communist government's extensive program, called "protection of mothers and children," declared that in view of the considerable financial burden this program places on the state "it is reasonable that those without children, the bachelors and the spinsters should contribute."

The new tax must be paid by bachelors between 20 and 50 and spinsters between 20 and 45, as well as by childless couples. Members of the army and the state security office, disabled veterans and university students between 20 and 24 are exempt.

Fire Guts Synagogue

WELLAND (CP)—Fire gutted the synagogue here Sunday, causing an estimated $15,000 damage. Firemen said they believed a cigarette butt thrown into garbage after a congregational supper started the fire. The Saturday night supper was held to raise funds for a new synagogue. The fire soon swept through the single-storey frame and stucco building.

Find 50 Wells Unfit For Human Use

HAILEYBURY (CP)—At least 50 wells used by the 1,300 residents of Bucke township are unfit for human use, sanitary inspector J. G. Forrester of the Temiskaming health unit reported.

Of 115 samples of water taken from the wells, 35 were found unfit for human consumption. The inspector said a well beside the township hall at North Cobalt, owned by the township, contained grade three water, which means it is not to be used unless boiled.

The township has decided to withdraw from the health unit because of cost. Those who favored the withdrawal said the township money it cost.

Mayor Arthur F. Cooke of Haileybury, which is bounded on three sides by the township, said the reasons the township wants to get rid of the health unit is that many residents have no desire to clean up the deplorable condition uncovered by the unit. He described the township's decision to quit the unit "a return to the dark ages."

Spirit Is Subject Of Lesson Sermon

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was "God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." Selections from the Bible included the following from 1 John 4:12, 13: "No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and His love is perfected in us. Hereby know we that we dwell in Him, and He in us, because He hath given us of His Spirit." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, included the following "Spirit is God, and man in His image and likeness."

Expect Extradition Of Pair This Week

HAMILTON (CP)—Extradition of Maurice O'Dell and Walter Griffen, wanted in Buffalo, N.Y., on charges of murder and robbery of a jeweller, will be carried out early this week.

Crown Attorney Harvey McCulloch said Sunday night the necessary papers are expected from Ottawa today.

The crown attorney said the extradition papers would designate two Buffalo officers who would pick up the men and transport them to Buffalo. It is likely, however, the fugitives will have a large armed escort during the 55-mile trip.

Expect Israeli Communists Will Go Underground Soon

By ARYE WALLENSTEIN

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—In the face of strong reaction here to Moscow's new policy of open anti-Semitism and its active anti-Israeli campaign, Israel's small Communist party is expected soon to begin purging itself in preparation for "going underground" — an action likely to result whether or not Israel formally outlaws the Reds.

The aim of the purge will be to reduce the party to small cells of die-hards working in an atmosphere of underground conspiracy, competent observers here say.

Although a Jewish Communist party in Israel dates back to the early 1920s, present-day Communists make hardly any attempt to dig into its history or glorify its past.

FIERCELY PERSECUTED

These Communists were fiercely persecuted by the great majority of the Jewish community in Palestine because of their hostility to the creation of a Jewish state, their opposition to Jewish immigration and their collaboration with Arabs during the anti-Jewish riots in 1929 and from 1936 until 1939.

The party's fortunes, however, turned with the announcement in 1947, of Soviet support for a Jewish state, which surprised even the party's top leaders here.

Waves of mass immigration to the young Jewish state have swelled the ranks of the party to some extent.

ARABS PLEASED

The party's outspoken opposition to the existing regime soon made it popular among the Arabs of Israel.

Among the Jews Communist attempts to become the champions of dissatisfied new immigrants were less successful. Immigrants from East Europe, who had escaped from Communist regimes in their countries of origin, resisted the party's wooing.

There are indications that Israeli Communists are beginning to "forget" a great deal of their recent history of support in the creation of Israel. But it is still a matter for speculation which of their leaders will be charged with responsibility for these mistakes and deviations.

LIKELY CANDIDATE

The most likely candidate may be the party's top leaders, Shmouel Mikounis, a Ukraine-born ex-actor, secretary-general of the party since the early 1930s.

Mikounis is reported to be out of favor because of his public boast in the Knesseth several months ago that he had used his party contacts in Prague to obtain Czech arms for Israel during the Jewish-Arab war of 1948.

Since aid to Israel turned out to be one of the chief "crimes" of some of the executed Communist leaders in Czechoslovakia, this makes him a likely prospect to be the first victim of a future purge.

Find Sleep Paralysis Strange Malady

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Imagine wakening from sleep to find yourself completely paralyzed.

You can hear and see, but you can't move a muscle. Time ticks on for minutes while you lie immobile in the same position, trying vainly to move.

Suddenly you manage to wiggle a toe, and all your muscular control returns instantly. The attack is over.

This is "sleep paralysis," a rare malady connected apparently with the mysterious mechanism of sleep. One such patient, treated successfully with insulin, is described in the American Medical Association archives of neurology and psychiatry by Dr. Herbert A. Weitzner of Oakland, Calif.

He tells of a patient who had suffered sleep paralysis attacks—some four a night—for 10 years. Rare was the night when he didn't have at least one attack.

He would waken gradually, sometime after falling asleep, but couldn't stir. He felt a genealized sense of tingling. Fear of paralysis made him struggle to move. Each time he would wonder whether this time he would recover.

Ability finally to move one muscle, or being touched by someone could roll over, sit up, stretch, and go back to sleep. The attacks, the man said, never lasted less than three minutes, nor more than 10. The attacks of sleep paralysis were quite distinct from dreams.

The cause of sleep paralysis is not known, Dr. Weitzner writes, but appears to be physical and correctable.

What part of the brain is affected is a mystery.

BANISHED ATTACKS

Insulin treatments, which produced a temporary lowering of blood sugar, banished the man's attacks and he has been free for 14 months or more. The insulin presumably had some effect upon the hypothalamus, restoring control over sleep to that region of the brain, Dr. Weiztner suggests. The man's memory ability also was improved.

Solution of the puzzle of sleep paralysis probably depends upon discovery first of answers to the mystery of normal human sleep and awakening.

Fifth Ottawa Dog Derby Draws 25 Entries

OTTAWA (CP)—The fifth annual running of Ottawa's 66-mile international dog derby will be staged here Tuesday and Wednesday with a record entry of 25 mushers.

Alderman Dan McCann will start the drivers off Tuesday on the first of two daily 33-mile heats with a gold challenge trophy and a cash pot of $1,000 waiting at the finish. In addition to the trophy, the winner—the driver with the best combined elapsed time—will receive $500.

The race is scheduled to start and finish on the frozen Rideau canal within sight of Ottawa's Parliament Buildings but the course may have to be altered before post time because of skimpy snow conditions in some places.

GOOD REPRESENTATION

Some 15 entries have been received from mushers in Quebec, Ontario and northern New York while the remainder have been received from the Ottawa district.

Heading the Canadian drivers will be Wilf (Pit) Lepine, 32-year-old master musher from Quebec City. The lanky, sure-footed employee of the Quebec licence bureau romped home the winner in 1950 and again last year.

To win permanent possession of the challenge trophy, a driver must finish first in three consecutive races.

Probably Lepine's keenest competition will come from Bill Shearer, Boston furniture dealer, who won the 1949 derby and placed third in last year's classic. Emile Martel of Loretteville, Que., captured the major share of the prizes in 1951.

Two women are scheduled to match speed and stamina with the male competitors. They are Mrs. W. J. (Bunny) Dunlop of Burlington, Ont., and Mrs. J. Lane of Lunenberg, Mass.

Mrs. Dunlop, 27-year-old housewife, competed in last year's derby and won the prize in the women's sweepstakes. It will be Mrs. Lane's first entry.

The modern helicopter has scratched one entry that was being counted on. Word has been received from Maj. Robert Harrison of the United States air base at Goose Bay, Labrador, that for the first time since the derby was started, he would not compete.

Maj. Harrison has informed officials that helicopters have replaced dogs in air rescue work.

Starting the dogs off for the second day will be Howie Turner of the Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four Football League.

Included among U.S. competitors will be Dr. Roland Lombard, Auburndale, Mass., Dr. Charles Belford, Dearfield, Mass., Keith Brian and Basil Green, both of Centre Sandwich, N. H. Frank Sears and Henry Wilson, both of Lake Placid, N.Y.

Canadians include Narcisse Dompierre and Alexander Garneau, Quebec City, game warden Don McFaul and Ted Lemieux, both of Maniwaki, Que., Gil Dupont, Ottawa and Hull, Que., and Russell O'Neil, Roy Joubarne, Denis Hayes and Doug Holmes, all members of Ottawa's Sled and Dog Club.

SOUGHT BY POLICE—Patrick Gerald McKuhen, 32, is sought by Montreal police on charges of murder, armed hold-up and conspiring to commit a robbery. Warrants were sworn out after B. J. McAbbie, owner of Au Lutin Qui Bouffe, died from a beating suffered during a robbery of his posh Montreal restaurant. McKuhen is believed to be in New York city.

Britain As Sterling Banker Can't Enter Defence Pact

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The monthly news letter "This Is Britain," issued by the United Kingdom information office in Ottawa, sets forth some reasons why Britain doesn't join the European defence community. It says in part:

"As the banker of the sterling area and the supplier of goods to sterling area countries far removed from the frontiers of Europe, Britain cannot merge in a federal Europe in which her sterling area partners are not only not represented but in which their interests would be subordinated to the interests of Europe alone. . . .

"If Britain merged her defence forces in the European Defence Community she would lose the right to dispose of her forces overseas as she thought fit, having regard both to her responsibilities to the world and the risks.

"There is no question of Britain not co-operating with Europe. On the contrary, she has pledged herself to full co-operation; and no European power would deny that she does her share both in the economic and military fields."

MUST BE STREAMLINED

J. Irving Roy, president of Canadian Cottons, Ltd., Montreal, commented recently:

"Unless the Canadian textile industry develops new markets and new products, streamlines its management, makes itself more competitive, eliminates waste and adopts necessary economies, it will not be able to get its full share of the expanding Canadian markets."

Mr. Roy made his comment in announcing creation by his company of an executive committee which "will concentrate on improvement of manufacturing, product development, market research and sales promotion on a long-range basis."

The International Bank for reconstruction and Development has made a loan of $19,500,000 to India for use in development of the Damodar river valley which will cost the equivalent of $103,000,000. The valley is India's most important industrial area.

The development will include 1,550 miles of irrigation and drainage canals serving 1,000,000 acres in West Bengal, which should make possible production of an additional 400,000 tons of food grains, mostly rice.

Representative of 20,000,000 farmers throughout the free world will meet in Rome June 3-13, says a release from the International Federation of Agricultural Producers. The occasion will be the sixth ordinary general meeting of the federation.

Argument Flares Anew Over General Omar Bradley's New Successor

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The names and arguments which were bandied about in the famous fight between the United States Navy and Air Force over bombers and supercarriers are heard again today.

Some of the heat is just a flare-up of debate about the missions the services should be given. But it is given new intensity by the approaching necessity of filling the chairmanship of the joint chiefs of staff when army Gen. Omar Bradley finishes his assignment next summer.

The navy and the air force each thinks it is its turn to provide a chairman.

The navy's Admiral Arthur Radford, after conferences with President Eisenhower, left at the weekend to return to his Pacific fleet command. Those who saw him go thought he seemed pleased.

DIDN'T RELISH TALK

The air force didn't relish the town talk that perhaps Eisenhower might tap the admiral for the joint chief's post.

If precedent set in the selection of Bradley was followed, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, chief of staff of the air force, would be the logical candidate. As army chief of staff, Bradley was a member of the joint chiefs when he was named. Vandenberg is the senior of the three members.

The joint chiefs organization, top U. S. military planning body, is comprised of the chiefs of staff of the three services and a non-voting chairman.

LESS ENTHUSIASTIC

Vandenberg and the air force were less than enthusiastic about approval given by the administration a year ago to build the first of the 60,000-ton navy flatops from which planes carrying atom bombs could be launched.

Radford, a naval aviator, is an exponent of carriers and a veteran of the B-36 fight. Much of his experience has been in the Pacific, now the focal point of military and political attention in light of Eisenhower's new policy on Formosa.

The navy is hostile to Vandenberg because he is a leading exponent of strategic bombing—done only by air force planes.

Should Eisenhower turn again to the army because he wants a neutral man in the hot seat of the chairman, he would have several candidates to pick from. They include Gen. J. Lawton Collins, a joint chiefs member since 1949; Gen. Matthew Ridgway, who succeeded the President as supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe, and Gen. Alfred Gruenther, NATO chief of staff for both Eisenhower and Ridgway.

Students Win Drama Award

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Moliere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" produced by students of St. Joseph's University, was chosen the best play of the three-day New Brunswick regional drama festival which concluded Saturday.

The best actress award went to Jene Wood of Saint John, as Miss Giddens in William Archibald's "The Innocents," produced by the Theatre Guild of Saint John, Limited.

BEST ACTOR

Adjudicator John Allen declared Roch Banville of St. Octave, Que., who played the role of Msgr. Jourdain in the St. Joseph's production, the best actor.

Mr. Allen said the presentation was the best in French language he had seen in Canada.

The final and only Canadian-written play in the festival, "Fortune, My Foe," by Robertson Davies of Peterborough, Ont., was presented Saturday night by the Drama Society of the University of New Brunswick. Mr. Allen said he thought UNB might have made a better choice of play.

Estate Claimant Dies Probate Delayed

HAMILTON (CP)—The problem of succession duties on the $1,500,000 Laughlin estate became more tangled today with the death of one of the five heirs.

John Laughlin Sr., died in his gas-filled Toronto home last month. Nine hours later, his son and sole heir died from the effects of the gas and the estate went to four uncles and an aunt.

Fred Chantler, 82, an uncle of John Laughlin, Jr., was one of the heirs before his death in St. James Infirmary here.

Succession duties on both the Laughlin estates will have to be paid and Mr. Chantler's share now also is taxable.

Three Officials Ordered Home

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslavia today gave three top ranking officials of the Bulgarian embassy here five days to clear out of the country.

The action, close to but not quite a formal diplomatic break, represents a new low point in relations between Yugoslavia and the Russian-dominated Cominform satellite east of her. It was taken in retaliation against what the Yugoslav government has termed "insulting discrimination" against Yugoslav diplomats in Sofia.

The Bulgarian government subsequently replied. Details of the answer were not disclosed here, but it obviously rejected Yugoslavia's demands.

The ouster allowed five days for Bulgaria's councillor, her military attache and her first secretary to leave. It will cut the Bulgarian diplomatic representation here down to a single attache. Yugoslavia has had only one attache in Sofia since last June, when other members of the staff there were expelled.

Hopes Breach Between Teams Now Healed

HAMILTON (CP)—J. M. Hart, president of the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association, said Sunday night he hopes the breach between Tillsonburg Livingstons and Toronto Tri-Bells is closed.

He made the statement following a meeting of OABA officials here, called to discuss charges that a member of the Tri-Bells had been the target of anti-Semetic remarks from members of the Livvies following a game in Tillsonburg Jan. 31.

"The OABA sincerely hopes the incident has been closed and the future of basketball can be maintained on the same high level of sportsmanship that it has enjoyed in the past," Hart said.

In a statement to the meeting, Jerry Livingston, central figure in the exhibition game between the two teams, said:

"Sometimes in the heat of a ball game we say things that are taken in a different manner than they were intended. Such an incident occurred in the game last Jan. 31.

"If the Jewish people have taken exception to any remarks of mine, I sincerely regret it, as no aspersion was intended."

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleveland Barons trimmed St. Louis Flyers 4-2 Sunday night and again took over sole possession of first place in the American Hockey League from the idle Pittsburgh Hornets.

At St. Louis, the Barons piled up a 4-0 lead in the first two periods.

Jack Gordon and Glen Sonmor made it 4-0 before Motto McLean and Pete Conacher counted for the Flyers.

At Buffalo, goalie Gordie Bell of Syracuse paved the way for the winning overtime marker when he drew a tripping penalty. Bep Guidolin was serving time for Bell when Ken Davies counted his second goal.

Saigh said he first heard "these tremendous figures" in court Jan. 28, the day he was sentenced to prison and fined $15,000 for evasion.

Set $25-Price For Davey Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — About 20,000 persons are going to pay up to $25 apiece Wednesday night to watch Chuck Davey try to capture Kid Gavilan's welterweight crown.

Davey, fair-skinned and blond, is quietly serious, almost studious. Gavilan, sleek and dark, is jovial, often boisterous.

Davey, a Detroit policeman's son was reared in comparative security — one of the "haves" — compared to the bleak "have-not" background of Gavilan, son of a Cuban fieldworker.

Davey is a graduate of Michigan State College and is qualified to be a high-school principal.

Gavilan got most of his education in the ring. He had his first bout 15 years ago at the age of 12. He went to school a few hours each day and whacked at sugar cane with a bolo knife the rest of the time. He says he got the idea for his much-publicized "bolo punch" from this field work.

Marlies Bow To Windsor In 3-2 Defeat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barrie Flyers and Toronto Marlboros, their sails full set for the final drive in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, ran into storms during the week-end.

Playing a home-and-home series with the eighth-place Windsor Spitfires, the Marlies Saturday night took a 3-2 defeat. Sunday they managed a 2-2 tie. The one point gained, plus a 3-0 loss suffered by the Flyers at the hand of St. Catharines Teepees, put the Marlboros on top of the league.

At Oshawa an overtime goal gave fifth-place Galt Black Hawks a 5-4 victory over the sixth-place Generals.

Sunday Montreal Canadiens made an impressive debut in the Ontario loop by downing Toronto St. Michael's 5-4. St. Mikes are third in the OHA series.

Three Rivers Reds and Quebec Citadelles played a home-and-home series in the Quebec league. Saturday they played a 2-2 overtime tie and Sunday the Reds won 6-3. The result didn't change their league standing; Quebec is second behind the Canadiens and Three Rivers is third.

SCORES THREE GOALS

In Windsor Saturday night 18-year-old Ted Reid celebrated the birth of his son—his second child—by scoring the three Windsor goals. Bill Harris and Ron Ingram scored for the Marlies.

Sunday's game in Toronto was a bruiser, with seven major penalties. Louis Bendo and Wally Maxwell scored for Marlboros, Bob Brown and Elmer Skov for Windsor.

St. Catharines won their game on goals by Bill Haas, Bert Kastelic and Ken Schinkel. Norm Defelice blocked 58 shots for his shutout.

OVERTIME TALLY

In Oshawa, Ken Wharram tallied in the last minute of overtime for the Black Hawks. Les Binkley in the Galt nets blocked 73 shots, 30 of them in the first period Hec Lalonde led the Hawk attack with two goals. The others went to Peter Kowalchuk and John Sleaver. Bob Mader notched a pair for the Gens and the others went to Bob Attersley and Harry Sinden.

Montreal Canadiens' victory Sunday kept their road record clean. They have been beaten by only one Ontario club, the Marlboros, and that game was in Montreal.

Phil Goyette counted twice for the Canadiens. Claude Provost, Guy Rousseau and Claude Vinet fired singles. Bill Dineen, Les Duff, Ed Plata and Jim Logan tallied for the Collegians.

Ray Cyr scored both Quebec goals Saturday. Herve Lalonde and Roger Dubuc tallied for the Reds.

There is no action in either loop tonight. Tuesday Barrie is at Windsor, Montreal Canadiens are at St. Catharines and Quebec meets Kitchener.

WOLVES DOWN TRAPPERS

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group, Sudbury Wolves downed North Bay Trappers 5-4 while Sault Ste Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds turned back the last-place Sault Ste. Sault Greyhounds' victory came on goals by Ron Lay and Billy Visinski with two each, Hec Pozzo, Johnny Offidani, Mat Mesich, Joe Pambacco and Johnston. Johnny Lumley scored the Indian goal in the last two minutes.

Sunday Lumley scored twice for the Indians and Jim Farelli, Ken Greene and Laurie Peterson got the others. Terry Biocchi notched a pair for the Greyhounds and Visinski sank the other.

Only one game is scheduled tonight in senior play. Kitchener will meet Hamilton Tigers.

Hats Like Soup Plates Is Pre-Coronation Styles

LONDON (CP)—Hats like inverted soup plates, flying saucers and cartwheels lent a spectacular touch to the pre-Coronation fashion shows.

To go with slick little town suits and figure-hugging dresses, designers chose smooth straws in golden tan shades like wild honey, or primrose and mimosa yellows. These had shallow crowns and turndown brims that hid most of the hairline.

Norman Hartnell, the Queen's designer, featured a "flying saucer" in black smooth straw piped in black ribbon. This had a nine-inch front brim, turning upwards in wicked-looking points before reaching the back of the head.

FOLLOW DRESS TRENDS

Most of the big hats had little brim at back, thereby following such dress trends as the tango line—straight back and forward fullness. Hartnell, however, gave variation with such as a black felt crown brimmed all round with loops of natural straw some six inches from crown to point.

There were more big hats this year, but head-hugging styles still held prominence. The gusty British breezes that sometimes last throughout the summer will ensure popularity for the pancake toques of soft silks that match the neck trimmings of coat dresses and town suits. With their practical smartness this style is forecast as the hat of the year.

The Duchess of Kent's liking for semi-large hats with petal brims resulted in hats like inverted sunflowers with straw or velvet petal brims and a short stem on the centre crown.

BIG VARIETY

There were high-crowned narrow brimmed boaters, stove-pipe styles and tiny half-hats made completely of flowers. One designer featured a huge Tudor rose of pink organza, tipping over the forehead, worn with a grey silk suit.

Pill-box beret styles with an upward tilt to centre crown suggesting tiaras were one of the few Coronation styles in headgear.

Even the Queen's milliner, Aage Thaarup, kept Coronation themes subdued. The Tudor rose, thistle, daffodil and shamrock were used as trimmings. One model had a lion and unicorn in straw, chained together across the front crown.

The comet touch is possible for those who want a streamlined silhouette like the airliner whose name it bears. This means brimless pillboxes over smooth hairstyles will stay in place on the windiest airfield. The flat-crowned hat tapers in to a wide ribbon and curves out to fold under, suggesting a tiny double brim.

THE MARRIAGE REGISTER of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church is being signed by Mrs. Jack T. Belleghem in this picture. Mrs. Belleghem is the former Miss Elizabeth Jane Hinds. The couple were married at two o'clock Saturday afternoon. —(Roy Studio Photo)

Belleghem-Hinds Nuptials

A very lovely wedding was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Saturday afternoon when Elizabeth Jane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hinds, became the bride of Mr. Jack Tovell Belleghem, the son of Mrs. Belleghem and the late Mr. Walter Tovell Belleghem.

The setting was of beautiful spring flowers backed with candelabras. The Rev. C. G. Boyd performed the ceremony and Mr. Christopher Gledhill, organist of the church, played the wedding music. Mr. George Coleman, a member of St. Paul's choir, sang "Through The Years" during the signing of the register.

The bride was wearing a gown of palest blush satin fashioned with a portrait neckline outlined with a bertha of softly shirred Chantilly lace. The bodice was tightly fitted and long tight sleeves formed dainty points on her hands. The graceful skirt was very long with a chapel train falling from side paniers. Her long veil was caught with a Juliet cap of blush satin, and she carried a cascade of gardenias and trailing hyacinths. She was wed by the ring which had been the wedding ring of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. F. T. Sollitt.

Mr. Hinds gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by Miss Muriel Dickson as maid of honor and Miss Diane Tuck of Hamilton as bridesmaid.

The attendants' frocks were in mid-night blue shade and were fashioned with strapless bodices and boleros of silk velvet and the full skirts falling to the floor were of nylon net, with underskirts of pale blue taffeta. Their halo hats were of the mid-night blue velvet and net and they carried old-fashioned colonial bouquets.

Attending the groom was Mr. Robert Hunter of Toronto. Ushering was by Mr. Donald Sollitt, cousin of the bride; Mr. Garth Parnell and Mr. John Lowes, all of Peterborough.

A reception for the guests, who came from Hamilton, Oshawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Weston, Stony Lake, Fenelon Falls and Peterborough, was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

The bride's mother chose for this occasion a dress of grey nylon shantung and a matching hat and she wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother's dress was of benedectine velvet and she wore a small petal hat of matching shades and a corsage of Johannahill roses.

The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in the Laurentians. For going-away the bride donned a brown tweed suit and tan accessories, topped with a fur jacket.

They will live at 560 Weller St. on their return to the city.

Collins-Franks Wedding

Chimes pealed from St. John's Anglican Church tower at two o'clock Saturday afternoon to announce the wedding of Miss Mary Franks, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Franks, to Mr. Edward (Ted) Collins, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, all of Peterborough.

White 'mums, tulips and ferns provided the background for the wedding party as the ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. Church organist Mr. F. G. Mann played traditional wedding music and Mr. Roy Pitchford sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride was lovely in ballerina length gown of tiered white nylon over satin with bodice of Chantilly lace and matching lace redingote with long lily point sleeves, fastened from high neckline to moulded waistline with tiny lace-covered buttons, and falling away to the back in the skirt. She had white brocade slippers and she wore a fingertip veil of embroidered net illusion and a Queen Anne headdress of matching lace, and her bouquet was of red sweetheart roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Joan Graham, of Hamilton, formerly of Peterborough, was the only bridal attendant. She wore a charming gown of pink nylon lace over mauve taffeta with the tiered skirt in ballerina length. Her slippers were mauve and she wore a mauve floral headdress and carried a nosegay of yellow and pink roses with lily of the valley.

Mr. Bill Brown attended the groom and ushers were George Franks, brother of the bride, and Ronald Collins, cousin of the groom.

The reception of guests was held in the church parlor. The bride's mother received, wearing a navy taffeta dress, navy straw hat and navy accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations at the shoulder. Also receiving was the groom's grandmother, who had chosen a brown ensemble for the occasion, and she wore a corsage of red carnations.

The bride and groom left afterward to spend a honeymoon in the New England States and on return to Peterborough they will live at 19 Park St.

For going-away the bride chose a wool dress of turquoise poodle cloth and a turquoise feather hat and she wore a short coat of black kidskin and black accessories, with a corsage of pink roses.

Connell on the piano played "Nearer My God To Thee."

In Africa, they said, there are no religious denominations but all Christians are of Christ's church. The misisonaries realize that it is most important to train native preachers and other church leaders to work in the locality where they live. The home-born minister has a strong appeal for the African. Women are keen church workers and old and young attend Bible school wherever possible. When a minister is ordained he is catechised by the whole membership of the church. Prayer was solicited for the African church, its ministers and their wives, the deacons and deaconesses and all teachers and leaders.

Lunch was served by the group.

Mr., Mrs. Walter Forsythe Married 60 Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forsythe, 493 Cross St., have been married 60 years today.

Diamond wedding celebrations were held Saturday night when family and friends assembled at the home of the couple's daughter, Mrs. E. Ward, 60 Morrow St.

Residents of Peterborough for the past 45 years (with the exception of one year in Lakefield), Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe were married in Three Rivers, Que. Mr. Forsythe was a salesman before his marriage and his job required a great deal of travelling. For the next 14 years the couple continued to move about until 1907 when they came to Peterborough.

Mr. Forsythe started working as a painter and decorator in the city. He redecorated the Empress and Grand Hotels as well as private homes for a number of years. In 1916 he took a position at the DeLaval Co. where he worked for the next 29 years. He was foreman of the companys' paint shop. In 1945 he retired.

Mrs. Forsythe, the former Francis K. Abraham, was born in Glasgow. She came to Montreal with her parents when she was 10 months old and lived there until she was married.

The couple are still very active and live alone in an upper apartment in the house owned by their daughter, Mrs. Harold McIntosh.

Mr. Forsythe, who is 83, has done some fishing and some bowling but arthritis crippled him so that he had to have crutches for some time. However, he has recovered and now gets about with no difficulty.

Mrs. Forsythe, who is 78, has crocheting and knitting for hobbies. Her baby clothes and bed shawls have won prizes at the Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe had ten children. Their eldest, a boy, died. They have 31 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Two Interesting New Blouses

Taken from Evangeline's new spring collection, we think these two styles are particularly good for wear with either suits or separate skirts.

NYLON TRICOT

Made of 15 denier nylon tricot. Permanent tucking both back and front relieves the very sheer look of many nylon blouses. The double pointed collar is a smart fashion feature. Washes and dries in a jiffy. White and Pastel colours. Sizes 12 to 20.

UNCRUSHABLE PIQUÉ VOILE
From Switzerland

It's the material in this blouse that is most important. The Swiss tebilized Piqué Voile is not only most attractive, but it really doesn't crush and keeps fresh with many wearings. White and Chamois in sizes 12 to 20.

DOROTHY DIX:

Wife Too Meek At Outset But Home May Be Saved

DEAR MISS DIX: I was married, at the age of 17, to a boy one year older. Now, after 10 years of marriage, we have two children. My husband has never been faithful to me; life has been just one girl after another with him. Now, a young woman — married, but separated from her husband—at his place of business is pregnant by him. He says that the shock of this latest escapade has awakened him to a full sense of his wrongdoing, that if I see him through this, he'll never do anything like it again, and that he finally realizes how much I mean to him.

I have been working ever since our marriage, as my husband claims he couldn't maintain a home on his salary, which is, by the way, quite good. His mother has cared for our youngsters, and time off for their births provided the only break in my employment. All the money I have earned has gone into the house, and I have had very little for clothes, etc. Should I, at this point, leave my husband and raise my family alone, or try to work out a good home life with him.

LILLIAN T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Undoubtedly a good deal of your trouble dates from your meek acceptance of your husband's contention that you must work to supplement his income. Since he earns a very good salary, there was no acute financial reason for your holding a job, the extra money coming in merely served to minimize your husband's own role as breadwinner for the family. He shelved the obligation of being a faithful husband along with the responsibility of being sole provider for his home. Many husbands have this tendency to shirk the responsibilities of married life, and if a wife could only gauge her man's capacity for shouldering his marital and parental obligations, many a marriage would be saved through her own adjustment to his weakness. When a husband evinces a desire to have his wife work, especially when his earnings are adequate for the maintenance of a home, he is plainly indicating that he is afraid to shoulder the burden alone. At this point, a wise woman, instead of meekly acquiescing to his demands, and thereby encouraging his dependence, tries to develop his self-confidence to the point where he fulfills to the letter all duties of husband and father.

STILL A CHANCE FOR HAPPINESS

Since the present crisis in your home has given your husband some realization of his shortcomings, there is a good chance of salvaging happiness from the present wreckage.

Legal aid should be sought to determine what support, etc., he owes to the other woman's child, but don't let anything persuade you to give him a divorce to marry her. Her background, alone, precludes the idea that she would make a good wife, and your present concern is to save your own home—not wreck it further. Give up your job, let your husband assume his place as head of the family, and, by gradual, tactful insistence, build up his ego. You have been shouldering too many of his burdens.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: At the age of 17, my daughter has never had a date. Her father refuses to let her go out, and is continually nagging her. He snoops in her belongings, insists on opening her mail, must know the details of any telephone conversations she has, and a minute account of each day's activities. As a result, my daughter is growing very bitter towards him. There is absolutely no peace at home. How can I stop my husband's nagging and have them live as father and daughter?

FRAN.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your husband continues to treat his daughter in this manner, she'll practically be forced to leave home in order to have peace. His behavior certainly is not normal, and probably has its origin in either a physical or mental disorder. The advice of a doctor should be sought. Instead of trying to reason with your two recalcitrants, be a bit more assertive and insist on your daughter's right to privacy, and dating.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married nearly two years and am very much in love with my husband. He is in the Army and has been promising to send for me, but so far he hasn't. Could it be that he has another girl near his camp?

DOTTIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't work yourself into a stew worrying over contingencies which are probably very remote from the truth. There are many reasons, other than another woman, why your husband might not be able to send for you. Housing is usually scarce around army bases, and it is doubtless cheaper for you to live at home than near your husband. Visit him at camp to allay your apprehensions. Discuss the matter with him personally, rather than relying on letters, and find out just why he postpones sending for you. I'm sure your mind will be relieved when you talk to him.

R. E. Neal Heads Chamber In Marmora

MARMORA —(ENS) —At the monthly dinner meeting of Marmora District Chamber of Commerce held in the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening, the president, Vaughan Glover, presided. Past president, A. F. Fraser announced the new executive to be as follows:

President, R. E. Neal; vice-president, H. Olsen; secretary, C. McCoy; treasurer, F. R. Loveless. H. W. Sabine for the nominating committee announced the new directors as being H. Olsen, S. Shank, T. R. Loveless, T. J. Bateman, C. T. Nicholson, R. Young and V. M. Lynch. The retiring president had words of appreciation for services rendered in the past year by the leaders of the various committees and the committees as a whole.

The financial statement given by F. R. Loveless revealed a prosperous year and a balance on hand of about $60. Officers were installed by A. F. Fraser. Mr. Neal said that he would not as yet name all committee chairmen but he would announce Roger Young to be the chairman of the membership and finance committee and members appointed to that committee would be F. R. Wells, W. J. Cottrell, L. Begley, D. B. Sanderson, C. R. Whittemore and A. M. Jones.

A letter from Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora Village was read asking the Chamber to appoint a committee to meet with the village council to make plans for Marmora's part in the drive in Hastings county for funds for the new headquarters at Kingston for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The president and immediate past president were appointed as this committee.

SAFETY PATROLS

Alex Fraser in a discussion period referred to the good work of the Safety First Committee which had resulted in the appointment of eight boys who this week commenced duties as young policemen to guide children safely across busy intersections going to and coming from school. He then introduced another matter which provoked good discussion. He thought it might be possible to have a St. John Ambulance Corps established in the village. He mentioned that he was aware that a number at both the Deloro and Bethlehem Steel plants had taken the St. John Ambulance course. These two industries had acted towards making everyone in their employ safety conscious but it was to be remembered that many accidents happen in the home.

Supporting the idea, C. T. Nicholson suggested writing to headquarters for necessary particulars and also contacting the local doctor. A committee was appointed to go into the matter and make a report. The committee is composed of Alex. Fraser, the Rev. K. J. Crawford, R. G. Walsh, H. Olsen, F. R. Wills and R. Frost.

The president then asked that the committee appointed to go into the matter of artificial ice for the rink, present a full report at the March meeting.

Canon J. M. Brownlie as guest speaker for the evening, spoke on some of his experiences while acting as Protestant Chaplain at the penitentiary in New York last September. He was thanked by C. T. Nicholson.

Further training for those making up the volunteer fire brigade and the further thought of placing signs on the streets bearing their names were two matters decided upon, to be aired at the next directors' meeting.

Warsaw WMS Varied Program

WARSAW (ENS). — The Warsaw Woman's Association met on Friday in the Sunday School room. It was moved to donate $100 to the parsonage board and $10 to the M. and M. fund.

Plans were made for a pancake social, to be held February 17. Canvassing, Mrs. Digweed; table conveners, Miss C. McCracken and Mrs. Ed. Bell; kitchen committee, Mrs. Clysdale, Mrs. Norman Payne, Mrs. Hannon, and Mrs. Lonsberry.

Women Plan Sale At Millbrook

MILLBROOK — (ENS) — The Women's Guide of St. Thomas Anglican Church met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. A. Turner, Mrs. Percy Hamilton, the president, conducted the opening prayers.

Mrs. T. A. Campbell, treasurer reported a very satisfactory bank balance.

The president thanked the members for the way they served at the farewell given Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Chote and Paul.

Means of increasing funds were discussed. It was decided to hold a sale of home-baking in the waiting room on February 14. It was decided also to join with the United church in the showing of the film "The Royal Tour," on March 19th.

A rummage sale is to be held in the waiting-room on May 20. October 24 was set as date for the annual bazaar, home-baking sale, and afternoon tea.

Mrs. Douglas Sheppard assisted the hostess in serving refreshments during the social half hour.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Quick White Bread Recipe Answers Dozen Letters

Everybody seems to have gathered a second wind after Christmas and they are using some of it to pile my desk with letters. You know I enjoy your letters, and that this is not a gripe, but an explanation. Monday's column usually is devoted to some one special food and various ways of serving it. But today I am answering a dozen readers at once who are asking for a repeat of white bread. Some of you are calling this "simplified" white bread. I have gone back through my files for one year and cannot locate a recipe that I entitled "simplified" white bread. So I am giving you a White Bread with a Quick Method, and hope it is what you are seeking.

WHITE BREAD
(Quick Method—4 Loaves)

Scald two cups milk until very hot and add to it 2 cups cold water. Measure 1 cup of this liquid into a small bowl and when it is lukewarm add 2 packages granular yeast and 2 teaspoons sugar; let this yeast mixture stand for 20 minutes, then stir it a little. To the 3 cups of liquid in large bowl add 4 teaspoons salt and 6 tablespoons sugar. Mix and allow to stand until lukewarm. Sift bread flour and measure 11 cups and make a well in centre of the flour in a large bowl. Add ¼ cup very soft shortening to the lukewarm liquid, then add the soaked yeast mixture. Pour these liquids into well in flour and stir until all of the flour is dampened. Now knead the dough in the bowl with the hand for 5 minutes until the dough becomes smooth. Turn out on greased board or table top (do not flour board) and knead with both hands for 8 minutes. Place dough in bowl which has been well greased, cover with slightly dampened towel, cover with a dry towel and let rise until doubled in bulk in warm place—preferably at from 75 to 80 degrees Fahr. This requires about 2 hours. Turn out on lightly greased board and cut into 4 even pieces with greased sharp knife. Shape each piece into a ball, folding cut surfaces under. Let these stand 15 minutes covered. Then shape these balls of dough into loaves and place in greased loaf pans, cover and let rise at room temperature for 1½ hours or until doubled in bulk and risen a little above rim of pan. Bake at 425 degrees Fahr. for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 400 degrees Fahr. and continue baking 35 minutes longer. Bread has a hollow sound when baked through when it is rapped on the bottom with knuckles. Turn out of pans at once on to wire racks to cool. If desired, bread may be brushed with melted butter while still warm. Do not put in bread box until bread is cold.

Ordered To Leave Argued, Fined

Harvey Dupuis, 18, 266 Aylmer St., was fined $5 and $2.50 costs in magistrate's court today for causing a disturbance at a CGE social and athletic club dance Friday night. A similar charge against Robert Hunt, 21, RCAF, Trenton, a companion of Dupuis, was dismissed.

Dupuis told Magistrate W. R. Philp that when he sought admittance to the dance he was asked to produce his club membership card but explained that he had been rehired only recently after being laid off last May and did not have a card. He said he was searching in his wallet for pay slips showing he had been paying club dues when he was asked to leave.

LOST WALLET

Cross-questioned by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, Dupuis admitted that he struggled with a police officer when the latter asked him to leave the premises. He said that in the scuffle he lost a wallet containing $23.

"Once the officer asked you to leave, it was your duty to leave," the magistrate told Dupuis.

"What about my wallet?" Dupuis asked. "When I was arrested I asked for permission to go back and get it and the offfcer said the other man would go back and get it."

"That's a matter you'll have to take up with the people who were running the dance," his worship said.

Ultimatum Expires No Move Taken

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jordan's ultimatum to the United Nations to take "satisfactory and definite steps to evict" 130 Israeli squatters from the Arab College in the demilitarized zone of Jerusalem expired at 1 p. m. today.

No steps had been taken to move the squatters out, and Amzi Nashashibi, senior Jordan delegate to the mixed armistice commission telephoned his minister of defence, Anwar Nuseibe.

He told him that he had received no reply from the UN commission to the 24-hour ultimatum demanding the evacuation by 1 p. m. and warning that in the event of noncompliance Jordan "will take the necessary steps to protect its interests and rights in the zone."

There was no immediate indication what these steps might be.

Bus Crashes Rail

CANTON, Mass. (AP) — A bus carrying 14 passengers crashed through a guard rail and came to a stop on the edge of a 75-foot precipice Sunday after a five-vehicle accident. Joseph R. Nunes, 37, driver of the bus, brought the vehicle under control as the right front wheel jutted over the embankment. All passengers escaped serious injury, but five occupants of two cars involved in the accident were sent to hospital.

Ask Public, Newspapers Be Barred From Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Ward was scheduled to give the initial testimony today in the cafe society vice trial of margarine heir Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke.

But her appearance was expected to be delayed while Judge Francis L. Valente hears arguments on a request by her lawyer that the public and press be barred from the courtroom during her testimony.

Jelke, 23-year-old scion of a wealthy Chicago family, is charged with inducing Miss Ward and two other young women into prostitution and with living off Miss Ward's earnings.

Miss Ward, 19, has been billed as the state's star witness. Newspapers here say she broke the vice case after Jelke jilted her. She has been held as a material witness.

ASK TESTIMONY SECRET

She was ready to take the stand on Friday, following opening statements by the state and defence counsel, when her lawyer asked Valente to keep her testimony secret because of her age.

However, Jelke's counsel objected. And Valente "recalled" his order pending weekend deliberation and arguments today.

Editors of leading New York dailies and the press associations later sent Valente a telegram urging him to permit coverage of all testimony.

Prosecutors worked overtime on the case yesterday as they talked with two other young women — Barbara Harmon, 31, former television bit player, and Marguerite Cordova, 23, former hat check girl. Both are alleged call girls and material witnesses in the case.

Assistant district-attorney Anthony J. Libeler said in his opening statement that Miss Ward fell in love with Jelke and at his insistence agreed to embark on a life of prostitution. The prosecution said Jelke once sent her to work with Miss Harmon. Liebler said Miss Ward would give her customers' names.

Deputy Mayor Helps In Garbage Collection

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Deputy Mayor William Flanagan today worked as a garbage collector with 250 white-collar city employees to meet an emergency arising from a legal dispute over city garbage contracts.

Flanagan and City Commissioner Bernard J. Berry turned out with other city employees at 6 a.m. and worked as lifters—that is lifting the garbage cans from the street to a truck.

The emergency arose following a court order preventing the city from making further payments for garbage collections pending a final decision on a contract suit.

The affected firm, as of today, halted garbage collections when not assured of any payments.

Forest Damage Reported Heavy

LONDON (CP)—Henry Spence, a Conservative member of Parliament, said today he would like to see the Canadian Forestry Corps come back to Scotland to help clear the country's gale-wrecked forests.

Spence said floods and loss of life in Britain, Belgium and The Netherlands have obscured the extent of recent gale damage in Scotland, principally between Inverness and Perth.

"It is estimated that 30 years' mature growth has been lost," said Spence.

During the war, the Canadian Forestry Corps had several camps near Spence's home in Lumsden, Strathdon, Aberdeenshire, and "they did a great job."

He has put down a question on the order paper asking Prime Minister Churchill whether emergency help offered by Canada "might include the sending of detachments of the Canadian Forestry Corps, with equipment to give assistance in clearing the devastation wrought in Scottish forests."

Second Assault Made On Officer

LINDSAY — (ENS) — Acting Magistrate R. I. Moore handed out a two-months term today, to Herbert Billings, 19, of Haliburton, who pleaded guilty to assaulting Provincial Constable Gordon Langton and resisting arrest. Following a Saturday night altercation in Haliburton village, Billings pleaded guilty to the charge.

Constable Langton told the court that he had tried to arrest Billings on a drunk charge, after he had found him obstructing traffic on one of the village streets. When he told Billings that he was under arrest, he said, the youth began a scuffle. During the melee Constable Langton's face was cut by a heavy ring being worn by the accused. The constable summoned assistance from passers-by in getting the man into the cruiser.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordon commented that the assault of an officer was a serious offence. He asked for a term of imprisonment rather than a fine. He noted that there had been previous trouble in Haliburton and Minden. Magistrate Moore said he knew there was a "good deal of rowdyism in regard to the Haliburton police," and this was the second time within a month that Constable Langton had been assaulted when making an arrest.

Beer Consumption Cut By Television

LONDON (AP) — Television cuts down beer consumption in London pubs, chief Magistrate Walter E. Lowieth observed today.

"People who used to go to the taverns with some frequency are staying home to watch the television screens," he told a glum lot of pub proprietors who came for licence extension.

Clean up the pubs and emphasize cheerfulness and civility, he advised the licencees.

FORMOSAN AMBASSADOR? —Karl L. Rankin, above, is being considered for the post of United States Ambassador to Formosa. He is U.S. Minister and Charge d'Affaires in Korea.

Case Adjourned In Middle Of Trial

Orville McFadden, 36, 390 Queen St., appeared in police court today and pleaded not guilty to charges of careless driving, driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and driving a vehicle with faulty brakes. Following evidence by crown witnesses, Magistrate W. R. Philp adjourned the hearing until February 16.

The charges arose out of a collision of McFadden's car with one driven by George P. Collins, 492 McDonnel St., at Aylmer and McDonnel Sts., shortly before noon, January 31.

Collins said he was driving east on McDonnel St. and stopped for the traffic light at Aylmer St. He had been stopped for about half a minute when McFadden drove up behind and struck the rear of his car, causing $143 damage.

PC William Scott, who investigated, said that the streets were wet and slushy at the time but had been sanded. He said there were no skid marks of any kind and when he tried the brakes of McFadden's car there was no pressure, even with pumping.

PC Wilfred Perry, a licensed mechanic, said he tested the brakes and found them defective. He said he examined the hydraulic system and there was no break or sign of a leak that might have been caused by the accident.

There are a few requests for repeats for the Wacky Cake which is a chocolate cake. One girl said it was entirely too wacky—hers was a flop. To this girl I would like to say try it again following this recipe closely; some of my young bride friends swear by it. Like ladies though.

WACKY CAKE

(Repeated by Request)

Butter well a 9-inch pan. Sift into the pan 1½ cups sifted flour, 1 cup white sugar, 3 tablespoons cocoa, 1 teaspoon each baking powder and soda, ¼ teaspoon salt. Make three wells in these sifted dry ingredients and into 1 put 1 teaspoon vinegar, into another 1 teaspoon vanilla, and into the last 5 tablespoons melted butter. Over all pour evenly 1 cup warm water. Now stir until all flour is dampened and batter is smooth. Bake at 375 degrees Fahr. for 30 to 35 minutes. This cake is at its best when eaten very fresh. Try butter icing on it flavored with orange rind, using 1 tablespoon orange juice instead of milk or cream to moisten the icing.

Taft Claims U.S. In Full War Against Communist China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Robert Taft says the United States already is "at full war" with Communist China.

Neither the bombing of Manchurian supply bases north of Korea nor a blockade of the Chinese mainland could therefore be expected to extend the war, Taft said Sunday on the NBC's "Youth Wants to Know" television program.

Taft, Senate Republican leader, said a blockade of the Chinese mainland would be "desirable" if it could be worked out "without too great international complications with our Allies."

About half the program was devoted to an exchange between Taft and the youngsters over President Eisenhower's announcement that he is relieving the U. S. 7th fleet of the task of "protecting" Communist China from Chiang.

One youth asked whether anything better might be expected of the Nationalists now than during the Chinese civil war, when he said "whole divisions surrendered" to the Reds without a fight.

Taft, obviously nettled, told the young panel member:

"You're just repeating Communist propaganda."

Taft said the Truman administration cut off arms aid to the Nationalists in the middle of the fight.

"If we had truly supported Chiang during the civil war we would have more than half of China" on the anti-Communist side now, Taft said.

"A war is a war — it would be no worse than now," Taft said when one youth asked what happens if Americans are endangered or killed protecting Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa stronghold while permitting the Nationalist leader to strike at the mainland.

Taft said the Eisenhower administration is not encouraging Chiang to invade the Chinese mainland but that "if it seems advisable, we would help and send out troops to do it." He stressed "that policy has not been determined at all."

He said the net effect of Eisenhower's order to the 7th fleet would be to see that aid for Nationalist China will be "quickly given."

Pakistan Challenges Russia

BANDOENG, Indonesia (AP) — Pakistan today challenged Russia's charges that American "monopoly capitalists" still are exploiting the people of Asia.

Ahmad Khaleeli, Pakistan's delegate to the U.N.-sponsored Economic Conference for Asia and the Far East in session here, told the Russians they must "recognize the basic fact that we are today free and independent nations capable of looking after ourselves in economic and other fields."

Khaleeli was referring to an attack Saturday by Russia's S. S. Nemtchina against aid programs in the far east, with which he charged the U.S. is dominating and robbing the Asians for its own military benefit.

The Pakistan delegate expressed disappointment at the Russian claim that no economic progress had been made in Asia—except in Red China.

Khaleeli said it was surprising the chief delegate of the Soviet Union did not show "awareness of the fact" that both India and Pakistan have launched land reforms of tremendous magnitude.

Dutch Grateful For Help From Canada

BERGEN OP ZOOM (CP) — Canadian Red Cross workers touring disaster relief centres in flooded areas of Holland find the Dutch people grateful for the help Canada is extending to them for the second time in less than 10 years.

Canadian troops played a leading part in the liberation of the Netherlands from the Germans in 1945. Now Canadians are donating cash to a European flood relief fund which is sending clothing and bedding for flood victims, as well as outboard motors and other equipment to be used in rescue work.

Col. Walter Reynolds, national director of Canadian Red Cross disaster services and a Second World War staff officer with the Canadian Army in the 1945 fighting in Holland, has been assigned by the League of Red Cross societies to co-ordinate all relief activities in the European flood areas.

Also in the disaster zone is Margaret Wilson, executive secretary of the Canadian Red Cross Society, who has been touring the relief centres with Col. Reynolds. Miss Wilson yesterday cabled to Canadian Red Cross headquarters in Toronto for 10,000 pairs of hip-length waders for rescue workers.

Miss Wilson Sunday started an all-day observation tour of the hardest-hit areas of Southwestern Holland. She travelled by Dutch Red Cross automobile, the only class of vehicle apart from military ones allowed to approach the flooded areas. A glimpse of the "Canada" flashes on Miss Wilson's Red Cross uniform was all that was needed to provoke welcoming smiles and hesitantly worded expressions of gratitude.

Find Too Many Fads In Education–Dunlop

TORONTO (CP)—Education Minister Dunlop said Saturday too many fads are creeping into education to the exclusion of fundamentals.

Speaking to members of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, he said fads to encourage "self-expression" and "day-dreaming" are slowly giving the taxpayer the impression that he is contributing to psychological laboratories rather than schools.

Spots Timber Wolves

STOUFFVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A game warden walking through the bush on a farm two miles from here Sunday came upon six timber wolves which had killed a deer. Harry Meighan said they held their ground, spitting and snarling, then backed away and disappeared across swamp into the bush. It is the first time timber wolves have been reported in this district 20 miles northeast of Toronto.

Grain Seedlings' Worth May Reach Into Millions

By WILFRED CHISLET
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—A few potted plants at the University of Manitoba some day may be worth millions of dollars to North American grain growers and may sidestep a serious threat to the Prairie economy.

Plant scientists, in three separate laboratories, are working to develop new grains capable of resisting rust, a malignant fungus which each year becomes more menacing. Rust is borne in spore form by strong air currents from breeding grounds in Mexico and Texas.

The scientists' work is a never-ending race against time with the prosperity of the West the prize.

PERENNIAL MENACE

Rust each year bites into wheat and barley, major dollar-earners for Canada in world markets. Like some diseases and insects, it has the ability to gain strength and break down previously resistant grains. The latest scourge is Race 15B which first appeared in the early 1940s. No licensed grain is able to withstand it.

Plant scientists here believe they have found a double answer to 15B—a new wheat variety known as "CT 186" and a new malting barley called "UM 1020."

The wheat, produced by the federal laboratory of cereal breeding, is not expected to be licensed until next year. The barley, expected to be licensed this month, was developed by the university's plant science department. Both research centres work closely with the federal laboratory of plant pathology on the campus.

Great patience and time are required to produce a new grain. Countless crossings and 12 years went into "UM 1020." Many months must pass before seed can be produced.

The rust battle starts when breeders select various traits necessary in a new grain. Scientists know where they can get these desired factors, sometimes in a hardy grass, and the problem becomes one of crossing plants and waiting for results.

EXPERIMENTAL PLOTS

Some grains are planted in experimental plots at any of the 18 testing stations in Western Canada. In winter they are grown in greenhouse pots. If seed is available, it is sent to California or Arizona for an extra winter crop.

The time spent waiting for generations to grow is the most serious drawback in experiments. Then there are the many different qualities which must go into a grain.

A new wheat, besides being able to fight off rust, must have a multitude of qualities to be of use in highly competitive grain markets. It must possess good roots, high yields, sturdy shucks, frost resistance and high milling and baking qualities.

Wheat also must be able to resist the sawfly, an insect which lays its eggs in wheat stems. The larvae gnaw through the stem and then cut off the top by boring a ring.

A good barley needs similar qualities but partly in reverse. Wheat must be high in protein, something undesirable in malting barley. Both grains are ready prey for loose smut which turns kernels into fine brown powder.

LUCKY DISCOVERY

"CT 186" was developed from what was known as "RL 2265." This variety was the result of a cross between a strange new wheat discovered in a southwestern Manitoba field. Named McMurachy after its finder, it was bred with Exchange, highly resistant to rust.

The result was satisfactory until "Race 15B"- rust appeared. The new wheat, "CT 186" is "RL 2265" crossed again with McMurachy and three times with Redman, an excellent milling and baking grade.

While new grains are being produced, others are in the breeding process. Researchers hope these will prove more rust resistant and look to the time when the blight will be eliminated.

Rust, even in a good year, costs the Canadian farmer millions. It was negligible last season but in 1951 cost an estimated 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels of wheat alone.

10 Heraldic Beasts Guard Queen On Coronation Day

LONDON (Reuters)—Ten Heraldic beasts, each a fabulous half-comic, half-dignified figure six feet tall, will "guard" the Queen as she alights from her golden coach at Westminster Abbey on Coronation day June 2.

"The queen's Beasts," some images of real animals and others imaginary evil-looking monsters, will stand at the entrance of the special annex to be built in front of the abbey.

Putting the finishing touches to the plaster models is Royal Academy sculptor James Woodford, 59.

FROM FORMER RULERS

The beasts, each bearing an emblazoned shield of arms, are the lion of England, the unicorn of Scotland, the falcon of the Plantagenets, the griffen of Edward III, the bull of Clarence, the white lion of Mortimer, the greyhound and the dragon of the Tudors, the yale of the Beauforts and the white horse of Hanover.

All the figures are taken from the coats of arms of former rulers. The tradition was started by Henry VIII, who ordered a set of "Kynge's Beastes" for Jane Seymour, the third of his six wives.

The origin of many of the beasts has been lost. For instance, no one knows why Edward III chose the griffen, a monster combining the head, wings and claws of an eagle with the body and tail of a lion, for his symbol. Similarly, the yale of the Beauforts, from the arms of Henry VII, is a mythical figure with the horns of a goat and tusks of a boar.

Weekend guests included John Brownlie and Ivan Lavender, who are attending Queen's, at their respective homes; Frank Wilkes of Toronto with his mother, Mrs. Jacob Wilkes; Corporal Roy Jones of Kingston with his mother, Mrs. Clifford Jones, and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Callery of Kingston with relatives here.

TO CORONATION — Assistant commissioner D. L. McGibbon, 52, officer commanding the RCMP "D" division at Regina, has been named to command the troop of 35 RCMP officers, non-commissioned officers and constables who will ride in the coronation procession in London in June. McGibbon has been more than 30 years with the mounties and previously commanded "J" division at Fredericton, N.B.

avors Appeal)f Papers)ver Contempt

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The right to appeal committals for the kind of contempt of court committed usually by newspapers is favored by Chief Justice John C. McRuer.

In an address to the Canadian Managing Editors' Conference Saturday, he said there is no right to appeal against a summary judgment for criminal contempt in present Canadian law, and Superior Court judges' arbitrary power is exercised with great caution and only in the clearest cases.

"There have been innumerable instances of punishable contempts allowed to pass unnoticed," he said, "and good judges exercising arbitrary authority are likely to go to extremes in the exercise of caution when their judgment is not subject to review by a court of appeal."

FAVOR APPEAL

Chief Justice McRuer said he thought that if a right of appeal existed the law would be more strictly enforced to preserve the rights of parties before the court.

He confined his approval of a new appeal law to "criminal contempt not committed in the face of the court," which includes contempt by the publication of evidence or comments before the case is heard, publication of comment before the trial or after trial and before appeal time is up, or appeal is heard and criticism of the administration of justice.

Cause Of Recurring Cankers In Mouth Still Obscure

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Although canker sores do not appear to endanger the health, they are certainly one of man's most annoying afflictions.

Q.—I should like to know the cause of canker sores in the mouth. I have them quite often and would like an explanation.

H. W.

A.—Most people who develop canker sores recover rather promptly and rarely, if ever, have trouble again. There are some, however, in whom the canker sores come back again and again. The reason for such recurrence is not clear. A low-grade infection, possibly with a virus, may be at fault in some cases. In some there is reason to believe that allergy is involved, and perhaps in some there is a vitamin deficiency.

With all this vagueness about canker sores, it is not surprising that too often they prove difficult to treat, even if investigations have been made to try to determine what is a fault in particular instances. There certainly does not seem to be any one cure that works with all who fall victim to this annoying condition.

Q.—I have a little 9-year-old girl who grits and grinds her teeth when she is asleep. What can be done for this?

Mrs. W. C. M.

A.—This is considered to be a habit disorder similar to nightmares and sleepwalking. Too many or two few covers at night, digestive disturbances or anything which may disturb sleep may play a part. More common, perhaps, is nervous tension and anxiety.

A child who has this difficulty should be kept quiet, at least before going to bed, and every effort should be made to find out whether the child is worrying about something which the parents know nothing about. This could be jealousy of a brother or sister, difficulty in school work or with playmates, worry about quarreling between parents, or anything of a similar nature.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—When I was young, my tipped womb prevented childbirth. At the age of 60 will that cause heart attacks or clots of blood around the heart?

M. M.

A.—A tipped uterus will not cause heart attacks or blood clots.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—What could cause specks of blood in the sputum upon arising in the morning?

R. F.

A.—If not already done, an X-ray should be taken of the chest to be sure that there is no disease in that region. It is, however, extremely possible that the blood comes from the sinuses or upper breathing passages and is not a matter of serious or lasting significance.

The first steam-propelled boat on the Great Lakes, the Walk-in-The-Water, was launched in 1818.

More Officials Purged In Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP)—Guyula Decsi, an organizer of Hungary's powerful state security office, has been removed from his post as minister of justice, a government communique said Sunday.

The one-sentence announcement in the Budapest press did not say why he has been fired, but Decsi's name has been heard frequently as being among a dozen officials ousted or purged two weeks ago.

The communique represented the first official confirmation of purge rumors that have circulated in Budapest since mid-January.

Decsi, about 36, was named to the justice post last Nov. 15. Previously, he had been a deputy minister of justice.

TWO MORE VICTIMS

In Vienna, the American-sponsored Red-White-Red radio said Col.-Gen. Sandor Nogradi, deputy defence minister in Hungary, and Lt.-Gen. Gabor Peter, chief of the Hungarian secret police, had been ousted and arrested with Decsi. It said all three are Jews.

Decsi made a big reputation for himself after the end of the Second World War as one of the first organizers and chief officials of the state security office, charged with protecting the country from sabotage and espionage.

The announcement said Bela Kovacs, about whom little is known, succeeds Decsi.

SMALL CRAFT, BIG JOB—The giant liner SS Constitution is eased into her New York berth by the two personal launches of the president of the American Export Lines. The launches were used in the docking operation as the nation's largest port continued to be hampered by a tugboat strike. N.Y. Crime Commission Studies Port Racket

By CHARLES E. MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — How do racketeers manage to take about $350,000,000 a year from New York's $7,000,000,000 shipping industry?

The New York state crime commission is writing the answer.

In the last two months it has heard about 1,250,000 words of testimony from 209 witnesses who appeared at public hearings on waterfront crime. In closed sessions last spring and fall the commission heard nearly 10,000,000 words of testimony.

To come up with concrete answers to hard facts is expected to take the commission most of this month. Then it will present its findings to Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The public hearings showed that three groups are generally responsible for criminal conditions in the world's biggest port: segments of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL); some stevedoring and shipping companies; and public officials.

This, in general, is the way the pattern works:

1. Labor gangsters control vital segments of the ILA, intimidating longshoremen and directing a highly efficient system of kickbacks, extortion, thievery and other rackets. ILA president Joseph P. Ryan wound up his witness-stand appearance this month with the admission that it is possible 30 per cent of his union's officials have police records.

2. Racketeers could not create their waterfront empires without the consent of some stevedore and shipping companies. Some companies co-operate with the union racketeers because those men are tough enough to keep dockers in line.

3. But neither the labor bosses nor the companies could maintain the system without at least the tacit consent of local officials in New York and New Jersey. Many of these officials accept campaign contributions from both the labor bosses and the companies, maintain social contacts with them, and dish out political jobs for them.

Supporting this pyramid of fear is the dock worker. He may act tough and bold, but basically he's a frightened man.

Longshoremen have been murdered for bucking the system. But far more common than murder is hunger.

It has been estimated that most longshoremen take home no more than $50 a week. Many have large families.

So they go to the piers nearly every morning and "shape up" for work. They form a line and their union boss goes down the line and picks out the men who will work that day. One evil of this system is that a boss may pick the men who "co-operate" with him. "Co-operation" ranges from wage kickbacks to taking part in some petty racket.

But the end result is that the union local boss is kept in power. Revolts against him usually are inspired by another racketeer of the same ilk.

Thus far the commission's hearings have resulted in the indictment of 71 waterfront racketeers. Undoubtedly there will be more.

But some skeptics maintain that a thousand indictments won't permanently clean up the waterfront. They say that the basic system—the shape-up method of hiring workers—must be outlawed by the state legislature.

The labor bosses and the stevedoring and shipping bosses have bitterly opposed such a change. The industry wants the state to keep hands off the waterfront.

In Miami Beach last week the AFL executive council ordered the ILA to purge itself immediately of "racketeering, crime and corruption."

The Port of New York Authority advocates state-directed employment "exchanges" to replace the shape-up, the licensing of all longshoremen and other strong controls.

Crash Toll Now Three

CHATHAM (CP)—Robert McCullough, 24, injured in a highway accident Wednesday which claimed two lives, died in hospital Saturday. The accident occurred near St. Joachim, about 20 miles west of here, when a car in which McCullough and three other men were riding collided with a truck driven by Glenwood McGehan, 35, of Windsor. Wilfrid St. Jean, 37, and Omer Gagnier, 48, both of Tilbury, were the other victims.

American Officials Fearing West-German Movie Making Plan

By DON DOANE

MUNICH (AP) — West German movie makers have taken a step which they hope will set their industry on the road back to pre-war prosperity.

But American officials appear worried that this may lead to another film monopoly like UFA, one of Hitler's biggest propaganda weapons.

The action arousing such hope and concern is this:

A co-operative association of 1,300 theatre owners has joined with a film-producing company and a film-distributing agency to make, distribute and exhibit its own films.

This is a pretty close resemblance to the way it used to be done in the pre-war Reich by "Universum Film Aktiengesellschaft," the big trust which dominated the entire German movie field.

OWNED MOST THEATRES

UFA not only made and distributed films, but even owned most of the theatres which showed them. It turned out some fine movies. But it was 51 per cent government-owned to begin with, and when Hitler seized power, he turned UFA into an outright propaganda agency.

After the war UFA was outlawed and broken up as a monopoly under the Allied decartelization law.

The founders of the new combine deny that they are trying to set up a new UFA. They describe their producer - distributor-exhibitor tie-up as only a co-operative working agreement in which each agency remains separate and independent.

They say their aim is to overcome one of the main weaknesses of the post-war German film industry — its division into many small companies with none big enough to operate efficiently.

Another difference from UFA is that it is small theatre owners who now are acquiring production interests instead of a big producer becoming a monopolist theatre owner. Only about a quarter of West Germany's 4,700 movie houses are in the association.

FORMER UFA MEN

Most of the leaders in the new enterprise are former UFA men. One is Guenter Stapenhorst, a UFA production chief who emmigrated to England when Hitler took power in 1933, then worked in Canada, Hollywood, France and Switzerland before returning to Germany after the war and founding his own company.

Another carryover from UFA: one of the assiciation's directors will be Veit Harlan, who directed the anti-Semitic film, "Jud Suess," in the Hitler era.

No Decision Yet On Blockade Dulles Assures

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles told senators today President Eisenhower has made no decision on a possible blockade of Communist China or other action in the Far East. Dulles, who testified at a closed session of the Senate foreign relations committee, was quoted by two senators as having told the group that any discussion of a blockade is "premature". Senators H. Alexander Smith (Rep. N.J.) and William Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) said they got the impression from Dulles that the whole Far Eastern situation is wide open for any action the President may want to take in the future.

Dulles was called before the group primarily for a report on his recent trip to Europe. One purpose of that visit was to urge Europeans toward unity for defence.

HESITATE TO START

Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) quoted Dulles as saying he found in all capitals a disposition to move ahead with ratification of the European Defence Community treaties but a reluctance to take the first step.

Dulles was quoted also as saying that if Europe does not move along the course to unity, "we will be faced with a very serious question of what our own future course will be."

In effect that was what he told the Europeans — meaning the U. S. would have to re-examine its aid policies.

Wiley said Dulles told the senators:

"I believe our trip made clear the interest which the American Congress and people attach to this project (EDC) which, of course, originated in Europe and must in the final analysis be acted on by the Europeans."

NO DETAILS

Wiley acknowledged there had been some questions about Formosa but declined to give any details.

Smith and Fulbright quoted Dulles as saying he believes he satisfied European statesmen about U. S intentions in the Far East.

Considerable apprehension was aroused in Europe by Eisenhower's order that the U. S. 7th fleet should no longer "protect" Communist China from attack by the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa.

As to the process of Far Eastern policy, Smith and Fulbright said Dulles insisted that President Eisenhower has not gone beyond his announcement as to the orders for the 7th fleet.

In Congress, attention has become centred primarily on the situation in the Pacific.

Dulles is to return to the Capitol Wednesday and discuss it with a sub-committee on the foreign relations group.

General Says Korean Drive Success Now

SEOUL (AP)—Gen James A Van Fleet said today a United Nations general offensive in Korea now would be a certain success. On the eve of his farewell to the 8th army, the 60-year-old retiring commander again expressed belief in carrying the war to the Reds, said the UN lost opportunities for whipping the Communists and called for a 1,000,000-man Republic of Korea Army with 20 combat divisions.

Van Fleet made the statements in answering questions asked by The Associated Press as he prepared to turn over his command Wednesday to Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and leave Korea for the first time since he arrived 22 months ago.

Van Fleet said the Allies lost two chances for victory in Korea, disclosed his own most heart-shaking decisions as commanding general, and gave what he feels are the two greatest achievements of the 8th army under his leadership.

He included a tribute to the "anti-Communist patriotism and loyalty" of the RoK soldiers, whom he transformed from disorganized, frightened bands into 14 hard-hitting modern divisions. In the absence of the victorious offensive he never led, the reshaping of this RoK Army will probably be Van Fleet's monument in Korea.

GENERAL FELT BADLY

Authoritative sources say that for more than a year Van Fleet has not been able to launch a single battalion attack without consent from the Far East command in Tokyo — and that Van Fleet himself was heartsick when UN and U. S. decisions twice held him back from closing with the Reds for decisive battles in 1951.

The list of questions and Van Fleet's answers:

Q — Do you think that a general offensive in Korea can be successful at this time?

A — Certainly.

Q — If there have been lost

80 MPH Gales Batter Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Winds of up to 80 miles an hour whipped across Britain today after one of the wildest nights of the winter.

But they came from the west and though torrential rain whipped workers racing with time to plug the sea walls of the flooded east coast before next week's high spring tides, there was no danger of further inundation.

Work in some sections had to stop during the night because of the gale. But early today troops and volunteers resumed bolstering defences shattered in the great storm 10 days ago which has taken an unofficial toll of more than 500 lives.

The full fury of today's storm was felt on the rocky southwest and southern coasts.

Thunder, lightning and heavy hailstorms were reported over a wide area during the night. Trees were uprooted and roofs damaged.

Farm Home Burns Four Die In Flames

LAC STE. MARIE, Que. (CP)—A mother and three of her four children were burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed their isolated farm home in this Gatineau district 60 miles north of Ottawa

Killed in the early - morning blaze which was caused by an exploding oil stove were Mrs. Germaine Lachapelle, Lucette, 1, Gislaine, 2, and Muriel, 3.

The father, Claude Lachapelle, escaped with a fourth child, Monique, 6, and a nephew, Jean Paul Lachapelle, 12, who was visiting from Toronto.

Meagre reports said the three who escaped were burned, but did not indicate the extent of their injuries. It was also reported that Jean Paul was burned in a vain attempt to rescue one of the children from an upstairs room.

Jitters Sweep Far East

Sea Battles Break Out Off Coast Of Red China

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Communist China announced today that any effort to invade the Chinese mainland would be "wiped out on the sea."

The warning fell as a welter of reports throughout the Far East described sea clashes, sightings of mysterious vessels and pledges of support for a Nationalist invasion President Eisenhower touched off the Far East ferment eight days ago by ordering the U. S. 7th fleet to cease shielding the Chinese mainland from a Nationalist invasion.

Today, Peiping radio declared Communist China was building up her south coast fortifications opposite Formosa into a "defence of steel."

Almost simultaneous with the Peiping broadcast, a 25-minute sea battle took place this morning off an island about 30 miles southeast of the Portuguese colony of Macau. Reliable sources here said Communist patrol boats had exchanged fire with armed junks believed to belong to the Chinese Nationalist "sea guerrillas"

SEES JUNK SUNK

An observer with a telescope said he had seen one armed junk hit and sunk.

Sources here said the encounter might represent the first Nationalist move to blockade the Chinese mainland — a plan now being widely discussed in the United States.

Reports from Formosa today said Admiral John Ma, Nationalist Navy commander now in the U.S., was trying to obtain four American rocket ships ready for immediate use to help implement an effective blockade of the China coast.

As tension heightened from Tokyo to Singapore, there were these additional developments:

1. Coast guard officials in southern Japan reported mysterious vessels of unknown nationality had appeared in waters north of Formosa in the last week. Two ships were spotted by fishermen yesterday 160 miles north of Formosa. A floating mine was found in the area the day previously.

2. North Korea's defence minister, Choi Yung Kun, called for intensified preparations for a prolonged war "on a still larger scale" in Korea, according to Peiping radio.

CANADIANS TO THE RESCUE— R.C.A.F. airmen based at North Luffenham, England, have been rushed to the flood-stricken area of Great Yarmouth and the Norfolk Broads on Britain's East Coast to help in the huge task of repairing the dykes broken by the recent flood tides. Most of the work consists of filling sandbags and carrying them to the places where dykes must be re-inforced against possible new inundations. Photo shows some Canadian airmen on the Norfolk Broads where they work until the evening tide forces them back to the dykes from which they are taken back to the mainland by boat.

Formosa Policy Formalizes Old Situation

OTTAWA (CP) — Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent in Korea, said today the United States' new Formosa policy would "merely formalize a situation that has existed for 15 months."

Boss was interviewed after appearing last night in a CBC Domin- "Press Conference."

He said President Eisenhower's decision, announced in his state of the union message, to cancel the 7th fleet's orders to screen off Formosa "made the situation honest."

"I reported from Formosa last March," the red-bearded reporter said, "that the Chinese Nationalists were raiding the mainland coast."

IGNORED 'SCREEN'

"They were doing so despite the so-called 'screen' and with the knowledge of U. S. military and naval advisers helping them retrain their forces.

"From the island of Quemoy, just off the southeast China port of Amoy, the Nationalists can actually mortar the mainland. They patrol the mainland coasts daily with their air force.

Boss said he doubted the policy would affect the Korean war. The only troops the Chinese Communists likely would feel called upon to divert would be for maintaining local security. But they know as well as the Free World does that the Nationalists are unable to launch a serious diversionary attack and maintain it."

"The Nationalists lack the equipment, supplies, ammunition and shipping needed to launch and maintain a front down there," he said.

Police Find Body Decide Man Slain

TORONTO (CP) — Chief coroner Smirle Lawson said today a man whose dismembered body was found buried in an embankment last weekend was slain.

Police said the body is still unidentified, but they suspect the man may have been the victim of gang vengeance. The body was in an embankment near the lakefront in east-central Toronto and it appeared an attempt had been made to burn it.

Dr. Lawson said the man was probably killed last fall. An autopsy showed he was smashed in the head, then the body was subjected to intense heat. Efforts were made to sever the head and the legs and arms also were chopped.

Police are checking missing persons lists in an attempt to establish identity. One shoe, part of a work shirt and an army jacket are the only articles of clothing remaining. A fingerprint from one hand has been taken by police.

PoWs Demonstrated 1 Killed, 38 Injured

PUSAN, Korea (AP)— One Communist prisoner of war was killed and 38 injured, 13 seriously, on Koje Island Monday when United Nations guards subdued a singing, chanting Red mob with grenade and rifle fire, the UN prisoner-of-war command announced today.

There were no Allied casualties.

The announcement said three attempts were made to quiet the North Koreans before troops entered the compound. The Reds met the troops with "a hail of stones."

Strikers Drift Back To Jobs

LOUISEVILLE, Que—(CP)—An 11-month long textile strike, during which blood was shed and the Riot Act read, appears to have collapsed with the return to work of many of the strikers at the local Associated Textiles plant. The strikers, members of the Louisville Textile Syndicate, an affiliate of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, walked out last March, asking a 20-cent hourly wage increase. Their pay then was 73 cents an hour.

Several incidents spotted the strike and Dec. 11 last strikers clashed with police. One man was wounded by a police bullet, several suffered other injuries and the Riot Act was read.

Company officials Monday said that while no agreement has been reached, there has been a mass return of former employees seeking jobs and many already rehired.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT

There was no announcement from union leaders following a closed meeting Sunday night, and no comment on Monday's company announcement.

But, following the rehiring of 40 strikers Monday and 170 in the two preceding weeks, company counsel Pierre Letarte said enough strikers had returned to work "on company conditions" to form a second shift at the plant.

The last offer announced by the company was an additional 12 cents an hour which came during on-again - off - again negotiations in which Bishop Pelletier of Three Rivers, Premier Duplessis and Labor Minister Barrette had a hand

Mayor Germain Caron of Louiseville said many workers have been returning to the plant recently and Monday's number was greater than usual.

Oscar Marc - Aurel, Louiseville plant manager, also said there was a possibility of 150 to 175 more men being hired in the next few days, making close to 400 workers re-engaged.

Coronation Oath Changes Parliament's Job—Churchill

LONDON—(CP)—Any changes in the Coronation oath should be made by act of Parliament, it was suggested today. Randolph Churchill, son of Britain's prime minister, said that if changes are made without legislation, the Queen will be forced into an "unlawful" role at the June 2 Coronation.

This was the first public reference to an issue believed to be causing concern in court circles.

Churchill's case, as outlined in the Manchester Guardian, is that some changes have to be made in the Coronation oath because of the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers last December, which decided on certain changes in the Queen's styles and titles. (One of the changes is that the word "Canada" will appear in the Queen's title for the first time.)

NEED NEW LEGISLATION

But, writes Churchill, the Coronation oath in its modern form was crystallized by an act of Parliament of 1689, and if there is any change new legislation is demanded —even though this was not done when some amendments were made in the 1937 Coronation oath of the late George VI.

"In 1937, Archbishop (of Canterbury) Lang administered an illegal oath at the very moment when he was conjuring the King to respect the laws of the realm," says Churchill. "It seems unthinkable that the present Archbishop (Dr. Geoffrey Fisher) should allow himself to be coerced into a similarly unlawful role at the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II."

In a piquant passage, Churchill says it would be "strange" if the present prime minister allowed changes to be made without legislation. The present prime minister, of course, is Winston Churchill, Randolph's father.

LIKELY TO ACT

The Manchester Guardian, in a supporting editorial says the elder Churchill is "not usually lacking in a sense of history and he at least should realize what the Coronation oath has meant in English history and how it is bound up with the position and rights of Parliament."

Bomb Spoils Escape Plot

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Seven members of the Washington state prison staff were injured Monday in the explosion of a make-shift, prisoner-manufactured bomb.

The blast was believed by prison authorities to have nipped a plot by a group of hardened convicts to blow their way to freedom.

One of the injured men, prison business manager Albert Gruber, may not recover. An arm was blown off.

Al Remboldt, a deputy warden whose condition first was listed as critical, was reported by hospital attendants today as improving.

They were inspecting one of two crude bombs found in a cell when it went off.

Five other persons, including Warden John Cranor, suffered minor injuries.

Four lifers were held in solitary confinement, believed to be the ringleaders of the escape plot.

One-Year Agreement For Train Firemen

MONTREAL (CP)—A one - year agreement providing for a general wage increase averaging 12 per cent for locomotive firemen and hostlers was announced today by Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

The agreement, negotiated with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, is effective Feb. 16 and includes minor changes in working rules along with the increase, retroactive to April 1, 1952.

The average hourly wage rate for firemen and hostlers now is $1.30.

Defence Department Cancelled Order For 246,800 Neckties After Questions

OTTAWA—(CP) — The defence department cancelled orders for 246,800 neckites after questions were asked in the Commons about the numbers being ordered, a government document indicated Monday.

The document was a beefy series of replies by government departments about the number of neckties ordered in the two years ended Dec. 31, 1952. It was tabled for George Hees, PC-Toronto Broadview.

It showed that the defence department was by far the biggest purchaser with roughly 1,100,000 ties ordered for current and potential mobilization use.

It also showed that two huge orders placed April 25, 1952, were later drastically slashed by the department. The question of the number of neckties and other clothing items being ordered because an issue about that time in the House and the defence expenditures committee.

An order for 100,800 ties placed April 25 was cut to 36,000 Sept. 2 and then cancelled altogether Oct. 16.

Another order for 213,000 placed the same day was slashed to 67,000 Aug. 6.

Fear Oil Talks Bogging Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anglo-American Oil talks with Iran which appeared near success three weeks ago, now have bogged down to the point where settlement prospects are uncertain.

Some officials believe State Secretary John Foster Dulles, who has been concentrating on Western European and Far Eastern problems, may have to take a hand personally in present negotiations.

Britain and Iran appear unwilling to make further concessions until they are certain the Eisenhower administration fully supports the outlines of the settlement drafted under former secretary Dean Acheson.

The Acheson formula, it is understood, called for the United States to advance $100,000,000 to Iran to meet immediate pressing financial problems. This would have paid for future U. S. oil purchases.

In return, Iran was to agree to submit its quarrel with Britain to the International Court for arbitration.

Co-Operate With Police

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF member of Parliament said today his party intends to turn over to police correspondence indicating "both extravagance and dishonesty" in defence contracts which are on the secret list.

Doucett Promises Job To Be Done As Money Permits

TORONTO—(CP)—Highways Minister Doucett said today the time is approaching when the subject of taxation must be regarded on the basis of what the public can afford, rather than what it would like to have. In a speech prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Ontario Good Roads Association, Mr. Doucett said people aren't anxious either for new forms of taxation or for increases in the present scale of taxation. "All sorts of public-financed schemes are being advanced," he said, "but the immediate question is, are we willing to pay for them? All our governments have reasonably buoyant revenues at this time, but there is no certainty this state of affairs will always be with us. We must look at the whole subject from the basis of what we can sensibly and reasonably afford."

Mr. Doucett said highway expenditures in 1953 will be about the same as last year, totalling $100,000,000. This will include about $33,000,000 in municipal highway subsidies.

CONSTRUCTION PLANNED

Construction this year will include completion of the Sault Ste. Marie-North Bay link of No. 17. About 40 miles still must be paved.

Work will continue on No. 2A, a dual - lane controlled - access road from Toronto east to Newcastle. Mr. Doucett said this road will be extended east to Port Hope, a 13-mile stretch, as soon as finances permit.

He said the major portion of work on an "interceptor" road beginning near Malton airport and by-passing Toronto to the north will be finished this year.

He said construction is being pushed ahead in the north on the trans-Canada highway, with work in progress in Sudbury, Blind River, Fort William and Kenora divisions. The link between Atikokan, near the Steep Rock iron ore development, and the trans-Canada highway is progressing.

LONG-RANGE PLANS

Mr. Doucett said important, long-range plans are being made in preparation for the St. Lawrence seaway development.

Reviewing last year's work, Mr. Doucett said 248 miles of old paving were resurfaced, hot mix paving was applied to 406 miles of previously unpaved roads, 250 miles of roads were graded, mulch treatment was applied to 357 miles, and prime dust layer was placed on 1,320 miles.

Work on the trans-Canada highway so far has totalled 255 miles of grading, 108 miles of hot mix paving and construction of 14 bridges.

Mr. Doucett said the drive to cut down traffic offences will continue at a steady pace. Last year 20,000 drivers' permits were suspended.

"Just as we eliminate wooden structures from our highways, so I think we can eliminate, by legislation and law enforcement, that dangerous minority of our drivers who have wooden heads," he said.

Guerrillas Ambushed 17 Reds Executed

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)— Seventeen Chinese Reds were captured and executed on the spot by 200 Nationalist guerrillas Feb. 3 in a raid at Paitan, 35 miles east of Canton, the Nationalist government's Central Daily News said today.

A dispatch from Hong Kong said more than 300 guerrillas ambushed six Communist trucks the same day near Hingning, 175 miles northeast of Canton.

The dispatch said the trucks carried 525 Red Army draftees, more than 200 of whom joined the guerrilla force.

Abbott To Ask For New Cabinet Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott plans to ask Prime Minister St. Laurent for a new cabinet post, it was learned Monday.

The 53-year-old Montreal lawyer, who for six years has handled the country's pursestrings, feels he is growing "stale" in his current job. He wants a change of cabinet scenery.

HON. DOUGLAS ABBOTT

The budget he will bring down next week, he has told friends, will be his last one. There has been similar talk of him quitting in the last two or three years, but this time it is definite.

SEVENTH MAJOR TASK

His budget now scheduled for Feb. 19 will be his seventh major money-raising task, in addition to small "baby" budgets—and that, he feels, is enough.

He would like to be shifted into the secretary of state or the justice departments and feels he would be capable of handling these portfolios because of his legal training.

But one thing he's sure of—he has told friends he wouldn't take back the defence portfolio—"not for a million dollars." Mr. Abbott was defence minister in 1945.

Save Boy, 7 From Hanging

SUTTON, Ont. (CP)—Two mothers who went out to look for their children may have saved a seven-year-old boy from possible hanging during a game of cowboys and Indians Monday.

The women found their own children locked in a horse stall in a stable on the Sutton horse show grounds with their hands tied behind their backs.

The seven - year - old boy was found with a rope around his neck and the loop thrown loosely across the beam. Part of his clothing had been ripped off.

Four 10-year-old lads were held responsible by police chief Clifford Mosher.

Sutton is 50 miles north of Toronto.

Good Time Ended

Lived High For 2 Years On $40,000 Burglary Loot

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two years of high living ended Monday for 36-year-old Roland DesRochers of Montreal who admitted 80 cat burglar thefts from Vancouver homes. His loot was valued at $40,000.

He was sentenced to 10 years in prison after police informed the court of the history of the "cat man."

His second-storey work was not confined to Vancouver. He spent a holiday in Hollywood where he robbed five homes, visited Victoria—one home robbed—and later returned to Montreal where, he said, he is wanted for burglary and bail jumping.

He told police all the goods he stole here were shipped to Montreal where his wife and seven-year-old daughter live.

DesRochers came here in February, 1951.

"I had plenty of money and lived well," he told police. "I had a big car and spent a lot of money on liquor and pleasure."

It was the car that got him into trouble. He parked it in a no-parking area—a $2 offence. The car was impounded. Police found a revolver and later located burglary loot in his room.

Bomb Blast Rocks Red Legation

Five People Injured Including Wife Of Soviet Minister

TEL AVIV, Israel—(AP)—A bomb-explosion — believed in reprisal for recent anti-Zionist charges by Soviet officials in Moscow—rocked the Russian legation here Monday night. Five persons including the wife of the Soviet minister were injured.

The Israeli government denounced the blast as a "dastardly outrage." It expressed its regrets to the Russian envoy and his staff and promised "swift justice" to those responsible for the attack.

The injured are reported to include: Mrs. Claudia Yershov, wife of Soviet Minister Pavel I. Yershov; the minister's woman secretary; Yershov's chauffeur and another male member of the legation staff, and a Jewish child in a nearby building.

The two male staff members were taken to hospital where they underwent operations. The other victims were reported only slightly hurt. All the injuries apparently resulted from falling furniture or flying glass splinters.

LATEST INCIDENT

The explosion was the latest in a series of anti-Russian incidents here that have followed the recent wave of anti - Zionist charges through the Soviet world.

The Israeli Knesset (parliament) recently condemned the Soviet Union for launching an anti-Jewish campaign.

The blast apparently centred in one of the legation offices on the ground floor of the three-storey building in central Tel Aviv Several Jewish-occupied buildings in the vicinity also were damaged.

NO ONE SEEN

It was generally assumed the bomb was thrown from a street that runs beside the building.

However, no one reported seeing the hurler approach or make his escape, although Israeli police were standing guard at the main entrance to the legation and Soviet guards were on duty in the courtyard.

Previously, two partially successful attempts were made to burn a Russian bookshop in Jerusalem and bomb or grenade attacks were made on the Czechoslovak legation and a Communist youth club here.

32 Egyptian Soldiers Die In Plane Crash

CAIRO — (AP) —Thirty - two Egyptian soldiers were killed in a military transport plane which crashed in the eastern desert near Cairo Monday, an Egyptian Air Force spokesman announced today.

The plane was en route from El Arish in the Sinai peninsula to Cairo. It failed to reach Cairo Monday evening and search was started at dawn.

The spokesman said wreckage was sighted 40 miles east of Cairo near the Cairo-Suez desert highway. He added that three were injured and two unhurt.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were Wallace Harvey, George Reader, Harley Keefer, George Turner, Cobourg; Edward Solomon, Brighton; and Harry Perry, Oshawa.

Two Fires Take Eight Lives

EDMONTON (CP)—Two Alberta fires have taken the lives of seven children and a mother.

Two tots suffocated in their burning home in Edmonton's north end Monday, a few hours after the RCMP received word of the deaths Saturday of a mother and five of her six children at Fort Vermilion, 350 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Dead in the Edmonton fire are Patricia Pawliuk, 2, and her 10-month-old brother, William. They were dead on arrival at Royal Alexandra Hospital.

The Fort Vermilion blaze, believed started when gasoline, instead of kerosene, was poured into a stove, killed Mrs. Lawrence Lambert and the five children.

The RCMP report said flames destroyed the family's two-storey log house. One of the Lambert children, the oldest girl, escaped unhurt. Mrs Fred Smith, visiting with the family, also escaped but is in hospital with severe face burns.

Mayor Suggests Wait For Orders

Finance committee approved last night Mayor Waddell's report that "we should wait for something definite" as to what municipalities were doing or were expected to do in contributing to funds for flood relief in Europe.

Ald. T. D. Miller said the Federal government had a huge surplus "and they are the people who should come up with the offer of assistance." He also referred to the prompt response of the Red Cross, and to the contributions which people make to that society through the Community Chest.

"I think it is quite proper to wait and see what is the nation's action and whether there is any kind of directive for municipalities," Ald. Burows commented.

"I wanted the council to know that this matter has been in hand from the beginning," Mayor Waddell explained, "and that it has not been neglected. But we would like to know something definite as to what is expected."

Whitton May Be MP To Get City Hall Site

OTTAWA (CP)—Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa's fiery mayor, may run for Parliament—to carry her fight over a city hall site right to the floor of the House of Commons.

Latest development on the local scene to irk the determined chief magistrate is a recommendation by the national capital planning committee for purchase of a centretown site—the same one she wanted for a new city hall.

Letting out a verbal blast not only against government planners but the federal district commission and Jacques Greber, French planner, Ottawa's woman mayor said:

"After more than 20 years it seems that the only way the city can get its case properly presented is for the mayor of Ottawa to stand for Parliament without retiring as mayor."

MORE ABOUT—
Coronation Oath

This is a reference to the fact that many scholars regard the Coronation oath as a faithful embodiment of English history, reflecting as it does the 1,000-year struggle for power among the church, Parliament, nobles and the people.

It is understood that changes in the oath are still being discussed. As for the rest of the Coronation service and ceremonial, most points have already been settled. It is thought one change involves a streamlining of parts of the religious service.

Convicts Free 5 Guards As Authorities Put Down Short Rebellion

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—A short-lived rebellion was put down at the state prison Monday night, and five guards seized by convicts as hostages were released unharmed. Warden Virgil J. O'Malley said no prison property was damaged during the five-hour disturbance which broke out at 6:30 p.m. as the guards entered the segregation cellblock to serve the convicts their evening meal. O'Malley said the hostages were seized to back up convict demands for changes in prison rules.

Doors to the 15 segregation cells were supposed to have been locked, but when the guards entered the corridor, the doors were suddenly flung open and the guards seized.

USED KNIFE

One of the prisoners used a knife, filed down from a heavy wire, to threaten the unarmed guards. Then they were pushed into a cell and held there.

The convicts in the segregation section of the cellblock then released five prisoners in the adjoining isolation section. Ten other convicts in isolation refused to join the rebellion and remained in their cells.

Some 50 guards, armed with rifles and tear-gas guns surrounded the cellblock.

The prisoners called O'Malley to the cell door and presented their demands:

1. Extension of their exercise period from the present 2½ hours to three hours.

2. Regular sentences for time required in the segregation cells.

A — The two defeats of the Communist army — (A) April-May, 1951, including counter-offensive; (B) breaking Communists in October-November (Allied) offensive.

Q — What was the most important or perhaps most typical decision you ever made in Korea?

A — Two decisions: (A) The April-May offensive; (B) took chance after that offensive to cut off replacements to RoK army to set up RoK Army training program.

20 DIVISIONS

Q — What do you consider to be the ultimate realistic strength of the RoK Army?

A — The answer of 20 divisions or 1,000,000 men has been given in the past.

Q — What convinced you that the RoK Army could be made into a real fighting force?

A — The flack of training as I found it in the RoK army indicated that any army with little training could not be a real fighting force. The qualities of anti-Communist patriotism and loyalty and their early response to a sound training program — proved in battle — convinced me they could be made into a real fighting force.

Q — On leaving Korea, what is your greatest regret?

Lindsay Faces Major Costs In High School

LINDSAY (ENS). — According to Deputy-Reeve Hick and Mayor Charles Lamb, Lindsay can save $7,000 to $8,000 by eliminating the extra mill granted Victoria High School Area Board.

"In this way an extra mill, or a gift we gave the school area board to help out and to try and induce Ops Township to come into the area," said Mayor Lamb. Council decided not to include the grant in the 1953 budget.

Deputy-Reeve Hick introduced the subject at Monday's meeting of council. "I was not in the council at the time, but I understand that the extra mill was granted for one year only, to be renewed, if this council sees fit to do so."

Mayor Lamb replied: "I am glad you brought the matter up, for I have contended for two years past that this extra mill grant was not necessary, especially now. When Jasper Forman waited on this council at the start of the campaign to establish a high school area, he said that Lindsay would derive great benefit, as there would be a much larger school attendance, and these students would be spending more money in Lindsay. He also said it would help to bring the Township of Ops into the scheme. There was to be one school, now they have one at Fenelon Falls as well as in Lindsay."

Alderman Breeze, a High School teacher, commented: "I think the town of Lindsay will benefit greatly from the new high school. We are crowded in the present school, with a peak of 600 students, and when the new school is completed we will have over 700. When schools at Bobcaygeon, Woodville, and Little Britain, we may have a large number coming to Lindsay.

"The school will benefit Lindsay in another way. We will have a gym which can be used as an auditorium by the town of Lindsay and that will be more than useful."

Mayor Lamb replied: "Besides giving this extra mill, we gave the present school, and the grounds for the new addition. All we want to do is pay our equal share with the rest of the municipalities."

Deputy-Reeve Hick ended discussion, before the motion passed, by noting that the county had boosted the town's assessment by $900,000. In that light, he said, he thought the town should do whatever it could to save more money. Cutting the extra mill, he said, would have this effect to a certain extent.

Two Driving Charges Adjourned One Week

Hearing of charges of drunk driving and careless driving against Chief Constable Leslie Foster, of Lakefield, was adjourned for one week until February 17 by Magistrate W. R. Philp today. Foster pleaded not guilty to the charges on Saturday.

Fosters' car was discovered in the ditch four-fifths of a mile north of Peterborough about one a.m. Saturday. It had travelled 350 feet along the ditch, sideswiping a hydro pole and snapping off two mail boxes. Damage to the car was estimated at between $800 and $1,000. Foster suffered facial injuries.

Court Dismisses Four Charges Against Driver

Magistrate W. R. Philp today dismissed four charges against William Franklin, 28, RR 2 Madoc, arising out of an accident on Highway 7, four miles east of Peterborough at about 9:15 p.m. December 23, when Franklin's car collided with a Smith transport tractor-trailer carrying 15 tons of beer.

Franklin had been charged with dangerous driving, drunk driving, careless driving and illegal possession of liquor.

Clifton Moncrief, 33, 83 Pickering St, Toronto, driver of the transport, gave evidence that he was on his way to Ottawa from Peterborough when he saw Franklin's headlights about 100 to 125 feet ahead of him and noticed the outline of the car veering over onto his side of the road.

He said he flicked his lights two or three times and applied the hand-brake on the rear dual wheels of the tractor. He was reaching for the emergency brake when the impact occurred. His headlights were extinguished and the fuel tank under the seat blew up. He tried to hold the truck on the road but the flames were so bad that he had to "bail out" just before the truck went into the ditch.

Moncrief sustained back injuries, cuts and bruises. Franklin had an injured left hand, a badly cut chin and body bruises. Both drivers were taken to hospital.

Under persistent cross-questioning by defence counsel T. J. Carley, QC, Moncrief maintained that it had taken him almost an hour to drive about six miles from the company check point, west of Peterborough, to the point where the accident occurred and that the Franklin vehicle was only about 100 to 125 feet away when he first saw it.

"Do you know what distance you would cover in a second at 44 miles an hour?" Mr. Carley asked. "I want to advise you that you would go 66 feet and if the other vehicle were going at an equivalent speed you would collide before you could flick your lights and apply your brakes as well."

Franklin said that he was working at St Peter's school in Peterborough as a carpenter-foreman and had started out for Madoc after having four drinks of rye and a meal, following work.

ON WAY BACK

When he got as far as Emery's service station, it started to rain and so he turned around and was on his way back to Peterborough. He first saw the transport about 400 feet away from him and when it was about 100 feet away he thought that it was about four feet over the centre line. He said he pulled to the left, thinking he could miss the transport and by that time it seemed to be right across the highway on his side. He didn't remember anything after the impact.

Mr. Carley submitted that a sketch of the accident submitted by OPP Constable John Cawood was more consistent with Franklin's statement than that of Moncrief, who admitted that his position on the road was not clear to him at the time of the collision. While he wouldn't say that the Franklin car was not over the centre line, the transport must have been over the line to make the marks indicated on the diagram.

"I submit that it would be dangerous to convict one man ahead of the other in this case," he concluded.

"The evidence of the two witnesses is too inconclusive and we have no evidence as to the exact point of impact," the magistrate said in dismissing the charges.

U.S. DOLLAR AT DISCOUNT

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 2 9-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Monday's noon rate was 97 7-16. Pound sterling $2.74¾ unchanged.

Tap Water Gets Clear Bill From Medical Health Officer

Residents of Peterborough may quaff all the city water they wish, whether or not they find a taste in it, Dr. D. P. Wells, Medical Officer of Health, stated Tuesday.

In fact, the doctor added, full analyses is made by his own offices, both from the Otonabee River and from the city waterworks plant, at regular intervals, and it has yet to show any dangerous organic element which would harm even a kitten.

The city's medical officer of health added that a laboratory for analysis of city drinking water is at present under charge of the Utilities Waterworks Department engineer, and samples are also put through this test at least twice weekly. His separate analyses, he said, are only an additional safeguard.

FEW ODORS

"Yes," Dr. Wells added, "we have had a very minor number of calls of offensive odors." They were promptly dealt with, he said, without any fanfare. Such odors occur in ancient "cul de sac" sewers, he said, where stagnant water may permit algae to settle. The water, he said, is nonetheless pure for drinking purposes. A full flushing of sewers on the link system, made throughout the area, soon clears the trouble.

Algae? Merely harmless vegetable matter which can penetrate the waterworks filters. What happens? The algae is organic, and attracts a high percentage of Chlorine used to purify all water. This excess of chlorine thus demanded might provide an offensive odor, Dr. Wells stated, were it not for the fact that a special weapon is at hand to deal with algae—activated carbon. It not only reduces the odor of algae, but prevents it forming a precipitate in water, he added. No one, he said, can detect anything from activated carbon—it is positively tasteless.

The popular fallacy of chlorine being still the standard germ killer is not extensively endorsed, Dr. Wells added.

COPPER SULPHATE

Copper sulphate is also used as a "fix" with chlorine to handle algae, and other organic matter, which the fine screens filter. But sedimentation basins, through which the water flows at different levels, permitting some of its content to settle to the bottom, are in use here and extensively in all waterworks plants. The water flows from the final sedimentation basin to the intake filters.

To conclude, Dr. Wells, in company with Dr. Puffin, Toronto, Chief Medical Officer for Ontario, visited both the plant and the local laboratory only last week. The provincial health officer, Dr. Wells said, expressed full satisfaction with water from the local plant.

"There is nothing to worry about," Dr. Wells added, "we make two weekly tests." He stated he had visited points of complaint to look for offensive odors, but could find none.

Lack Of Support For U.S. Action Could Ruin China Blockade Plan

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that a China blockade may fail if it does not have the full support of United States allies worries some defence officials as much as the chance that it may extend the Korean war.

Even officials who have steadfastly opposed the blockade idea—currently gaining increasing support in Congress—agree that it should be militarily effective if imposed by the U. S. Navy, the largest in the world.

But even those who favor a blockade agree that international complications could doom such an action to partial failure.

At the heart of these complications are two problems:

By tradition and trade practices, China is tied with other Asian States.

The coast of China is not 100 per cent Chinese.

LONG-TERM AGREEMENT

In the matter of trade, there is Ceylon, a member of the British Commonwealth. Ceylon has a long-term agreement with Red China, calling for exchange of Ceylon rubber for Chinese rice.

If the U. S. should intercept shipments of rubber from Ceylon to China, the Communists could be expected to halt exports of rice to Ceylon. The question would then arise: Who would pay Ceylon for the seized rubber, and who would supply her with the rice she needs?

Prior to entering the Second World War, the U. S. tried some protective buying of neutral country products which might otherwise have gone to the Axis powers. But that procedure is expensive and might result in accumulation of stocks which the U. S. has no need to stockpile.

An even more difficult problem is that presented by the British Crown colony of Hong Kong on the coast of south China.

Hong Kong is a middleman's port. Formerly much of the trade arriving there was trans-shipped for movement into other Chinese ports. Goods shipped to Hong Kong normally were consigned to some British or British-approved firm, and would therefore be difficult to intercept before reaching Hong Kong.

The tightest naval blockade off China probably could not plug this gap unless Britain wanted it plugged. This is true because the mainland section of the colony is the terminus of a branch railroad which connects with the Chinese rail system.

The same situation would be true, although to a lesser extent, at the nearby Portuguese colony on Macau, in the estuary of the Canton river.

International law provides that a blockade must be effective and enforceable if it is to be recognized by non-participating countries.

Ironically, a blockade of China by the U.S. would be rendered more difficult to enforce because Red China has virtually no seagoing merchant fleet of its own. Thus the vast majority of vessels engaging in the China trade would be flying the flags of U.S. friends.

Prices Listless On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Prices shifted listlessly lower today as trading slowed from recent high levels.

Fewer speculative penny stocks traded actively and volume for the first three hours totalled 2,236,000 shares, lowest in about a month.

Papers, refining oils and miscellaneous issues were firm in a mixed industrials list.

Senior golds were mixed but juniors showed a list of small gains led by Campbell and Cons. Discovery. Frobisher led holding companies higher with a gain of 30 cents in a turnover of 101,000 shares. Prospects were firm.

Among the low-priced mining issues, uranium stocks lost some early gains but generally held steady. Gunnar added pennies, Rix traded actively for no change and Radiore, Nesbitt-Labine and Villbona dropped pennies. Villbona was the heaviest trader with a turnover of 147,000 shares. New Larder U., Ladulama and Nubar also slipped.

Quemont and Dominion Asbestos led the base metals lower. Cons. Smelters, however, gained.

A long list of small losses weakened Western oils although Britalta added 25 cents.

Jury Fixes No Blame In Elderly Man's Death

LINDSAY (ENS) — No blame was attached in Monday night's inquest into the death of Frank Whitney, an elderly Lindsay man, in the Ross Memorial Hospital, two weeks ago. Mr. Whitney succumbed to pneumonia, brought on by a fractured hip, which he sustained during a family quarrel Christmas night. Dr. W. R. Crowe was the coroner in the case and Dr. W. C. Blackwell the attending physician.

John McLean, 65, of Lindsay, admitted he had had a scuffle with the dead man on the night in question resulting in his falling to the floor. Whitney was taken to hospital, and his condition deteriorated rapidly from that time until his death. The members of the jury, Cayley Coombs, Lorne Irwin, Andy Widdiss, William Jackett, Ralph Fountain, decided that no blame could be attached to Mr. McLean, since no witnesses had seen the incident which resulted in Whitney's fall.

Donald Edmund Price

Funeral service for Donald Edmund Price, 263 Charlotte Street, who died Thursday in hospital, was held Saturday from the Belleghem Funeral Home.

Archdeacon C. W. Balfour of All Saints' Anglican Church officiated. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Fred Edwards, Richard O'Brien, Harry Dunford, Norman Booth, Ted Foster, and Rod Tippett.

St. Laurent Likes Dam Plan, Will Consider It

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent says that the government is not prepared to launch the big South Saskatchewan river power and irrigation project without further information.

This information, he told the Commons Monday, is whether the project — estimated by a royal commission to cost some $250,000,000 — is the best use that can be made of the vast South Saskatchewan river basin to irrigate and bring power to Canada's largest wheat-producing province.

Mr. St. Laurent said the cost estimated by the commission does not frighten him. The cost to the federal treasury would not be anywhere near $250,000,000. But the commissioners posed the question as to whether a proposed huge dam would be the best way to proceed.

Personally, he said, he thinks the dam plan is a good project.

"And if I can be convinced to the extent where I can honestly say that I believe in it, I will recommend to my colleagues to make the recommendation to Parliament. But I want to be sure that if this asset is used in this way it will not be apparent shortly afterwards that there was a better use to which it should be put."

FIRST OFFICIAL VIEW

The prime minister's statement was the first official government view given since the commission's report made Feb. 2. It recommended against starting the project at this time.

The prime minister gave the government statement in reply to a question by John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) who precipitated a debate on the subject by submitting an amendment to the government's motion to go into a study of the estimates.

His motion "regrets" that no provision is made in the estimates for the South Saskatchewan project. To this the CCF added a subamendment that the government's Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act engineers "recommended" the scheme.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner also entered the day - long debate. He said both amendments should be defeated because they are not in accordance with the facts. There was a vote of $500,000 in the estimates for 1953-54 for the South Saskatchewan project. But the government had not decided if the money should be spent.

He said the South Saskatchewan project had never been discussed by the cabinet.

NEVER RECOMMENDED

As for the CCF motion, PFRA engineers had never recommended the project. PFRA engineers didn't make recommendations, but only reports. It was the minister who made the recommendations.

Smith Family Returns Silver Tray To City

Acceptance from H. G. H. Smith, QC, Winnipeg, of the silver tray presented in 1885 by the citizens of Peterborough to his grandfather, H. H. Smith, on the occasion of his leaving for Winnipeg, was recommended to the Council by the finance committee Monday night.

The story of the original presentation here 68 years ago was recently published in The Examiner. It was related by W. F. Huycke, QC, city solicitor, a friend of the grandson of the man who was a confident of Sir John A. Macdonald.

A motion by Aldermen Graham and Black instructed City Clerk Outram to convey the thanks of the people of Peterborough for the return of silver plate for future keeping.

Its disposal will be decided later, but it will probably be placed in the mayor's parlor for use on occasional civic receptions. Another suggestion was that it might be transferred to the care of the reviving Historical Society.

City Gets Most Possible From Education Dollar

"We think the people of Peterborough are getting the most for their educational dollar that they possibly can."

This statement was made during an address at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday by W. B. Gordon, who was chairman of the Peterborough Board of Education in 1952, and is serving his fifth year as a member of the board.

In his address, Education in Peterborough, Mr. Gordon outlined what the taxpayers' educational dollar buys in this city.

"The machinery of education in a community can be likened to a corporation," Mr. Gordon said as he outlined how this machinery operates.

The shareholders are the taxpayers. Shares are bought by instalments—a percentage of annual taxes. Like corporations, there is a boar i of directors—the Board of Education.

THREE SOURCES

The revenue used in the fiscal operation of this corporation are received from three sources—the city council, grants from the provincial government and fees charged out-of-the-city school boards for students from their areas attending city schools.

Mr. Gordon explained that these fees are based on the calculated cost per student.

Discussing expeditures, the speaker said that the main expenditures can be classed under four headings — salaries and wages, property maintenance, capital improvement and miscellaneous.

"Salaries and wages make up about 86 per cent of the annual expenditure," Mr. Gordon said. "Last year our total estimates were slightly over a million dollars."

He explained that the organization of teachers in the province has forced boards of education to negotiate salaries each year. Before this organization boards would state salaries and the teachers were expected to accept them.

"These salary negotiations are becoming more complicated each year and I believe the time will come when professional negotiators on the provincial level will have to appear to negotiate salaries," he said.

ENCOURAGE TEACHERS

The speaker also outlined a policy which the Peterborough board has adopted to encourage teachers to improve themselves. This policy is the granting of bonuses in addition to salary increments each year for teachers who take the summer courses and obtain college degrees.

"We believe that this will result in Peterborough getting a better type and quality of teacher," he said.

Mr. Gordon next turned to an outline of the number of new schools and additions to schools that had been made necessary in recent years due to the "tremendous increase of the school population in Peterborough."

He also outlined improvements that the board has made in the past few years. One he mentioned was the gradual improvement of teacher-board relationships by the formation of a committee with representatives of the board and teachers to discuss minor problems. He also mentioned the organization of the school safety patrol system.

In concluding remarks, Mr. Gordon explained that expansion and increased costs had been handled by the board with very little increase in the percentage of the taxes going for education. This had been possible by the increasing assessment in the city.

"Peterborough is the finest city of its size in Canada," he said. "Our schools are in A1 order. Provincial records show that our staff, buildings and equipment are most satisfactory."

Mr. Gordon was introduced by T. Taylor and thanked by P. J. La Branche.

Hot War Certain If Cold One Lost, Says Bata

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Thomas Bata, president of the Bata Shoe Company of Canada, was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club Monday.

"Are we winning the cold war?" was the basis of the talk Mr. Bata gave, and in it he said that the Canadian people may feel that the cold war with communism is far removed. This, however, was not the case. If we lose the cold war we will be sure to be in a hot one shortly.

The cold war is being carried out on five fronts, the speaker declared. These are Europe, the Middle East, the Far East, the Pacific and the home front. He discussed the first three.

In Europe the Democratic team is making progress toward winning. The most dangerous time was immediately after the war when Russian prestige was at a peak, and the democracies were anxious to demobilize. Russia then made a grand attempt to enslave the world through the good opinion we had fostered with our own propaganda in her favor, when she was an ally. The Communists soon showed their colours by sabotaging all the democratic efforts in Europe, at the same time grabbing everything they could lay their hands on.

In the Middle East there is a similar danger. Although Persia and some of the other countries of this division are not in favour of the West, they being Moslem and basically religious, they do not welcome Communism either. In Japan there appears to be a definite friendliness to the U.S.A. and a dislike for Russia and China.

The Far East, with about 380 million population, comprising Pakistan, Java and Indo-China, is an important area to the Western Democracies. India now embraces most of the Hindus and Pakistan most of the Moslem people, these having separated recently. The problem of re-establishing nearly seven million refugees in these two countries was a major issue. Most of the credit for the successful re-organization of these two countries is due to the excellent system of civil service initiated under the British regime.

The people of India appear to be no longer friendly with the communist interest, and are now looking to the west for aid.

According to the speaker, the cold war is being won slowly, but the democracies need more support in every land. "We must show other countries that the democracies are ready to stand with them and are willing and able to protect them," he said. The strengthening of the democratic armed forces is of prime importance.

Mr. Bata showed films of one of the Bata plants in India where 8,000 persons are employed. President F. G. DeCarrol thanked the speaker.

Traffic Survey Made In Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)—A special committee of the Cobourg Chamber of Commerce has made a traffic survey in Cobourg and has come up with a number of suggestions by way of traffic control and parking. The survey will be turned over to the town council and form part of a general study of traffic in Cobourg, with the police collaborating.

The committee has made three recommendations regarding through streets, suggesting that Albert, which becomes Queen St. after it passes Division, be a through-street from Ontario to D'Arcy. Chapel street, from Division to D'Arcy is another street which the committee feels should be a through-street and the third one is James St. These thoroughfares all run east and west.

However, many of the public, particularly those who live on James and Chapel Sts. feel that to make these thoroughfares through-streets would only invite more speeding and in Chapel St. the menace of speedsters has been the subject of complaints for a long time. Queen St. passes through Victoria park which has very heavy traffic on the north and south streets in the summer and it is felt, in criticism of the chamber of commerce suggestion, that there should be stop streets, rather than through streets where Queen crosses the park area.

The suggestion of the committee for a traffic light at University and Division, is hailed as long overdue, because Division street and University are both heavily-travelled and a church and school are at this intersection.

Egypt Tells Britain She'll Guard Suez

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian Army headquarters today said Britain should pull her troops out of the Suez canal zone and concentrate on defending other areas of the Mediterranean sea.

The statement—latest in the continuing dispute between Britain and Egypt over presence of British troops in the zone—declared that the Egyptian Army, given adequate modern weapons, could insure the canal's defence.

In the case of another world war, it declared, "British troops' presence in the Suez canal area would be a useless thing and the Allies could use those troops more efficiently in Europe, Malaya, Korea, et cetra."

Put Fluorine In Peterborough Water?

The Canadian Dental Association and the Canadian Medical Association have now officially approved the experimental fluoridation of Brantford's water. A joint committee of the two associations has found the Brantford results justified, endorses the community process and is prepared to offer instructions and information to other municipalities which wish to fluoridate their water supply. With this seal of approval and the proven fact that incidence of decay in the teeth of Brantford children has been reduced because of the introduction of fluorine in Brantford's water, Peterborough should now question the advisability of similarly treating its water supply.

* * *

Brantford was the first city in Canada to introduce fluorine in controlled quantities into its municipal water system. This was begun as a community experiment in 1945. Medical and dental authorities annually analysing the results feel that the experiment has proven its worth. More than three hundred American cities have fluoridated their water supplies. There is no doubt about the efficacy of fluoride in reducing caries. As a general rule children who drink water containing one part of fluorine to a million of water from birth until the age of eight or nine—while their teeth are being formed—will have fewer tooth cavities than children drinking no fluoridated water. But there have been serious questions about the effect and over-all usefulness of fluoridating a municipality's complete water supply.

* * *

Fluorine is a chemical; taken in excessive quantities it is a poison. Therefore, the amount put into any municipal water must be carefully regulated, having regard to the amount which may be in the water naturally. Further, there is the question of the effect of this mass medicine for dental health on the general health of everybody, young and old, healthy and unhealthy. This has not been completely investigated in Brantford or elsewhere. The benefit to teeth will apply generally to only one out of eight persons in the community—that is, the eighth of the population under the age of nine. Do the toxic hazards and the expense warrant the fluoridation? Would it not be better to paint children's teeth with the chemical, or to add it to their cups of water and milk?

* * *

On the whole, the case for fluoridation of community water has been established, but not beyond all question. The medical and dental associations of Canada approve, but in the view of some of their members, prematurely. Toronto's Board of Health has placed an $80,000 item in its 1953 estimates for fluoridation. This means that if Toronto decides to add fluorine to its water, the money will be available. But Toronto authorities are studying the matter further before they take action. Peterborough need not rush into this new public health measure. There is a sufficient number of unanswered questions about its effects to warrant a slow, conservative Peterborough approach.

Not To Be Overly Used

A reader who has approved of a few notes on English usage which we have published in these columns lately has visited us and asked that we strike a blow at the word "overly", which he does not like. We do not like it greatly, either. In the New Practical Standard Dictionary, an American publication of Funk and Wagnall, the word is given as an adjective, meaning "to an excessive degree, too much, too". Thus we might say, "He was overly cautious." But the Shorter Oxford English Dictionary does not recognize this meaning for the word; it knows "overly" as an adjective, meaning "supercilious, overbearing, haughty" and as an adverb with the same meaning, and also "superficially or carelessly." As there seems to be no international agreement about the word careful writers and speakers will not make an excessive use of it.

Unfortunately, however, some writers and speakers appear to be in love with "overly" and they use it in and out of season; it is a mannerism with them. And because it is an odd word, without being a forceful or effective one, it becomes irritating. It is one of those words like "vexing", which is useful in special contexts, but which becomes a nuisance if it is used too often. It is a good idea for us all to overhaul our vocabularies now and then, introducing a few fresh words, and getting rid of some of those which show signs of wear, such as "overly".

Who Works Hardest?

Some Canadians glibly say that if the British people would work harder they would be able to live and feed better. The implication is that Canadians and Americans have more because they work more. The British have produced some figures to show that their people work harder and longer than North Americans.

In the first place, only 1.2 per cent. of the total British labour force was unemployed—the figures are for last August—while 1.6 per cent. of the Canadian and 2.5 per cent. of the American labour forces were unemployed. This comparison is not significant; by practical reckoning, unemployment was so low in the three countries that economists would say they all had full employment.

What about working hours? In 1951 (October was the month sampled) Americans worked 40 hours a week, Canadians 42 and the British 45.6 hours. Incidentally, the British worked for less pay. The average weekly wage in Canada in that month (October 1951) was $51.32 —an increase of 58½ per cent. over the average weekly factory wage in 1946. Workers in Britain had an average weekly wage of 139 shillings, tenpence —in today's dollar terms, less than $20 a week. This was an increase of 38.8 per cent. over the British average wage in 1946. Precise American figures for the same year are not given; they were more than $60 a week. Taking these figures alone, it therefore seems that the British worker is not pricing himself out of the world market.

The real criterion in these matters is not how much work is done but how much is produced by a man during his working hours. Statistics on this matter are conveniently lacking in the British economic report we have been reading. It is a well-known fact that British workers' output is low in comparison with the output of Americans and Canadians. There are many reasons for this: old fashioned production methods, slow pace, too many hands on a job, insufficient mechanization, that is, keeping men on the job where machines would do it faster and often better. British industry was of course severely dislocated by the war, not only through bomb damage but by the necessity of keeping factories operating since the output was vital and there was neither time nor material to convert a factory or mine to new processes. Most of this kind of dislocation was quite unknown in North America.

Yet Britain is catching up. Production is now half as great again as it was before the war—155 per cent. Of western European countries, only Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Finland have exceeded the British post-war increase. The North American story is different. Canada's production by 1951 was more than double what it had been before the war—204 per cent. of the 1939 output. United States' production was 230 per cent. of what it had been in the years 1935-39.

Who works hardest? We shall not venture to say. The British work longer hours but—whatever the reason—they do not produce as much in those hours as Canadians and Americans do in their shorter week. The quality of the goods produced, of course, cannot be measured or taken into account in such a brief survey as this.

What Effect On Canada

The United States has now ended a two-year attempt to control prices and wages. Controls were imposed after the Korean War broke out, in an effort to curb resulting inflation. There were strong pleas in Canada that control should be imposed in this country, too, and surprisingly, the Conservative Party asked for them. However, the Government did not bend to the pleas, and time has proved it right. With an expensive, cumbersome control machinery in the States inflation was not checked as well as it was in Canada without controls, but using more basic devices like credit restrictions.

Now the U.S. wage and price market is pretty wide open again. If American wages and prices take a sudden rise, the rise will affect Canada in due course; perhaps the value of our dollar in relation to the American dollar, and certainly the cost of many goods, for Canada imports heavily from the States. The chances are, however, that the freedom from controls in the States will not result in marked changes. The controls have not been strict and American prices have by and large found free market levels despite them. Further, the great inflationary surge of American defence buying is beginning to ebb. The new freedom of wages and prices may even result in lower prices and wages. This may be one of the aims of the new Republican administration in abolishing the controls.

NOTE AND COMMENTS

TV Spreads Across World

By W. MACLANACHAN

WHEN PRESIDENT EISENHOWER was inaugurated in Washington last month the ceremony was watched throughout the three thousand miles width of the United States by seventy million people using twenty-one million television receivers. In Great Britain and Western Europe, an estimated 25 million people, using nearly three million television sets, will see Queen Elizabeth being crowned at Westminster next June.

These figures not only emphasize the intense popular interest in national spectacles; they also show the tremendous expansion that has been taking place in the use of television on both a national and an international scale. Like round broadcasting which it is quickly superseding as an instrument of entertainment and culture in the home, television will soon pass from national to international exchanges of culture. The first international television exchange between France and England last year will be followed by several this year with transmissions each way, shared by Belgium, Holland, Denmark and Western Germany.

IN THESE COUNTRIES and in Italy, Yugoslavia and Russia, plans for the inauguration or extension of services in 1953 are well advanced, while in Scandinavia transmissions are due to start in 1954. France, which ranks after the United States and Great Britain in television development, is to open three new stations at Strasbourg, Lyons and Marseilles, in addition to those at Paris and Lille, while future plans envisage three more, including Amiens and Nancy.

Western Germany is not far behind. The existing system of Berlin-Hamburg is being extended to Cologne and Frankfurt. West German television set manufacturers calculate on supplying 100,000 receivers during the year— roughly equivalent to the monthly output in Great Britain. West German viewers expect to be able to watch the Coronation in June. In Italy, where three main stations at Rome, Milan and Turin will be operating, television has proved so popular that the output of sets is expected to exceed that of France. The Vatican also has its own transmitter.

OTHER European countries operating television are Yugoslavia where tests transmissions are made from Belgrade, Russia has a transmitter in Moscow and Eastern Germany with a transmitter in East Berlin. West Germans calculate that there are over fifty thousand sets capable of receiving the Communist transmissions in the Soviet zone. Both the transmissions and the receivers are of poor quality.

The Latin-American countries, where United States' technical influence is strong, are also expanding their television networks. The Argentine, for instance, has had a forty-five kilowatt transmitter operated by Radio Belgrano at Buenos Aires since 1951, while Brazil has a low power transmission from Sao Paulo. Both Mexico and Cuba have linked up with United States operators, while Venezuela operates two services—one a Government ten kilowatt transmitter with United States equipment, and the other a five kilowatt commercial station with British Apparatus.

IN THE FAR EAST, Japan has just inaugurated an official service and two commercial companies expect to start transmissions during the current year. Thailand is also to begin a service this year.

In the British Commonwealth, Canada and Australia are extending their services. The Montreal and Toronto transmissions are to be linked to Ottawa, Winnipeg, Quebec, Halifax and extended to Vancouver in the West. The first Canadian installations have used British equipment.

Although television is an entirly modern development and still in its infancy in most countries, there are regrettably little attempt at international standardisation of its techniques and equipment.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE DEFINITION of detail in a television picture depends on two interrelated factors— the number of "lines" to each picture and the "bandwidth" of the signal carrying the picture information. Despite the setting up of international consultative committees, no effective uniformity has yet been attained in these matters.

In the United States, the number of lines is 525; in Germany, Belgium and Holland, 625; in France, there are two systems of 449 and 819 lines; while Britain, where the first regular television transmitters in the world began in 1936, the original 405-line definition still gives pictures for home viewing as satisfactory as any given by the nominally higher-definition transmissions elsewhere. Italy, which began with the American standard, very quickly changed to the more common 625 lines. The Vatican, however, transmits on 819 lines.

These and other differences preclude the direct relaying of programmes from one wavelength to another for international exchanges of programmes. Fortunately, however, it is possible for the picture produced by one system to be "viewed" by a camera of another system at some intermediate point, and relayed on the second system without any great loss of detail. The French programmes broadcast in Britain in 1952 demonstrated the efficacy of this method, in which the latest British television cameras were used.

AS IN sound broadcasting and radio telegraphy, British transmitting equipment is used throughout the world—from Thailand to Canada and even in the United States. In the British television system—which at present uses five high-power stations, and before the Coronation will have two additional temporary low-power transmissions—extensive use is made of relays and outside broadcast units. Standardisation by the British Broadcasting Corporation has enabled several television manufacturers to produce complete mobile units consisting of transmitters with aerial, together with studio cameras and control room equipment, for about £100,000 (280,000 U.S. dollars), while the complete apparatus for operating a programme, including two units for outside broadcasts, costs approximately £150,000 (420,000 dollars). Mobile relay units, such as are to be used at Belfast and Newcastle, giving two kilowatt power, cost £25,000 (70,000 U.S. dollars).

THE CONSENSUS of opinion both in Britain and the United States is that outside broadcasts of national events and sporting items are one of the most popular features of television. Just before the presidential election in the United States, receiver sales were at their highest recorded level, as they are now in Britain four months before the Coronation.

The steady expansion and popularity of television in Britain indicates a permanent change in the structure of the national life. In 1937, when only one transmitter was operating, there were some five thousand sets in Britain. By 1939, this figure had increased to over twenty thousand. Now, seven years after the hiatus caused by the war, there are nearly a million in the same area.

Even with only one programme being radiated from five stations, the expansion has been steadily accelerating, and the service is now available to eighty per cent. of the British population. In the United States, with multi-station receivers and altogether 120 stations, television is still available for less than fifty per cent. It may, however, be a long time before these figures are attained by other countries.

Letters To The Editor

ASKS FOR EARLIER SANDING

Sir: Would you kindly allow me a few lines in your paper, I notice an article in your paper where a Brewing Co. is sueing the town of Havelock for an accident which one of their trucks had, due to the condition of the street, of course as yet we do not know what the outcome might be, but I have wondered for a long time how long Peterborough is going to get along before they have a claim of some such nature, as I see it at present, if the weather gets stormy at night, ice and sleet, and streets and sidewalks get impassible, yet no sand. But the next morning when the good Lord brings out the sun, lo and behold, the sand men are out, throwing sand into water. How long is this sort of thing going to exist before something is done about it? The Fire Dept. have to give 24 hour serivce, the Police Dept. have 24 hour service; why not the Board of Works? All it would need out would be two trucks with two men each. Money is set aside each year for this purpose, but as I see it, it is being wasted. Could I be wrong in my accusation. We elect a Mayor and Alderman to look after our interests, but don't you think they are letting us down in the matter. Let us hear some good sound criticism on this matter.

A TAXPAYER.

A GOLDEN CORONATION

Sir: "How shall we spend Coronation?" This is my suggestion; make it a golden court?

Since coronation suggests, rather means a crown of gold, why not go in for golden decorations— golden beds of flowers, paths, and walks; even gilds in tinsel, bell, and dish; be nice to have real gold too in money, word, and thought—might come if we kept the golden rule?

Gold's complement is violet— have that also in colour, flowers and cloth?— regal combinations of kings, queens and bishops —art, love and mystery?

Coronation also means celebration and celebration calls up the feast— golden cakes, meats—and apples?

Let us hope for golden summer days, summer skies, birds, butterflies and gold finch; and come to think why not the start of the golden age? E.

Formosa Decision Shocks Indian Opinion

By ARRAN MOORE in NEW DELHI

"MIDWINTER Madness" is how the "Times of India" describes President Eisenhower's decision to withdraw the American Seventh Fleet's orders to check offensive action from Formosa.

This summarises accurately the characteristic reaction of Delhi which nowdays is politically Asia's important sounding-box.

The Indian official circles are silent on the decision; not even any inspired comment is obtainable, but President Eisenhower's decision is seen by Indian observers of foreign affairs as directly contrary to India's entire policy in the Far East and therefore in the nature of a sharp slap in the face for this country.

President Truman's policy of "insulating" Formosa was warmly supported here as an attempt to confine the Korean war to the narrowest front; President Eisenhower appears, to Indian opinion, to be doing his best to spread the war.

The commetn mostly takes the line that distrust of the Republican Party expressed earlier has been justified more quickly even than was expected. The more cynical commentators doubt whether Chiang Kai-shek's hit-and-run raids from Formosa, however, much running is involved, will mean much in the way of hitting.

To Save a Deer's Life

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

It is paradoxical to think that human beings kill deer and will also risk their lives to save them from death.

In New Brunswick each Fall about 20,000 deer crumple dead before the bullets of hunters. That number is in addition to a probable good many hundreds more which limp off into the woods crippled by rifle fire, some to die. If anyone feels sorry for them, not much is heard about it.

Yet at least twice on the lower Kennebecasis river this Winter, men have imperilled their own safety in attempts to rescue deer from danger.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then Jesus went with them. And when he was now not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thyself: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof: wherefore neither thought I myself worthy to come unto thee: but say in a word, and my servant shall be healed. For I also am a man set under authority, having under me soldiers, and I say unto one, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

When Jesus heard these things he marvelled at him, and turned him about and said unto the people that followed him, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel. And they that were sent, returning to the house, found the servant whole that had been sick. (Luke 7: 6-10.)

After these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come. Therefore said he unto them, The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest . . . And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name.

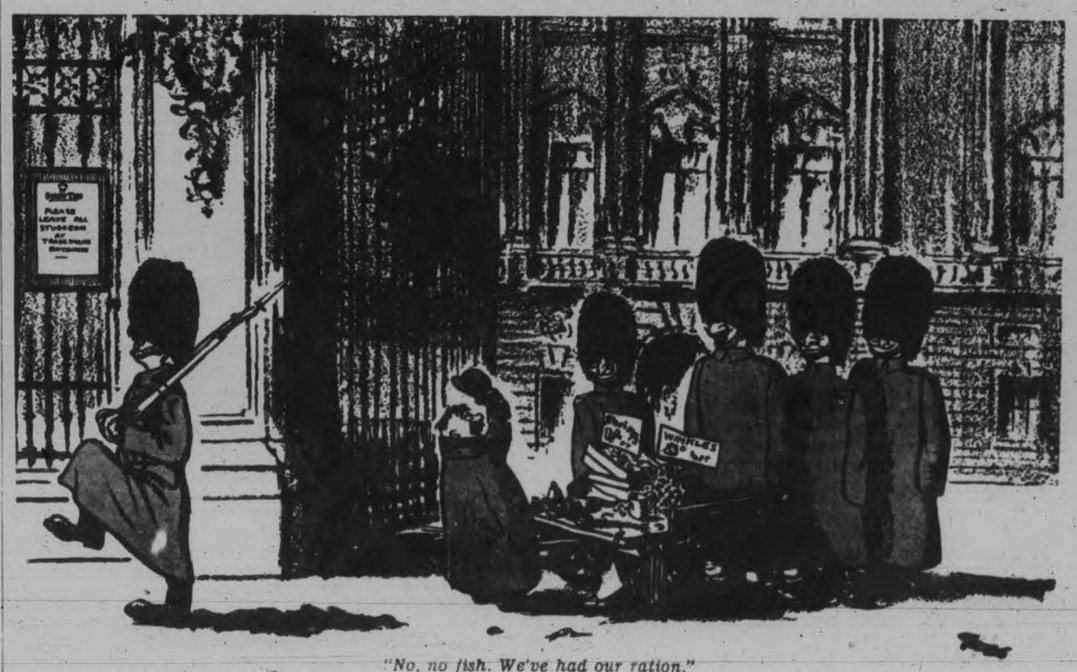
And he said unto them, I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven. Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you. Notwithstanding in his rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you: but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven. (Luke 10: 1, 2, 17-20.)

No More Free Parking

(Winnipeg Tribune)

One of the few joys remaining to motorists in cities is to discover a parking space in which the parking meter registers a residue of parking time.

It is a great feeling to sidle up to a meter that still shows half an hour or so before the red violation flag is due to appear. The eternal hope, so frequently disappointed, of getting something for nothing, coupled with the naughty satisfaction of beating the "government" in a minor way can raise a rosy glow.



But now some fiend down south has invented a gadget that threatens this more or less innocent pleasure. The gadget has actually been installed in Salt Lake City. It is called a "meter eraser." When a car pulls out of a parking space, the gadget automatically trips the meter back to zero. The result is: no more parking on the other fellow's nickel.

Cynical Note

(Edmonton Journal)

Little imagination is needed to picture the resulting public hullabaloo if Trade Minister Howe were to announce that the Government had decided to fix a floor price under certain lines of shoes because the retailers were losing some money on them. But Agriculture Minister Gardiner can get away with that sort of interference with supply and demand.

Why? The answer is easy: Canada has many more farmers than it has shoe-store proprietors.

"No, no fish. We've had our ration."

Prison Papers Published By All-Prisoner Staff

KINGSTON (CP)—What do long-term prisoners ponder during their years behind bars?

The answer—locked in the minds of prisoners themselves until three years ago—now is being made public through monthly publications.

Written and edited by the prisoners themselves, these small magazines are also distributed outside prison walls.

At Kingston penitentiary the Tele-Scope, with an all-prisoner staff, airs the views of inmates to their fellows and the rest of the world in some 24 pages every month. The 32-page CB Diamond serves the same purpose at Collins Bay Penitentiary, 10 miles west of here.

THEY LIKE POETRY

The Diamond editor says prisoners always send a flood of copy for each issue.

He gets scads of poetry. "Many inmates like writing about bars and stars," he says.

But prisoners express themselves in other literary ways. One-quarter of each issue is sports. There are short stories, monthly features on rehabilitation, two or three editorials and a page devoted to alcoholics anonymous.

Printing and editing departments of both prison newspapers have trouble with staff turnover, of course. When one man's sentence is up, another has to be trained to take his place.

All material for publication is submitted to prison authorities for approval. But the editors and staff are allowed to pick whatever topics they wish for treatment.

Suggestions put forward in the magazines have led to prisoner art exhibitions, literary contests and blood donor clinics inside prison walls.

Although the first penal paper appeared in the United States 70 years ago, such publications are comparatively recent in Canada. They began in this country with the first issue of the Tele-Scope, then a single-page mimeographed sheet of sports news.

Extra Revenue From Cigarettes

SIMCOE (CP)—Ontario tobacco growers said Monday the federal government has made an additional $17,000,000 in revenue as a direct result of last year's three-cent tax cut on cigarettes.

The growers also said in a statement they have postponed decision on an acreage cut for the 1953 crop until after the federal budget Feb. 19.

Francis R. Gregory, chairman of the board of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association of Ontario, said: "A more outrageous situation is hard to imagine. We were forced to cut acreage last year by a third to the lowest level in seven years as a result of the tax increase of 1951."

Mr. Gregory added that unless there is a drastic cut this year to make possible a 30-cent package of 20 they may have to cut acreage again.

Veteran Cree Indian Chief Recalls Buffalo Hunts

MEADOW LAKE, Sask. (CP)—Chief Matchee, 86-year-old head of a Cree Indian band on the Meadow Lake reserve for a quarter of a century, is one of the few hereditary chiefs remaining in Canada.

The custom among most Indian tribes today is to select a chief every two years. But Matchee's band does not want an election while their beloved chief lives.

Matchee's young mother died at his birth in the lodge of a pagan chief on the Stony Point Cree reserve in northern Manitoba. He was brought up by friends on his father's reserve, soon earning his present name which means "good little hunter."

RECALLS BUFFALO HUNTS

When he grew to manhood, buffalo herds had all but vanished in the wake of mass slaughter by the Indians and white pioneers.

But Matchee recalls how Indian hunters used to ride broadside up to the stampeding buffaloes and attack them with long knives. At the age of seven he attacked a buffalo calf with his own little knife.

A great upholder of the white man's law, Matchee despises the liquor traffic and also Indians who shoot moose out of season. He is interested in the welfare of young Indians, loves little children and is a protector of the aged.

"We were much better off in the old days," he said as he sat in his mud-chinked log cabin on the reserve. "We Indians do not like sweets, but now we eat sweets because we do not get enough meat."

Matchee says he cannot remember all the names of the kings under whom he has served "but I remember Victoria well. She gave us our treaty. She gave us guns, too. Then we threw away our bows and arrows."

He still proudly wears the medal of 1900, presented to hereditary chiefs by King George V, then Duke of Cornwall and York, on a visit to Western Canada. Matchee's father handed down the medal to him.

His leather-brown face breaks into a wide smile when he recalls that dances were what he loved best in the old days.

"We danced nearly every night. We made our own music with drums and rattles, and we had many kinds of dances—the big round dance, the sun dance and the midnight dance."

Matchee suddenly closed the interview with the announcement: "Now I am going to tell you something."

"Once the coyotes were eating everything we had. We loaded all our guns and tied cords to the triggers so the coyotes would shoot themselves. I forgot about it and shot myself in the foot. I had to crawl 10 miles to my me-ka-wapwa (tent). When I got there my knees were just like meat."

THE GREEKS HAVE A WORD FOR IT

... WE MEAN the magic word that tells a mule to get going. It probably worked better than usual, recently, when Greek mule-drivers had to transport into the isolated interior, roofing materials needed for the construction of refugee shelters. The government purchased 2,000 tons of aluminum for the purpose — and incidentally licked the transportation problem.

Another nice thing about aluminum's lightness is that a given poundage goes two to three times as far as with other metals. It often means that aluminum, with all its advantages, actually costs less, too. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Accused Pair Answer Questions

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Two nattily-dressed young Canadians, accused of killing a Buffalo jeweller, sat calmly in police headquarters Monday and readily answered questions as they were mugged and fingerprinted.

Then they were locked up here, just two months after Donald F. Hurd was cut down by a bullet in his chest.

A heavily-armed, speeding motorcade of five police cars had brought Maurice (Digger) O'Dell, 28, and Walter F. Griffen, 26, into Buffalo from Hamilton, 60 miles away. They had been held in Hamilton's Barton street jail since their capture Dec. 11.

O'Dell, wearing a dark blue suit, told policemen "Don't call me "Digger'," when he was asked if that were an alias. He gave his occupation as a mechanic.

O'Dell and Griffin have been indicted by an Erie county grand jury on charges of first degree robbery and murder. A third man, Ralph J. Grubisich, 33, of Windsor, Ont., is being sought.

Ask Drastic Cut In Road Expenditures

TORONTO (CP)—George H. Doucett, Ontario highways minister, called Monday for a "drastic cut" in municipal road expenditures during 1953.

Speaking to a meeting of the municipal roads council of the Ontario department of highways, Mr. Doucett said expenditure programs for municipal road construction during 1952 totalled over $30,000,000, nine times that of 1943, the year in which he took office.

He said present indications are that municipal expenditures this year will double those of 1952.

2 Access Highways Planned For North

TORONTO (CP) — Controlled-access highways to North Bay and Sudbury are planned by the department of highways, it was reported Monday.

The new route to Sudbury, branching off the Barrie highway onto No. 69 north of Barrie, will cut more than 50 miles off the distance to Sudbury. Traffic to that city now goes by way of North Bay. The new route to North Bay is over No. 11 highway, which runs from Toronto to North Bay.

The department plan calls for a new leg on No. 69, cutting northwest from Gravenhurst through Parry Sound. This road is part of the Trans-Canada highway, and may be completed this year.

Expect Dutch People In Western Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Immigration Minister Walter Harris said Monday that Western Ontario very likely could expect Dutch immigrants from the storm-ravaged sector of Holland.

Mr. Harris said in an interview that his department had no estimate from the Dutch government of how many immigrants to expect. But because of Western Ontario's favorable condition for immigration some percentage could be expected here.

In an address before the London Rotary Club he said the government felt it was the humanitarian thing to offer "the Dutch special immigration privilege because of the flood disaster."

Port Perry Leading SPS By 11 In The Series For Lakeshore "B" Title

Despite a last-quarter rally by St. Peter's High Saints, Port Perry High School seniors took an 11-point lead in their home-and-home series for the lakeshore district "B" honors Monday night. The Port quintet relied upon a strong first half and six foul shots in the last minute for a 66-55 victory. The teams will return to St. Peter's gym Thursday night for the second game. Monday night's game was considered an upset by Port Perry since the Saints had won two exhibition games earlier this season. But despite the loss, the Saints are still favorites to take the series on the large court.

CRACKED JAW — Big Buck Legrow is out of the Petes' lineup for a time with a fractured jaw suffered in an exhibition game at Lake Placid over last weekend. The husky defenceman was hit accidentally with a stick and will probably be sidelined for the rest of the season.

Coach Johnny Lynch said after the game, "We never seem to get used to that small floor," referring to a poor first half. Then he added that the baskets still bother his cagers, who became acquainted with the rebounds only in the second half.

FOUGHT BACK

When they did find their bearings in the second half, the Saints came back strongly, decreasing the wide margin to five points. But then six points on foul shots in the last minute helped the Ports to the lead.

The Port Perry lads, paced by Haugen, distributed 19 points among each other in the first half and at the same time held the Saints to nine, mostly by Fred Legros. Owen took over the reins for Ports in the second quarter as they again outscored Saints, this time 18-10, for a half score of 37-19.

Owen continued his steady drives into the basket in the third quarter and the Ports widened the gap further to 56-30. But the Saints, with Legros, Ryan and Richardson leading the attack, came back strongly in the fourth quarter, outscoring Saints 25-10, but couldn't overcome the large lead.

LED THE WAY'

Legros captured the individual scoring with 21 points, closely followed by the Ports' Owen with 17. Ryan placed third with 16 and Richardson fourth with 12.

The senior Saints have three games this week as St. Peter's has basketball nearly every day. After the two-game grind with Ports, the Saints meet the strong St. Michael's College five Friday at SPS.

Meanwhile, the junior Saints also have a full week, also playing three. The younger lads open their home-and-home series with Whitby High today in Whitby for the lakeshore championship. They also meet St. Michael's.

Lineups:

SPS (55) — Galvin, Legros, Ryan, McTeague, Creally, Newell, Richardson, Breniff, Quinlan, O'Leary.

Port Perry (66)—Waldinsperger, Haugen, Lawrence, Owen, Warriner, Dobson, Peel, Kendall, Hadden.

Marmora Gets TVL Win Over Hastings

MARMORA (ENS). — Marmora retained leadership of the northern section of the Trent Valley League on their home rink as they defeated Hastings in a game of fluctuating fortunes by the score of 7-5. Played on good ice, the game was fast throughout.

Hastings drew first blood as they forced the pace, but as the first period closed the homesters tied the score 2-2. It looked like a duplication of the score for the second frame until, with a minute to go, Doran made it 5-4 for Marmora. Isaacs tied it again in the early stages of the third, but Marmora got two more to win decisively by 7-5. Twelve penalties were issued, chiefly for tripping, but on the whole the game was free of roughness. The attendance dropped down to 400, but those who witnessed the encounter took enjoyment out of it.

Bancroft Triumphs Over Flyers By 10-5

BANCROFT (ENS). — A crowd of more than 1,000 jammed the local arena here last Thursday night for the annual exhibition game between the Bancroft Pontiacs and Trenton Flyers of the Trent Valley loop. The game was played under the auspices of the Canadian Legion branch and served to further Pontiacs' winning streak as they downed the aggressive Flyers by a 10-5 score. The Pontiacs remain undefeated at home and have lost only one away from home this year. The contest has become a deadlock over the past three yearly games with each team winning one and one ending in a tie. Fast, hard-hitting hockey was featured as always and stellar performances were turned in by goalie Young, forwards Elwood Brough, Norman Brough, and Bob Ramsbottom of the local team and by Hipson, Schmidt, and Meloche for the Flyers. Elwood Brough performed the hat trick for the Pontiacs, two of them solo efforts.

The first period saw Flyer goals by Hipson and Meloche and two Bancroft counters by Elwood Brough unassisted.

CLOSE ENOUGH

Second period ended in a 7-4 score on local tallies by Douglas Comrie 2, Ted Maxwell, Wayne Coe, and Elwood Brough. Hipson and Bailie scored for the visitors. Comrie of the local club netted two goals in the first 39 seconds of the second period.

In the final period Bob Ramsbottom rang the bell twice for the home team and Meloche netted a flyer single. Wayne Coe pushed in the final goal of the game for the Pontiacs. The Trenton club outscored Bancroft in the penalty department 6-2, all minors.

As the result of a fine show of co-operation among local organizations and the patrons, members of the Bancroft Lions Club collected more than $160 to aid overseas flood victims between the second and third periods.

The teams:

Bancroft—Goal, A. Young; defence, J. Hattin, L. Dougall, C. Mc Alpine, S. Stringer, F. Bruce; forwards, E. Brough, N. Brough, B. Comrie, B. Ramsbottom, T. Maxwell, B. Green, R. Severin, D. Maxwell, W. Coe.

Trenton — Goal, Cook; defence, Schmidt, Bailey, Meloche, Attrill; forwards, Davis, Hipson, Greystone, Tardiff, Brill, Shevis.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As the NHL race grows gradually shorter, one notes that Boston Bruins main chance of grabbing the fourth-place playoff spot will be against either the up-and-down Chicago Hawks or the slipping Toronto Leafs. Too early yet to figure how they'll finish, but Detroit and Canadiens are likely to finish one-two, while Rangers are rather expected to remain in the cellar. Leafs and Hawks are tied now just one game up on Boston. We take an interest in the Bruins because Dit Clapper (a director) long starred for them, because George (Red) Sullivan is up there with 'em again—filling in for injured Milt Schmidt— and because many of our junior "B" Oddfellows come under their control.

* * * * * *

It might be explained here that newcomers this season to IOOF-ers do not come under Boston control, but those signed with IOOF-ers previously cannot jot their names to possible pro contracts without the okay of Bruins. You see, Boston ended their so-called sponsorship (they contributed some money for the past few years toward the club's expenses) earlier this winter. Had too many minor irons in the fire. Wanted to drop Kingston Vics, but found another NHL club interested in a Kingston player, so they kept the Vics in their chain—and of course, the Oshawa junior "A" club —but dropped the local Links. That isn't altogether it, either, as local officials had asked to be released from the setup. This was finally done, and the Links are no longer in the chain, if we may put it that way. They're independent.

* * * * * *

Till Death Parts 'Em

However, the old slave-driving touch of the NHL shows there again, inasmuch as last year's Oddfellows still come under the Boston claim. On account of Bruins kicked in some money (not enough to run the club) while these boys were signed to OHA contracts. The pros don't give up easily. Once they get a grip on a lad he's had it as far as shopping around for himself goes. True, the pro clubs pay well to and for players, so it's not a starvation slave market by any means. Yet players either signed by the pros or even put on their negotiaiton lists— with or without the players' consent—have little future say of their own hockey career.

At the moment, Coach Doug Mortimer's scrappy young IOOF-ers aren't bothering their heads over NHL tie-ups. They're worrying over two games left for them in the junior schedule. They go to Belleville tonight, and wind it up against Cobourg here Wednesday eve. And they must win one of these two tilts to make the fourth playoff slot. They should coast in there by taking a four-pointer from Cobourg in the Wednesday fray, but nothing is sure in sports till the final whistle. Oshawa has been crowding 'em lately, but the Motor Citizens' chances are fading, and it looks very much like it'll be Oddfellows versus Belleville in group semi-finals, best of five, commencing this weekend or early next week

Buck Gets Cracked Jaw

Below strength, the Petes took an exhibtion tour to Lake Placid over last weekend— following their win in Kingston—and dropped one decision and tied the American crew in another game. The trip was costly enough when Beck Legrow had his jaw fractured accidently when hit with a stick. That'll shelve him for awhile. Doug Hunter is back in action with the locals and will be in the lineup when the Petes play in Stouffville tomorrow night. Next big home game has Kingston here Friday. Then Belleville comes here on Monday, and the Petes are off to Kingston the following Friday to end the schedule. Time is running out rapidly on them, and they need several more victories to catch a playoff berth.

* * * * * *

Kingston stepped onto Quinte ice last eve and took an 8-4 win. That ties 'em with the Glens at 24 points each, with the Petes trailing with 19, or two and a half games off the pace. Following their recent losses to Peterborough and Orillia, the K's got busy and a shakeup followed. They dropped Coach Joe Watts, replacing him with Johnny Carr-Harris. Goalie Ken Johnson is back in the nets, newcomer Al DeLuca is on the roster — wonder how come at this late date— and the strongest possible Kingston squad will take the ice for their remaining games. They're worried now and sure to fight fiercely in both important melees with the Petes. That means that the Ellis men have to give all they have in their last four frays— or they've had it.

Keene Victors By 14 To 3 Over The Point

KEENE (ENS)—Flashing fine hockey in every period here last night, the Keene EPL squad rolled to a 14-3 victory over Young's Point. It was fast, clean hockey, with Referee [illegible] drawing four penalties, and the Point played a better game than the score indicates. Warsaw was winning 10-1 over Apsley at the same time.

The Whalen-Colby-Kempt line was hot for the winners as was Steenburgh, and the goaltending and defence strong, all players going good in this tilt.

Steenburgh, McFarlane, Locke, Whalen, Colby and Kempt all scored in the first period, Colby, McCarthy and Whalen each having two assits, and Locke one. Whalen added two markers next heat as Steenburgh and McFarlane got one each, Kempt aiding on two, and single assists going to McCarthy, Locke, Bethune and Adamson. For the Point, R. Heard scored from Russelle, as Northey got a solo. In the third, Russelle tallied for the losers, with Colby getting two for Keene, Whalen and Steenburgh one each. Kempt, Locke and Colby had an assist each. Teams:

Young's Point: Goal, Kyle; defence, Evans, Shearer; centre, D. Heard; wings, McIsaacs, Russelle; alternates, J. Northey, R. Northey, C. Freeburn, Darling, P. Heard, R. Freeburn, Barber, Tedford, McNaughton.

Keene: Goal, Mackness; defence, Kimball, Houle; centre, Whalen; wings, Colby, Kempt; alternates, Locke, McFarlane, McCarthy, Brown, Adamson, Steenburgh, Bethune.

Referee, S. Heffernan; linesman, P. Maloney.

Keene Lions Victors In Juvenile "D" Set

The Keene Lions beat Newcastle 9 to 3 in the second game of their first round juvenile "D" series, giving the Lions the series by 21 to 8, as the winners carried a seven-goal lead from the first game in Keene.

The homesters were no match for the Lions who roared to a six-goal lead in the first period and won going away. Don Bethune led the scorers for the winners with five; "Ketch" Sellaby banged in two, while Jim Heron and Elmhirst had singles. Bob Heron assisted on three as did Sellaby; Jim Heron also had an assist.

Bob Heron got a bad cut under the eye directly from the first face-off but after getting patched up came back to play a strong game. All the lads gave all they had in this series and Keene will now meet the Minden juves, in the second round, two-game, total-goals series. First game is at 8.30 this Tuesday in Keene with the Lions making the long haul north for the return game in Minden on Thursday.

Lions' line-up. — Goal, Colby; defence, Whalen, Shelton, Jim Heron, Coit; forwards, B. Heron, Sellaby, Bethune, Renwick, Shearer, Elmhirst, Houle, Edwards, Hope.

Kingston's Coach Resigns After Three Reverses Replaced By Carr-Harris

KINGSTON— Rumors of trouble in the camp of the Kingston Goodyears, who were humiliated by the Orillia Pontiacs 17-5 in an OHA Senior B game on Saturday night, have caused somewhat of a sensation. Although only a few reports could be verified, it is known officially that Coach Joe Watts has resigned and that Johnny Carr-Harris has been appointed as his successor.

Two successive defeats sustained in the Community Memorial Centre, when Stouffville Clippers won 8-6, and the lowly Peterborough Petes 6-4, preceded the crushing reverse absorbed in the Lake Couchiching town, and the lid has been blown off the powder keg with a terrific bang.

There is no logical reason why a team in good condition and operating harmoniously should be subjected to a 17-5 drubbing at this stage of the race, even when opposing the high-scoring Pontiacs on the latter's surface. Last December 13 Goodyears crushed the Pontiacs 15-3 in the Community Centre, but one week later were beaten 11-6 in Orillia. It is interesting to note that in their two previous away-from-home trips Goodyears lost 4-3 in Stouffville and won 9-6 in Peterborough.

The appointment of Carr-Harris means that no nonsense will be tolerated in future. Carr-Harris has been given a free hand and heads will fall if his orders are not obeyed to the letter. As a player through a long career he never was a laggard and now, with the team shooting at big stakes, the Iron Duke will prevail.

CITY CARPETBALL

The schedule for the week of February 16: Legion No. 10 vs. Legion No. 12; Legion No. 7 vs. Orhphans No. 2; Glens No. 1 vs. LOL No. 6; Fire Hall No. 4 vs. Fire Hall No. 9; Red patch No. 11 vs. SOE No. 8; Legion No. 5 vs. Legion No. 3.

Results of last week's play. At the Fire Hall, the Smoke-eaters No. 4 were behind 3-9 going into the 10th frame, against LOL No. 6— but No. 4's fire laddies really opened up their nozzle and swept a 3 and another 3 to make it 9-all in the 11th end. Then King Billie lost control of the white charger as No. 4 scored a big 8. Final score was 17-9. The second game also went to No. 4 by a 13-7 score.

At the Legion Hall, the following games were played: Legion No. 12 met Glens No. 1. The first game was No. 12's all the was finishing ahead of a 17-6 score. The second was much closer and although No. 12 scored a 6 end, No. 1 by taking more ends won 15-12.

Legion No. 7 met the Fire Hall No. 9 and a split resulted. No. 7 dropped the first one to No. 9, after it was tied twice by a 7-10 score. The second game was much more closer and although No. 12 scored a 6 end, No. 1 by taking more ends won 15-12.

Legion No. 7 met Fire Hall No. 9 and a split resulted. No. 7 dropped the first one to No. 9, after it was tied twice, by a 7-10 score. The second game was tied in the third end but from there on it was Legion's game and they won it 18-6.

Legion teams No's 3 and 10 met and as a result each captured a game in two closely fought matches. No. 3 took the first by virtue of a five end in the eighth frame. Score was 15-8. The second was No. 10's by 11-9 score after coming from behind in the seventh end and continued to score sufficient to stay ahead.

In the president cup playdowns the first round was completed when Legion No. 7 eliminated Red patch No. 11 in the third games. Scores of the games were: No. 7 by 8, 6 and 14 against No. 11's, 2, 7 and 7. Legion No. 5 failed to turn up and LOL No. 6 won by default. In the match between Legion No. 3 and LOL No. 8, No. 3 won the first game 7-5 but SOE came back and captured the next two games by scores of 9-5 and 13-6 to eliminate No. 3 from this year's play.

The second round should be played this week and the draw is: Fire Hall No. 9 vs. Orphans No. 2; SOE No. 8 vs. Legion No. 7; and LOL No. 6 vs. Legion No. 12.

Third round draw is: Winners Nos. 9 and 2 vs. Winners Nos. 8 and 7. Winner of third round meets winner of the match between LOL No. 6 vs. Legion No. 12. Get these games out of the way so the Gracie Memorial Doubles can be started.

Two league games were not played last week and must be played this week. They are Red Patch No. 11 vs. Orphans No. 2 and Legion No. 5 vs. SOE No. 8.

Standing to February 7.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

This is the first of two articles concerning the life and hockey works of one of hockey's greatest figures, the famous veteran Captain James T. Sutherland, founder of the Hockey Hall of Fame at Kingston, hockey's Grand Old Man.

Great oaks, says an old adage, from little acorns grow, and this might aptly be applied to the development of hockey from the embryo stage to its present position among the most attractive sports in the world. The tiny seed was planted in Kingston a long time ago and just as the tree that grew was bearing its first fruit, a stalwart Kingston athlete and sportsman, James T. Sutherland, became the first ambassador of goodwill, and, being a natural salesman he spread its gospel far and wide. If hockey's Grand Old Man didn't plant the original seed, he certainly added in the growth to mighty proportions.

Away back in 1888 Captain Jim was one of the shining stars in behalf of the Athletics, who operated in the Kingston League on an out-door rink a stone's throw from the house in which Mr. Sutherland has resided these many years.

It has been claimed that the Kingston League of 64 years ago was the first in history, but, be that as it may, it is factual that there was such a League, and that it was composed of Queen's University, the Athletics, Royal Military College and the Kingstons. Queen's won the championship when in the final game they defeated Athletics by 3 to 0 And defenceman Jim Sutherland did a bit of robust checking in a lost cause.

Mr. Sutherland, founder of the International Hockey Hall of Fame, past president of the Canadian and Ontario Hockey Associations and Life Member of both organizations, is now in his 83rd year, but still as devoted to the hockey cause as when he skated with the stars of 1888. He has lived to see that seed grow into the "Spreading Hockey Tree" that is now green in most countries of the world.

Mr. Sutherland recently told this column: "In what was the first organized league of which we have any authentic record, we played on an open rink with side-boards rising not more than 30 inches above the ice surface. That old Dix Rink presented many hazards both to the players and the spectators.

Only after the storms came and the snow was piled high around the low fences, were the spectators able to view proceedings from lofty heights and without being endangered. Among the notables who saw us in spirited competition were Principal Grant of Queen's University; Rev. Mr. Carson and many of Kingston's most prominent residents.

"Following that outdoor venture Queen's University erected an adequate arena which was made to order for skating and hockey and met with popular approval. Carnivals and other attractions were staged at regular intervals, and drew large crowds. This was one of Canada's first indoor rinks."

The second of this series on the founder of the Hockey Hall of Fame appears next week.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Four Great Wrestling Stars Who Will Appear In A Tag Team Match At The Brock Wednesday

YUKON ERIC

WHIPPER BILLY WATSON

THE RED MASK

SKY-HI LEE

Four of the top grapple stars are featured at the Brock Wednesday night in a tag team match. Whipper Watson and Yukon Eric will oppose the team of The Red Mask and Sky-Hi Lee. And what a battle this will be! Although highly-rated and mighty clever the Mask and Lee will have a tough time scoring a decision over such a potent combination as Whip and Eric. The bout is a natural. Rounding out this smart card will be four other top matmen. The semi-final brings together the sensational Larry Moquin against clever Frank Valois, the Un-Masked Marvel. The opener has popular Earl McCready against Steve Stanlee. A capacity crowd is looked for.

Red Wings Leading Parade For Records In Most NHL Departments

MONTREAL—(CP)—The newest instalment of the National Hockey League's official statistics came out today but the continuity of the piece still looks as if it is the combined work of Red Wings booster brigade and the Detroit Chamber of Commerce. The big Red team leads the parade by four points, with two games in hand. Gordie Howe is so far out in front with his record-threatening 39 goals and 71 total points that the figures are approaching the cost-of-living index. Terry Sawchuk still has the lowest goals-against average among the netminders, and Alex Delvecchio's 35 assists lead all other helper-outers in the circuit.

As if these somewhat familiar doings aren't enough, now comes Red Kelly. The ace defenceman of Red Wings is on the verge of breaking a record that has stood for 21 seasons—most goals scored by a defenceman.

In 51 games this season, Kelly has scored 16 goals. The record is 19, set in the 1921-22 season by Harry Cameron of the old Toronto St. Pats club. Cameron performed his remarkable feat when the schedule was only 24 games.

Kelly, in his sixth season in the NHL and named to the league's all-star team the last two seasons, racked up 17 goals in the 1950-51 campaign and 15 last season.

CUTS DOWN MARGIN

Howe, with his 39 goals, is slowly cutting down the margin that separates him from the record 50 goals in a season, set by Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens eight years ago. It was a 50-game schedule when the Rocket averaged a goal a game.

Howe is also in sight of the record 86 points he piled up in each of the last two seasons.

Big Gordie can still take over the assist leadership, too. He is only three behind Delvecchio's 35. No season record is in sight but who holds the mark of assists? Another Redwinger, Ted Lindsay who collected 55 in the 1949-50 season.

Lindsay is second to Howe in the current point-scoring, with 52. Richard remains in third place, his one goal and two assists lifting his total to 50. Delvecchio, with one goal and five assists, moved up a notch into a fourth-place tie with Wally Hergesheimer of New York Rangers, who went pointless. Each has 45. Paul Ronty of Rangers, also pointless, slipped from fifth to sixth place with his 39, tied with Metro Prystai of Red Wings.

BEST PERFORMANCE

Red Wings came out of last week's scramble with the best performance—two wins and a tie—and pushed their points to 64 in the team standings. Canadiens fell victims to Red Wings and had a win and a tie in two other games, leaving them with 60 points.

The only change in the standing was provided by Chicago Black Hawks, who snapped out of a slump, won two games in three starts and took over third place from Toronto Leafs. Leafs suffered a three-game setback and still have 50 points, against Hawks' 52. Boston Bruins broke even in two games in their new drive for a playoff spot. In fifth place, they have 48 points and also have three games in hand over Leafs. New York Rangers, cellar occupants, got two ties in as many games and now have 36 points.

LITTLE CHANGE

The goal-tending battle showed little change. Sawchuk leads with a 2.04 average but his margin was trimmed a bit by Montreal's Gerry McNeil who had 2.08. Before the season runs out Sawchuk must play in two more games than McNeil. The Montreal goalie leads in shutouts with nine.

Bad man Lindsay went through the week with no penalties but still tops the league with 100 minutes in the cooler.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Marlene Stewart, outstanding Canadian woman athlete from Fonthill, Ont., and Hobart Manley, Savannah, Ga., led qualifiers in the Everglades Club's invitational mixed foursomes golf tournament Monday with a two-under-par 69.

They put together scores of 34-35—69 for the 6,129-yard Everglades Club layout to pace the field of 91 teams.

The Stewart-Manley score was three below the 72 posted by Barbara Romack, Sacramento, Calif., and W. A. Pagan, West Palm Beach.

Jeannette Altwegg led the balloting for British sportswomen. She is the Olympic champion figure skater.

Chandler Harper Whips Ted Kroll

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Tough Chandler Harper broke his driver on the second hole Monday but used a brassie to whip Ted Kroll by three strokes in the play-off for first money in the $10,000 El Paso open golf tournament.

The 39-year-old Portsmouth, Va., veteran carded a one-under-par 70 in the 18-hole playoff while Kroll, 33-year-old shotmaker from New Hartford, N.Y., blew a one-stroke lead with a horrendous seven on the 14th hole and wound up with a 73.

Two Horses Each Score Heat Victory

TORONTO (CP)—Dixie Tass, owned by F. Milton of Hamburg, N.Y., and driven by Bob Givens, and Swing Up, owned by G. Hess of Morrisburg and handled by Percy Robillard, each scored a heat victory in the featured class A trot at Dufferin Park Monday.

Fielder Regains Lead In AHL

NEW YORK (CP)—Guyle Fielder, rookie centre of St. Louis Flyers, regained the American Hockey League scoring lead this week.

Fielder had 18 goals and 40 assists for 58 points after tallying nine points in four games during the last week to regain the spot he held earlier in the season. Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland held second place with 55 and Lorne Ferguson of Hershey, last week's leader, dropped to third with 54.

Hildebrand led in goals scored with 29 and Fielder's 40 assists tied him with George Sullivan of Hershey in the play-making department.

Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer held a commanding lead in the goaltender column with an average of 2.35 on 108 goals allowed in 46 games. He recorded his fifth shutout during the last week to tie Johnny Bower of Cleveland Gordie Bell of Syracuse for top honors.

Doctors Think Diabetes Handed Down In Family

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—If grandpa, dad or sister has diabetes be on the lookout for the disease in yourself and your children.

This warning is pointed up by a detailed survey of the inheritance of diabetes conducted by research at Victoria Hospital.

The investigation, which studied the histories of 1,631 diabetics, mainly from southwestern Ontario, disclosed the following facts:

1. About 50 per cent reported a family history of the disease.

2. Where one parent is diabetic twice as many children are victims of diabetes than where neither parent suffers from the disease.

3. In families where there is a history of diabetes the age at which the disease appears is earlier than where no such family history exists. It is particularly early where diabetes appeared in the family trees of both parents.

HANDED DOWN

The survey also supported a long-held belief in medical circles that susceptibility to the disease is handed down from generation to generation.

The investigators said they found that where one parent was diabetic and the other had no history of the disease about two per cent of the children were diabetic. But where one parent had the disease and the other reported a family history of diabetes, six per cent of the children were diabetic.

Sees Housing Reaching A High Level

WINNIPEG (CP) — Resources Minister Winters indicated Monday night that housing construction this year may reach the high levels that preceded the Korean war.

He said in an address prepared for the Winnipeg Real Estate Board that the number of houses started between 1948 and 1950 averaged 91,200 annually.

The outbreak of the Korean war in June, 1950, diverted Canada's resources into defence with the result that in 1951 new housing starts dropped to about 68,600. However, by the last half of 1952, the construction rate was higher than the 1950 rate.

"There is good reason to believe this buoyancy in new housing may continue into 1953. Labor and materials are available, mortgage financing is in reasonably good supply and there appears a strong effective demand from prospective home owners and renters."

SERVICES PROBLEM

Some municipalities had difficulty providing land serviced with water, sewers, roads and schools for a large volume of new housing. He said this difficulty can be eased by taking advantage of section 35 of the National Housing Act.

"Section 35 provides that the federal and provincial governments may finance the servicing of raw land thereby relieving the municipality faced with rapid expansion of having to enter the money markets to secure the sums required to finance the installation of services."

Gunners Wonder Who Can Fill Place Of Unorthodox Colonel

By FRED CHAFE

HALIFAX (CP) — Gunners in eastern command are wondering how the army, which has produced many a man of ingenuity and character in its day, is going to find somebody to replace Shorty Craig.

His death Saturday at 61 startled his old comrades here, who remembered Col. Charles Stuart Craig as a man who stimulated inspiration and sometimes despair.

He died while visiting at Port-Au-Prince, Haiti.

They still marvel at the resourcefulness and individuality of the Cobourg, Ont., native who built Canada's Atlantic defences from a smattering of obsolete weapons to a formidable battle line in the early years of the Second World War.

Shorty Craig—he was a little over five feet tall—was prepared to get materials in unorthodox ways if they weren't on hand. If he couldn't obtain them, he'd find other methods.

Modern armament was still lacking when he was assigned to build up the shore defences on Nova Scotia's south coast. Forty used the next best thing—a couple of powder-burning 10-inchers imported from the Panama Canal Zone.

Col. Craig, awarded the DSO for outstanding bravery as an artillery captain during the First World War, remodelled the defences of Halifax harbor which had been gathering rust and barnacles since 1900.

Spurring his subordinates with makeshift talents and colorful vocabulary when materials were often hard to get from headquarters, he extended the Halifax defence line and installed Devil's Battery across the harbor in Dartmouth, where previous armament consisted of a couple of mobile howitzers.

Bar Press, Public In Jelke Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Press and public were barred Monday from the state's red-hot testimony in Minot (Mickey) Jelke's cafe society vice trial—"in the interest of public decency and morals."

"Public decency compels it," said Judge Francis L. Valente as he clamped a lid of secrecy on the opening phase of the most sensational New York vice trial in years.

"I shudder to think what might appear in the papers," he stated.

The state had announced itself ready to reveal the names of the bigshots in politics, business and society who paid up to $500 a night for the love of New York's most dazzling night club butterflies.

Design Completed For New Fighter

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today Avro Canada Limited has completed the preliminary design of a new delta-wing fighter, believed to be in the 1,000-miles-an-hour class.

The twin-engined aircraft will be known as the CF-104, the paper says in a newspage story.

In its present blueprint form, the paper reports, the CF-104 is considered years in advance of any jet fighter in production or near production in any part of the world.

Avro officials declined to comment on the report.

Defence Minister Claxton in Ottawa declined to comment on the report.

Expect Production Normal In Month

DURHAM, Ont. (CP)—Production at the strikebound plant here of Durham Furniture Co., Ltd., is expected to be back to normal within a month, spokesmen said Sunday.

With 110 men now working in the factory, compared to 150 when the strike began last July 21, output is close already to pre-strike average.

Company officials declined to issue any statement until after an application for an injunction against "illegal picketing" is heard in Toronto Feb. 26. Meanwhile the company has a temporary injunction.

Defence Minister Dies

MADRAS (Reuters) — Defence Minister Sir Ngopalaswami Ayyangar of India died here early today.

Ayyangar, 71, had been an outstanding figure in Indian politics for many years. In turn a professor, civil servant and district magistrate, Ayyangar was prime minister of Kashmir from 1937 to 1943.

High Grade Gasoline Sold To Motorists

LONDON(CP)—High-graded gasoline will be available to British motorists Feb. 1 for the first time since pre-war.

And British motorists gleefully hope for the biggest price war in 20 years.

It may not pan out that way but Britons at least are going to have a choice between the standard "pool" petrol sold for 13 years and the more expensive "branded" type.

Thirteen top grades and 10 second-class grades will go on sale.

Price for the best is expected to start off slightly higher than that charged currently for pool gasoline. That's bout 60 cents in London. Prices elsewhere vary slightly.

The new gasoline, heralded by large advertisements in newspapers, takes cars farther and faster than the pool petrol or second-grade gas.

Called Collaborator A. Boutemy Resigns

PARIS (Reuters)—Moderate Conservative Andre Boutemy, bitterly attacked by Communists as a wartime German collaborator since his appointment as health minister six weeks ago, resigned Monday. Premier Rene Mayer accepted the resignation.

The French National Assembly was to have debated his position Feb. 17, but the minister told Mayer in a letter he was ill and unlikely to be able to attend the debate. In these circumstances, he preferred to resign, he said. The debate would have endangered the government.

The Communists claim Boutemy, 47, "has the blood of patriots on his hands." They say he directed wartime operations against resistance fighters as prefect of St. Etienne, central France, under the Vichy regime.

Germany Plans More Speed To Ease Traffic Deaths

By JACK CURRY

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany, with one of the deadliest traffic accident rates in the world, proposes to remedy it with more speed.

The federal Parliament has passed a new "traffic safety law" pulling off all speed limits for passenger cars. Previously drivers had been limited to 50 miles an hour on the autobahnen (four-lane highways) and 25 miles an hour on secondary roads.

Sponsors of the new law described its purpose as "drive faster—drive safer." They claim the driver with a heavy foot on the gas pedal is a safer driver than the cautious fellow who clogs the flow of traffic.

U.S. Army authorities in Germany dispute this. They say the army's experience and statistics show there is a close and constant relationship between speed and accidents.

PICK OWN SPEED

The new law permits a driver to pick his own speed, but it provides he "must be in control of his vehicle at all times." And it holds him legally accountable for what happens while he is driving.

Just as Parliament junked the speed limits, the federal stastical office reported that the German traffic accident rate is still soaring.

Traffic accidents are now killing 30 persons daily and injuring 600. During a recent three-month period, the country tallied 110,673 traffic accidents in which 80,132 persons were injured. This was 19 per cent above the same period of 1951.

During all of 1951 a total of 320,000 accidents were recorded.

The West German Automobile Club says driving a car in Germany "is 20 to 30 times more dangerous than riding a train and three to four times more dangerous than flying."

Aside from lifting speed limits, the new traffic law prescribes jail terms of up to two years for drunk driving and punishment for being drunk in a car, whether driving or not.

ON EXHIBITION BOARD

Two years an associate member of the Peterborough Exhibtion Board, Ald. A. B. Burrows was re-appointed Monday night as the city's representative for another year.

SPENT ONLY $7.88

The city's financial statement for 1952 shows a $7.88 item of expenditure by the town planning committee of which Hubert Sills was chairman. The committee's appropriation for 1952 was $500. They cost the council next to nothing.

NAMED DIRECTOR

L. C. Bateman of Peterborough was elected to the board of directors of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards today in Hamilton at their annual meeting. Patrick J. Harvey of Brantford was elected president of the board, and vice-presidents, Murray Bostley of Toronto, U. G. Rheaume of Windsor, and William Caswell of Sudbury.

EARLY HUNTING

Hunting on his father's farm, four miles east of Havelock, David Lighthowlers on Monday night saw a bear at the entrance of its den. He shot at it and it turned back into the den. David went back this morning to see what had happened. He found the bear dead and two cubs also dead, apparently smothered under the mother's body. The bear weighed about 250 pounds and the cubs about 60 pounds each.

Sign Of Spring

Here's good news, Ben the Bear at the filtration plant is out of hibernation. The big fellow sauntered out of his bed Monday for the first time this year and headed straight for his tub. But alas, no water. His spring bath didn't materialize for the filtration workers had emptied the tub early last fall to protect it from the frost. Anyway Ben climbed into the tub for exercise. Spring can't be too far off now.

Paul Martin, Dr. G. Cameron Visit Hospitals

Health Minister Paul Martin will pay informal visits to both city hospitals Wednesday afternoon. Both visits will consume about an hour.

First on his itinerary is St. Joseph's Hospital, where he will arrive about 3 p.m. With the sister superior, Sister Priscilla, Bishop Berry and members of the advisory board, and medical staff, he will make a brief and general tour of the hospital.

Accompanying Mr. Martin will be the Deputy-Minister of Health, Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, the son of Dr. G. S. Cameron of Peterborough.

CIVIC AT 4 P.M.

The health minister is expected at Civic Hospital about 4 p.m. Members of the board of governors, the medical staff, and superintendent John Hornal will accompany him on his rounds. After touring the hospital proper, Mr. Martin will inspect the nurses' residence.

Wednesday night he is guest of honor and principal speaker at the B'Nai B'Rith Lodge's Citizen of the Year dinner, which this year honors Robertson Davies, editor of the Examiner.

Ask Council To Decide On Ambulance

Private Owners To Continue Until March 31

Funeral directors will continue their ambulance service until March 31, and by that time City Council is expected to have made some arangement for transferring this responsibility to other hands.

Possibly all the members endorsed the remark of Ald. T. D. Millar, chairman: "City Council will do everything but take it over themselves," to Max Comstock and Max Kaye, representing the ambulance owners. The two others are Belleghem's and Nisbett funeral homes.

"We feel that the ambulance service is of more or less welfare nature," Mr. Comstock told the finance committee Monday night. "Remuneration is much less than the cost, and we have to subsidize the ambulance service from other sources of revenue. It has come to the point where we can't do that any longer, and we would greatly appreciate it if the Council would find some one to take it over and let us bow out gracefully."

OTHER CITIES

Information before the committee showed that Brantford has three ambulances, two operated by the fire department and one by St. John Ambulance. Calls are handled in the same manner as fire alarms. The net earnings in 1951 were $6,406.

Police take care of Guelph ambulance; cost last year $1,403.

Kitchener has two ambulances in the charge of the Hospital Commission; deficit in 1951 was $5,524.

Oshawa, two ambulances, privately owned; city pays $2,500 subsidy.

St. Thomas, privately owned by taxi company after twenty years of annual losses by their hospital; hospital now pays $3,500 subsidy.

Toronto has only two funeral directors using ambulances; the rest of that public work is assumed by the hospitals and the department of health. "We understand the two others intend to discontinue their ambulance service," Mr. Comstock said.

Ald. Miller asked whether one ambulance would suffice in Peterborough.

Mr. Comstock said the minimum should be two, in his estimate, and probably seven men would be required, six of them in two shifts of eight hours each. "You would probably need eight."

Rates are $5 for day calls, $6 at night, and for distances: Toronto $35, Kingston $45, London $65. Some people refused to pay for calls by police for ambulance service to accidents.

"We want to be fair about this, but we do not wish to carry it on," Mr. Comstock said. "So that leaves the question: Who is going to operate an ambulance service?"

NOT WANTED

Ald. Syd Black asked: "Could any one funeral director take over the entire service?"

Mr. Comstock: "No one wants to take over the whole thing." He suggested that perhaps some taxi owner might be interested. "We are willing to do all we can to help the city out. But, we don't want you to discuss and shelve it from time to time."

Later, Mayor Waddell remarked: "This is a real problem. We can't decide it tonight, but we could appoint a committee to enquire into it and report back what their findings may be. That would speed it up."

The members of that committee, proposed by Aldermen Burrows and Beggs, are: Aldermen Anglesey, Rehill, Graham and Mayor Waddell.

Car, Truck Tangle Little Damage Done

A car driven by Wilbert H. Bell 76, 785 Water Street, was damaged on the right side when it was in collision with a half-ton truck driven by Alphonse Fontaine, 62 146 Aylmer Street, Monday noon, on Aylmer Street, near the CPR tracks. Fontaine turned into a service station and was making a left turn to come out on to Aylmer Street when the accident occurred. The front bumper of the truck was damaged.

IT'S A BIT CHILLY YET but the birds will soon be coming back from the sunny south; in fact, several robins have been seen already in Peterborough. When they do come they'll need homes and city lads are building bird houses as a hobby. But bird houses are also included on the public school manual training schedule. Donald Ebbs, Bryce McLean and John Copping (left to right) examine houses built last year by school students who made about 85. They'll probably be making just as many this year if time permits.— (Examiner Staff Photo)

2 City Churches Victims In Minor Thefts

Minor thefts in two city churches have occurred within the past nine days, the ministers reported today.

A third church—St. Andrew's United—was entered by four juveniles who are suspected of being connected with thefts at Murray St. Baptist and All Saints' Anglican.

Thefts at these churches were revealed today after reports were published of the theft Sunday of about $500 from the safe of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Suspected are four juveniles seen Sunday afternoon in St. Andrew's by the minister, the Rev. Henry Cotton. Nothing was stolen from St. Andrew's, but Mr. Cotton feels a theft would have occurred had he not found the four teenagers in the church.

HANDFUL OF SILVER

Only a handful of silver was taken from All Saints' the Rev. Maurice P. Poole said. It was taken sometime Sunday afternoon from a desk in the vestry. The church doors, as usual, were open, and that is believed to be the way the thieves entered.

Normally no money is kept in the church, Mr. Poole said.

A week ago Sunday about $15 was taken from purses of choir members in Murray St. Baptist Church. The Rev. Ivan Morgan today credited the thieves with a certain amount of cleverness in the method of the theft.

Whoever took the money, he said, first went to the Scouts' room at the church, took a Wolf Cub record book and went by a back stairs to the choir room behind the choir loft.

PURSES RIFLED

There the thief or thieves rifled the purses and stuffed folded paper from the record book into the change purses that were robbed, in order to delay discovery of the theft.

Mr. Morgan said that city police were not told of the theft until today.

At St. Andrew's, Mr. Cotton said that shortly after caretaker Jim McLeod left the church Sunday afternoon, he went to the pulpit to look for some notes.

In the body of the church he saw four teen-agers sitting in separate pews. He asked them what they were doing and they said they were visiting, that they had entered the church to pray.

All of them were about 13, Mr. Cotton estimated. One said he lived on George St., the other three claimed to be from Toronto. Later Mr. Cotton telephoned police, and when they arrived gave descriptions of the four.

Nothing was taken from St. Andrew's, Mr. Cotton said, but he added that probably there would have been a theft if he had not gone to the pulpit to recover his notes.

THIEVES HEARD

In the theft at St. Paul's, about $500—the offering from the morning service—was stolen from the safe. At first police thought the theft occurred during the evening service, but the theory now is that the theft occurred during the afternoon.

Mrs. Gwen Craw, leader of the junior choir, her son Bob and another boy were in the church about 3 p.m. They had borrowed the Rev. C. G. Boyd's key to enter. Inside they heard noises, but dismissed them as noise from steam radiators.

Five minutes after they had left the church locked and with the lights out, another woman entered and found the lights turned on. She locked the church on leaving. Before the evening service, church officials found front doors of the church unlocked.

Dutch Send $800 To Aid Holland

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)— Forty families of new Canadians in this district have sent a cheque for $800 to the Dutch ambassador in Ottawa for flood relief in Holland.

The 40 families, all recent immigrants from Holland, donated all the $800 themselves. The cheque was mailed today.

Included in the group of families are some in Campbellford and surrounding district, some from Hastings, and some from Stirling.

They have banded together to call themselves the Dutch Christian Immigration Society, and it is in the society's name that the cheque was sent.

Society president Peter de Bruin said he hopes at least a further $200 will be raised among Dutch immigrants in the district. The Campbellford Rotary Club, through president F. G. Decarroll, has promised to help in a canvas of the district, since many of the new Canadians cannot speak English well, and since many do not know the people of their district.

Labor Council Elects Fred Burrett

Fred Burrett, machine operator at the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co., on Monday night was elected 1953 president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL).

Mr. Burrett, who is also president of Local 230, Outboard Marine Workers Union (CCL), defeated the 1952 president, Edmund S. Humphrey, of Local 434, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), by a three-to-one majority.

This year is the first time that Mr. Burrett has run for office in the Labor Council. He has been president of his own local for two years and has been in the trade union movement for nine years.

The annual election of officers for the Labor Council that claims the affiliation of 17 unions and some 4,000 workers in Peterborough, was held in the new Labor Centre, 393 Water St.

EXECUTIVE

Of the top executive, Alfred Barber, Local 210, UPWA (CIO-CCL), retains his office of vice-president; so does William Triggs, Local 293, UPWA (CIO-CCL), secretary; and George Lindsell, Local 19, National Union of Public Service Employees (CCL), treasurer.

Thomas Cupoli, of Local 570, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL), continues as floor guard. And the two new trustees are William Gunn, of Local 293, UPWA, and Cecil Osborne, of Local 230, Outboard Marine Workers' Union (CCL). The third trustee, not up for election this year, is Irvin Yeo, of Local 524, IUE.

The presidency was the only one of the top executive offices to be contested. Four ran for the two vacancies for trustees with William Gunn heading the poll, followed by Cecil Osborne.

workers of America (CIO-CCL), and Mr. Yeo (a third member to be elected at next meeting).

Organization—Charles Gilders and George Miller, both of Local 461, Retail, Wholesale, Bakery and Confectionery Workers (CCL), and Mr. Barber.

Political Action—Godfrey Matthews, of Local 1288, Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CCL), Gordon Reynolds, of Local 230, Outboard Marine Workers' Union, Edward Duncan and Mr. Gunn, of Local 293, UPWA, and Mr. Yeo, of Local 524, IUE.

The new officers will be sworn in at the next regular meeting on March 9.

Unexpected Help Received From Three Sources

Peterborough closed its 1952 financial books with a surplus of $86,052. It is the largest surplus the city has ever had. Chairman Ald. T. D. Miller made the announcement "with a great deal of pleasure" at Monday night's meeting of the finance committee. He added, "we did budget carefully last year. This surplus was created largely from three items. They were: a grant of $39,000 from the Ontario government to Peterborough Civic Hospital; a surplus of $11,000 in the Board of Works; and the sum of $37,400 which was put in the 1952 estimates to take care of any increase in wages by the cost of living bonus. As the year turned out, we didn't have to draw on the $37,400.

"The surplus from 1952 will come in very handy this year. If we are careful in our budgeting, and don't get too generous, the picture for 1953 should not look too bad."

"I think it is a very satisfactory statement," said Ald. Wm. J. Beggs in moving acceptance of the report, which Mayor Waddell seconded.

"The departments and the chairmen of committees last year did an excellent job," was Mayor Waddell's compliment. "Committees kept expenditure in line with the appropriations estimated in the budget, and that is no small task in view of the larger budgets that have been coming down in recent years. We were fortunate in getting grants and in the cost of living bonus. The net result should have an effect on the tax rate this year."

Ald. Miller said it was difficult to estimate on government grants because they were being paid on a per capita basis. The amount of grants were not known to the council until after the budget was completed and adopted by bylaw.

"We held up the budget last year for a week in the possibility that we might have the information of what the grants were to be. There is no way of knowing them unless they were held over until the following year."

Ald. Miller commented that it was a good report and expressed his thanks to Edward Humpage, city auditor, collaborating with City Treasure Couper in the preparation of the statement of the city's finances for 1952.

Sunday Sports May Be Issue In Next Election

Sunday sports may be an issue here in Peterborough when the next civic elections come around.

Thomas Cupoli of Local 570, IUE (CIO-CCL) brought the subject up Monday night at the February meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL). He thought it was about time that city council gave some thought to permitting sport on Sunday afternoon.

The labor council agreed, with only Fred Burrett, the president-elect dissenting.

HAVE DONE NOTHING

"Our city council said they'd see about it but they've done nothing," said Mr. Cupoli, an unsucessful aldermanic candidate at the last civic election. "We could have Sunday sport— say, baseball in summer and hockey in winter. A lot of people are interested in this."

Mr. Cupoli said many people already play golf and tennis on Sunday and others go to Toronto and pay admission to see hockey and baseball games.

"I don't want to see an open Sunday," he said, "I'm a good Christian too but I suggest we get some action from city council."

Nobody else spoke on the motion by Mr. Cupoli and Kinsmen Beeler of Local 509, International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL), that city council consider the matter of Sunday sport. It passed with the lone dissenting vote.

Jenkins Wins Figure-Skating Championship

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP) — Hayes Alan Jenkins of Akron, O., a 19-year-old sophomore at Colorado College, skated away with the men's world figure-skating championship today in a brilliant free style display which gave him a narrow margin over Jimmy Grogan of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Canada's Peter Firstbrook and Peter Dunfield finished seventh and eighth respectively.

Jenkins was trailing Grogan as the free style skating started today, but he put on such a powerful, precise display one of the nine judges felt compelled to give him a perfect score of six on his execution. The lowest score Jenkins received was 5.5.

Grogan, who won first place in the compulsory skating Monday, was several points behind Jenkins in the free skating.

FINAL SCORING

In the final scoring, Jenkins received a placement figure of 13 and a total point score of 1,647.6. Grogan's scores were 16 and 1,636.8.

Carlo Fassi of Italy, European champion, was third with scores of 34 and 1,567.2.

In a big surprise, Ronald Robertson, 15-year-old high school sophomore from Long Beach, Cal., took fourth place with an excellent exhibition which raised him from seventh in the standings after the compulsory figures.

Robertson's scores were 35 for placement and 1,560.2 for total points.

Jenkins succeeds Dick Button as the world amateur figure skating champion. Button, who won five straight titles, has turned professional.

Firstbrook, 18-year-old Toronto skater, was fourth in the compulsory figures Monday. Today he finished with a placement figure of 49 and 1,512.6 points. He was fifth in the 1952 Olympics. In five years of competition he won the Canadian junior men's title and twice held the senior men's crown.

Dunfield, also of Toronto, finished with 73 placements and 1,448.0 points.

NEW MARK SET IN 500—Mal Whitfield hits the tape to set a new world's record for the 500-yard run as he crosses the finish line in the New York Athletic Club's meet. Whitfield's time of 56.6 seconds shaved 3/10ths of a second off the old mark. Oliver Sax (left) was second, and Herb McKinley, of the Grand Street Boys' Club, third.

KING TRIMS McFATER

TORONTO (CP)—Li'l Arthur King of Toronto, British Empire lightweight boxing champion won a unanimous 10-round decision over Toronto's Allan McFater Monday night. King weighed 140½, McFater 144¼.

King, fighting out of Philadelphia for the last few years, had his opponent in trouble from the eighth round on when a solid left split McFater's left eyebrow.

King carried him for the rest of the fight, throwing only soft lefts to the head while McFater had trouble finding a target.

The fight, which attracted about 10,000 spectators, was about even until the third round, but the 25-year-old King opened up with blistering left hooks to the head and rights to the body. It was just a matter of time as the Philadelphian piled up a big lead and apparently could have named the round to put McFater away.

It took four stitches to close the cut above McFater's eye.

In the eight-round semi-final Billy Fifield of Toronto won by a third-round technical knockout over Tex McEwan of Niagara Falls, N.Y. Fifield weighed 167¾, McEwan 174¾.

In a preliminary, Bobby Rivers, 159½, Niagara Falls, Ont., won by a technical knockout at 2:59 of the second round of a scheduled six-round bout over Ricardo King, 156½, Philadelphia.

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The Belmont and Methuen council met Saturday and one of the items on the agenda was an increase in salary for the assessor, Earl Pollock.

On motion by Councillors Wrightly and Keating, the salary was set at $1,100, an increase of $100. If the assessor does not accept that amount, the clerk was authorized to advertise for a new assessor.

The fee for council members attending the Good Roads convention in Toronto this week was set at $20, the same as last year. A grant of $10 was made to the Salvation Army.

The report of the school attendance officer for nine schools in the district showed there was a great deal of sickness, mainly influenza, among the pupils and teachers. City Of Chicago Suffering Fight Fever

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO (AP)—Cuban Kid Gavilan, a confident 12-to-5 favorite, is looking past Wednesday's welterweight title defence against Chuck Davey to an excursion into the middleweight ranks.

In the camp of unbeaten Davey, the Michigan State grad with the record of 37 victories and two draws in 39 pro starts, things are tense. Nerves are taut. Handsome Chuck is on edge.

This metropolis boils with fight fever. Cab drivers sing Davey's praise. Professional bettors respect Gavilan's proven class. An advance sale of $210,000 is reported by the International Boxing Club's Truman Gibson, keeper of the Chicago Stadium treasury. TV salesmen offer a $25 ringside seat for free at 10 p.m. EST on the CBS network.

The gym work is finished. Gavilan belted over spar mate Al Niang with a left to the body Monday in his final workout. Davey, already under the 147-pound class limit, took a hike through Lincoln Park.

NOT CONCERNED

Gavilan, the champion from Cuba, is unconcerned. He prefers to talk about what comes next. "I wait until there is a new middleweight champ," he said. "Then Gavilan Keed challenge the champ."

Who does he think the new champion will be?

"Randy Turpin, sure thing," he said. "Bobo Olson? No. I saw him fight. He not a hard hitter. Turpin best man. I like to fight him."

If that isn't enough — just add up the figures in AMS-436.

Demands Red Bases In China Bombed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Senator William Knowland of California, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, said Monday night the United Nations "has not denied American boys the right to die" and "cannot deny them the right to victory."

Speaking before a convention of the Mississippi Valley Association, Knowland assailed the idea that Communists bases in China should not be bombed. He also reiterated his stand that the UN should start a blockade to halt shipment of war supplies to the Communists in Korea and that the United States should undertake the job alone if necessary.

"We owe to the 150,000 men fighting in Korea . . . the use, if necessary, of the full force of the American fleet to place a blockade on the China coast to stop United Nations members from sending munitions to China," he said.

Human Butterflies

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Four women aerialists, billed as human butterflies, plunged 30 feet to the ground Monday when a cable hoisting them aloft snapped. All escaped with minor injuries. Equipped with big, fanning butterfly wings, the circus performers dropped with a peculiar slowness as the wings acted like parachutes to slow their descent.

Havelock Wins A 13-3 Tilt Over Lakefield

HAVELOCK (ENS). — Havelock pulled out of their losing slump last night on home ice when they defeated Lakefield in the TVL series, with only eight players, by a score of 13 to 3. Willshaw of Havelock scored the last goal in the second period at the 19:51 minute mark which was one of the finest performances of stick handling that has been seen here. Having two defence men and the goalie to outwit, he slipped the puck between one of the defencemen's legs, then rushed around him, pulled the goalie out of position and snapped the puck in the net. Willshaw was also the high scorer of the evening, with four goals and two assists. Berardi also played a strong game for the locals in both defence and forward positions, scoring two goals and getting two assists. The referees were Puffer of Norwood and Scriver of Hastings.

THE NO-SLIDE RULE

KEN WATSON'S CURLING

Two or three years ago, the committee in charge of one of the larger open bonspiels in western Canada decided to enforce the no-slide rule. The real reason for this decision was based on the claim of a few of the officials that a long slider could slide out to either side of the centre line and remove opposition rocks that were well guarded. This claim was not exactly without foundation, because one rink of young curlers had, by riding the rock out to the side of the sheet, accomplished this feat much to the chagrin of the oldsters playing against them. Unfortunately, one or two members of the vanquished team, in indignation, pressed for the enforcement of the no-slide rule the following year, with the result that young rinks stayed away in large numbers.

Personally, I am in sympathy with the old-timers who wrathfully castigate the sliders for uninvited intrusion into the inner sanctums of curling rinks, but I won't buy the idea that they should be legislated against. The problem is one of education, not corporal punishment. None of these sliding riders have or ever will win major competitions even though occasionally they ruffle the tempers of their opponents by winning the odd important match. I feel sorry for the young fellows whose unrealistic interpretation of the slide causes such furore in rule committee discussions. They are their own worst enemies on the ice, for if they persist in using the same style, they can never rise above mediocrity, but when in later years they have to fight portliness and old age, as well as their opponents, their creaking joints and moans of anguish will rapidly remove them from the ice to the arm chairs behind the glass.

Bassett Stops Roy Famechon In Three Rounds For Crown

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—Power-punching Percy Bassett of Philadelphia stopped France's Ray Famechon in three rounds Monday night to win the interim featherweight championship of the world.

A capacity crowd of 16,000 in the Palais des Sports saw the 23-year-old American Negro stagger the European champion with a left hook to the chin and then drop him with a terrific right to the head late in the third round.

The broad-shouldered, 28-year-old Frenchman crumpled to the canvas and was out cold when the bell rang at the count of eight.

When the bell rang for the start of the fourth round of the 15-rounder, Famechon's handlers signalled to the referee that their fighter was finished.

The capacity crowd, which included world featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, now a U.S. Army private stationed in Germany, contributed to a gross gate of about $60,000.

Bassett weighed 125¼ to Famechon's 125½.

TITLE FROZEN

Saddler's title was "frozen" when he entered the army. The "interim" tournament was set up by boxing commissions around the world to keep the division active until the New York titleholder returns from service.

In the first round the Philadelphian opened a small cut under the Frenchman's right eye. In the second round Bassett reopened the cut and gashed Famechon over the same eye.

The Frenchman rallied late in the round, however, and got in some neat jabs and several good rights.

But in the third, Famechon took a hard right while the referee was breaking the two.

This angered the normally-careful Famechon and he went in to slug with his heavy punching foe. He was backed to the ropes by Bassett's ceaseless assault and then was staggered by a left hook. The right whizzed over and Famechon hit the floor.

Floor Hockey League Begins In "Y" Gym

The Rovers divided a double-header Monday which opened the YMCA floor hockey league as they lost to the Aces 17-8 and rebounded back for a 17-11 victory over the Friday Night Club.

Longon scored the hat trick in the first period for Aces as they jumped to an 8-5 score despite another hat trick by the Rovers' Magee. But after that it was Aces all the way as Longo continued matching his first hat trick with another in the second, finishing with a single in the third as Aces went ahead 13-7 at the end of the second and outscored Rovers 4-1 in the final.

Longo's total of seven was the game's best while teammates Belsey had three, Rose, Hudson and Seabrooke two each, and Campbell one. Magee was best for Rovers with three, Payne adding two, Waterman, Armstrong and Sheen all having singles.

LED THE VICTORS

Sheen and Payne paced Rovers to their win over the Friday Night Club. Sheen scored three and Payne two in the first period as Rovers took a 7-3 score, Northcott scoring all for the FNC. Northcott flipped in two and Huffman, King, and Crossman singles in the second as they outscored the Rovers 5-4.

But Sheen again performed the hat trick in the third period, coupled with a pair by Magee and a single by Waterman for the final score, 17-11.

Sheen topped the scorers with seven, closely followed by teammates Magee and Payne with four each and Waterman with two. Northcott was FNC's best with five.

To Restore Trademarks

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Juan Peron today announced his government will restore to former German owners 1,365 trademarks seized by Argentina as enemy property in 1945. More than 2,500 trademarks were seized from German firms after Argentina declared war on the Axis powers in 1945.

Tigers - Dutchmen Game Wild Affray

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When Hamilton Tigers play an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game their opposition may give the official scorer plenty of work. But the Tabbies, door mats of the seven-team league, are always sure to keep the penalty timers busy.

Monday night was no exception. The Tigers bowed 12-0 before the third-place Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen and the referees handed out a total of 54 minutes in penalties during the wild affair. Four of the sentences were majors for fighting.

EXHIBITION GAME

In an exhibition game played at Sudbury, the Wolves, leaders of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Southern group, topped Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior loop 6-3.

Jack McKenzie and Don Bauer paced Kitchener's attack with three goals each while Maurice Levesque scored two and the others went to Harry Psutka, Clare Martin, Bucky Buchanan and Howie Lee.

Bobby Schnurr, Hal Baron, Harry Pidsodny and Jack McKenzie engaged in a first-period brawl to draw majors while Dutchie captain Clare Martin was given a 10-minute misconduct for pushing the officials.

Chatham plays at Brantford in tonight's only OHA Senior A clash while Sudbury Wolves go to North Bay in the NOHA.

A Good Assist

In hockey, the shot that sets it up is just as vital as the shot that nets the puck. A good assist adds to the score of our tourist industry, too. Whether Muskoka Lakes or Pelee Park is their goal, the assists we give our U.S. visitors enroute, net added prosperity for Ontario business. Give them the memories that will bring them back. Canada Substantial Exhibitor In Big Trade Fairs Abroad

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada, which invites other countries to exhibit at her own Canadian International Trade Fair, is herself a substantial exhibitor at fairs abroad.

Just now exhibits are being prepared which will tell the Canadian story at five big European gatherings.

Foreign Trade, publication of the department of trade and commerce, comments:

"Though each exhibit is different, all of them stress a basic theme—that Canada, a firm believer in two-way trade, wants both to buy and sell."

The five gatherings are:

Royal Netherlands Industries Fair, Utrecht, March 17-26, at which Canada first exhibited last year. Both raw materials and semi-finished products will be included.

MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE

International Trade Fair at Lyon, France, April 11-20, at which Canada will make her first appearance.

Milan, Italy, International Trade Fair, April 12-29, one of the world's largest fairs. Last year, 3,400 foreign firms from 26 countries took part and nearly 4,000,000 people attended.

Brussels, Belgium, International Trade Fair, April 25-May 10; and the British Industries Fair in London and Birmingham, April 27-May 8.

All the exhibits are being prepared by the Canadian government exhibition commission.

Rootes Motors (Canada) Limited, Monday gave the first Canadian showing of its 1953 Humber Super Snipe sedan and 1953 Humber Hawk.

The Snipe recently was used in two performance demonstrations—one, in the words of Rootes, "through severe cold and road conditions of ice and snow; the other through desert heat and humid jungles."

In the "cold" test, a Snipe was driven last month non-stop (except for gas) from Oslo to Lisbon, through 15 European countries, covering 3,280 miles in 90 hours. In the "heat" test, another Snipe covered the 10,500 miles from London to Capetown in 13 days, nine hours.

New Canadians Not Burden

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow said Monday night immigrants are not becoming a burden on provincial public welfare services.

In a speech prepared for a CBC Ontario network, Mr. Goodfellow said the question is often raised whether immigrants are assimilating themselves into society and doing a good job of supporting themselves.

"Our records show that very few immigrants have required assistance through public sources in Ontario," he said. "I have been impressed with the way in which they have been accepted into community life."

He said a typical example was that of a 45-year-old Dutch immigrant who arrived with a family of 11 children and $17 in his pocket. Within a few years, the family acquired six farms and invited other friends from Holland to settle in the vicinity.

Drowns As Truck Sinks

OTTAWA (CP)—Rene Martin, 23, was drowned Monday when his truck went through the ice of the Ottawa river near Cumberland, about 15 miles east of here. His brother, 32, escaped before the truck sank. The brothers were crossing the river with a load of wood to Masson, Que.

Break Down Flood Damage Figures In U.K.

LONDON (Reuter's)—The giant flood that rolled over nearly 140,000 acres of land in eastern England last week stretched from a point 12 miles north of the Port of Grimsby, in Lincoln, through Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex, to just north of Deal, Kent.

About two-thirds of this coastal strip was affected. Some areas, particularly around river mouths, saw floodwaters 15 miles inland. Other parts of the coast escaped entirely.

The unofficial toll of the flood in lives, land and homes, by counties, is:

Lincoln: 40 dead, 12 missing, 5,336 homeless, 17,000 acres flooded. Heavy losses of sheep and poultry.

Mablethorpe, Skegness and Scunthorpe were the main towns on the Lincoln coast hit by floods.

Norfolk: 87 dead, 23 missing, 9,150 homeless, 27,000 acres flooded. Stock losses: Cattle 65; pigs 75.

Flooding began at King's Lynn and continued intermittently along the entire coast. At King's Lynn, the worst-hit town in this county, floods followed the banks of the River Ouse 15 miles upstream. The holiday resort and fishing port of Yarmouth, on the River Yare, came in for similar treatment. Hunstanton, 10 miles north of King's Lynn, was seriously hit.

SUFFOLK TOLL

Suffolk: 42 dead, 6 missing, 1,000 homeless, 20,000 acres flooded. Livestock losses: 78 cattle, 46 pigs, 200 sheep, 800 poultry.

Flooding affected about half of the coast of Suffolk. Floods penetrated up to 15 miles behind the port of Harwich, on the Suffolk-Essex border but officially part of Essex. Ipswich, county town on the River Orwell, suffering flooding in low-lying areas.

Essex: 114 dead, 8 missing, 2,560 homeless, 9,000 evacuated, 35,000 acres flooded. Livestock losses: Cattle 1,050, sheep 1,000, pigs 400, poultry 5,000.

Essex was the worst-hit county. Canvey Island, in the mouth of the Thames, suffered heavy loss of life. It was completely overrun. Foulness Island was also inundated, though loss of life was small. Virtually every town on this coast was hit, notably the popular seaside resorts of Clacton and Southend.

OTHER DAMAGE

Kent: North coastline flooded to a point just north of Deal but, so far as is known, no deaths; 450 homeless, 40,000 acres flooded. Livestock losses: Cattle 1,200, sheep 10,000. Pig and poultry losses heavy.

Chatham, Gillingham and Rochester, the three navy towns on the Kent coast, were partly flooded. Sheppey Island, off the coast, was inundated.

Equipment Removed From Partridge Island

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Monday he has been informed that all equipment and stores of any value to the army have been removed by the army from Partridge Island, in the harbor of Saint John, N.B.

He was replying in the Commons to a question by Dan Riley (L—St. John-Albert) about a press dispatch "dealing with alleged looting of army installations" on the island.

Mr. Claxton said the soldiers who manned two guns on the island in wartime were withdrawn in May, 1945, but that a detachment was left there until all equipment was removed.

Cardinal Optimistic War Further Away

TORONTO (CP)—James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto said Monday a world war is farther away than in some time.

Cardinal McGuigan, who returned this week from a five weeks' visit in Europe, said his impression was gained from talks and personal observation.

"I think conditions are increasingly better though they depend to a large extent on the degree of unity among the various nations of the western world."

False Alarm

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese fishermen who directed planes and boats to a new volcanic island 200 miles out in the Pacific admitted Monday it was a false alarm. What they saw was the Myojin reef, thrown up by an underwater eruption last September. Three days ago the fishing vessel Seiju Maru II reported explosions and a "new island" in the area.

Treaty Talks Bog Down

LONDON (CP)—Hopes for early conclusion of a peace treaty with Austria faded Monday night when the four-power deputy ministers adjourned their talks without fixing a date for another meeting. The talks were resumed here Friday after a lapse of two years. However, they bogged down on an old dispute — Russia's insistence that Britain, the United States and France completely withdraw their shortened eight-point treaty draft.

Desertion Charge Has Been Adjourned

KITCHENER (CP)—A charge under the deserted Wives and Children's Maintenance Act against Henry William Paepcke of nearby Elmira was adjourned indefinitely in domestic court Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paepcke have been charged with murder in the death Jan. 27 of their daughter, Glenis, three years, 10 months.

The couple was taken into custody following post-mortem examination of the child's body. The autopsy allegedly revealed a cerebral haemorrhage and extensive bruises.

The desertion charge, with Mrs. Paepcke as complainant, had been laid previously.

Won't Discuss Radar Network

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's radar network was the subject of questions and answers in the Commons Monday.

Defence Minister Claxton recently said it has been decided not to give any details about the costs of Canada's radar network and stations because it could only help a potential enemy.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC (PC—Nanaimo) followed that with questions about a circular letter sent out in August by the recently-retired chief of air staff, Air Marshall W. A. Curtis.

The replies were tabled Monday. They said the Curtis letter went out to 110,000 reserve, retired and former members of the RCAF, that it wasn't marked confidential and that it said electronic equipment, apart from that which is an integral part of armament systems, is going to cost $150,000,000. Of this, $125,000,000 worth was being purchased in Canada.

Municipal Grant System Said On Agenda

TORONTO (CP)—A new municipal grant system and the Toronto metropolitan problem will be the two main issues facing members of the Ontario legislature, which opens Thursday.

A record $119,000,000 was given in grants last year and if there is any money left over from the budget, opposition members and Premier Frost's supporters will likely press for increased municipal aid.

It is considered unlikely that there will be much change in education grants, but some special grants can be expected in health. Most of them are expected to be in the form of unconditional ones to replace the conditional police and fire grants.

The government will go ahead with legislation on the metropolitan problem. It is silent on the proposed metropolitan council which may develop from the Cumming report, although it is expected that any such council will be elective from the start.

Premier Frost may set a record with his budget. It is unlikely that any taxes will be increased and equally unlikely that any will be decreased appreciably.

Other possible legislation includes a plan by the department of education to assist parents financially in the education of backward children and a change by the highways department in the minimum age for drivers.

The Pharmacy Act will be thoroughly overhauled and some move is expected to overcome the shortage of beds in mental hospitals. There may be some amendments and revision in child welfare legislation.

From the point of view of agricultural interests, it will probably be a quiet session, although farmers are expected to continue to fight against oil substitutes in dairy products.

Pass the Soup and Crackers, Please

ANNOUNCE "Soup for Supper" on a cold night, and you're sure of an eager response. There's something warmly friendly about the sight of a table set with steaming bowls of good hot soup.

Also, you can be ready with this meal in mere minutes. Just rely on your handy shelf of condensed soups. Shall it be hearty vegetable beef soup or creamy chicken soup? Reach to the shelf; take your pick. If it's for Lent, serve one of the meatless soups—tomato, vegetarian vegetable, cream of celery, clam chowder, cream of asparagus or green pea.

With the soup goes a basket of crisp toasted crackers, of course. Folks like the crunchiness of crackers as contrast to hot soup. The crackers also call for wedges of cheese or cheese spreads. And then for a fuller meal, perhaps grilled franks and citrus fruit salad.

For some soup menu suggestions, try these. Fine fixings for many a lunch and supper.

Toasted Crackers
Grilled Franks

Valentine Appetizer Brightens Table: Sparkling glasses of vegetable juices look like a valentine greeting when you place each glass on a white-lace paper doily. Refreshing way to start lunch or dinner. Have cheese crackers with the juice.

Give Beans a Tempting Topper: Green pepper rings and cheese put a fine finishing touch on beans and pork. First pour 2 cans (15 fluid-ounce size) of beans and pork into a casserole. Heat in moderate oven about 20 minutes. Place 4 or 5 thin rings of green pepper atop the beans; sprinkle grated cheese inside each ring. Heat under broiler just until cheese melts and green pepper is slightly cooked.

Combine Spaghetti, Shrimp: For a grand good spaghetti dinner, to serve during Lent, fix this. Brown ½ cup minced onion and 2 tablespoons minced green pepper in ¼ cup hot shortening. Stir in about 1 cup cooked or canned shrimp, and 2 cans (15 fluid-ounce size) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese. Season with 1 teaspoon vinegar, 4 drops Tabasco sauce, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pepper. This makes dinner for 4. Goes well with buttered Italian bread, and salad of lettuce, green pepper and cucumber.

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Loss Of Ten Pounds Gives Pleasant, Superior Feeling

It's a state of mind—this reducing business.

The question is do you care whether your skirt band is loose, or are you shackled by your nibbling habits?

Besides the feeling of superior health and the lift to your spirits I think it gives a pleasant type of superiority complex to take off 10 pounds or so.

If you add up the positive factors they make a staggering total. (1) Better health. (2) Better spirits. (3) Better figure. (4) Admiration of loved ones and friends. (5) Self-respect. (6) and the superplus reward of new clothes.

Would you like to join the happy throng of reducers? What reducing readers seem to find of most practical help to them are reducing menus. I'll give you some variations to take all of the monotony out of your routine.

Do waist-stretching and bending exercises too, for the combination of calorie-counted meals and exercise accomplishes desired results faster.

Please consult your doctor before doing any of these things strenuously.

BREAKFASTS

(1) One-half grapefruit (no sugar) (50 cal.); 1 slice 100% whole wheat toast (75); ½ pat butter (38); 1 boiled or poached egg (80); clear coffee (0).

(2) One whole orange sliced or sectioned (75); 1 scrambled egg (cooked in 1 teaspoon butter) on 1 slice unbuttered whole wheat toast (175); clear coffee (0).

(3) 1 large tangerine (44); ¾ cup hot whole wheat cereal, plus 1 tablespoon wheat germ, 2 teaspons brown sugar, ½ cup whole milk (205); clear coffee (0).

LUNCHES

(1) Consomme ½ can diluted (55); crisp bacon, tomato and lettuce sandwich on unbuttered whole wheat bread, 2 slices, (240); banana, 1 small ripe (75); 8 oz. skim milk, (84); (2) 1 slice wholewheat bread buttered (125); 1-in. cube cheddar cheese (80); ¼ head lettuce (12); 2 oz. cottage cheese, (70); 2 slices pineapple, no juice, (88); 8 oz. buttermilk (85); (3) 2 pieces broiled perch brushed with 1 teaspoon butter (200); 1 cup unbuttered green beans, (24); 2 halves water-packed peaches (44); 8 oz. skim milk (84).

DINNERS

(1) 4 oz. liver broiled brushed with 1 teaspoon butter (225); cauliflower, 1 cup (24); spinach, 1 cup, with 1 teaspoon butter (64); 3 stalks celery (20), ½ cup waterpacked raspberries with juice (44); clear coffee (0); (2) 4 oz. broiled lamb chop with fat (225); 12 5-in. asparagus stalks, no butter; (26); ½ cup beets (50); 1 sliced tomato on lettuce with 1 tbsp. French dressing (100); 4 dates (100); clear coffee (0); (3) six oz. clear bouillon (25); 4 oz. broiled steak with lemon (205); ½ cup carrots, no butter, (30); ½ cup shredded cabbage (13); ½ med. cucumber (15); grapes 25 Malaga (92); clear coffee, (0).

NOTES

Unsweetened but spiced applesauce is delicious. If you want to sweeten it do so with sucaryl.

When you know you are weakening and are tempted to eat a cookie at 4 o'clock in the afternoon pour yourself an 8-oz. glass tomato juice and sip it with an unbuttered rye wafer, the two having only 100 calories.

You will see that these recommendations are high in protein foods—eggs, cheese, meat, milk. That is for a reason. You must eat plenty of protein to keep your basic nutrition stable.

I am making extra copies of this routine. If you want it write to me but please remember to enclose stamped envelope.

DOROTHY DIX:

Now In Love With Another Husband To Seek Divorce

DEAR MISS DIX: Seven years ago I married a divorcee with two children. She wouldn't let me adopt the children, but permitted them to stay with their grandmother who lives quite a distance from our home. We visited them once a year. Two years ago my wife went back to see them, and extended her visit month by month. Twice I sent her the money to come home, but she kept putting me off, and still hasn't returned. She has not even written in several months. Now I have met a girl with whom I have fallen in love, and I'm sure she returns my affection. My problem is whether or not I am within my rights to divorce my wife. My friends tell me I have been patient long enough.

FRED D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since you have quite clearly been deserted by your wife, you certainly are within your legal rights to bring a divorce action. I would suggest further discussion of the matter with your pastor, if you have a church affiliation, and certainly with a lawyer.

CALL ON A LAWYER

You are definitely entitled to an explanation of your wife's long silence. If she refuses to answer your letters, and if a trip to see her is not feasible, have a lawyer contact her.

That you fell in love with someone else is not surprising. You were left in a very vulnerable position for an attack from Cupid's bow. I do strongly urge, however, regardless of the justification for your new romance, that you let it remain in the background until you have straightened out your marital difficulty. Your life is sufficiently tangled at the moment; don't add to its confusion.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: There are two young men in my life; one is overseas, and I know he loves me, but I'm not so sure of my feelings for him. The other is home, and I know I love him, but, though he says he loves me, he continues going out with other girls, and isn't very considerate about keeping dates with me. I'm 18. Should I continue to try winning the boy at home or stick to my soldier sweetheart?

BABS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Bluntly, any girl is a fool for trying to win a man who shows her by constant thoughtlessness that he doesn't care a rap for her. Words are easy; actions are what count, and when a young man doesn't keep his dates, is so inconsiderate that he delights in hurting you with stories of his conquests, you may be sure he has no love for you. However, don't turn to your soldier lad just because he likes you. Unless there's a possibility of your reciprocating his love, don't buoy him up with false hopes. Perhaps your solution lies with a third boy! Try dating others for a while.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Dolly and I have been going together for over a year, and were just about set to become engaged when she began gong out with another boy. I have given up smoking and drinking for her, and have agreed to join her church. I am 21, she is 20.

BRIAN H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly have made enough concessions to Dolly, and if she isn't satisfied with them, she must be a difficult girl to please. Expecting you to stand by while she dates another boy is a bit too much. Of course, she is young, and probably immature for her age at that—she sounds so. Don't try to rush her into a decision. Date other girls yourself, and give Dolly time to make up her own mind.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 16, in love with a married man of 28. The only time I see him is when I baby-sit for his two children. How can I get over this feeling for him?

DESPERATE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The first thing to do is squarely face the fact that your emotion is wrong, and will bring you nothing but unhappiness. Stop daydreaming over the man, which is what I wager you do with most of your spare time. Next, give up the baby-sitting job, no matter how much you need the money. There are other jobs.

What's Right?

Your school-age child keeps interrupting when you are trying to entertain a guest.

WRONG: Do nothing about it, thinking the guest will understand that he is just trying to be the centre of attention.

RIGHT: See that the child stops interrupting so that you can entertain your guest.

Belgian Congo Women Fussy About Clothes

By LOUIS C. D. JOOS

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Just any old yard goods doesn't satisfy the women of the Belgian Congo. It takes several hundred different designs and qualities of cloth to meet the African natives' demands.

The only thing that never varies is the type of dress. Congo women wear a large blouse with a low neckline. This blouse is tucked into a piece of the same cloth which is wrapped around the hips and draped there. A third piece of cloth is finally tied around the torso to carry parcels or a baby. If nothing is to be carried, the cloth is draped around the head.

CONCENTRATE ON DESIGN

The Congo ladies concentrate on the color or design of the otherwise unchanging pattern of the dress. British and Dutch manufacturers have long been specialists in producing the right designs and colors.

It occurred to two young Greek traders, A. and B. Papadimitrious, that they might specialize in selling cotton cloth on an exclusive basis, if only they could spot what the native womenfolk wanted. Today Papadimitrious and Co. is the biggest shop of the kind in Leopoldville.

It was not easy to reach its present position. Nothing is so erratic as a forecast of what the Congo women exactly want.

The Papadimitrious firm gives names to its best designs. A green cloth with multicolored parakeets on it is called "mademoiselles apres-midi," allegedly because this is the kind of stuff appealing to the native women from Brazzaville (who speak French). A blue design with white rings is called "miso yo toba" (goat's eye).

Papadimitrious soon will open a new big neon lighted fashion shop in Leopoldville with the first all-African fashion model show ever staged in the Congo capital.

$86,052 Surplus

TOTAL REVENUE

The total revenue last year was $3,157,488.89 and against that was the expenditure of $3,071,436.37, leaving the surplus of $86,052.52.

The council estimated revenue for 1952 was $3,149,151.24 and estimated expenditure was $3,145,899.60, for a budget surplus of $3,251.64.

Emphasis in the presentation of the financil statement for last year was placed on the rather gratuitous credits which the council could not correctly anticipate. The government's grant to Civic Hospital was not known to the council when the estimates were being closed, and the expectation that the cost of living index might continue to ascend throughout the year did not materialize. Those were the two big items in the $86,052 balance on the credit side of the ledger.

Peterborough's municipal revenue last year was set forth as follows:

Taxation—revenue from the tax rates: $2,661,973.20.

Revenue in lieu of taxes amounted to $55,756.89, which includes $20,079.95 from Wartime Housing in lieu of taxes, and $8,224.32 from the Peterborough Utilities Commission in lieu of taxes. School pre-levies for 1951 contributed $6,882.76, and occupancy tax (additional assessments) $20,569.89. The estimated total of those items was $56,883.

Revenue from funded debt was: $136,984.02 from the Utilities Commission on its debentures and provincial school grants $31,313.57, amounting to $168,297.59, as in the budget.

Poll tax, etc.—Interest on tax arrears, $7,964.21; poll tax, $3,830; amounting to $11,794.21: the estimated amount was $9,000.

LICENCES

Licences, fees and rentals—In this block of receipts there was the sum of $13,488.99 bus franchise; city hall rentals $27,533.42; general rentals $34,255.95.

Licences — General, $9,828.87; illuminated signs, $522; dog licences, $1,296; plumbing inspection, $2,078.25.

Police court fines, $25,782; parking meters, $32,968.95; market tolls, $2,091.90.

Total of licences, etc., was $149,856.33, as compared with the estimated $151,297.45.

Other revenues were mainly provincial subsidies—To the Fire Department, $24,763.65; Police Department, $21,674.45; Children's Aid Society, $5,538.40; roads, $42,876.00.

From Liquor Control Board, $8,619.68; County Registrar, $3,456.65; and miscellaneous revenue, $2,890.94, for a total of $109,820.67. And the estimated amount from those sources was $101,700.

General administration, $171,589.03, against the estimate of $168,981.97.

The main items of general administration costs were: assessment department, $22,866.17; treasurer's and tax department, $20,597.76.

Municipal government, $37,519.60.

Gratuities and retiring allowances, $19,346.82.

Pension fund, $22,595.33; workmen's compensation, $3,286.52.

Elections and bylaws, $2,769.23; Industrial Commission (manufacturers' committee), $4,209.63; legal claims, $2,600.

Printing, stationery, etc., $2,853.17; reception, $1,122.10; unemployment insurance, $3,533.72.

Protection (property and persons)—Administration of justice, $45,319.42; police department, $161,696.81; fire department, $162,827.69; water hydrants, $40,000; street lighting, $48,946.96. Total, $458,790.88, and as estimated in the budget, $447,973.67.

Health and sanitation—Garbage collection and disposal, $97,225.64; Health Department, $48,872.99; Provincial Laboratory, $10,527.72; amounting to $156,626.35; and the estimate was $157,360.35.

Highways and streets (Board of Works)—Streets, bridges, snow removal, sanding, oiling, $259,814.98; suburban area roads, $20,000; total, $279,814.98, and the sum appropriated was $290,900. The Board of Works estimate last year was $270,900.

Parks and recreation — Parks, rinks, tree trimming, etc, $69,727.36; and Recreation Commission, $16,093.75, totalling $85,821.11, compared with the budget estimate of $82,093.75.

The Recreation Commission's item was as requisitioned, and the parks department accounted for the difference of $3,727.36 in this account.

PUBLIC SERVICES

Public services — Market, $6,779.50; Public Library, $48,300. Total, $55,079.50. The estimate was $54,800.

SCHOOLWORK-TAXING—The long arm of the income tax law is reaching into Chicago high schools. Here Estella Kern is shown helping a Waller high school class with its income tax returns. Most of the students are merely filing to reclaim taxes withheld from their part-time pay, but nine of them earned enough to be required to pay taxes.

Charges Press Distorts Testimony

NEW YORK (AP) — The lawyer for Pat Ward, red-haired star witness in the "closed door" vice trial of oleo heir Minot F. (Mickey) Jekle, bitterly assailed the press today.

As he arrived at the courthouse with the 19-year-old Miss Ward, J. Roland Sala told reporters:

"Everything is distorted that this little girl says."

The press, Sala continued, has been "lying" and "implacably cruel."

"You people can't take defeat," he shouted.

This appeared to be a reference to the decision yesterday of Judge Francis L. Valente to bar the press and public from the courtroom during presentation of the prosecution case.

Miss Ward, whom the prosecution said would "name names" of men who patronized cafe society vice circles, was the first witness called in the case, but did not complete her testimony yesterday.

Bruins Calling Up Rookie Frank Martin

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins, who have been beset by injuries most of this National Hockey League season, today called up rookie defence player Frank Martin from Hershey, Pa., in the American Hockey League.

Martin will replace Bob Armstrong who suffered a dislocated shoulder Sunday night when he was boarded by Detroit's Benny Woit.

Martin, a husky 19-year-old from Sarnia, Ont., is regarded as an excellent big league prospect. He played for St. Catharines juniors last winter and was selected to the junior OHA all-star team. He is six-feet-one and weighs 195 pounds.

Teams Win Too Many Titles Embarrass City Council

Peterborough's athletic championships have become embarrassing to the city council.

That is virtually what Ald. Harold Rehill said at the finance committee Monday night setting a keynote in retrenchment of prizes to the members of the titular teams that was endorsed by his associates.

Not that the aldermen wished to express any discouragement of lacrosse, football, soccer, baseball and various other sports, but the custom which has developed of presenting individual prizes to the winners had to be reckoned with in behalf of the taxpayers.

That was what Ald. Rehill set about saying, and after him in more or less the exact sentiment were Ald. Black, Farquharson, Burrows, Beggs, Anglesey. There was no dissenting voice from the committee. Ald. T. D. Miller, chairman, said it sounded strange that there should be any phase of success in sports which would bring out the expression "that we are winning too many championships."

WHAT OF TAXPAYERS

It was the consensus of the committee that they were as interested as any other fans in seeing Peterborough teams at the top of Ontario heap. But, many taxpayers never see a football game or lacrosse match. They have their tax bills to pay, and last year the rate reaches a figure which not long ago would have caused something like general consternation.

Not the titles that have been earned in the name of Peterborough athletics, but the custom of buying and presenting "suitable" souvenir gifts in the name of the city! Last year, for instance, rings were given to the members of the senior lacrosse team, Mann Cup winners and Canadian champions. Then in the summer they went out and duplicated that achievement.

As Mayor Waddell remarked: "You can't give them rings again, unless men wore rings on each hand." So, what to do.

That's where Ald. Rehill moved in with his comment that the gift custom was becoming a serious matter to the council who have to make an accounting to the people who pay the taxes.

SCROLL SUGGESTED

Ald. Beggs suggested that a commemorative scroll from the city, through the council, might be acceptable to the members of winning team. It could be printed on good paper and in an attractive script, and would be something durable as a tribute from the citizens.

The idea of inviting the members of teams which have won at least an Ontario championshp could be it was said continued. But purchase of worth while gifts for the senior and juvenile lacrosse teams, the Orphan football team and the U E soccer champions in the intermediate Ontario series—pointed to expenditure which halted consideration in that direction.

This secondary problem was finally left to Ald. Black's reception committee for their recommendation.

Ex-CDNA Manager Dies In Hospital

TORONTO (CP) — Arthur Partridge, 75, for 25 years general manager of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, died today.

He had been retired since June 1, 1942.

He worked for the Saint John Globe, the Worcester Telegram, the Boston Herald and the Rochester Post-Express, of which he was news editor until 1915. He left that position to enlist for the First World War.

His war service included the army, the navy and the air force. He held the naval rank of lieutenant-commander and by 1918 was a major in the Royal Air Force. He was awarded the Victory and Allies medals.

His death in Sunnybrook Veterans hospital came after a long illness. He suffered four strokes in the last 2½ years.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon with burial at Toronto's Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Lindsay To Hire New Assessor

LINDSAY—(ENS) — Lindsay Town Council Monday night decided to go ahead with plans to obtain a new assessor for the town to replace Alex Kilner, who left his position here in December. Arguments were presented when finance committee chairman Bruce Maidens suggested a committee pick from the list of 14 tenders sent to the town. The group possessing the best qualifications and interview them.

There was some discussion concerning James Ellam, the present assistant assessor and his ability to do the job for the town. Councillors were polled on their views on the subject and with two exceptions, they felt that the best man should be hired. This would not, they contended cut out Mr. Ellam, but would give him a chance for consideration.

Reeve Butler and Alderman Stevens moved however that Mr. Ellam be given an immediate trial in the job subject to probation but the motion was defeated. After the council meeting, a special committee met and from the applications presented chose five men including Mr. Ellam, for interviews, prior to making a report to council on their choice.

Say 23 Plead Guilty To Sabotage

VIENNA (AP)—Radio Bucharest reported today that 23 persons, including a former cabinet minister and many oil industry leaders, have pleaded guilty to charges of spying for Britain and the United States and sabotaging the big Ploesti oilfields.

The trial began Monday before a military tribunal at Ploesti, site of Europe's largest oilfields which the Allies air-attacked while they were in Axis hands during the Second World War.

The defendants include former finance minister Alexandru Alexandrini and former top officials of these big companies:

Romano - Americana Oil Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey; Astra Romano Co., a Shell subsidiary; Steaua Romana Oil Co., Muntenia Oil Central, Association of Oil Industrialists of Romania, Unirea Co. and Creditul Minier Co.

CHARGE NETWORK

The defendants were accused of membership in an Anglo-American spy and sabotage network formed by "American and British trusts" with the aid of Romania's former King Michael I, now an exile in Western Europe.

Romania's Communist government took over the private companies' royalties in 1949 and nationalized the companies in 1951. Recently published official reports claimed Romania had filled its 1952 oil quota by 101 per cent, but there have been reports since that the output has been cut drastically.

A report by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, broadcast last night by Radio Moscow, said the alleged plot was headed by Otto Stern, identified as a "representative of the British Royal Dutch Shell Co." It charged he acted on instructions from August Kessler, identified as former head of the Royal Dutch Shell group.

The indictment also named R.P. Bolton, identifying him as "director of Standard Oil branch for Europe and the Near East, former director of the Romano-Americana Co., and member of the American military mission in Romania. Bolton, it said, was sent to Romania to "organize espionage for the benefit of American imperialists."

Bolton, now a Standard Oil representative in Rome, termed the charges against him "just the usual Communist charges — not a word of truth in them."

"I never had any connection either with the military mission or with the diplomatic service," he said.

Shirley Booth, Gary Cooper Leading Oscar Favorites

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Final campaigning began today for the 25th annual Academy awards, highlighted by a tight race between two stage actresses and three movie stars.

Two leading nominees for the best actress Oscar are Shirley Booth, the humdrum housewife of "Come Back, Little Sheba," and Julie Harris, the eager adolescent of "The Member of the Wedding."

They oppose Joan Crawford, the terror-stricken playwright in "Sudden Fear;" Bette Davis, the fading actress of "The Star;" and Susan Hayward, who portrayed singer Jane Froman in "With a Song in My Heart."

Certain to figure in the campaign is the argument that the stage actresses have the advantage of playing their roles hundreds of times in the theatre. Still, Miss Booth appears to be the favorite.

LEADING MALE FAVORITE

Gary Cooper, veteran of 25 years in the movies, is favored for leading man honors over a field of four relative newcomers. He was cited for his role as the dutiful sheriff in "High Noon." Opposing him are Marlon Brando, the Mexican revolutionary in "Viva Zapata!" Kirk Douglas, ruthless film producer in "The Bad and the Beautiful;" Jose Ferrer as the artist Toulouse-Lautrec in "Moulin Rouge;" and versatile Alec Guinness in "The Lavender Hill Mob."

Nominated for the best picture award were: "The Greatest Show on Earth," "High Noon," "Ivanhoe," "Moulin Rouge" and "The Quiet Man."

Oscar will go on television when the awards are presented at the Pantages Theatre March 19. A TV set-maker, RCA-Victor, will pick up the $100,000 tab for the event.

Monday night's nominations offered few surprises. About the only omissions that raised eyebrows were those of Laurence Olivier, ("The Member of the Wedding"). Cecil B. de Mille, who seldom receives Academy notice, surprised with recognition of "The Greatest Show on Earth," in the best picture and best directed film categories.

Other major nom[illegible]ns were: Best supporting actor — Richard Burton in "My Cousin Rachel;" Arthur Hunnicutt in "The Big Sky;" Victor McLaglen in "The Quiet Man;" Jack Palance in "Sudden Fear;" Anthony Quinn in "The Bad and the Beautiful;" Jean Hagen in "Singin' in the Rain;" Colette Marchand in "Moulin Rouge;" Terry Moore in "Come Back, Little Sheba;" Thelma Ritter in "With a Song in My Heart."

Nominations were made by 11,665 members of the industry. The final awards will be voted by the 1,600 members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Blind Woman Takes $2,000 Settlement

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Ethel Willoughby, 63 and blind, was tapping along a Toronto street Feb. 26 last when two bundles of newspapers were thrown in front of her from a passing delivery truck. She tripped and fell, injuring her back and breaking two ribs.

Mrs. Willoughby didn't know whose papers it was she fell over. She sued both the Star and the Telegram, Toronto's two evening newspapers, for $5,000.

The newspapers disputed the liability but on Monday, before a jury was chosen for the woman's damage action, settled the suit for $2,000.

General Bids Troops Farewell

SEOUL (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet bade this dramatic farewell to his 8th army troops today:

"We have faith that President Eisenhower will find a way to bring peace to Korea as well as to the rest of the world."

The retiring army commander spoke against the backdrop of the roar of heavy allied tanks, blasting away at Communist targets on the central Korean front. Van Fleet Wednesday will surrender command of the 8th army to Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

The air force said Red China's MiG jets stayed in their Manchurian bases Monday night when 16 American B-29 Superforts staged a daring night raid within sight of Antung, a MiG stronghold just across the Yalu river.

At the front, fighting dwindled to brief patrol clashes and one light Communist thrust.

The B-29s unloaded 160 tons of explosives on more than 300 buildings and a key rail yard. This yard is a link on the main line connecting Manchuria with the Communist battlefront in Korea.

General Retires

WASHINGTON (AP)—The retirement of Lt.-Gen. Manton Eddy, U.S. Army commander in Europe, was announced today. He will leave the Army at the end of March, having completed more than 35 years' service, and will be succeeded by Lt.-Gen. Charles Bolte, now commanding the seventh army in Europe.

Death Toll Reaches 3 In House Fire

MONTREAL (CP) — The death toll from a fire in suburban Ville Jacques Cartier rose to three today when a 29-year-old mother died in hospital from burns suffered in the blaze that took the lives of her two daughters.

Mrs. Alphonse Desmarais died in hospital from third degree burns to her legs and upper body. Louise, 2, and Monique, 5, were asphyxiated by heavy smoke when flames destroyed the one-storey frame bungalow last night.

The faher, a tramway employee, was at work.

TRIED TO SAVE TWO

Robert Charpentier, an 11-year-old playmate of the Desmarais children, made a heroic effort to save the mother and two girls.

He entered the flaming house after breaking a window and seeing the woman stagger, he called to her and held open the front door. She walked toward it, then collapsed as her dress caught fire. She fell and pushed the door shut.

"I tried to open it again," he said later. "Couldn't though. She must have been lying against it."

The firemen found the woman jammed against the door when they smashed it in. The children, trapped a few feet away in the kitchen, were dead.

An oil furnace was believed to have caused the fire, which spread rapidly, throwing off thick smoke.

Four Nuns Reveal Tortures Suffered In Red China

VANCOUCER (CP) — A story of torture and humiliation suffered in Red China was told Monday by four Roman Catholic nuns who arrived here from Hong Kong.

They are Sisters St. Alphonse of St. Dorothy, Que., Mary Germaine of St. Prosper, Que., St. Germain of Pont Rouge and St. Jean Baptiste of Montreal.

All except Sister St. Germain were in good health after the long sea voyage.

Sister St. Germain suffered from a leg injury, the result of a beating with a bamboo cane.

Sister St. Alphonse, Sister Mary Germaine and Sister St. Germain were charged by the Chinese Communists with the "murder" of 2,116 orphans.

BLAMED FOR DEATHS

They were stationed at the Sacred Heart orphanage in Canton where they operated a receiving station for abandoned children. Many of the children were dying when found on the streets. The Reds accused them of responsibility for the deaths.

Sister St. Jean Baptiste taught in a school in Canton which was closed by the Reds in August, 1951. She was imprisoned in her home.

The three sisters who operated the orphanage and two other nuns who returned earlier to Canada were reviled at a public trial in Canton in December, 1951. They were sentenced to five years in prison.

They told of their experiences through Sister Ste. Margaret, mother superior of Mt. St. Joseph's hospital here.

The day of the public trial they were put into a truck and driven through Canton and everybody had a chance to throw rocks and filth at them.

"Once in prison they were not treated too badly by the Reds," said the sister superior.

"But they had to work very hard every day from early in the morning until late at night making cotton shoes."

They were ordered to leave China last Christmas.

Have Uproar Over Staffing Of New Schools

SYDNEY, N. S. (CP). — Sydney school board has decided to staff a new school entirely with Roman Catholic teachers despite protests of a Protestant group and a warning that the decision will be fought "all the way to Ottawa."

The decision was made at a spirited meeting Monday night at which a spokesman for a large delegation of Protestants said "even our children are fighting over this issue. . .and we feel that it isn't right."

The board at the same time approved staffing of another new school entirely with Protestant teachers.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Mayor Tony Gallagher said "the $200,000 that was needed to build these schools was not borrowed by Protestants alone. These schools are public schools and certainly will be treated as such."

Colin MacKenzie, a member of the board, told the delegation: "Don't come here and tell us about the rights of Protestants, they have been well looked after."

An unidentified member of the delegation said steps will be taken to prevent the school opening Thursday. He did not elaborate.

Wants Army Weapons Speeded To Chiang

WASHINGTON (CP) — Chairman Alexander Wiley of the Senate foreign relations committee today urged a speedup in "actual delivery of the military hardware" to the Chinese Nationalists, which he said "has fallen deplorably behind schedule."

The Wisconsin Republican said the knowledge that the Nationalists are getting heavier shipments of aircraft and ammunition will make a greater impression on the Communists than speculation over what the U. S. 7th fleet will do, now that it no longer is under orders to keep the Nationalists on Formosa from invading the Red China mainland.

Wiley told reporters he plans to take the matter up with Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, this afternoon before a closed session of the Senate foreign relations committee.

TO HEAR DULLES

The committee also arranged to hear State Secretary John Foster Dulles in a session which shaped up as a test of the Eisenhower administration's promise of a bipartisan foreign policy.

Dulles was to report on conditions in Europe as he found them on a 10-day inspection trip.

But Democrats talked of broadening the questioning to include what moves are contemplated in the Far East beyond President Eisenhower's order to the 7th fleet to permit possible Nationalist attacks on the China mainland.

Dulles faced almost certain questioning on whether the President is planning any move to blockade the 3,000-mile Red China coast.

How far the Democrats will cooperate with the Republicans on foreign policy seems likely to hinge to a large extent on whether Dulles is willing to take them into his confidence.

Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.) insisted agreements should be worked out in the United Nations before any blockade is imposed.

"If a blockade gets you into a war and you are doing it alone, then it's your war and you're still alone," he said.

WANTS SOME ANSWERS

Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem. Minn.), a committee member, said he wanted to hear from Dulles the answers to such questions as these:

"If Chiang Kai-shek's forces should launch a major attack on the mainland, do they have adequate air and sea power to do this alone?"

"If they haven't, are we to provide it? If we provide it, what are our continuing obligations in case the Nationalist forces gain a beachhead? Do we then put U. S. troops ashore and become engaged in a war on the Chinese mainland?

"Are we contemplating a blockade, and if so, have we considered the possibility of submarine retaliation by the Chinese Communists since it is no secret Soviet Russia is furnishing the Communists all manner of supplies?"

HEADLINE STORY?

Humphrey said he wondered if Eisenhower's 7th fleet order was "a headline story without any real military policy at all." At any rate, he said, "if there is a fundamental change of policy responsible committees are entitled to know it so they can consider and evaluate it."

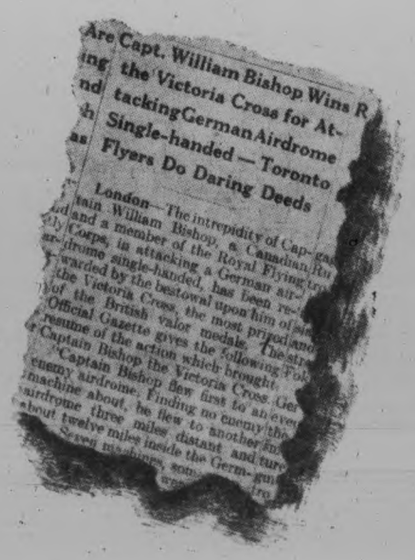
On the question of stepping up arms-aid shipments to the Nationalists, Wiley told newspapermen he would not take these supplies from the troops in Korea, or from Indo-China for defence forces in Europe. "We'll have to have an intensive speedup in production."

Senate Republican leader Robert Taft of Ohio said in a radio program Monday night he has no official information that the administration is moving toward establishing a China blockade.

Taft said that while he personally favors such a blockade by the United Nations, he does not believe the U. S. should undertake any such action until it explores all possibilities of enlisting Allied aid.

He said he would back a cross-channel invasion by the Nationalists with U. S. aid if military authorities thought it feasible.

Senator Lester Hunt (Dem. Wyo.) a member of the armed services committee, asserted belief "the British can't pull out" from a decision to blockade Red China if the U. S. insists on one.



"It may not please them, and making portions of their navy available to help," he said, "but I'm sure they would not try to run out on such a blockade."

Boyd Verdict Unreasonable Lawyer Charges

TORONTO (CP)—A jury verdict convicting Norman Boyd of being one of five men who robbed a Leaside bank of $46,000 Nov. 30, 1951, was described Monday as "unreasonable ... not supported by the evidence" before the Ontario Appeal Court.

Defence Counsel G. Arthur Martin, appearing for Boyd, made the observation during an appeal hearing against the three-year sentence given Boyd for armed robbery.

The court reserved decision.

Mr. Martin said that while five men were charged as having taken part in the robbery, only four were seen by witnesses.

Chief Justice J. W. Pickup interrupted Mr. Martin's arguments to say that the Appeal Court had received a letter from the trial judge, in which Judge Robert Forsyth said if he had been trying the case without a jury he would have accepted the alibi evidence and acquitted Norman Boyd.

ALIBI EVIDENCE

The alibi evidence was given by Arthur Anderson, for 39 years employed in the survey department at city hall. He testified that Norman was with him the day of the robbery.

Mr. Martin said the only evidence connecting Boyd with the robbery is the identification of a single witness.

Crown Counsel W. B. Common challenged Judge Forsyth's right to express such an opinion and said it is "unheard of in our courts."

He said the crown theory is that Norman Boyd went to work with Anderson, broke away during the morning to take part in the robbery "and then conveniently got back" on the job.

Hauls Boys From River

FERGUS (CP)—Ivan Coffey, district farmer, plunged fully-clothed into the Grand river Monday to rescue two small boys. James and John Dougas, aged 3 and 4, were pulled unconscious from the water after they broke through thin ice. Their mother's shouts for help attracted the attention of Mr. Coffey and police chief Roy Smith, who helped pull the boys to the bank. Fergus is about 12 miles northwest of Guelph.

Board Hires New Secretary

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Attendance for the month of January, at the Lakefield District High School was 217, with average percentage attendance 93.85, reported principal J. E. Stephens at the regular meeting of the board held in the school. Chairman Edwin Everett presided.

Mr. Stephens also submitted a list of gymnasium equipment needed and reported that the staff was very pleased with the furnishings for the teachers' room.

Five applications were received for the position of secretary for the school, and Miss Margaret Tanner was given the appointment. Three of the applicants made personal applications.

Donald J. Campbell, now a member of the high school staff at Apsley also made a personal application for the position of commercial teacher and he will be engaged providing he qualifies for that certificate and with the approval of the Department of Education.

Donald Rintoul was engaged as shop work teacher to begin duties in September, 1953.

The sum of $150 as rent in full will be paid to the Lakefield and District community centre for use of the rink for high school students for 1953 season.

The board will purchase the needed gymnasium equipment, 300 chairs and six dollies and 30 desks.

The board will consult a solicitor before taking over the new school from the contractors, and the secretary was asked to make arrangements for them.

The property committee will be authorized to offer the temporary school building, which is no longer in use, for $5,500.00, price to include electric fixtures, stoves and oil tank.

Transportation costs were: Roy Brown, $462; F. S. Coyle, $400; C. Dewdney, $80; C. Hilker, $120; S. Pearson, $1,060; M. Reddick, $325; Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos area, $222.08; total, $2,669.08. The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $1,463.21. The fees paid to the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School were $2,805.41.

3 Dimensions Adapted For Artists

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Scientists have come up with new gimmicks to broaden the dimensions of the movie screen. Now the creators and artists take over.

Hollywood is converting to new-dimensional movies much faster than it switched to sound. That doesn't mean that flat-screened films are being dispensed with entirely. New films using the new methods are announced every day, and some are already before the cameras.

Warner Brothers has the first horror picture in three dimensions. Called "House of Wax," it presents Vincent Price as the mad operator of a wax museum.

HORRORS

"We're doing everything possible to scare the audience," Price said. "Wait till they see this face! And we've got a fire scene in which a blazing wall falls toward the audience. If that doesn't scare them, nothing will."

Paramount is making a costume adventure called "Sangaree," already in production for three weeks when the producers decided to film it in the three-dimensional paravision. This meant re-shooting the previous scenes and upping the budget to $2,000,000.

M-G-M is getting ready to film its first three-dimensional, a rodeo story called "Arena." Director Richard Fleischer was wrestling with the technical aspects of the new filming method.

"They told me you couldn't film a closeup in 3-D," he remarked. "But I tested with one and it looks great. The face on the screen is no longer flat. You can see the contour of the nose and eyes, and its entirely life-like."

Big Building Project

TORONTO (CP)—A block-long, 10-storey office building will be built on downtown Richmond street between University Avenue and Simcoe Street, the University-Simcoe Realty Corporation announced Monday. It will be the first of $25,000,000 worth of office buildings to be erected by the new firm in downtown Toronto.

Not Enough Houses

TORONTO (CP)—An estimated 500,000 Canadians still are without adequate housing, W. H. Grisenthwaite, president of the National House Builders Association, said Monday. Speaking to the National Concrete Products Association Annual convention, he said that even if housing production is increased to 130,000 units a year by 1955, there still will be insufficient housing.

THIS CRUMBLING MASS of masonry was once a formidable seawall at Mablethorpe, England, before howling gales and raging seas battered the east coast of England, Holland and Belgium this week. Huge concrete steps leading from the beach were thrown about like matchsticks, while slabs of concrete form a crazy pattern after being upheaved by the "boiling" seas.

Full Death Toll May Never Be Known

LONDON (AP) — The full death-toll of Britain's east coast flood disaster may never be known, Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe told the House of Commons today.

Known deaths total 283, he said. Police believe a further 50 may have been drowned, most of them on Canvey Island in the Thames estuary.

The unofficial count of dead has been reported as 546.

Fyfe said no one can really tell how many people are missing.

Selwyn Card Party

SELWYN (ENS)—Six tables of euchre were played at the card party in the hall Friday evening convened by Mr. and Mrs. Donald McConkey, and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Tully.

Ladies' high and low prizes were won by Mrs. Aubrey Hennessy and Mrs. D. McConkey and the gentlemen's high and low by Mr. Bruce Fitzgerald and Ivan Davis. The lucky chair prize was won by Gordon Fitzgerald. Refreshments were served.

Don't Need Help Scotland Says

LONDON (CP)—James Stuart, secretary of state for Scotland, said Monday he believes Britain's own resources will be enough to deal with damage done to Scotland's forests by recent gales. He thus turned down a British bid for Canadian help.

In a written parliamentary reply Stuart told the House of Commons that though the damage was "very serious" in some areas, this did not apply to all Scotland.

Stuart was replying to Henry Spence, Conservative member for Aberdeenshire West, who asked that the Canadian Forestry Corps be asked to help clear trees felled by gales.

In Ottawa, it was noted that the Scottish member is about a decade too late in urging that the Canadian Forestry Corps be sent to Scotland. It lived and died in the Second World War and is not a part of Canada's peacetime army. The corps operated in Scotland's forests during the war.

Killed By Car

NAPANEE (CP) — Carman Thompson, 33, was killed Sunday night when he was struck by a car while walking along a highway near Northbrook, 45 miles north of here.

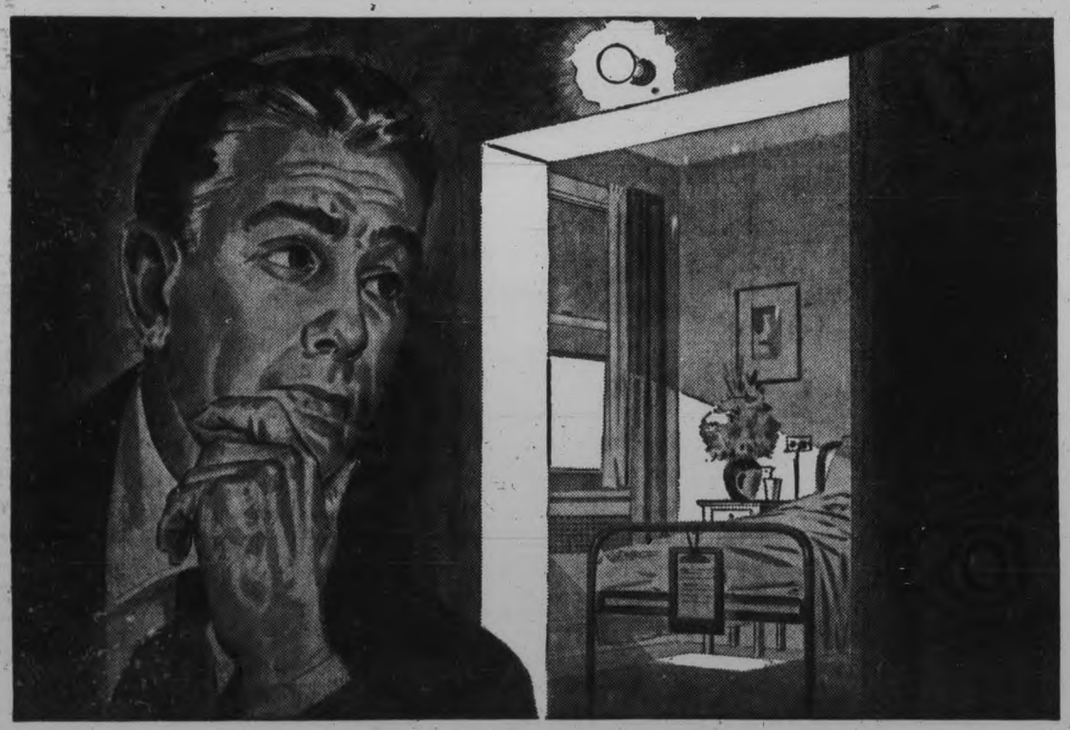
Gypsies Perform Ancient Rites Over Dead Queen

OXFORD, England (CP)—Traditional rites of fire and slaughter were observed as 100 gypsies buried their queen.

Caravans flocked into Oxford suburbs from miles around when news spread that Harriett Bowers, 68-year-old tribal queen, was ill and unlikely ever again to sell her clothespins or tell fortunes.

Hospital authorities estimated that more than 400 gypsies visited her, waiting politely outside in small groups.

When Mrs. Bowers died, her body was placed in state in her caravan and Romany mourners, including eight children and 38 grandchildren, kept a 24-hour vigil.



At dusk, the crockery was taken from the caravan and fuel oil sprinkled over the furniture, utensils, pictures and bric-a-brac inside. The caravan was set in flames and the crockery later was smashed.

In a field nearby Mrs. Bowers' two horses were killed by a horse slaughterer, despite appeals by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the oldest surviving son was paid $55.

The mourners named 72-year-old Mrs. Holly Leveridge, sister of Mrs. Bowers, the new queen.

Canada Sends Strong Note To US On Dairy Restrictions

U.S. Compromises On Blockade; Suggests Embargo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration may ask U.S. allies to join in an embargo on all shipments to Red China as an alternative to proposals for a risky naval blockade. This move was among those some highly-placed administration officials thought might come before the strategy-making national security council for discussion at a White House meeting today. State Secretary John Foster Dulles, who told senators on Tuesday that as far as he knows Eisenhower has made no Far Eastern commitments beyond his 7th fleet order, planned to attend.

One Republican official said a survey has indicated that United States probably would be alone in any attempt to blockade the China coast and thus cut off shipments of goods to the Communists.

MIGHT CO-OPERATE

On the other hand, there was some belief in administration circles that the larger anti-Communist countries might be willing to expand the "strategic embargo" recommended against Communist China by a United Nations committee in May, 1951.

Although there has been a great deal of talk in Congress about instituting a blockade, military leaders have made clear any such action would involve risky possibilities of war.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley was quoted as having told the Senate foreign relations committee Tuesday that as far as international law goes, a blockade legally could be laid against Chinese ports and also against Russian - controlled Port Arthur and Dairen.

Bradley said this was true because China retains legal sovereignty over the ports. But he said British - held Hong Kong couldn't legally be tied up by a blockade directed against Red China.

To some congressmen, Bradley's testimony raised the questions: (1) whether a blockade would be effective without covering Russian-operated ports and (2) whether the Russians might create a war-stirring incident by continuing to send in their ships.

Sentiment in Congress appeared to be swinging toward efforts to get other free countries to join in a blockade.

Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) said he doesn't believe it would do any good to take the problem to the United Nations. He said Britain, France and others ought to be asked individually to join the move. Both countries have opposed any such plan.

Senator John Sparkman (Dem. Ala.) said he would "like to think that other nations might go along" with a blockade so as to "preserve the idea of united action against Red China."

Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) discussed with the foreign relations committee the problem of speeding up delivery of aircraft and ammunition to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa—freed for possible attacks on the mainland by Eisenhower's 7th fleet order. Wiley said he understood that arms-aid to Formosa is being stepped up.

Fighting Slows As New General Takes Command

SEOUL (AP) — Fighting dwindled to patrol activity along the dreary 155-mile Korean battle front today as Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D Taylor took command of the 8th army.

Taylor, a paratrooper general of the Second World War, became the fourth United Nations field commander in Korea. He succeeded Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who started home for retirement.

The 60-year-old Van Fleet bade a tearful goodbye to his troops and left Korea for the first time since he took command 22 months ago.

BOMB SUPPLY CENTRE

Tuesday night B-29 Superforts bombed a Red supply centre at Chongamcham, less than 40 miles from the MiG base at Antung, Manchuria, and rail installations at Huichon.

The navy reported that carrier-based planes swept to within 12 miles of the Manchurian border in northeast Korea Tuesday. Pilots said they destroyed 40 buildings and four power transformer stations near Hoeryong, and damaged another transformer north of Chong-jin, 60 miles southwest of the Manchurian border.

Planes from the British carrier Glory roared in from the Yellow sea and pounded Communist targets including a headquarters building.

Hockey Fans Rescue Children

THESSALON (CP)—A number of hockey fans plunged into the burning home of Mrs. Leonard Trivers Tuesday night and rescued the woman's three youngest children from flames.

An exploding oil heater was blamed for setting fire to the building where Mrs. Trivers, her elderly mother and six children were living, about six miles east of here.

The adults and three of the children left the building and passersby going home from a hockey game rescued the other children from upstairs rooms where they were sleeping.

Mrs. Trivers saw flaming oil stream down the sides of the heater and tried to drag it outside. It exploded in the doorway, showering the house and verandah with flames.

Thessalon is about 60 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

East German Reds May Blockade Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communists boldly threatened today to seal off West Berlin if the Bonn republic ratifies the European defence pact.

In a proclamation that amounted to an outright threat of blockade, the Socialist Unity (Communist) party of East Berlin said that "further isolation" is in store for the Red-surrounded city. It called for negotiations between the West and the Soviets to accomplish:

1. Withdrawal of all military garrisons from Berlin.
2. Abolition of the sector borders dividing the city.
3. Banning of "terror organizations."

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has said he will call up the defence treaty for a ratification vote in the West German Parliament between March 10 and 15.

Mistake Anti-Freeze For Alcohol, 2 Die

BAIE COMEAU, Que. (CP)—Two lumberjacks who mistook anti-freeze for alcohol and prepared a couple of hot toddies died in hospital 24 hours later.

Hermenegilde Gauthier and Raymond Gauthier, not related, were driving to this St. Lawrence river north shore town Sunday night after spending the winter in a logging camp. Their car stalled on the road and they returned to the camp for the night and prepared a hot drink with the anti-freeze, left in an unlabelled bottle in the car.

Found in pain next day, they were rushed to hospital and died Monday night.

Their bodies were flown to St. Luc de Matane, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, for burial near their homes. Hermenegilde Gauthier was the father of seven children and Raymond Gauthier the father of nine.

Sudan Plan Accepted By UK-Egypt

Plan Early Self-Rule For Sudanese In First Major Step

LONDON (AP)—Britain and Egypt agreed provisionally today on a program giving early self-rule to the Sudan, qualified British informants reported.

The reported accord, reached in Cairo a few hours ago, ends a major source of friction between the two countries and clears the way for talks on Egypt's role in a planned Allied Middle East defence build-up.

Prime Minister Churchill called a special session of the British cabinet tonight to approve the agreement. If it is approved, Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson will get cabled authority to sign it as soon as Egyptian Premier Mohammed Naguib is ready to do likewise. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden cut short a vacation to attend the cabinet meeting.

FIRST BIG STEP

Under the agreement, the granting of self-rule to 8,000,000 Sudanese will be the first major step towards giving them the right to settle their own future—as part of Egypt, the British Commonwealth or as an independent state. A three-year deadline for the exercise of self-determination has been set.

International supervision of elections for a new Sudanese Parliament and of the three-year transition period has also been arranged. These questions, together with British-proposed safeguards for Negros living in the Sudan's south have been the main sources of Anglo-Egyptian disagreement since talks began last November.

Britain and Egypt previously ruled the Sudan jointly.

Paper Praises Canada For Her Realism

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The Washington Post says today the United States can usually rely on Canada for realism in foreign affairs as well as plain speaking when the occasion demands it.

"It is significant that President Eisenhower's state of the union message, particularly the passage on Formosa, aroused in Canada little of the uneasiness reported from parts of Europe," it adds in a leading article.

This does not mean Canada would support a unilateral blockade of China by the U. S., but it does mean she would be sympathetic with a carefully thought-out plan to break the Korean deadlock, the newspaper says.

"It is important for the U. S. to cultivate a close understanding (with Canada), not only through consultation of foreign affairs, but also through expediting such other matters of common concern as customs simplification and the new St. Lawrence seaway bill."

Officials Predict Traffic Snarl

TORONTO (CP) — Police and municipal officials expressed the view today that the new racetrack to be built on the same artery that carries traffic to nearby Malton airport would result in a tremendous traffic snarl during its 60-day racing season.

The track, to be constructed by the Ontario Jockey Club within three years, will be built on 400 acres west of Highway 27 and five miles north of the Queen Elizabeth Way.

The track would be the biggest in North America. It would accommodate 60,000 persons and some 30,000 cars.

The main road to the proposed track now carries traffic and freight to Malton airport, and some 5,000 cars belonging to workers at the A. V. Roe plant, also at Malton.

Costs Up In 7 Cities

OTTAWA (CP)—Cost-of-living indexes advanced during December in seven of the nine regional cities for which the bureau keeps records the bureau reported today.

The index for Edmonton during the month declined, while the Halifax index remained unchanged.

Increased prices for meats and potatoes and decreases for eggs and fresh fruits were the predominant changes registered in foods.

1500-MPH Flying Saucer May Be Built At Malton

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto paper says today in a dispatch from Ottawa that a 1,500-mile-an-hour "flying saucer" may be built at nearby Malton.

Its copyright newspage story says reports describe the proposed craft as being able to take off vertically, fly horizontally at about 1,500 miles an hour, and use the gyroscopic effect of a revolving power plant to acquire stability. It would be about 40 feet in diameter.

The paper says a wooden mock-up is reported to be behind tarpaulin screens in Avro Canada's experimental hangar at Malton, to which only holders of "super-security" cards are admitted.

"Reports have been so persistent and apparently authentic concerning the Canadian craft that Western scientists must consider the possibility that Soviet Russia has carried similar developments to a more advanced stage," the paper says.

Blueprints of the Canadian craft, which apparently remains in the category of pure research, are reported to have been studied by the British air ministry.

The story says two years will be needed to put the prototype saucer in the air, in the opinion of a Canadian government scientist.

British sources say the saucer would have a gas-turbine engine of unconventional design revolving several times a minute around the pilot, who would sit in a plastic "bubble." The saucer's rim would remain stationary.

EIGHT THOUSAND-WATT floodlights on posts around the market square parking lot are being erected. First poles were installed today, and total cost of the installation is expected to be about $2,000, with a further $400 yearly to operate and maintain them. Reason for the installation is to provide illumination for the parking area, both to enable users of the lot to read the meters at night and to cut down on petty thievery from cars parked there. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Pilot Spends 26 Hours On Lonely Rock

VANCOUVER — (CP) — Capt. James Siddle, a northern B.C. pilot, told Tuesday of a 26-hour ordeal on a rock on the shores of the Pacific.

He was the sole survivor of seven men aboard a B.C. Central Airways plane forced down by storm in Fraser Reach, 400 miles north of here, Jan. 26.

Siddle swam ashore, reaching an isolated rock through icy waters. He was the last man to leave the plane.

It was a frustrating vigil. Twenty-one ships sailed by the freezing pilot. He shouted, but stormy winds dimmed his voice.

At times an icy tide threatened to engulf him after his 220-yard swim from his sinking plane.

Pilot and passengers had huddled on the tail section of the overturned plane for more than two hours before striking out for shore. The passengers died in the ice-cold water.

"I could see the others ahead of me for a while and shouted to them but the noise of the waves drowned out my voice," he said.

Daylight saw a high tide sweep over his rocky perch and the cold waters reached up to his thighs. He had to endure this for two long bone-chilling hours before the tide receded.

He was rescued by a fishboat and later brought to hospital here suffering from frost-bite and pneumonia. He returned to his home Tuesday.

Cazalet Appointed Mountbatten Assistant

PARIS (AP) — Rear-Admiral P G. L. Cazalet of the Royal Navy has been named Allied chief of staff to Admiral Earl Mountbatten, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway announced today.

Mountbatten recently was appointed commander-in-chief of the new North Atlantic Treaty Organization Mediterranean command.

Cazalet will take over his job on Feb. 23. Until recently, he was chief of staff to the flag officer in central Europe.

Cazalet is recognized as an expert on anti-submarine warfare. During the Second World War he served in the anti-submarine warfare division of the British admiralty and commanded the 23rd destroyer flotilla.

Canada Will Help Develop Four Ports On Mexico's Pacific Coast

MEXICO CITY (AP)--Informed sources said today that Canada will help develop four of Mexico's Pacific ports in order to boost trade between the two countries. The ports are Mazatlan, Manzanillo, Acapulco and Salina Cruz. Included in the planned projects, which result from the visit here of a Canadian good-will mission, will be dredging of some ports and constructions of silos and warehouses in others. Canadian capital will augment Mexican financing.

Canadian wheat, machinery and other products will be shipped direct to the newly-modernized ports, and in return Mexico hopes to sell Canada more of her own products.

OPEN TO NEW MARKETS

The immediate aim is to open Mexican ports to new continental markets. The long-range goal is to boost Mexican trade with Asia, officials said.

A 12-man delegation of business men and government officials visited Mexico City Feb. 5. The mission, headed by Trade Minister C. D. Howe, completed a 17,000-mile air hop of nine Latin American countries with its visit to Mexico.

Canada has trade agreements with 19 of the 20 Latin American countries — all but Honduras. Her total exports to the 20 countries have increased tenfold in 13 years —to $140,000,000 in 1951 from $14,000,000 in 1938. Imports jumped to $246,000,000 from $21,000,000.

Canadians Help Recover Bodies

MIDDELHARNIS, Holland (Reuters)—A small company of Canadian troops from Germany worked waist deep in swirling flood waters Tuesday recovering the bodies of cattle drowned last week on devastated Overflakkee Island.

Commanded by Maj. R. W Potts of RR 1, Kingston, Ont., and Capt. Ronald Huxtable of Toronto, the 44 men have been piling dead cattle on barges for transport to burning or burial points. The work is expected to last several days more. An estimated 9,000 head of cattle drowned on the island.

"We hear there are the bodies of 200 people as well as about 2,000 cattle floating in the streets of Oude Tonge," Cpl. W. J Hoy, 22, of Winnipeg said.

Cpl. S. Zacharko, 34, of Winnipeg, has the job of hauling animals out of their sheds with the winch of an amphibious duck. "We've had some pretty bad floods at home, but never anything like this," he said.

Wounded In Gun Battle At Detroit Bridge

DETROIT (CP) — Thomas Gillard, 26, a former resident of Toronto, was wounded twice Tuesday night in a running gun battle with police at the Detroit end of the Ambassador Bridge which connects this city with Windsor.

The fracas started after Mrs. Mary Wadley, 25, ran from Gillard's car shouting that he was going to take her to Windsor to kill her.

Mrs. Gillard, 19, a native of Scarborough, followed Mrs. Wadley into the toll booth, police said, and told the attendant they had changed their minds about going to Windsor.

Toll collector A. V. Drake, 31, of Windsor, said he was "convinced by the look the first woman's face" that she was in trouble. He called police.

Gillard was approaching the booth when police arrived. The constable said he fired "about five" shots at them before they wounded Gillard as he climbed up on a nearby wall. He broke his right ankle when he jumped or fell to the pavement 10 feet below on the other side of the wall. Hospital officials said his condition was "satisfactory." He was wounded in the back and in the right leg.

FORCED INTO CAR

Mrs. Gillard later told police her husband forced her and Mrs. Wadley, the mother of two children, into his car at gunpoint and threatened to "drive across to the other side to settle this thing."

Mrs. Gillard told police she knew her husband was driving Mrs. Wadley to and from the plant where they both worked but she "thought there was nothing more to the case than that."

Mrs. Wadley said her acquaintanceship with Gillard had been "little more than a casual friendship."

Mrs. Gillard said she married Gillard in Scarborough three years ago. His parents, she said, resided in Toronto but she declined to give their names.

Mrs. Wadley said Gillard phoned her earlier in the day and told "me over the phone he would shoot me, his wife, my husband and my children if he couldn't have me."

"I think he was crazy. He kept telling me that he had a crush on me and that he was in love with me. I told him to forget the whole thing."

Seriously Worried Over Restrictions Ottawa Declares

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government, in a sharply-worded note of protest, today urged the new Eisenhower administration to remove American restrictions on dairy imports as quickly as possible. The note was delivered by a Canadian embassy official in Washington to the U.S. state department. It was the third time Canada has lodged disapproval of the restrictions imposed in June, 1951, under the Truman administration.

Contents of the previous two notes, sent in August, 1951, and in January, 1952, have never been made public. The current one, an official said, was the strongest of the three.

In it, the Canadian government expressed "serious concern" over the restrictions, which, it said, was an "infringement of international agreements" to which the governments of both Canada and the U. S. are parties.

The restrictions, inserted as amendments to the U. S. Defence Production Act, limit imports of cheese and other dairy products to certain quotas fixed from time to time by the U. S. government.

SERIOUS DAMAGE

The Canadian government, in today's note, labelled these curbs as "departures from accepted principles of commercial policy," and said they will "damage seriously" the development of world trade "on a constructive basis."

They "tend to undermine the confidence of overseas deficit countries in their ability to approach a balance by increasing their dollar earnings."

The consequence of these restrictions, said the Canadian government, is that they will discourage sterling-area countries from throwing off their own import curbs, which work against Canada-U. S. exporters.

The U. S. dairy curbs were sharply criticized at meetings last year of the general agreement on tariffs and trade. Resolutions were adopted recognizing the restrictions to be contrary to the agreement's provisions.

SLIGHT MODIFICATION

Previously, sharp outbursts by dairy exporters, including Canada, The Netherlands, Italy and New Zealand, brought a slight modification last June when the quotas were increased by 15 per cent.

This failed to mollify the exporters who were further angered when the U. S. decided to extend the curbs last Dec. 30 to include dried whole milk, dried buttermilk and dried cream. These were previously not on the restricted list.

SERIOUSLY WORRIED

U.S. Jury Not Able To Reach Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — The fate of John David Provoo — with his life possibly at stake on treason charges — was in the hands of a federal jury today.

The jury, unable to agree after six hours of deliberation, was locked up in a hotel about 11 p. m. EST Tuesday night and was to resume deliberations at 10:30 a. m. today. The case — in which testimony started Oct. 27 — went to the jury late Tuesday.

Provoo, 35-year-old former U. S. Army sergeant, is accused of going over to the Japanese after the fall of Corregidor in 1942 and selling out his fellow American prisoners of war.

One of the government's major charges is that he was responsible for the death of army Capt. Burton C. Thomson, whom he allegedly reported to their captors as "anti-Japanese." Thomson was executed by the Japanese.

Trade Talks With Egypt Break Down

CAIRO (AP)—The West German and Egyptian trade negotiations have been broken off and the German delegation will leave Thursday for Bonn, a foreign ministry spokesman said today.

No reason was given.

At the same time the spokesman said negotiations with an East German delegation will start at noon Thursday in the foreign ministry.

The spokesman said simply: "There will be no more negotiations with the West German delegation."

TO DEVELOP TRADE

Egypt asked for $574,000,000 worth of long-range credits for her influence to prevent the threatened Arab League economic boycott for the proposed German payment of more than $700,000,000 in restitution to Israel.

A ministry spokesman said the meetings with the East German delegation are designed to develop trade between the two countries.

Flood Damage $265,000,000

THE HAGUE (AP) — Premier Dr. Willem Drees today estimated the damage caused by the disastrous floods in Holland at 1,000,000,000 guilders ($265,000,000).

Drees warned that the figure was a preliminary one. "Nobody can tell now how long it will take to repair the dikes, or the cost involved in strengthening the dikes," he said.

He asked Parliament not to bind the government to this provisional and rough estimate.

Drees said the damage "represents a serious blow to the Netherlands economy."

Drees said the extra burden on the Dutch economy would not influence Holland's defence commitments. The Netherlands is a member of the projected European Defence Community, a six-country army aimed at strengthening the West against communism.

Gales Threaten New U.K. Floods

LONDON (CP) — Gales today threatened new floods around North sea coastal areas, while heavy snows snarled up other sections of Britain and northern Europe.

Renewed winds along Britain's east coast spurred thousands of troops and volunteers sand-bagging the big gaps torn in southeastern sea walls by the disastrous floods of 11 days ago. They raced against the threat of high spring tides expected Friday.

Six-foot-deep snowdrifts blocked roads and marooned isolated villages in northern England and southern Wales.

In Belgium, also a victim of last week's flood, several rivers their banks.

Missing Two Years Victim Of Amnesia

HALIFAX (CP)—Laurent Dube, 32-year-old Quebec wax salesman listed as missing for two years after his car was found abandoned near Shediac, N. B., two years ago, has been found living in Halifax, apparently a victim of amnesia.

RCMP said they found Dube working in a hospital here under the name Paul Dupuis. Dube said he was unaware of his true identity and could remember nothing since he awoke in a Truro hotel eight days after his car was found near a highway bridge at Shediac.

As he served in the Army, Dube was identified through fingerprints on file.

Police said they were tipped a week ago that a man seen frequently in a local restaurant might be the missing salesman.

Old Ceremonies At Opening Of Legislature

TORONTO (CP) — The 1953 session of the Ontario legislature opens tomorrow, but a major part of its problems in the next six weeks will be municipal rather than provincial in nature.

With no highly controversial issue in sight, the chief items of business are expected to centre on the tangled problem of duplicated municipal services in the Toronto area, and the question of increased grants to municipalities.

The session, third since the last provincial election, will be opened with ceremonies dating back to the origins of representative government in England.

Lieutenant-Governor Louis Breithaupt will inspect a guard of honor and receive a 15-gun salute. He will then proceed to the legislature and read the speech from the throne, a preview of the government's policies and legislative plans.

TOP-HEAVY MAJORITY

The Progressive - Conservative administration of Premier Frost enters the session with a top-heavy majority to back up the legislation it will introduce. The Conservatives hold 79 of the 90 seats.

The official opposition is represented by eight Liberal members, led by Farquhar Oliver. The CCF party, which formed the opposition with 21 members before the last election, has only two seats, held by W. J. Grummet and T. D. Thomas. The Labor-Progressive party has a solitary member, J. B. Salsberg.

The government's majority is so large that only a small centre section of seats on one side of the House is filled by opposition members. They are flanked on either side by government back-benchers and face the cabinet and senior government members across the floor.

The make-up of Premier Frost's cabinet has been altered since the last session; the recent resignation of Thomas L. Kennedy as agriculture minister brought a shift in three posts.

The agriculture portfolio has been taken by F. S. Thomas, former public works minister. His department now is headed by W. Griesinger, former minister of planning and development. A private member, W. K. Warrender, took the post left vacant by Mr. Griesinger.

BIRTHDAY PARTY—Sir Ernest MacMillan, conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, is an attentive host at the 10th birthday party of the Kiwanis Music Festival. He offers a piece of cake to band leader Barbara Griffin and player Sheila Sulman, of Toronto, two of the 19,000 competitors from 129 Ontario towns and cities. The festival is to be held in Toronto February 16-28.

Boy Found Hanged

DETROIT (CP)—Robert Colborn, 14, who suffered a speech impediment, was found hanging in a garage Monday night but his parents denied reports by neighbors that the boy took his own life because he could no longer stand the torment of being "kidded" by playmates. Ray Colborn, 41, said he was "sure it was an accident."

Toronto College Helps Europe With Libraries

TORONTO (CP)—Microfilms and St. Michael's College in Toronto libraries a helping hand towards restoration.

Many European libraries lost priceless treasures during the war. The Institute of Mediaeval Studies at St. Michael's, which has one of the world's best collections of mediaeval manuscripts and books, is sending microfilm prints overseas to replace those once believed irretrievably lost.

The first European library to benefit was the municipal library at Chartres, France. Recently it was sent a microfilm copy of a 12th century manuscript, a duplicate of one destroyed in Chartres.

COLLECTION FAMOUS

Dr. Anton Pegis, president of the institute, said St. Michael's College's collection has been so carefully selected and catalogued that it has become famous for its practicability in the study of mediaeval history.

A general appeal is being launched shortly to raise $750,000 for the college. Two thirds of this is earmarked for a new building, another $200,000 is for a scholarship and bursary fund and the remaining $50,000 for a library book fund.

Mysterious Lights Being Investigated

WASAGA BEACH (CP) — Police today were investigating reports by district residents that mysterious lights were seen for an hour Tuesday night 10 miles off shore in Georgian Bay.

George Chandler said the lights appeared to be flares and lasted for an hour, going up about every five minutes after 8 p. m. He said "they seemed to go up in threes, twisting, then exploding."

Provincial police failed to turn up any report of missing aircraft or ships in trouble. They said, however, that fishermen in trouble would undoubtedly fire flares.

Federation Requests Egg Price Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture asked the federal government Tuesday to boost the floor price on eggs by seven cents a dozen—to 45 cents from 38.

It also asked for an expansion in federal price-support machinery to include a floor price for poultry meats.

The requests were placed before Agriculture Minister Gardiner as suggested in resolutions passed at the federation's recent annual convention in Victoria.

Professor Grows Banana Tree In Hothouse At University Of B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The banana belt's northern limit now runs through a tropical hothouse at the University of British Columbia.

There Professor A. F. Barss, head of the department of horticulture, his students and staff are producing ripe bananas almost faster than they can pass them around to officials to taste.

The first banana tree (it's actually a herb, but it looks like a tall tree) was planted 21 months ago "for fun." The bananas that are being stripped off now are from a second shoot.

Prof. Barss says banana trees sometimes grow to a height of 40 feet. The UBC tree is about 12 feet high.

Dr. Barss believes the bananas are the first grown in British Columbia. He grows other things too in his tropical room. Pomegranate, avocado, guava, coconut palm, orange, lemon and fig trees are all growing. Dates are one tropical plant that will not grow.

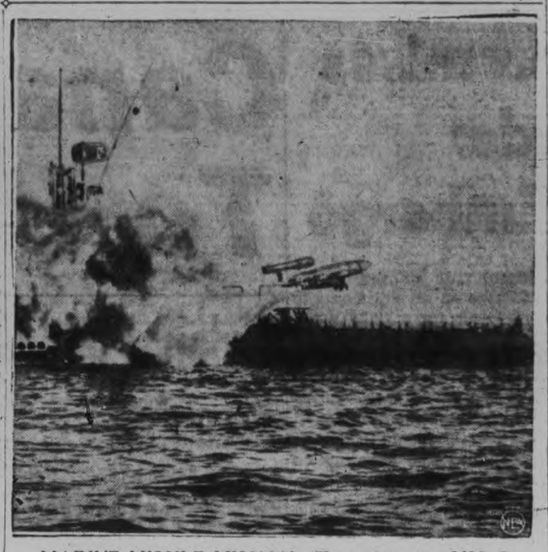
NUTRITION STUDIES

The tropicals are housed in one small section of the UBC greenhouses. The remainder of the 13,000 square feet under glass is devoted to plant nutrition studies and so on. A modern building houses offices, workshops and a lecture room.

All this is the culmination of Dr. Barss' life work. When he retires this spring after 35 years at UBC, he'll be wandering back now and then to poke around.

One object of his visits will be to admire his greatest joy—a cutting from the Hampton Court grape vine in Britain. The vine, planted in 1768, is world famous.

Ask Cut On Farm Equipment



OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian Federation of Agriculture delegation urged Finance Minister Abbott Tuesday to reduce tariffs on a number of farm equipment items. The delegation also asked that there be no increase in the customs duty on ethylene glycol which would reflect in a price increase on anti-freeze used extensively by farmers in power equipment. On the general tariff structure, the delegation complained that federal customs officials have declined to allow in many farm items free of duty, even though it was the intention of Parliament that these items of farm equipment and machinery be duty free.

It suggested that the government clarify its tariff policy and exempt from the 10-per-cent sales tax all farm machinery and equipment items allowed into Canada under the tariff free list.

CLASH ON INTERPRETATION

The clash between the federation and federal customs officials developed over interpretation of the tariff clause. This clause provides free entry for "all other agricultural implements or agricultural machinery not otherwise provided for, and complete parts of all the foregoing. . ."

The federation claimed customs officials were placing too narrow an interpretation on this classification which, it suggested, should be expanded to include "attachments and accessories."

MARINE MISSILE MISSION—The submarine USS Carbonero fires a guided missile on a test run in the Pacific. Meanwhile, in Washington, the Navy Department announced that it would bombard Red installations in Korea with missiles "should the situation require their use." Another submarine and two heavy cruisers have already been refitted to launch the rockets.

Not Certain Man Murdered

TORONTO (CP) — Police, still not as convinced as Ontario's chief coroner that foul play had been committed, today sought identification of the mutilated, frozen body of a middle-aged man found on the shoreline of Toronto's harbor.

Chief Coroner Dr. Smirle Lawson said the man definitely was murdered and fixed the time as late August or early September.

But police, not discounting the possibility the man might have been the victim of a brutal slaying, are also working on a theory that death may have resulted from other means.

Dr. Lawson said he believed that whoever killed the man had tried to cut off his arms and legs and burn them by attempting to put the body in some type of container. He said there was no water in the lungs and the man had been killed on shore.

Police, however, are working on the possibility that the man may have been a Great Lakes seaman and the wounds inflicted by a propeller of a ship if he had fallen overboard. They said the remnants of his clothing and his boots tend to support this theory.

25-Year Sentence For Former Convict

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul Bernier, 41, a former convict, was sentenced today by Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure to 25 years in penitentiary after pleading guilty to two charges of attempted murder.

Bernier, grey-faced and limping on crutches from a shattered leg received when he was hit by a police bullet during a gun battle, was told by Mr. Justice Lazure that he apparently preferred prison to freedom.

The charges were laid after police shot it out with Bernier when he was chased following a robbery last July. Bernier fired twice at police and six times at a street crowd.

Bernier has been in prison almost continually since 1929.

Kingston Boys Win To Get Second Spot

LINDSAY (ENS) — Kingston Vics sewed up second place in the OHA Junior "B" standing with a 4-1 win over the Lindsay juniors here last night. The local team forced play on the Vics throughout the first and part of the second periods, then folded under pressure and allowed Vics the win. Parker opened the scoring in the first period to put Lindsay ahead 1-0. The period was the first played this year by the locals without a penalty to either team.

Referee Herb Payne began to bear down in the second and a minute after he had sent off Bill Williams, the Vics scored, Reid tallying on a slider that eluded Truax. Three minutes later, Cherry scored the winner, with Vics a man short. In the third period, Reid scored his second goal, and MacNeil added the final marker, to put the issue beyond doubt.

The second period saw a total of 11 penalties handed out, seven to the visitors, including a misconduct to Montgomery, and four to Lindsay, including a major to Bill Williams. In the third Lindsay had two and the visitors one.

Hard Work Way To Peace —Montgomery

DURHAM, England (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery believes the way to peace and prosperity lies through hard work and increased incentives.

Now Allied deputy supreme commander in Europe for NATO, the famed Second World War leader in receiving the freedom of Durham at a civic ceremony said he had noticed an intense desire for peace among the people of the North Atlantic treaty nations.

Peace and prosperity, however, depended not only on armed strength but on national character and the willingness of the people to work.

GIVEN INCENTIVE

"I wonder," he said, "whether it would not be better that a man should be allowed to keep the fruits of his toil in his pocket and not to have so much taken away by the state. If necessary let him pay a little more for the things he wants."

Strong armed forces were only a deterrent to war, he added. Without national character and well-being of the people peace and prosperity could not be attained.

A casket made of oak from the roof of Durham Cathedral was presented to the field marshal. It contained the scroll admitting him as an honorary freeman of the city.

Alberta Sends Sheep To Britain

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (CP)—For the first time in the history of the West, a shipment of purebred Suffolk sheep has been sent from Alberta to England.

The shipment, reversing the usual flow of purebred stock from the United Kingdom to Canada, will re-establish a flock wiped out last year by foot-and-mouth disease.

Two rams, five ewes and five shearing ewes were sent by P. J. Rock and son of Drumheller, Alta., to H. C. Hayward of Great Bromley, Essex, England, who once shipped prize Suffolks to the Rock farm.

"Bradley Quinton," a ram sold by Hayward, is credited with making the Rock farm one of North America's leading Suffolk breeding places. One of his offspring, a ram, sold for $3,350.

Quotas were set for the first quarter of 1953 and these were so small that it prompted a statement by Trade Minister Howe describing them as "negligible" and predicting that for dried cream and dried whole milk, Canada's exports to the U. S. in the first quarter "will be insignificant."

The U. S. global quota for cheddar cheese imports has been set at about 9,700,000 pounds for the year June, 1952 to June, 1953. Canada's share was estimated at about 2,400,000 pounds for the year — only a fraction of what Canadian producers could ship if the American market was opened widely to them.

Norris Bowden Skated With Fractured Rib

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP) — Norris Bowden of Toronto skated in the world figure championship for pairs last Sunday with a fractured rib, it was learned today. With his partner, Miss Frances Dafoe, also of Toronto, he won second place in the competition.

Bowden, a 25-year-old engineer, received the injury while training for the championships a week ago. Neither before nor after the competition did he publicly mention the injury. He was reluctant to talk about it today and insisted it had no effect on his skating Sunday.

"I had too many other things to think about to worry about that," he said.

PRESENTATION OF $517 for the Henry Corbin fund was made to H. L. Garner, general manager of the Peterborough Examiner, by Dr. Cliff McKee at the Peterborough Club Tuesday night. The money was raised by selling tickets for a $100 watch donated by C. B. Neal, president of Outboard Marine. Dr. Malcolm McCullough drew the lucky number, and Mrs. Herbert Martin, of Monaghan Rd., was the winner. Miss Gene O'Brien sold $388 worth of tickets. The winning ticket was bought from Mrs. C. B. Whole Family Lands In Jail

HAMILTON, O. (AP) — This sounds a little like a chain letter —that led to the jail house.

At 5:30 p. m. Tuesday police arrested Conley Clemans, 15, for failure to have a driver's licence after the car he was driving struck a parked car.

Then it went like this:

6:35 p. m. —Conley's aunt went to police headquarters to inquire about her nephew. She was jailed for drunkenness.

6:50 p. m. — Conley's mother showed up at headquarters to inquire about the two others. The desk sergeant said she became abusive so she was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

7:35 p. m. — Conley's father arrived at police headquarters to "talk things over." He was arrested on a charge of failing to register the automobile after telling officers the car was his property. The car had no licence plates.

A DARTFORD MAN, Norman Bailey, suffered a cut forehead Tuesday when these two cars collided on Grand Road in Campbellford. His wife was driving their car when it was in collision with an auto driven by Gordon Miller, of Campbellford. Damage amounted to roughly $500 and police say no charges will be laid.—(W. W. One Man Hurt As Cars Crash

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — One man was injured slightly and about $500 damage was caused on Tuesday when two automobiles were in collision on Grand Road.

A car driven by Mrs. Viola Bailey, 37, of Dartford, was travelling north on the Grand Road and attempted to make a left turn into a gasoline station. Mrs. Bailey's car was struck by another auto travelling south, driven by Gordon Miller, 38, of Campbellford. Norman Bailey, husband of the driver of the northbound car, received a cut on his forehead, requiring several stitches to close. He was treated at the Campbellford hospital and allowed to go home later.

Acting Chief W. E. Cargin investigated. No charges will be laid.

Movies, Forum Feature Meeting On Prison Life

Convict rehabilitation was the topic Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Ontario Film Council. The discussion was based around two films which were shown on the different aspects of prison life, and its effect on the prisoner.

The first film showed life in a penitentiary and the reactions and attitudes of the new prisoner and how he adapted himself to his new environment.

The second film shown, "After Prison, What?" which illustrated the released prisoner's honest effort to lead a better life, how he was hampered by his prison record in getting honest employment, and how easy it was to slip back into his old way of life. For society refused to help or hire convicted criminals.

The second film pointed out the part the John Howard Society was playing in helping released criminals to find employment. The Rev. Gerard Gaughan, a member of the Peterborough Rehablitation Committee, directed the discussion on the two films. There were some questions from the audience, asking why there wasn't more being done for the convicted criminals when they were released.

Another question from the audience was, what are the churches doing to help these prisoners and are they receiving religious help. It was said that very few of the prisoners take any interest in religion, and when they come out, they have lost all desire to be helped out by the church.

Dr. James J. Craig, president of the Film Council opened the meeting and secretary William Graff introduced Father Gaughan and Magistrate Philp thanked him for conducting the discussion.

GEORGE E. MORRISON

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Funeral services will be conducted here on Thursday for 80-year-old George Edward Morrison, a resident of the town for the past 40 years.

Mr. Morrison died Tuesday in Trenton Memorial Hospital following an illness of several months. He was born in Lanark county, near Perth, the son of the late John Morrison and Mary Wilson.

In the painting and decorating business most of his life, Mr. Morrison was well known for his artistic ability. His skill in lettering signs and posters was known throughout the entire district, and his murals decorated the walls of homes, restaurants and public buildings.

Surviving, besides his wife, the former Luella Brown, are two sons, Grant, of Garson Mines, near Sudbury, and Robert, of Belleville. There are three daughters, Mrs. Nathan Auger (Marguerite), of Trenton, and Grace and Jean Morrison, at home. Two brothers and a sister also survive. They are A. F. Morrison, of Cincinatti Ohio, Norval Morrison, of Cobourg, and Mrs. Isobel Elston, of Brussels, Ont. There are also six grandchildren.

Mr. Morrison was a member of Christ Anglican Church in Campbellford, and funeral services will be conducted from the church on Thursday, at 2.30 p.m., with the Rev. John McKibbin officiating. Burial will be in Christ Church cemetery.

Startled Starlings Lured To Sleep

COBOURG (ENS)—There may be some good news for folks plagued by starlings next summer. A local resident, who prefers to remain anonymous until his experiment is established as a success, is trying out a rather common drug which has a sleep-inducing effect. The drug is mixed with grain.

Here is how his fond dream works: A flock of starlings circle in search of food. The lead bird spots some grain on the ground. Sure enough. Grain. What a treat after trying to scrape a living out of crusts and bits of garbage!

The man with the idea watches them settle and he rubs his hands with glee as they start cleaning up the wheat.

That is as far as the experiments progress can be told with any accuracy.

Will the starlings gobble up the wheat or will the smell of the drug make the grain palatable? If they eat it will they flop over in drugged slumber for him to scoop up and dispose of as he sees fit, or will the reaction be delayed to permit them to fly off and recover in safety?

If the experiment works, this man will achieve fame. Up on Chapel Street, the worst place in town for starlings, there may likely be a statue erected for him if he succeeds.

Mrs. James Eascott

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The funeral services for Mrs. James Eastcott, 70, who died Thursday at her home in Millbrook were held Monday from the residence of G. T. MacPherson, funeral director.

Pallbearers were three nephews, Messrs. E. J. Lewis of Toronto, Keneth Crews of Campbellcroft, Arnold Thorndyke of Port Hope, Dr. J. W. Wright, E. L. Morden and Leonard Challice of Millbrook.

Among those in attendance were Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Rae, Toronto; Dr. Edna V. Eastcott, Mrs. Rae, Toronto; Mr. Lewis Curtis, Rochester, N.Y.; Mr. W. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Browne, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Income Reached 10 Billions During 1952

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's expanding labor force gathered in a total peak income of $10,855,000,000 in 1952, providing the main power to boost the total value of gross national production to a record $22,984,000,000.

The bureau of statistics, in a preliminary report, Tuesday estimated that wages, salaries and supplementary labor income jumped by more than a billion dollars in 1952 from the previous high of $9,732,000,000 in 1951.

This increase, along with other hoists in military pay, investment income and earnings of small businesses, helped overcome a drop in net income of farm operators to boost the value of all goods and services produced by $1,536,000,000 from $21,448,000,000 in 1951.

PRICES JUMP 4 PER CENT

Production prices jumped four per cent, but volume climbed by six per cent as Canadians earned more and spent more to better their living standards.

Spending on consumer goods and services rose to a high of $14,290,000,000 from $13,234,000,000 in 1951. Government spending on goods and services at all levels increased to $4,211,000,000 from $3,201,000,000.

Accrued net income of farm operators from farm production declined by $255,000,000 to $1,861,000,000 from the 1951 high of $2,166,900,000.

And while wages and salaries increased, personal direct taxes jumped to $1,318,000,000 from $1,027,000,000 and indirect taxes—less subsidies—to $2,704,000,000 from $2,461,00,000.

More Mumps, Measles

COBOURG (ENS) — Ninety-one new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending February 7, by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. Millbrook headed the list in the red measles division with 14 new cases and Cobourg was a very close second with 13. Cobourg topped the list in mumps with 15 new cases. Altogether there were 39 cases of red measles, 18 of chickenpox, 33 of mumps and one case of scarlet fever.

Blame Poor Co-operation For Bottleneck

TORONTO (CP) — Lack of co-operation for 25 years between federal and provincial governments is the reason why the Burlington lift bridge is at present the worst bottleneck in Canada and possibly as bad as any in North America, Thomas J. Mahony of Hamilton said Tuesday.

He said at the annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association that Col. J. R. B. Jones, chief engineer for the Canadian Army, considered the present bridge a dangerous obstacle to possible emergency military traffic.

The association's secretary-treasurer said that in 1951 the federal government received $144,000,000 in sales and excise tax from motor vehicles. The 3,600 square-mile metropolitan area of Hamilton, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Kitchener and Brantford contained half the province's 4,800,000 residents. Mr. Mahony said, yet no action has been taken to permit free flow of traffic across the Burlington canal in the heart of this area.

Mr. Mahony called for a permanent, non-political commission to administer roads construction programs. He said present highways administration lacks continuity because of the impermanence in office of political parties.

NO COMPULSION

Highways Minister Doucett said at the convention that automobile drivers and owners will not be compelled to have insurance. Such a measure as compulsory insurance gives no protection against the uninsured motorist non-resident in Ontario, he said.

"It gives no protection in hit-run cases," Mr. Doucett said. "It would double the cost of insurance and a heavy additional burden would be placed on careful and competent drivers."

The Ontario fund for paying unsatisfied legal judgments arising from motor accidents has disbursed $3,141,000 to accident victims since it was established, he said. Last year 20,000 drivers' permits were suspended.

President J. L. Shearer said research into highway construction, maintainance, design, financing and safety engineering should continue. More interest was needed at the township and county level and there was an increasing need for the integration of municipal roads with the provincial highways system.

Dr. Norman McLeod, Imperial Oil technologist, advised municipalities to investigate what effect a centre line has on traffic accident incidence.

Surveys in the United States, he said, showed that 56 per cent of motorists tend to drive at least partly on the wrong side of the road if there is no centre line, but when such a line is there only 12 per cent drive on the wrong side.

Peterborough Has A Surplus

Citizens greet with satisfaction an unusual condition of Peterborough's ledger. The annual financial statement shows a surplus. In terms of the total budget of more than three million dollars, the surplus was large—$86,052—and it was the largest Peterborough has had. It is substantial enough to interest ratepayers who last year faced the highest mill rate in their history (64.75 for public school supporters); to warrant congratulations to city officials who closely controlled spending; and to acknowledge the assistance of the Provincial Government which is recognizing the onerous financial burden municipalities are bearing. Increased Provincial grants were chiefly responsible for the surplus.

* * *

Three items figured largely in the surplus. An additional grant of $39,000 to the Peterborough Civic Hospital was made after city estimates were struck. This came as a result of a new scheme of grants which the Ontario Government (working closely in these matters with the Federal Department of Health) instituted during the year. The Board of Works accumulated a surplus of $11,000 over its estimates. A sum of $37,400 put into the estimates to take care of expected increases in salaries and wages as a result of rises in the cost-of-living index was not needed; the index did not rise.

* * *

The resulting surplus of $86,052 on 1952's budget can be put with an item of $5,700 provided in the budget to take care of the 1951 deficit. This sum was not an expenditure in 1952. Thus the total surplus of revenue over the year's operating expenses was over $91,000. Coupled with the Board of Education's surplus of $35,000 for the year (which it holds as a credit towards 1953's operating expenses, as the Council does the $86,000 surplus) this should have a helpful effect on this year's budget, and influence the estimate of revenue needed from taxes and the mill rate.

* * *

The corporation's statement of revenue and expenditure, 1952, has been compiled and made public in good time this year, a matter for further congratulations to the civic officials. Incidentally, the surplus should in no wise be taken as a reflection of poor estimating when last year's budget was brought in. The increased hospital grants could not be taken into account, for they had not been legislated when the estimates were made and the amount by which Peterborough Civic Hospital would benefit was not known. Further, the fund to provide for wage increases according to the cost-of-living index was a necessary precaution. It was unused because as the year developed, the index became stable, contrary to the Council's previous experience of it. Nevertheless, the surplus represents 2 mills of the tax-rate.

"Happy In Your Friendship"

The Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade, has ended a tour of nine Latin American countries which he began just after Christmas. Trailing clouds of Canadian trade officials and businessmen, he has extended the right hand of fellowship, and in the left the lure of Canadian dollars. He has been drumming up business for Canadian products and finding out what goods Canadians can buy in Central and South America in exchange.

This is a good and, we hope, useful tour. For years Canadian trade was largely in Britain's pocket and susceptible to British market fluctuations and governmental edict. Since the Great War our trade has gone increasingly into American channels, and has, in some experts' opinion, become too dependent on American markets and the whims of American legislators and pressure groups.

Diversified trade is best because safest, and so Canadian trade officials are encouraging further business between Canada and other Commonwealth countries, and Canada and Latin America. This latter trade is especially desirable because their currencies are not in the sterling bloc (which has impeded Commonwealth trade since the war) and because Latin America offers primary markets for our manufactured ouput. Britain and the U.S., large buyers of Canadian goods though they are, want our raw materials rather than our processed goods. Canada now is an industrial nation. We process our own raw materials, from wheat to wood-pulp, and want to sell the finished product.

And so, as Mr. Howe said in Mexico City, Canada is "happy in your friendship." We shall hear how lively the friendship is when he reports to Parliament.

No Skiing

This remarkable winter, unusual for both its warmth and its lack of snow, has not been an unmixed blessing.

We cannot say that there is any scientific backing for the theory, but it is commonly believed hereabouts that the cold weather kills bugs which afflict the flesh. Certainly there seems to have been more flu, sniffles, tenacious colds and children's ailments this winter than usual.

Another cause for grumbling is that, there being no snow, there has been no skiing. Every winter-weekend of ordinary snow conditions brings a thousand skiers out to Jackson Park, Douro, Bethany and a host of private hills. Now on the hills, sheep may safely graze with never a skier to disturb the cud.

But there is a silver ray even to the deplorable skiing weather; money is not spent on waxing, bones are not broken on slopes, nor expensive weekends taken to the Laurentians. For even the Laurentians have had little snow. There was only enough last weekend to cause eleven major ski accidents there.

We note that the Queen has returned to London from her holiday rest at Sandringham. She was driven from the estate to her private train two miles distant over a snow-covered countryside. Perhaps our most ardent skiers should fly over to England for a week's slaloming. If this it not attractive, they can keep in bodily form swatting flies—which are brazenly buzzing indoors as if April were here.

First Names

Discussing a characteristic of our modern society, the Hamilton Spectator has this to say:

One of the subtler quirks of human nature is the one which lets you address one man as Bill the first time you meet him, but keeps you calling another Mr. Smith through 10 years of acquaintance.

Why, for instance, is Dwight David Eisenhower Ike to the whole civilized world, but John Foster Dulles strictly John Foster Dulles and never Jack? Why is Mrs. Eisenhower Mamie, but Oveta Culp Hobby always the three names in full? Why is Lester Bowles Pearson Mike to everybody, but Louis St. Laurent Uncle Louis only to a few and never to his face? Why is Attlee Clem, but Eden never Tony? For that matter, why was William Lyon Mackenzie King formally called Mackenzie King and not William King, but informally nicknamed Willie and not Mac?

But for the most part, what a man comes to be called seems to be a subtle reflection of his personality. Abbott is definitely the Doug type; Howe does not at all have the air of Clarence.

Interesting, but let us carry this a little further. Why do so many people feel it necessary to get on first-name terms with everyone they know? If they would think about the matter for thirty seconds, they would realize that calling a man "Jack," instead of "Mr. Smith" does not increase their real intimacy with him a particle. Yet the world is full of these first-name lunatics, who often defeat their own end, because their pushing impertinence gives offence. Most people have their own way of making it clear to their acquaintances when the time for first names has come. If it is felt that the use of "Mr." in conversation creates stiffness, what is wrong with the good old custom of calling a man by his surname? Mr. Smith may not like you to call him Jack, but he will not object if you call him "Smith." After all, what is his surname for, if not to identify him?

Too few people consider what names are for. Originally they marked a man as belonging to a trade (Smith, Baker, Carpenter, Fletcher, Naylor, Tyler, Mason, Thatcher, and so forth) or to a tribe (MacGregor, O'Gorman, Parry) or to a particular town or district. In addition to these names another name, usually that of a saint, was given as the Christian name, and this distinguished one Smith from another. We no longer need these distinctions in their original form, but we ought to remember that a man's name is an arbitrary thing, and that making a free use of it does not increase our knowledge of the man, or our claim upon him. In using first names, it is probably better to be a little too standoffish rather than a little too hasty.

A Dangerous Suggestion

The Ottawa Journal suggests that we should celebrate the birthday of Charles Dickens annually, and sums up its argument thus:

Long ago, when Britain rose to greatness and felt herself supreme, Dickens laughed at her, exposed the chunks of clay attached to the feet of the national idol. A Dickens' Day, observed with enthusiasm, would give us an opportiunity to judge ourselves, consider whether there is something of the Pharisee about us. The greatest gain would be that we might find ourselves amusing, a trifle pompous, loath to admit that good luck as much as our own industry and wit has brought us to our happy state.

We like this idea, but we don't think it would work.

Dickens got into plenty of trouble in his own day by exposing frauds, and ridiculing pride and pomposity. But in comparison with ourselves, he lived in a great age of freedom of expression. The modern writer does not do so, and a Dickens' Day might encourage him to be critical of modern fraudulence and pomposity. Which would, of course, be highly subversive.

Still Mugby Junction

By IVOR BROWN

(Ed Note: The famous British essayist gives the back of his hand to his country's stations.)

IN 1866 Charles Dickens wrote a story called "Mugby Junction" with a grim description of its amenities and, especially, of its Refreshment room. Here are some of the details: "Metallic object that's at times the tea-urn and at times the soup-tureen .... a barrier of stale sponge-cakes erected on top of the counter .... the saw-dust sandwiches under the glass covers ...." Things do not seem to have altered much since 1866. At any rate, there is much complaint being raised about the dirtiness and ugliness not only of Britain's Mugby Junctions but of our big town termini too.

✧ ✧ ✧

OUR RAILWAY refreshment rooms reached the bottom depth of squalid inadequacy during the war, for which there was some excuse, and a considerable improvement has been made, at least in certain stations. But much more could be done without much capital expenditure to make these places seem even faintly appetising. It is scandalous that towns so much visited by foreign tourists as Oxford and Cambridge should not have proper restaurants in the Station, where a good meal could be got. On the up platform at Oxford I have often had to wait for a train and would have liked a snack, but the only cubby-hole in which such things were served proved altogether deterrent. There was no advance there on the Dickensian Mugby.

✧ ✧ ✧

OF COURSE, British Railways have plenty to say in their defence. Their inheritance of station buildings soon after the war was largely a collection of collapsing slum-properties. They have had neither capital nor materials nor labor for really drastic reconstruction. Is it not better, the authorities can argue, to spend every effort on maintaining our train services and servicing our locomotives and rolling-stock than to splash money on painting surfaces which the smoke will make filthy again in a week or two.

✧ ✧ ✧

MOREOVER, though they are too polite or too cautious to say much about this, they have to cope with a large number of barbarians among their customers. The litter-pest is nowhere busier than in railway stations. Watch the benches in a big station where people wait to meet incoming or catch outgoing trains. Beneath and around them there accumulates a huge mess of paper bags, cigarette-cartons, bits of bun, sandwich crusts and dirty cups; the railway companies did not make that mess: they did, in fact, provide metal baskets to receive it; the passengers, apparently, do not see these receptacles or, if they do see, they dont' care. If there is to be a scolding of railway squalor, then the "mucky pup" passengers should line up for punishment along with other guilty parties.

✧ ✧ ✧

VANDALISM of all kinds is shockingly frequent on the railways: cushions are slashed and property stolen on the grand scale. If waiting-rooms, which are often like penitentiary cells, were properly furnished and decorated, how long would they remain so? It is lamentably true that we have no national standards of conduct in such matters. To see a picture on the public wall is to make game of it unless it is protected. I remember, at a railway junction in Denmark, sitting in a waiting-room which had gay and gracious mural paintings, fully exposed. Yet nobody had thought fit to insert the moustaches and spectacles, the obscenities and facetious remarks which are the artistic contribution of the British people to any show of pictorial art within reach of the common hand. The Scandinavian peoples have a tradition of respecting public property: their railway stations are full of people feeding well, but there is no litter. Our British Railways work under severe handicap because that tradition is absent here. Accepting the railway station as a messy article, thousands proceed, without scruple, to make it far messier.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET THE RAILWAY station is still, despite the growth of road transport, the gate to a town, not only the gate but a very important point of impact. Indeed it is a double gate, since it is the townsman's exit to the country as well as the stranger's entrance to the city. It is, therefore, extremely important that the functions and aspect of this portal should be carefully studied. First, from the point of view of those leaving a town, why should the booking-office present such a blank and gloomy face? Somewhere behind a dull partition of boards a scarcely visible (and not always encouraging) person stands to serve out your ticket for a journey which may be a business routine or an exciting pursuit of holiday. The whole transaction is carried on through a tiny hole in the dingy wooden wall as though it were a sad, disreputable matter. Why not some air of invitation about the ticket-salesmanship? Why not open counters, well-lit and with attractive office furniture and alluring countryside pictures behind them? At present railway travel is sold as though everybody concerned were ashamed of it.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEN, to those entering a town, what a melancholy prospect the station usually offers! Admittedly a place in which engines discharge large quantities of smoke is difficult to keep even moderately clean, and, until we have much more electrification, this trouble will remain. But better lighting and better information are badly needed: it is often immensely difficult, even in day-time, to discover the name of the station you have reached or through which you are passing. If you have to change trains, it is often more comfortable to stand about on a draughty platform than to face the bleak, unwarmed, ill-lit misery of the waiting-room.

✧ ✧ ✧

SURELY without big expenditure there are many additions to amenity which any competent housewife could recommend. It has been the tradition that railways must be run by men, but a larger proportion of the travellers are women, and the business of making travel as clean and comfortable as may be is a part of our national house-keeping. Every big station should have not only a station-master, who is responsible for the transport, but a station house-keeper, feminine, capable, responsible and fully empowered to look after the amenities and elegance.

✧ ✧ ✧

NONE THE LESS, as I said, there is a a double duty. It is no use railing at the railways if we ourselves defeat new efforts at cleanliness, comfort and good looks. If our stations are to be made attractive advertisements for our country and effective incitements to visitation by the stranger, we must all do our part by behaving at least as well as we would do in our own homes instead of throwing the bits and pieces and cups and plates on the floor and regarding the light-bulb and the towel as there for the taking. Mugby Junction will enter on its second century of squalor unless we refuse to be Mugbyites and resolve to be civilized.

Enter The Female Bank Bandit

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

IT is written law in most cities that thoughtful men do not enter cigar stores late at night with their hands in their raincoat pockets. It's too hard on the hold-up-jittery character behind the counter. Now with the advent of that alarming figure the hold-up-woman, it seems the law ought really to be extended to include a ban on the female carrying of bulging handbags. But obviously a ban of that sort would produce a social upheaval of an unthinkable gravity.

News agency reports of the recent wave of feminine thuggery — the series of bank robberies by a California grandmother, a stick-up by a personable-looking young woman in Buffalo, and now seven armed holdups by Los Angeles girls and matrons within a week — have not specified where the firearms were carried. Obviously, however, the exigencies of feminine fashion being what they are, they were not in shoulder holsters, on the hip, tucked inside the belt or in the pocket. Therefore, by a process of elimination, they must have been a sinister addition to that charming welter of loose change, lipsticks, compacts, cigarettes, perfume bottles, expired bus transfers, unmailed letters and envelopes with Aunt Flo's angel-food cake recipe scrawled on the back, in the purse. (The only thing that baffles us is how the gun is extricated and whether it takes as long as the finding of a dime for bus fare. However, since a current female character in the comic strips has mastered the art of firing a high-powered rifle while wearing a strapless evening gown, without visible bruises, anything should be possible.)

In any case the purse, which until now has been an amusing accessory (if sometimes an irritating one because of its tendency to be left in restaurants to which the male has to return to find it), has suddenly become a sinister object of suspicion. From now on, men walking down the streets alone at night will shy away in terror from the little blonde with the well-filled handbag tucked under her arm.

And yet obviously the handbag cannot be banned. Without it the life of a pocketless woman would grind to a halt. No longer could she make up her face, buy a soda or compare pictures of babies. The bag is the foundation of her daily life.

And anyway, now that women have turned to crimes of violence, even the disappearance of the handbag would be no guarantee of safety. The little darlings would simply throw away their guns and replace them with a knife worn somewhat after the fashion of a high-level skean-dhu, in the stocking.

Real Women In Fiction

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

MR. Somerset Maugham always is emphatic and sometimes is sound. Certainly he was emphatic enough in his recent declaration to the London Daily Mail that women prefer the accurate image of them painted by male novelists. That this thesis is sound, it would probably take a Kinsey to establish authoritatively. Nevertheless, even the most casual students of the novel will muster arguments against Maugham's low opinion of the capacity of male novelists for realism where women are concerned.

Running the mind's eye over the bookshelves they will recall many more unflattering portraits of women done by male than by female writers. Chaucer's picture of the wife of Bath, however jolly, is certainly not idealized. Like Defoe's Moll Flanders, she is lacking in most of the gentler virtues man supposedly likes in woman. Charles Dickens, it is true, specialized in pink-and-white dresden dolls. But it was Thackeray who created in Becky Sharp the prototype of the scheming woman, and Hardy who imagined Sue Brideshead, the first "blue stocking" in literature capable of making a hero unhappy.

Women novelists on the other hand, have produced such soul mates of men as Cathy, Jane Eyre, Maggie Tulliver, and the Bennet girls, Elizabeth and Jane. Less high-minded of course, are the heroines created by such contemporary women novelists as the Misses Marshall and Winsor. But in comparison with Madame Bovary and Nana— both portraits by men— Kitty and Amber are pretty pallid creatures.

It seems that both Somerset Maugham and Anita Loos are wrong: Gentlemen authors, like gentlemen in general, do not necessarily prefer blondes. First of all, blondes or brunettes, they must be real.

"Twisted Men"

(Montreal Star)

In Mr. Pearson's speech at Guelph on Monday, he produced evidence which goes a long way to prove the existence of close ties between the Canadian Peace Congress and the Communist party. When India produced its Korean armistice proposals in the United Nations, Dr. Endicott immediately wrote to Mr. Pearson praising Canadian support of them. A few days later, when the Soviet Union rejected the Indian plan, Dr. Endicott wrote again, this time omitting all reference to the Indian plan but supporting the empty proposition made by Russia.

If the Russians had again changed their minds, the acrobatic Dr. Endicott would have quickly obliged with a second somersault.

Mr. Pearson said he had too much confidence in Canada to believe it could be destroyed by "a small group of wilful, frustrated, twisted men". They should, he believed, be dealt with under due process of law. It would do no harm to make sure that the laws affecting them are both strict, and rigidly and quickly enforced.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Isreal, the statues and judgements which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep, and do them. (Deut. 5:1.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord did not set his love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were more in number than any people: for ye were the fewest of all people: but because the Lord loved you, and because he would keep the oath which he had sworn unto your fathers, hath the Lord brought you out with a mighty hand, and redeemed you out of the house of bondmen, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt.

✧ ✧ ✧

Know therefore that the Lord thy God, his is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations. (Deut. 7: 7-9.)

The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee. (Jer. 31: 3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Beloved, let us love one another: for loev is of God; and every one that loveth love is of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. (I John 4: 7, 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick. (Luke 9: 1, 2.)

Letter To The Editor

HIGH SCHOOLS AND CORONATION

Sir: As a high school student of this city, I think I am representing the views of the majority of my fellow teenagers in what I have to say concerning the coming Coronation ceremonies in Peterborough. Your suggestions, Mr. Editor, are fine as far as they went. But I think, and this is the opinion of most high-school students that no public demonstration of so jubiliant and so infrequent a nature should be without some formal representation and tangible contribution from the high schools. To what manner or form our contribution should take on the festive occasion is quite another matter. I personally, have a few suggestions which I would like to present to the general public and the Coronation Committee, which, I believe, has been recently formed. They are: (1) the high schools of the city should pool their talents and energies to paint placards and posters with Union Jacks and other patriotic pictures, and (2) by requesting a very small contribution from each individual in the high schools, numerous multi-coloured balloons could be purchased that would add a note of gaiety to the great day. Perhaps, also, a parade could be arranged in which the students could participate, even in so far as to provide a band. These are just a few of the ideas that I consider worthy of consideration; but there are a great deal more, and that is the purpose of this letter: to ferret them out by discussion. We would appreciate any comments from the public and the Coronation Committee concerning how the high schools of this city could play their rightful role in making the Coronation festivities a success.

Yours truly,
HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT.

9-Point Brief Presented To Cabinet

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Association Tuesday presented a nine-point brief to Premier Frost and his cabinet. Six of the nine points urged the province to give further aid to municipalities.

Aid was sought on a per capita basis to counter rising social service costs. Delegates wanted the revenues from the courts of justice and registry offices to counteract cost of providing services. They wanted the province to assume all cost of maintenance of children taking into care of Children's Aid Society branches.

The municipalities asked for federal - provincial compensation to property-owners whose land suffered from high lake levels, increased workmen's compensation payments to keep pace with the rise in the cost of living, and additional housing for the aged, financed from sources other than municipal taxes.

The association asked for revision of the Local Improvement Act and also preparation of a standard plan for two- to eight-room schools by the education department.

FLOOD REFUGEES—At an emergency clothing supply centre at Rotterdam, Margaret Wilson, of Toronto, executive secretary of the Canadian Red Cross Society, speaks with a serious-faced flood refugee and her young mother. Miss Wilson flew from Canada a week ago with a plane-load of supplies for flood victims. More than 300,000 persons in the Netherlands lost all their possessions in the recent disastrous floods.

Neighbours Complain Of Pumping Noises

Chief Constable Thompson is being asked by the council to report on night pumping noise at the British-American gasoline storage tanks in Ashburnham as mentioned by Ald. S. J. Black in conveying complaints which had come to him of "the general nuisance" in that neighborhood.

Night traffic in and out of the place was part of the grievance, but the pump was alleged to be the main offender in preventing people from getting sleep. Ald. Burrows seconded the Black motion in finance committee last night.

Fire Chief Leonard reported, by request, the following gasoline storage tanks above ground:

British-American Oil Co., two tanks each of 12,000 gallons. McColl-Frontenac, two of 12,000 gallons, and one of 15,000 gallons. Canadian Oil Co., two of 11,000 gallons and two of 7,197 gallons each; Cities Service, two of 15,000 gallons each.

City Solicitor Huycke confirmed the fact that a bylaw passed on August 8, 1950, required removal of gasoline storage tanks to go underground by January 1, 1953.

Recently, Cities Service had been granted an extension of time, at their request. The companies are to be asked what plans they have in prospect as complying with the bylaw. Cities Service is temporarily excepted.

Oddfellows Make Playoffs With A 7-4 Victory Against Belleville Hawks

Oddfellows gave their greatest display of the season Tuesday night on Quinte ice, to defeat Belleville Hawklets 7-4, in a red-hot two-way junior hockey battle to assure a play-off berth. A win tonight over Cobourg Jays at Civic in a four-point match, will find the now flying Mortimer boys firmly ensconced in third place in the final standing, prior to play-offs. Play assumed a fairly even tempo for the first two periods as the league-leaders matched Links' dashing play; but again the superior condition, staying power and fight of the Peterborough boys paid dividends in the final minutes of the game, as Oddfellows unleashed a terrific drive that swept the Belleville lads weary, and electrified a crowd that cheered their efforts.

Penalties to the homesters in the final frame hampered their efforts; but Links played it wisely and took advantage of most opportunities to win this vital game on their merits. There were 14 penalties in all, of which Hawklets drew 10.

STARTED IT OFF

George Jacklin opened the scoring after three minutes of play when he took a loose puck 10 feet out to flip it past Delahey as he with Hull and Halstead rushed. Peterborough rushed back to equalize when Gary Kearns and Paul Doris broke fast to close in; and the latter fooled Bob Green with a cutie to the short side. Bob Delahey stopped several tough shots as Hawklets stormed. Oddfellows took the lead near the half-way mark when Dick McCracken flailed a sizzler past Green on a passout from Twist. Jerry Goyer from Casey in a sharp angle two minutes later, put the flying teams again on even terms. Delbosco took the gate for tripping; and Jerry Frizzelle drilled a long blueline drive that found the target. A long, low drive eluded Delahey with seconds to go as Hawks again drew even on a last-minute splurge.

The mid-frame opened cautiously and then at the 11-minute mark, Leo Sullivan broke down the left boards, passed neatly to Dick McCracken who scored from point-blank range, on a dandy. Frizzelle again, and Jones, went off, the latter for five on a high-sticking duel in which the latter drew blood; Jacklin, veteran star, ambled in alone to ooze one past Delahey at the doorstep as play proved as equal as the score and the period ended thus with neither side having any territorial margin in play.

PENALTIES HURT

Kearns narrowly missed as the final frame opened. Goyer took the gate for tripping the centre star, closely followed by Garner and both squads toiled hard for advantage. Tempers flared as the players tired; then Stocco took the hot seat for slashing Twist and Links stormed the home cage. Gilmour kneed, and Hawklets played two men short for a spell; but held off with Green sharp in the net. Jacklin dumped Twist and Belleville again played two shy.

Then came a dramatic play. As McDougall and Doris narrowly missed, hard-working Leo Sullivan blasted a long blueline drive on a wild ganging attack that caroomed off Doris' stick past Green at terrific speed and Links went ahead at 10:53. Bodies fell like nine pins and Delbosco took the sin pew and led by Sullivan, Bill Twist, Coyle, Murry Byrne, Doris, Kearns, MrCracken and the entire pack following hard, Oddfellows made life miserable for the vaunted Hawklets who tired after holding valiantly short-handed. Gord Coyle scored a beauty as he caught the short side on a blazing drive from a McCracken pass with the teams at full strength, at the three-quarter mark. Kearns brought the crowd to its feet on a great passing play with McDougall, the former working right in to foil Green. That was all. Every Oddfellow gave his best while for Hawklets it was Jacklin, Henry Thurien, Pat Gilmour, Don Hull and Ron Halstead for first honors with Bob Green good in the net.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Allan Barrie, a Peterborough boy whose job has taken him to Waterloo, Montreal, Halifax and Timmins, drops us a line from the latter place. And encloses a special hockey edition of the Timmins Press. Pictures of district fellows who made the NHL are sprinkled liberally about, those of Bep Guidolin (who hit the big time at the age of 16), Al Stanley, Chev Chevrefils, Pete Babando, Dean Prentice, Gord Hannigan, Bill Barilko, Red Doran (playing coach now at Belleville), and others. A prolific puck area, this region produces a lot of ice talent for junior "A" and higher clubs each season. They start 'em young and bring them along in the north.

* * * * * *

Barrie mentions the community centre area at Schumacher, a mile from Timmins. Though about 10 years old now, it is still rated one of the finest in the country. 'Twas built by McIntyre Gold Mines, and the whole centre is a popular gathering place. It consists of the arena proper, a spacious, well-appointed affair, a six-sheet curling rink and lounge, and a smaller rink for figure skating. Latter has mirror walls to aid beginners and improve the stars. The place has created great interest in the area for all, from kids to elderly folk. As Allan remarks: "Of course, this lack of good facilities is still Peterborough's big problem, but some day it will be righted." Let us hope so, fellow!

End Of Junior Schedule

Our OHA junior "B" schedule winds up here tonight with Cobourg Jays playing the Odfellows. It should result in a victory for Doug Mortimer's young men, and then the decks will be cleared for group playoff action. Haven't any dates yet on that best-of-five semi-final series, but it'll be Belleville vs. Peterborough, whilst Kingston and Lindsay are striving to knock each other out in the other bracket. The boys have been playing since early in November to erase two clubs from the four playoff spots, and the end is in sight now. The Oshawa-Kingston tilt on the morrow ends the 1952-53 schedule. Tonight's joust here is a four-pointer.

* * * * * *

As for the senior "B" setup, Petes are off this p.m. for Stouffville. Kingston comes here Friday, the Ellis men entertain Belleville Glens on Monday, and Petes conclude the schedule in the Limestone City next Friday, Feb. 20. The locals still have a slim chance of catching either Belleville or Kingston, both of whom have 24 points, two and a half games up on the T-P-T- team from here. But they can't possibly back into the playoffs—they must win several of their remaining few frays. Taking the K's twice would help a lot, as Orillia is likely to pummel Kingston again in their last meeting, having trounced 'em 17-5 last weekend. If our squad slips now, it'll be all over for senior hockey up this way in a week and a half.

Three Will Be Finished

It's the end of the line for three of the surviving Peterborough Minor Hockey Association finalists Thursday p.m. on Civic's ice. Return tilts of the home-and-home city finals are on, commencing at seven with Swartz bantams playing Shamrocks, the latter having an 11-goal lead. Aces tote a four-goal margin into the struggle with the midget Shamrocks next. The nightcap sees Marines playing the juvenile Aces, with Outboards up five from the first fray. It behooves the boys to give it all they have as round losers hang up their gear for the balance of this semester, while the victors proceed into OMHA juvenile, midget and bantam "A" playdowns, beginning shortly.

A heap of hoop results adorn the desk today. Last night, Whitby beat SPS juniors 47-40 to open "B" lakeshore finals. Cobourg senior girls edged PCVS 18-17 as the Cobourg-PCVS junior joust ended 11-all to commence playoffs. Kenner bantams downed SPS 46-15. Oilers won from Merchants 64-57 at the "," as Aces nudged out a 35-34 win from Normals. Tomorrow eve sees Port Perry juniors back at eight at SPS to settle their series. The Friday picture has both PCVS lasses' teams away. At Collegiate here at 4.30, Kenner OABA bantams meet PCVS, followed by Kenner COSSA lads playing PCVS bantams, and then the Oshawa Central junior and senior squads tangling with PCVS rivals. At Kenner on Friday, Oshawa Central's junior "B" boys play the southend team. Over at St. Peter's gym that eve, Whitby goes 'gainst SPS in junior "B" at 4.15. Evening tilts have St. Mike's juniors and seniors vs. Saints in OCC tussles. Toronto Central "Y" seniors meet Marines here Saturday.

School Cage Games Close With Playoffs Beginning

Close games were on the menu for Peterborough Collegiate basketball teams Tuesday and in two cases the opposition just managed to squeeze through for wins. It's now or never for most of the teams as they play the first round of the lakeshore championships. In Whitby the St. Peter's High junior Saints were set back 47-40 in the first game of the home-and-home points-to-count series for the junior "B" lakeshore. Whitby High jumped to an early lead and despite a late rally by the Saints held on to the slim seven-point lead for Friday's game at SPS.

The lakeshore lads on Borchuk'es 10 points jumped to a 16-6 first quarter score and then led only 26-20 at the half as Board and Finn brought the Saints closer. But Whitby crept higher in the third, outscoring the Saints 12-9, and then staved off a last quarter St. Peter's rally which fell short.

Whitby's Musselmen edged St. Peter's Quinlan for the scoring honors by a point, scoring 21.

GIRLS GO WELL

The girls amazed the boys at PCVS with their passing and checking and provided the fans with close games in both junior and senior against Cobourg High. These games were the first in home and home play to represent the district in the COSSA playdowns.

A third-quarter drive by the Cobourg High seniors was enough to give them an 18-17 win despite a last-minute rally by PCVS. The Garnet and Grey lasses were up 7-2 at the half and then early in the third went up 12-8. But Cobourg came back strong to take the lead and never relinquished it.

Isobel Reedy sparked the Cobourg girls to the slim victory as she netted 12 out of the total 18 points.

A CLOSE ONE

Meanwhile the PCVS juniors in the second game also against Cobourg High had an even closer game. They managed to tie Cobourg 11-all but only thanks to Gloria Clemens' three-point effort in the last quarter. This is the second tie game this year in girls' basketball and only the second in the past five years. Under COSSA rules they don't play to declare a winner.

Bernice Callan, Mary Raddon and Clemens sank the ball for PCVS's cause in the second half as they outscored Cobourg 8-3, an identical score with which Cobourg took the first half.

Whitby's Musselmen edged St. Peter's Quinlan for the scoring honors by a point, scoring 21.

The schools will play the return games in Cobourg a week Friday. Then PCVS will have to win the senior game by at least two points and the juniors by one.

ROLLING ALONG

Norm Erskine's Kenner Collegiate bantams, nicknamed the Rams, continue to steamroller through district opposition as they crushed St. Peter's High bantams 46-15. They are favorites for the lakeshore bantam championship.

The Rams waltzed to a 13-2 score in the first quarter and then romped further ahead to a 25-5 at the half. They faltered slightly in the third, only 31-12, and then took command again in the fourth, outscoring the Saints 15-3.

Passing the ball well resulted in Rams distributing the scoring fairly evenly. But Scharf did get a total of 13 and Hollingsworth 11. Mackie was St. Peter's high man with seven.

Oilmen-Aces Get Wins In Hoop Tilts

Playing with only four men for most of the game, the Oilmen with a last-minute rally pulled out a 64-57 win over Merchants Tuesday night in men's city league play. In the second game, the opening one of the YMCA house league, "Y" Aces eked out a 35-34 victory over the Normal School.

The Oilmen started with four players, Hugh Dibben, Doug Galvin, Gord Burns and Doug McPherson. Late in the third, Bill Dadson formed a quintet but minutes later the Oilmen were back to four when Burns fouled out.

Despite the handicap, the Oilmen took a 14-12 lead in the first quarter. But then Ab Stewart with a nine-point spree for the Merchants swept that two-point lead away in the second quarter and the Merchants led 28-26 at the half.

Led by Dibben and Galvin, the Oilmen stayed on the heels of Merchants in the third, matching them point for point. The third quarter ended with Merchants holding a slimmer lead, 47-46. Dibben continued his scoring streak into the fourth and more than gave the win to Oilmen.

Galvin and Dibben edged Merchants' Stewart for scoring honors with 23 points, Stewart having 21. Merchants' Al Northcott scored 19.

EDGE AT FIRST

Normals outplayed and outscored the YMCA Aces during the first half of the YMCA house league debut but faltered in the second, giving Aces the opportunity to win. They took it.

McDonald, the Normals' scoring punch, led the teachers to a 9-4 lead in the first quarter and then increased it to 18-13 at the half. But the Aces' Harry Carleton, who previously brought Aces up in the second, rallied them in the third and they tied the score 25-all at three-quarters.

McDonald failed to score in the fourth, but Edwards and Gregorick scored nine for Normals. But they weren't enough, for Carleton again led the Aces and they managed to outscore Normals by a single point for the win.

Carleton led the scoring with 19 points, followed closely by McDonald with 15.

FRANK VALOIS, above, who tackles Larry Moquin in the semi-final of tonight's mat card at the Brock. Feature event is a tag team match between Whipper Billy Watson and Yukon Eric versus The Red Mask and Sky-Hi Lee. With four ace grapplers in the ring at one time, a red-hot battle can be expected. Earl McCready clashes with Steve Stanlee in the opener.

Willshaw Clicking In TVL For Rocket

Harold Willshaw, of the Havelock TVL team, evidently has an admirer here, who uses the pen-name Rocket, though signing his right name. He writes:

"Sir—Well, there it is, Havelock has hit its stride at last and we see Sharpshooter Willshaw using the Rocket strategy, and all the headwork the Rocket put there. So, in return, he repays with four goals and two assists. Good work, Harold, the Rocket is pleased with such an effort.

"Now, all I ask is that, given the chance, you repeat the dose tonight. Remember always what I told you, Harold. Never get sandwiched between the opposition defence, just slip that puck between them, then go around, fool the goalie, and you have the open net. Don't forget, the Rocket is with you in spirit, and with all the rest of the boys."

Downer's Victors

In a rural league puck game at Hastings last night, Downer's Corners beat the Asphodel squad 5-2. Bob Locke got two goals and an assist, W. Steenburg, G. Hall and Bob McIlmoyle each getting a marker and an assist, as R. Clancy and E. McIlmoyle each gained one assist. For the losers, O. Brown and R. Stone were marksmen, with an assist going to Cairn. An earlier game saw Westwood win 4-2 from Hastings.

Downer's: Goal, H. Burns; defence, G. Hall, B. Humphries; centre, R. Locke; wings, R. McIlmoyle, H. Steenburg; alternates, E. Close, E. McIlmoyle, W. Steenburgh, R. Clancy, M. Hallian, J. Burns, H. Baker.

"Y" Swimmers Take Meet Against Trinity

Sweeping four firsts in the junior events and three in the senior, the Peterborough YMCA Swimming Club, coached by Gord Minty, won an invitation meet Tuesday night at the YMCA over Trinity College School of Port Hope. The "Y" swimmers built up a large margin in the junior events to easily take the meet 65-52. This was the club's first home meet this season.

The YMCA team took wins in the junior medley and free style relays, in the 40-yard free style, and in the 40-yard breast stroke events, for 28 points alone just in firsts. They added eight more in junior events for second and third.

Meanwhile the Trinity swimmers managed to win only two junior events, Bill Jenkins the 40-yard back and V. Vander Zwaan the 100 free style for 10 points on firsts. Their seconds and thirds netted only six points.

But in the senior events, Trinity were stronger, winning the 40-yard breast, the 40-yard free, the medley and the senior free style relay for 28 points in firsts. Adding second and third points they totalled 36.

With firsts in the 100-yard free, the 40-yard back and the 200-yard free, the YMCA swimmers coupled second and third points for a total of 30 points in senior events.

GIRLS PERFORM

A highlight of the meet was a demonstration in synchronized swimming. The Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, under coach Mrs. Pansy Forbes, performed Jumping Jacks, the act which placed them fourth in the international meet last summer.

Scott Pearton and Jim Starr from the YMCA club, and Bill Boucher and Carl Newland from Trinity College gave exhibitions in diving.

Summary of events:

Jr. free style relay—1 Peterborough YMCA, 2 Trinity College School (1:29.2 minutes).

Sr. 100-yard free—1 John Boorman YMCA, 2 John Gordon TCS, 3 Don Wood YMCA (1:03 minuts).

IOOF Could Finish Tied In Third Spot

The local OHA junior "B" Oddfellows, by winning 7-4 in Belleville last night—while Kingston was winning 4-1 in Lindsay—have a good chance of tying Lindsay for third place in the standing and forcing a sudden-death playoff to settle third place. Lindsay is finished now and IOOF finishes here this evening with a four-point game against Cobourg. If Oddfellows win, they will have 34 points, the same as Lindsay. Group semi-finals call for the first and fourth teams to play off and the second and third teams to clash in best-of-five series. Just four clubs make playoffs. Hence, it is considered an advantage for IOOF to finish third rather than fourth. The present standing:

	W	L	T	Pts
Belleville	24	6	0	48
Kingston	18	9	1	37
Lindsay	17	13	0	34
IOOF	15	13	0	30

(Oshawa is through now with but 21 points, and Cobourg has only two.)

Thompson Arrested On Assault Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Thompson, 27-year-old New York Giants outfielder and third-baseman who allegedly was struck on the head with a baseball bat by a taxicab driver Jan. 31, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of felonious assault.

The arrest was on a counter-complaint of cab driver William Winfrey who is free on his own cognizance on a felonious assault charge.

The charges grew out of a collision between an auto driven by Thompson and Winfrey's cab in Harlem.

Howe Will Be Shooting For 200th Goal In Detroit-Rangers Game

By MEL SUFRIN

NEW YORK (CP)—Gordie Howe, a National Hockey League veteran and established great at the tender age of 24, will be shooting for his 200th goal and the 40th this season when Detroit Red Wings play New York Rangers here tonight. The ace Detroit right-winger may have some difficulty—he's scored only once in four games on the small Madison Square Garden ice surface and against the persistent checking of Ed Kullman so far this season.

When he does get the inevitable No. 200, he will be the 25th player in NHL history to do it. Seven, including Elmer Lach of Montreal and Howe's linemate, Ted Lindsay, who got their 200th goals this season, are still active. Others are Maurice Rocket Richard of Montreal, Bill Mosienko of Chicago, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart of Boston and Max Bentley of Toronto.

But what will set Howe's feat of: is that he will have accomplished it before his 25th birthday. The native of Floral, Sask., becomes 25 next March 31. He is certainly the youngest player to hit the 200-mark and with many seasons before him, barring the unforeseen, he may yet do much to alter hockey's record book.

ALREADY HAS RECORD

He already has the record for total points in a season—86 set in 1950-51 and equalled last season. With 19 games to go, he will break Richard's record of 50 goals in a season at his present pace.

Howe, of course, has 70 games in which to break the Richard 50-game mark. But the advantage of the longer season may be partly offset by the fact that competition is supposed to be tougher today than in the lean war years of 1944-45 when the Rocket set his mark.

Happy Day, Toronto assistant manager, has suggested that if "Howe had the fire to go all out at all times maybe he'd get 400 goals." Richard now has the all-time record total of 341.

Howe frowns at talk that he isn't giving all he's got.

"I always go all out as much as I can," he says. "Maybe I sometimes look lazy, but I'm told that's because I take longer strides than other players. All I know is that I give everything I've got and I'm just as tired as the other fellows after the game."

VERY MODEST

As for chances of eventually scoring 400 and catching up with Richard, Howe is less than modest. "I've said that if he gave me 50 of his goals and quit now, I'd have a chance of overtaking him."

Since breaking into the NHL at 18, Howe has averaged just less than .5 goals a game. Richard's average for 11 seasons is almost .6. However, while Richard now is obviously on the way down at 31, Howe is still improving.

Golf and semi-pro baseball in the off-season at Saskatoon help keep him in shape and despite removal of cartileges from both legs, he feels he is in great condition with plenty of top-calibre hockey left.

Hap Day's remark about Howe lacking fire adds emphasis to his further comment that Gordie is "better than anybody I've ever seen; better than Richard, Bill Cook, Charlie Conacher or (Howie) Morenz."

STILL TO BE SETTLED

Howe's place among the greats is still to be settled. For the present there are some who disagree with Day.

One is Frank Boucher, general manager of the Rangers, who says "certainly it is right to say he is one of the best ever. But I wouldn't like to go so far as to say he is the best."

Boucher considers Cook, former Ranger linemate who now coaches the Blues, Dit Clapper, the former Boston star, and Richard as three players who rank with Howe as the top right-wingers of recent hockey history.

Cook himself agrees 100 per cent with Day, however.

"I've never seen anyone better as a right-wing player," says the New York coach, who considers Howe superbly equipped "defensively, offensively and mentally."

Redmen Whip Maroons 3-1, Hope For Berth

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Redmen, fighting hard to make the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series playoffs, appear to be a cinch for fourth place and a berth in the seven-team loop's post season play.

Defeating Chatham Maroons 3-1 Tuesday night, they put five full points between themselves and the fifth-place Maroons. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen are seven points ahead in third place.

At North Bay, the Trappers shaded first-place Sudbury Wolves 4-3 in a tight Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group thriller.

GOAL GETTERS

Goose Gosselin fired the winning North Bay goal with less than four minutes to go. Bill Dwyer, Chick Cecchini and Alf Guarda scored the other Trapper markers while Len Speck, Yacker Flynn and Rolly McLenahan came through with Sudbury's scoring.

Bill Shill paced Brantford with a pair of markers, Walt Hnatiuk getting the other. Carl Liscombe scored for the Maroons.

Brantford moves into Sarnia tonight while Owen Sound is at Stratford. Up North, Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds play at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Lowly Spitfires Upset Flyers 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A underdogs have been the best friends of Toronto Marlboros all season long.

The league leaders have been able to whip the low-slung clubs, but the cellar-dwellers in turn have continually upset teams with an eye on first place. Tuesday night was no exception.

Barrie Flyers, a scant point off the pace set by Marlies, dropped a 3-2 overtime decision to lowly Windsor Spitfires. The loss to the eighth-place Spits again kept Barrie from taking over top spot in the nine-team circuit.

In an interlocking schedule game with the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association at St. Catharines, Montreal Canadiens downed the fourth-place Teepees 6-4. The Montrealers lead the Quebec loop.

TRIP CITADELLES

At Kitchener, the tail-end Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts scored five goals in the second period to defeat Quebec Citadelles 8-2 in another interlocking game. Quebec is second in the JAHA.

Alger Arbour scored Windsor's overtime winner after eight minutes of extra session play. Elmer Skov and Gerry Horton added the other Spitfire goals while Orin Carver and Tony Poeta tallied for Barrie.

Guy Rousseau paced the Canadiens' attack with three goals while Butch McKay, Les Lilley and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard scored the others. Hugh Barlow sank two for the Teeps. Ed Mateka and Brian Marshall were the other St. Catharines marksmen.

Graham Joyce was top man for the Greenshirts with three goals. Beryl Klinck, Buddy Horne, Ken Collins, Grieg Hicks and Ken Tennant notched the rest. Bert Lepage and Rolly Leclerc came through for Quebec.

Unbeaten in their swing through Ontario, Montreal Canadiens move into Oshawa tonight while Barrie visits Toronto St. Michael's and Galt plays against Marlboros in the second half of a Gardens twin bill.

Make Gavilan Fight Favorite

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO (AP)—A wave of TV-inspired support backs college-bred Chuck Davey in his welter title bid tonight but cash-on-the-line realists make champion Kid Gavilan a solid 12-to-5 favorite to hold his 147-pound title.

This is the fight that TV made. Davey, a handsome 26-year-old Michigan State grad, has wowed them on living room screens. His southpaw style, dazzling speed and convincing performances against Chico Vejar and Rocky Graziano moved him up past other more experienced contenders.

That is why the living-room fans, who will catch this 15-round bout at 10 p.m. EST, are shocked by the odds making Davey an underdog. They have seen Davey and most were convinced. There will be no radio broadcast.

The fight has excited tremendous interest. About 20,000 fans are expected to desert their free seat at the fireside to pay $25 for a ringside spot. There is a rematch contract calling for a return bout within 90 days if Davey wins, customary protection for a champion.

MORE NOTES—The carillon in Soldiers' Tower in Hart House at the University of Toronto is to have 18 bells added to its present 23 to increase its musical range from two to 3½ octaves. The bells, ranging in weight from 20 to 140 pounds, were shipped from the Netherlands. Henry T. van Bergen (right), whose family made the bells, shows them to Leland Richardson, university carilloneur.

Ex-Ski Instructor Plans To Produce Three Operas

MONTREAL (CP)—A muscular Italian, who has at one time or another been a soldier, sailor, miner and athlete, is preparing to provide Montreal's opera-goers with an artistic treat.

Pino Turolla plans to put his life savings into producing a series of three Italian operas here. This latest undertaking follows on the heels of his chores as a cowboy in the Alberta foothills.

The 31-year-old jack-of-all-trades spent four weeks in New York recently signing stars for his operas. Almost $17,000 was needed to finance preliminary work on the series, to start next month. Operas to be presented will be "La Boheme," "Lucia Di Lammermoor" and "La Traviata" and among the stars to headline the bill of the newly-formed Canada Opera production will be Licia Albanese, Bruno Landi and Cesare Bardelli.

Pino's life has been something of a refutation of his current endeavor.

SKI INSTRUCTOR

Born in Trieste, Italy, he was a ski instructor of Italian alpine troops by the time he was 18. At 19, he was decorated for valor in Greece. He was "mortally wounded" at 20 in Greece, only to appear in his home town a day after his funeral.

As a paratrooper, he made two jumps for the Allies during the Italian invasion. With two other soldiers he captured 70 German prisoners. In addition he accumulated several medals and won a reputation as a war hero.

Since his arrival in Canada two years ago he has spent six months as a cowboy in the Peace River district of Alberta, played professional soccer, put in a stint as a miner in Lethbridge, Alta., and worked as a sailor on the Great Lakes.

Pino also has worked as a free-lance writer for the CBC international service and sold a play in English to the CBC which broadcast it nationally last December.

Salary Battle About To Begin

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The real salary battle of the spring season is about to begin. It pits Ralph Kiner, the home run slugger of Pittsburgh Pirates, against baseball's David Harum, Branch Rickey.

The Pittsburgh general manager has asked Kiner to take a 25-per-cent cut — all that baseball law allows — from his $90,000 salary last season. Rickey sent his son, Branch Jr., here in advance to break the news to Kiner and see what could be done.

Apparently Kiner made it plain he was willing to take a modest cut — say 10 per cent — but he was emphatic in saying he wasn't ready for a 25-per-cent slash that would reduce his salary to $67,500.

TEMPORARY DEADLOCK

There is a temporary stalemate in the negotiations. Rickey has tried to peddle Kiner to other clubs but he wants young players who can help the club he is lining up for his new manager, Fred Haney, who bossed Hollywood in the Pacific Coast league for several years.

"We aren't exactly trying to deal Kiner," said Rickey Tuesday night. "Some other clubs are trying to get him. Four or five clubs have made us propositions. If it was cash we wanted, the deal would have been completed some time ago.

"We'd trade Ralph only if the Pirates would be helped by the addition of other players. By that I mean more and better players than we have been offered so far."

P Of W Triumphs

Prince of Wales juniors blanked Confederation 7-0 yesterday at the arena in school hockey to keep unbeaten in four games. David Drummond had two goals and two assists, Gordon Currie and Terry Downer one and one each, with singles by Bob Davies, Gary Billingsley and Wilton James. Bernard Burns got an assist. Brian Donaldson earned his shutout with nice goaltending. Teams:

Confederation: Brook, D. Stephenson, Webbdale, MacLlellan, Weaver, Mountford, Kokesh, Hewie, Sutton, P. Stephenson, Callan, Walker, Chambo, Wicks.

Prince of Wales: Donaldson, Currie, Thompson, Davies, Burns, Billingsley, Henderson, Drummond, Downer, Todd, James, Andrews.

Referee: D. Crawford.

Expect Two Districts Join Soccer Group

TORONTO (CP)—Two or three districts are expected to apply for membership in the Ontario Soccer Association at its annual meeting here Saturday.

Two definite applicants are Sault Ste. Marie and the Southern Ontario league, with North Bay and district a probable entrant.

The number of players registered rose from 2,132 in 1951 to 2,391 last year. Cash balance on hand at the end of 1952 was $5,182, about twice as much as the previous year.

The district associations which are members of the Ontario body are Hamilton, Sudbury, Essex county, London, Chatham, Bay of Quinte, Kingston, Peterborough and Toronto.

Little Britain Gets Win From Apsley

APSLEY (ENS). — Before a crowd of 280 here, Little Britain defeated Apsley 11-5 in a benefit hockey match for K. Delahey, injured Apsley player. Though probably out for the rest of the season with the injured shoulder, Delahey was able to referee the benefit contest.

Johnston and Brown counted for Apsley, Houle helping on one. The third saw Brown, Houle and Smith tally for Apsley, assists going to Houle, Watson and Johnston, one each. Reid scored two more for the visitors, and Ferguson and J. Jenkins got one each.

Predict Rookie To Win Scoring Race

By LORNE BRUCE

EDMONTON (CP)—Rookie Norm Ullman looks like a sure thing to win the Western Canadian Junior Hockey League scoring race this season.

It won't be anything new for the chunky 17-year-old centre of Edmonton Oil Kings. The quiet-spoken lad has been top point-getter in every league he has played in and every team he has played with has won at least a provincial title.

Ullman, who pivots junior veterans Jerry Prince and Ray Kinasewich, is a grade XI student at St. Joseph's high school. Ullman is eligible for three more seasons in the junior division.

Already Oil Kings have cinched first place in the league's regular schedule. In their last game against Regina, sure of second, they whipped the Pats 7-0.

Ullman, born at Provost, Alta., began playing in organized hockey with Edmonton Maple Leaf bantams. In the 1948-49 season he played in 16 games and rattled in 56 points on 24 goals and 32 assists.

NEXT SEASON

The next season he was with Maple Leaf bantams again and in 17 games earned 66 points on 29 goals and 37 assists. That was the season he scored 17 points in one playoff game, getting eight goals and nine assists as Maple Leafs won 33-0.

In the 1950-51 season he moved up to the Maple Leaf midgets and continued his prolific scoring with 38 goals and 50 assists for 88 points in 24 games.

In 1951-52 he played for Maple Leaf juveniles and in 29 games scored 93 points.

This year he graduated to the Oil Kings. After a start that would be called slow for him, Norm began finding the range as the season progressed and took over the league leadership after centre Gord Vejprava was sold by Crow's Nest Coalers to Cleveland Barons.

Now five feet, nine inches tall, Ullman carries his 170 pounds effortlessly on the ice.

In Oil Kings' 35 games this season Ullman has scored 29 goals and 42 assists. Linemate Prince is second with 38 goals and 25 assists.

Oil Kings have one more scheduled game to play this season.

Fewer Night Games Planned

NEW YORK (AP)—The National League announced Tuesday a 1953 baseball schedule with a total of 217 night games, three less than last year's all-time record.

St. Louis Cardinals again qualify as the circuit's night owls, playing 50 of their 77 home games and 32 of those away from home under the lights.

Philadelphia has scheduled 42 home games at night. Pittsburgh has 29 night contests at home, Boston and Cincinnati 28 each, Brooklyn 24 and New York 16. Chicago Cubs, unequipped for electrical lighting, play all Wrigley Field games in daylight.

Last year the National scheduled 220 night games, an all-time high, including three twi-night doubleheaders at Brooklyn.

Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds open their campaigns at Cincinnati April 13. The other openers are April 14, as follows:

Boston at Brooklyn
Cincinnati at Chicago
New York at Philadelphia
St. Louis at Pittsburgh

PLAN NEW RACE TRACK

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Jockey Club said Tuesday it plans a new racetrack on 400 acres of land west of Highway 27 near Malton in Etobicoke township. It is about 12 miles northwest of Toronto.

The track, to be completed within three years, will have parking space for 10,000 to 12,000 cars. Plans call for the closing of Woodbine track in Toronto's east end when the new plant is ready.

Options on the land have been obtained from five owners and use of the site, previously labelled an industrial area, for a racetrack is being considered by Etobicoke council. It is estimated the options total $2,000,000.

The Jockey Club now has six running race charters and will use most to give the new track a racing season unequalled in Canada. A harness racing charter obtained from Thorncliffe Raceway in Toronto will also be used.

Other tracks bought recently by the club—the Hamilton Jockey Club and Stamford Park in Niagara Falls—are being closed and their charters used by Woodbine and Fort Erie tracks. When Woodbine is closed only the new track and Fort Erie will be operated.

CENTRE BENTLEY BACK

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League said Tuesday night that centre Max Bentley has returned to the line-up and Danny Lewicki is being sent back to the Pittsburgh Hornet farm club in the American League. Bentley had been sitting out recent games with a back injury. Lewicki was brought up to replace him in four league games.

SPURN KINER PRICE TAG

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The price tag set on Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh outfielder, is too high for Boston Braves, manager Charley Grimm said Monday night in an interview with Sam Levy of the Milwaukee Journal. Grimm, here to speak at several baseball banquets, said a deal between the two National League clubs "practically has fallen through."

ROYALS SIGN 2 HURLERS

French Promoter Wants Voice In Argument

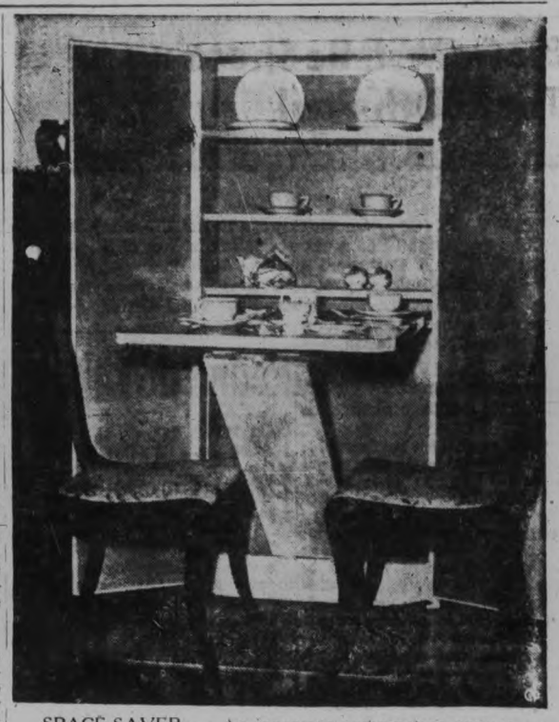
PARIS (AP)—Gilbert Benaim, czar of French boxing promoters, will leave for New York by plane tonight to add a French voice to the international argument over the middleweight championship of the world.

Benaim wants to make certain France's Charles Humez is not shut out of the muddled middleweight picture. Benaim says he plans to sit down in New York Friday with British promoter Jack Solomons and Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, to try to bring order out of the present chaos.

J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the British Boxing Board of Control who is due in New York Monday, also is expected to meet with the promoters, along with Robert K. Christenberry, hairman of the New York state athletic commission, and possibly officials of the National Boxing Association.

11-MAN TOURNAMENT

New York and NBA officials have set up an 11-man "tournament" to determine a successor to the throne vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson. But the plan has run into several snags. Solomons said Tuesday he wants a title bout for his man, Randy Turpin, former titleholder who splits two bouts with Robinson, in London during the June Coronation week.



He wasn't overly keen on the proposal of Sid Flaherty, manager of one of the top American contenders, Carl Olson of San Francisco, that Turpin and Olson meet in a two-fight "series." This called for one bout in San Francisco next month and a second one in London in June.

Stirling Winners

STIRLING (ENS) — Last night saw Stirling win a TVL game in Trenton by 8-7 to move into third place in the southern section. It was rugged play with 17 penalties handed out. Robson got three goals, Wanamaker two, and McCrory, Staple and Wright one each for the winners. The losers' goals were by Scott (3), Jones (2), and Beale and Barr. In a recent game, Stirling beat Frankford 5-2. Teams:

Stirling: Bates, Armstrong, Tanner, Robson, McCrory, Wanamaker Burgess, Stewart, Wright, Stapley, Williams, Ingram, Bastedo.

Trenton: Chartrand, Black, Turland, Beale, Jones, Scott, Insted, Barr, Dennell, Leavey, McDonald, Wanamaker, Terry, Campney.

SPACE-SAVER — An ingenious combination cupboard-table has been designed as a time and space-saver for apartment dwellers by Tom Murray, on the traffic staff of The Canadian Press at London, Ont. Called an armoire-table, the cabinet is 60 inches high, 30 inches wide and 12 inches deep. When extended, the table will seat two persons comfortably with room for a third if necessary. Dishes are stored on two bottom shelves, each six inches wide, and a 10-inch top shelf.

Fine Ottawa Ball Club For Lottery

OTTAWA (CP)—A six-month court case ended Tuesday when a general sessions of the peace jury convicted Ottawa Athletics of the International Baseball League of conducting a lottery last Aug. 12. The club was fined $10.

The charge arose from a "pot of gold" drawing at an Ottawa-Montreal game when Myrna Lumsden, Ottawa high school girl, won $383.65 when her ticket was drawn and she was able to carry away that amount in nickels.

E. J. Houston, counsel for the club, commenting on the verdict and asking for a non-punitive sentence, told Judge J. P. Madden that the financially-shaky club "may not be playing here after this season. . . and this verdict, plus other factors, might be the deciding point."

Passing sentence, Judge Madden said "there is no purpose to be served in this case by imposing a heavy penalty."

BC Government Would Like To Be Defeated—No Takers

VICTORIA (CP)—A political paradox has arisen in the British Columbia legislature.

The minority Social Credit government, which took office last summer, wants to be defeated on the floor of the House. The three opposition parties want to keep Social Credit in power—for the time being at least.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett apparently believes his party now could win a provincial general election in a breeze and increase its strength in the 48-member House.

He has taunted the opposition time and again to move an amendment to the address in reply to the throne speech. This would mean a vote of non-confidence in the government which, if passed, would in turn cause the fall of the government.

NOT INTERESTED

When CCF Opposition Leader Harold Winch opened the throne speech debate last week, Mr. Bennett kept interrupting with remarks like "if you don't like the government, ask for an election" or "take it to the people."

Mr. Winch replied: "You should know by now that I have been in this House long enough (21 years) not to be baited."

Mr. Bennett threw the same interjections at Liberal Leader E. T. Kenney, who replied: "I'm not going to do your dirty work for you."

Progressive Conservative Leader George Miller, like the other opposition chiefs, said this week his group will support the government "as long as you behave yourselves."

None of the three opposition leaders moved a non-confidence motion. They said British Columbians are fed up with elections and want to see their business done.

Present standing in the Legislature: Social Credit 19, CCF 18, Liberals 6, Progressive Conservatives 2, Labor 1, vacant 2.

OTTAWA (CP) — John Marchibroda of Brantford, who told Magistrate Joachim Sauve he suffered from "wanderlust," was fined $100 and costs Tuesday when he admitted obtaining a Canadian passport under false pretences.

Marchibroda admitted using his brother-in-law's name and a fictitious address to obtain a Canadian passport which carried him from Montreal to Cuba and Florida where he was arrested by U.S. immigration authorities Dec. 13.

Use Two Keys As Evidence In Windsor Trial

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two keys were presented as evidence Tuesday in the trial of three men charged in connection with an attempted bank robbe[illegible]ch was foiled last Nov. [illegible]wo masked men fled empty-handed after handcuffing 22 persons.

Charged with attempted roobery are Norman Quinlan, 41, and Arthur McKay, 24, both of Windsor, and Robert Woods, 27, alias Sidney Clewes, of Toronto.

Detective Robert Scott identified a small key, which fitted the lock of a cheque-writing machine in the nearby Walkerville branch of the Bank of Commerce, as one he found in Quinlan's home.

FIT BRIEF CASE

A second key he identified as being found in Quinlan's home fitted the lock of one of the brief cases discarded by the two men when they fled from the bank.

The keys were among 100 exhibits presented by Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald. Detective Scott also identified clothing, guns, handcuffs, keys and makeup found in Quinlan's home.

Two men, wearing rubber masks, were within a few minutes of reaching the inner safes of the bank vault when the arrival of two employees of Brink's Express Company scared them away.

Starr Asks Ottawa To Aid Municipalities

OTTAWA (CP)—Michael Starr, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Ontario, said Tuesday night the federal government should do something to relieve municipalities of problems in raising revenues.

He spoke in a free-time political broadcast over the CBC's Trans-Canada network.

In 1952, he said, the federal government took 77 per cent of every tax dollar, leaving 12 per cent for the provinces and 11 per cent for Canada's 4,000 municipalities.

The Movie Column

Director Finds Cinemascope Big Headache

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The man with the biggest headache in Hollywood is a genial German-American named Henry Koster.

Until a week ago, Koster looked with satisfaction toward his next directing assignment, "The Robe," a $4,000,000 epic.

Then the storm broke. His studio, 20th Century-Fox, announced it would make no more flat - screen pictures. It was converting to the huge, curved-screen cinemascope. The first film under the new-dimensional method would be "The Robe."

Koster seemed harrassed but happy after hearing the news.

"Before this happened, I was too content," he admitted. "I thought I knew exactly how to make a picture—what lenses to use, how to place the actors, when to use a closeup . . . Now I'm a pioneer. It's good for me."

SHOWS OFF FINDER

He showed off his new finder, through which he peers to envision movie scenes. It was much broader than the usual proportions of a movie screen.

"That's how it will look," he said.

"Cinemascope will mean this—you can have a line of dancing rockettes on the screen and see each face as if in a closeup."

He added that the script of "The Robe" hasn't been changed, but some of the sets have. They must be built wider and lower, to accommodate the wide-angle lens.

"The Robe" will hit the king-size screens in October, when 20th Fox hopes that several thousand theatres in the United States will be so equipped. Then we'll find out whether Hollywood's revolution will succeed.

The studio is virtually staking its future that big-screen movies will be a success. Said Vice-President Al Lichtman: "We predict that this will be the shot in the arm that the movie industry needs. We feel that within a couple of years thousands of theatres in this country and throughout the world will be equipped for cinemascope."

Dr. Taggart addressed farmer-veterans and their wives from Essex, Kent and Lambton counties. The occasion was a banquet climaxing a two-year project designated "Competition Good Earth," conducted by the Windsor regional office of VLA under Ray Corman, settlement officer.

Winner of the silver tray in the two-year contest and designated "master farmer" was Max Simpson, Ridgetown.

The newspaper said Howie Meeker, ailing forward for Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League and Progressive Conservative member for Waterloo South, is reported ready to retire from politics. Meeker would accept a post as coach of a hockey team.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he has already decided to run in Saskatchewan.

Woman Driver Impaired

TORONTO (CP)—A 35-year-old woman truck driver was fined $50 Tuesday for driving while impaired. Police said they stopped a truck driven by Kathryn McInnes of Holstein at a downtown intersection at 1:45 a.m. Feb. 3 because it was moving only five to 10 miles an hour and kept stopping. The woman told the officers the engine was cold.

TORONTO (CP)—Roy H. Thomson, publisher of the Thomson Dailies and president of The Canadian Press, Tuesday night was nominated Progressive Conservative candidate for York Centre in the next federal election. He defeated Nelson A. Boylen, former reeve of suburban North York, on the first ballot.

WELLAND (CP)—William Harold Weatherup, 22, was charged Tuesday with raping a 14-year-old schoolgirl on her way home from school Monday. He was also charged with attempted rape of a 24-year-old woman who complained she was molested on a street near a park last Friday.

Commons Hears Complaints From Sugar Beet Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—Members from Canada's sugar-beet areas complained Tuesday night in the Commons about the unrestricted flow of Cuban refined sugar into this country.

J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West) said sugar-beet growers are alarmed and "suspended on the brink of bankruptcy because they don't know what government policy is."

He predicted that if nothing is done there won't be any sugar-beet growing or any refining in Canada this year. As soon as navigation opened Cuban refined sugar would "flood the market."

He urged negotiations with Cuban officials to restrict imports of refined sugar. Canada now has an agreement to take 75,000 tons of raw Cuban sugar a year in 1951-52-53 but there was no restriction on the flow of refined sugar to the Canadian market.

But A. Wesley Stuart (L—Charlotte) said there should be no interference with the Cuban sugar agreement under which Canada sells Maritime fish and potatoes to that country. It had been of great benefit to the Maritimes.

DECREASED COSTS

Recently the same members who now complained were criticizing the high cost of living. Cuban sugar imports had decreased the price of sugar in Canada.

Mr. Murphy interjected that he is not complaining about importation of raw sugar under the agreement, but of refined sugar. As for the price, it was based on New York.

Mr. Murphy said there is no "dumping" of Cuban sugar on the Canadian market. Cuba was "smart" and was not selling her sugar cheaper in this country than at home so that her exports might become subject to a dumping duty by Canada.

He suggested to the government "not to sacrifice an industry that is so important to our economy and could be even more important in the event of a shooting war."

"FED UP"

L. E. Cardiff (PC—Huron North) said he is "getting fed up" with the argument that the cost of living should be brought down at the expense of the primary producer. If the primary producer couldn't get a fair return then the whole economic structure was upset.

Mr. Cardiff said it is "ridiculous" to penalize a long-established industry like sugar-beet growing for the sake of letting a little refined sugar into Canada.

Hugh MacKenzie (L—Lambton-Kent), referring to what Mr. Stuart said about fish, said the sugar-beet industry plays an important part in the Canadian economy.

"I do not think it is fair to have such an industry bear the brunt of distress sugar entering Canada," he added. He said he hopes some "amicable solution" can be reached with Cuba.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS IN BUSINESS

MR. J. B. GRAFTON 1st President 1853 — COL. J. J. GRAFTON 2nd President 1909 — GRAFTON'S FIRST STORE IN 1853 — MRS. J. J. GRAFTON 3rd President 1939 — MR. STEWART PHILP 4th President 1946

Founded by pioneer Canadian stock in 1853, we today proudly mark the completion of a full century of service to four generations of Canadians, with the unique record —not granted to many business firms in Canada—of being under the direction of but one family during the whole of our hundred years.

Confederation was still fourteen years in the future when Mr. James Beatty Grafton, in 1853, opened his store in Dundas—the village in which Mr. Mackenzie King's grandfather was also in business. Gentlemen then wore tall beaver hats, while their ladies wore bonnets and crinolines, shopped for cassimeres, and paid their bills in pounds, shillings and pence. And, even in those early days, Mr. Grafton laid down a policy which has been faithfully carried on ever since—that of honorable and fair dealing to all.

From modest beginnings Grafton's have grown to ten modern stores in nine Ontario cities, besides their modern warehouse and factory in Dundas; supplying Men's clothing direct from maker to wearer, Men's furnishings, Boys' clothing and furnishings, as well as Dry Goods. For this long period of growth with Canada we are both proud and grateful, and now look forward to our second century of progress and service.

TRADE MARK REGISTERED HIGH GRADE

At the First Sign of a COLD

Take 2 Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water...

and feel better FAST!

Here's sound and effective advice about colds.

No matter how you try to stop or shorten a cold, the first thing to do—before you do anything else—is to take Aspirin.

You should do this because a cold is almost invariably accompanied by muscular aches and pains—and a headachy, feverish feeling. And for your own good, you need a medication that will relieve these distressing symptoms—relieve them quickly.

One reason Aspirin tablets bring this relief is that they're ready to go to work with amazing speed . . . actually start disintegrating almost instantly.

So don't experiment with a cold. Use Aspirin. And for sore throats due to colds, gargle 3 times daily with 3 Aspirin tablets dissolved in ½ of a glass of water.

Senator Says Queen Elizabeth I

OTTAWA (CP) — A Scottish-born senator who never lost the burr in his speech Tuesday night said that Queen Elizabeth is really Elizabeth I not Elizabeth II as described in the royal style and title.

Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia) made the statement in the Senate during debate on a new style and title for the Queen. The bill setting out the wording for the royal style was given final approval. It already has passed the Commons and now needs only royal assent before becoming law.

Senator Reid was born at Cambuslang, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1909, at the age of 23. He said that Queen Elizabeth who reigned in England in the 16th century never was Queen of Scotland, nor was she Queen of Canada which at that time was still French territory.

(The crowns of England and Scotland were united in 1603 when James VI of Scotland became James I of England.)

SHOULD BE ACCURATE

He said that in the interests of historical accuracy these facts should be taken note of by those who framed the new royal style and title.

Another Scotsman, Senator Donald MacLeman (L-Nova Scotia) said Queen Elizabeth is really a Scottish queen, not English. She is a direct descendant of James VI of Scotland who became King of England when the line of English kings died out.

Senator MacLennan also said he is surprised that Senator R. B. Horner (PC-Saskatchewan) has made no protest about the wording in the royal style describing the Queen as "Defender of the Faith."

That was a title bestowed by the Pope on King Henry VIII. In view of that he had expected Senator Horner, who last year advocated abolition of separate schools, to move that the words be struck out.

NEW STYLE

The new style to be used on proclamations reads:

"Elizabeth the Second, by the grace of God of the United Kingdom, Canada and her other realms and territories, Queen, head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith."

The former style:

"Elizabeth the Second by the grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas Queen, Defender of the Faith."

Blames Cat For Divorce

DETROIT (CP) — Mrs. Retha Denning said Tuesday in applying for a divorce that she didn't mind when her husband, Wilber, treated his pet cat better than he did her.

She told Judge Thomas J. Murphy she didn't object when he fed the cat choice tidbits from her plate, or when Wilber elected to cuddle the cat instead of her, or even when he insisted that the cat sleep with them.

She said relations became strained when the cat, in a fit of temper, bit her on the foot and Mrs. Denning had to be confined to hospital for two weeks.

The last straw came, she said, when her husband demanded she apologize to the cat and "kiss and make up."

"I thought that was unreasonable," she said.

Judge Murphy granted the divorce.

Twin's Condition Said Unchanged

CHICAGO (AP) — The condition of Rodney Dee Brodie, surviving Siamese twin, was reported unchanged today after his fourth plastic surgical operation.

A hospital spokesman said the 16-month-old boy withstood Tuesday's operation "as well as could be expected." He was under surgery for two hours as surgeons covered most of the remaining portion of his exposed brain.

The child's brain was left exposed when he was separated from his head-joined brother, Roger Lee Dec. 17. Roger died Jan. 20 without regaining consciousness.

Surgeons said the remaining exposed portion of Rodney's brain, an area 2½ inches long and one-half inch wide at the front of his head, will be covered as soon as his condition permits.

Chokes On Teeth

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A house painter was taken to hospital after his false teeth lodged in his throat at a tavern yesterday. A waitress, Mrs. Elsie Smith, said she saw Albert Tate choke and turn blue in the face. He threw his head back and she spotted his upper plate lodged in his throat. Mrs. Smith said she pulled out the plate. Tate was in good condition in hospital.

Permission Sought To Lay Pipeline

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The first move was made today to permit a Canadian pipeline company to lay its lines across the northern and southern peninsulas of Michigan and the Straits of Mackinac to carry crude oil from Alberta to eastern Ontario.

A bill was filed in the Senate to authorize the state conservation department to grant easements and issue permits for the laying of pipelines across any state-owned land under the department's jurisdiction and over, through, under and upon all unpatented overflow lands, made lands and lake bottom lands belonging to or held in trust by the state of Michigan."

The sponsors are Senators Felix H. H. Flynn (R-Cadillac) and William A. Ellsworth (R-St. Ignace).

Attorney General Frank G. Millard recently held a legislative act was necessary to permit a pipeline crossing of the straits.

The Interprovincial Pipeline Company of Canada has announced plans to construct a pipeline running from Superior, Wis., terminal of its present line from Alberta, to Sarnia, Ont.

Worsening Traffic Conditions Expected On Canadian Highways

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada's highways face worsening traffic conditions, C. W. Gilchrist, managing director of the Canadian Good Roads association, said today.

Addressing the Ontario Good Roads Association in Toronto, Mr. Gilchrist stated:

"Unless building is stepped up and continued at a constant level in the years ahead, we shall find ourselves becoming even more deeply bogged down in the traffic quagmire. . .

"To bring our highways and streets up to a tolerable standard of efficiency we shall have to spend more than $100,000,000 each year more than we now are spending, and keep on spending it.

"Where is the money, the engineers and the skilled help which would be needed? There is no pat answer. But if we don't find the money we are going to pay anyway in lost time, lost life and lost opportunity.

"The main emphasis of our public education should be to tell the taxpayers the truth, the stark financial facts, distasteful as they may be."

In addition to ordinary difficulties of keeping pace with highway needs, said Mr. Gilchrist, "we have yet to consider the road requirements of the potentially-rich Northeast and Northwest."

"In the next quarter-century they will undoubtedly become keys to the continent's industrial might. Road transport will be a valuable part of our transportation systems into those areas, and will make the exploitation of mineral wealth economically feasible.

"Regarded as an investment, roads into those areas will pay rich dividend . . . many roads the additional revenues the provincial government obtains in gasoline tax alone from the increased traffic the road has generated have more than paid for its construction and maintenance.

"The Ontario government recently estimated that the province's highway investment of $1,500,000,000 returns a dividend of nine per cent from gasoline taxes, motor-vehicle registrations and other sources. This, by every yardstick, is a very profitable investment."

Mr. Gilchrist said population increase of the last 25 years indicates a Canadian population in 1978, 25 years hence, of 20,800,000, compared with today's 14,800,000, vehicles would increase from 3,100,000 to 5,700,000.

Only a co-operative approach from all levels — municipal, provincial and federal — could solve the nation-wide problem.

BRONZE ARROW COURSE

Time is getting short for those patrol leaders who have not already sent in their registrations for the patrol leaders' training course being held in Trinity Church School on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 20 and 21, 1953.

CANADIAN JAMBOREE

One of the rules being set down for those attending the Canadian Jamboree in Ottawa this July is, that, all boys will have to camp in "two man" tents. Any boys planning to attend from this district should start investigations about this item. Some of you will be able to build your own and we will be glad to assist in the construction.

FIELD DAY NOTES

The afternoon events will start off with a treasure hunt and will include every group on the grounds. One of the senior boys will be given a sealed bag and, at the sound of a whistle, shall open the bag and the hunt will be on. This is a Scout event.

In the Cub section there will a dressing relay with only one boy on the team. Boys will place their clothing at intervals along a stretch of about 150 feet. Boys will race along the course and will pick up his belongings and dress in this order: Sockets with garter tabs (tabs must not be sewn to the stocking), shoes, jersey, neckerchief and cap. After the boy has crossed the finish line, he must not adjust his clothing in any way and will be examined as to neatness, proper dress, etc. The first boy over the finish line is not necessarily the winner. The first boy over the finish line who is correctly dressed is the winner. To enter, each boys must have shoes with laces.

ARMOUR GROUP

In the Pack Art McNabb led the grand howl around the council rock where Randy Cummings and Glen Turkington were given their white neckerchiefs the symbol that they have been fully accepted into the Pack. Another step was made in the direction of the jungle atmosphere as sixers were given their names as follows: Ray Baptie, Tawny Fur; Don Morrison, Grey Brother; Gord Sanderson, Red Fang; Ron Worboy, White Claw; Bob MacDonald, Black Plume; Glenn Walker, Brown Tip.

Tawny Fur was presented with his observer and house orderly badge; Black Plume, the artist, guide and first aider badges; Bill Bonney received the collector's badge, and John Reynolds, artist. Art McNabb passed time-telling tests and Don Ebbs, sketches and first aid.

Scouter Hank Nokes was busy with the troop demonstrating artificial respiration, this being extra on the first class first aid instruction being given the troop by Mr. D. Rose. Examination on this work will be carried out in four weeks. A good attendance was on hand for the evening, games of "Kelly Says" and "Hunt the Beaver" included in the evening's activities. All boys were reminded of the annual banquet being held on February 17.

Peter Sanderson passed gadgets and Bill McNabb completed laws and promise.

SACRED HEART

At the Pack meeting last week we had a surprise visitor in Skipper G. The Pack is really going ahead with full strength and has a long waiting list. Three six corners are in operation with two more under construction. The Sixers are now known as Brothers with the name of the colors in front of such as Red Brother Six of the Red Six.

Following inspection with the troop a game of "library" was held under ASM Garlin. This took the form of each team in relay formation at one end of room and the book "Scouting for Boys" on a chair at the other end. As numbers were called the boys had to run to book, open at page bearing that number. Invested Scouts received instruction on the use of the triangular bandage while recruits took up tenderfoot tests. At campfire the beaver patrol presented a skit and Scouter Morris brought the attention of all boys to the collection of box flaps for the raising of money for camp.

ALL SAINTS

The Bulldog Patrol came through to gain the pennant from the Wolves this week at a meeting at which the old game of British Bulldog held prime spot in the game period.

In the Pack the Blue Six again won the honor neckerchief with high points for the evening. Games of "farmer and orchard" and "gossip" were played with the last game showing how idle talk can make things bad for many people. David Fletcher led in the opening cermonies.

ST. PAUL'S

Some 25 Cubs met at the council rock as Richard Ward called them to the grand howl and then, before Akela and the Pack Bob McGavin was made a full member of the Brotherhood of Scouting when he was invested as a Wolf Cub. Group chairman John Anderson related a very interesting story "True to Death." A knot relay gave Cubs a chance to blow off some steam before a real practice of the display "Up the Cubbing Ladder" in readiness for the annual banquet. Peter Philp received his house orderly badge. Full uniform will be the order of the day starting Monday, Feb. 16 and on Sunday, Feb. 22 we will join in a joint church parade being held in St. Andrew's Church in commemoration of the birth of our late founder Lord Baden Powell of Gilwell.

GEORGE STREET

Four new names were written into the log book. Donald Heintzman, Jimmy Payne and Billy Allison became full members of the world wide scout movement and Dough Hughey given his white kerchief, the symbol that he had been accepted into the council as a new Chum. Instruction in knotting, cleanliness and signalling was interspersed with games of crows and cranes and the dark game. Total attendance record marked up 35 boys and four leaders, whilst on the progress chart Teddy Howard, Bernie Montgomery, Bobby Vance and Ralph Gatfield chalked up stars for passing time, Ralph adding another for cleanliness.

MARK ST.

The orange six took over the red flower program at the last meeting, with the outstanding features being a piano solo by Roger Denessen and a very interesting reading by Douglas Dickson. No tests were passed, the main items being Morse signalling under Baloo Bill Brady and health instruction by Akela. The red six ran off with the most points for the evening.

ST. ALBAN'S

On Thursday we travelled to Lakefield for a visit to the Lakefield Sea Scout headquarters as guests of that troop. Sea Scout patrol leaders were elected; they were blindfolded and placed in their respective patrol corners. Then the troop, who had been outside, came in one by one and went to the patrol of their choice. Skipper Ken Jakins and Scouter Walter Wood discussed tentative plans by which the Lakefield troop will start off from their headquarters and St. Alban's would meet at Scouters on Pigeon Lake, with the groups to meet on some small lake and spend the week-end next summer.

On Tuesday five new members were attached to the troop, in which Cubs Max Kimball, Ted Higgins, John Perry, Gordie Barnes and John Holland were conducted off the cub trail by Akela Bob Miller, to be met half way where the cub and scout trail met by Scouter Walter Wood. Max Kimball and Gordie Barnes are now attached to the beaver patrol; Ted Higgins and John Holland to the owl patrol; John Perry is now a member of the fox patrol. At 7.30 the group marched over to the new Kenner Collegiate for their first meeting in that building. Art Little and Rick Lindsay picked up teams for basketball; Art's team known as the Shirts and Rick's the Skins, and operated on the two-platoon method. The Shirts won 9 to 6. Ken Ruttan's application to join the troop was accepted.

The owl patrol went hiking on Sunday, under Patrol Leader Larry Griffen, assisted by APL Larry Wood. The red six of the pack also took in a hike to Dobbin's woods.

KIBBLEWHITE ROVER SCOUTS

At the business meeting for February, treasurer Kelvin Johnson was asked to take charge of "operation Kandersteg". Kel will also act as our dispatcher, seeing to it that all the work that we have contracted to do is done on time, and to see that the work is distributed around so that everyone will get a fair share of it.

In regards to our "operation Kandersteg", I have heard of several cases where the question has been put to the crew, "Who is this Dave Hatton that is going to represent Peterborough at the Swiss Moot?" So, since there is very little news this week, I shall attempt to answer this question.

Dave was born here in Peterborough some twenty odd years ago, but acquired most of his Scouting in the Lakeshore District just outside of Toronto when he was living in the little village of Long-Branch.

Dave was a member of the 1st Long Branch Scout Troop from 1942-8 inclusive, and during that time he rose from the rank of recruit to Troop Leader, and qualified for his King's Scout (or Queen's Scout as it is now called), Bushman's Thong, "A" Cord, and Bronze Arrow.

In 1945, Dave earned his Cub Instructor Badge, and by 1947 he was in charge of the 1st Long Branch Wolf Cub Pack, although he actually was too young to be registered as such. In February 1948 he was appointed Acting Cubmaster with the rank of Assistant Cubmaster, and in 1951 he was appointed Cubmaster of the 1st Long Branch "A" Wolf Cub Pack. In the summer of 1951, Dave attended the Akela Gilwell course at Blue Springs Scout Reserve (near Acton), and hopes to be able to complete his Akela Wood Badge requirements very soon.

Dave returned to Peterborough in early September 1951, but did not join the crew until mid October of the same year. In the spring of 1952, he was elected to the position of Assistant Mate, and from June until November he assumed the position of Acting Mate, due to the fact that the Mate was in the process of getting married. Then, in November he was elected as Mate, a position which he still holds.

The crew has a tradition that no member may be married until he has been invested as a Rover. However, Squire Tom Payton broke the tradition when he was accepted as a Squire, because he was already married. So, Tom was presented with a Dishonourable Divorse Certificate which he was told had to be presented to his wife. Now everything is O.K. again. Our tradition is restored.

Queen Juliana, meanwhile, set out by boat to tour flooded areas and watch long lines of men toiling to repair battered sea barriers.

Send 2 Melons To Dying Woman

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Two watermelons, being rushed 1,750 miles from Miami, Fla., to Brantford, to fulfill the last wish of a seriously-ill woman, passed through here Tuesday.

The search started when relatives of the unidentified woman, suffering an incurable disease, said she expressed the desire to taste watermelon before she dies.

The Brantford Lions Club started a hunt. After getting in touch with several Lions Clubs in the southern states it located two melons in deep freeze in Miami.

They arrived in nearby Detroit by air where three Windsor Lions picked them up and rushed them across the border. An aircraft from the Brant-Norfolk aero club of Brantford flew them to Brantford.

Slept 7 Years In Trams

CHICAGO (AP)—A 73-year-old woman revealed Tuesday she has spent the nights of the last seven years sleeping on Chicago streetcars because "a trolley's got a rooming house beat a mile for comfort—and it's cheaper." Mrs. Anna Cox told the story from a hospital bed, where she is recovering from a broken leg suffered in a traffic accident Jan. 16.

CONVERT WINDSOR HYDRO

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Hydro commission employees Tuesday started the last lap in the conversion in the Windsor area of domestic and industrial electrical units from 25 to 60 cycle power. There are some 7,571 customers in the final district to be converted. Officials said they expected the job to be completed by May 11.

Offer New Insurance Package Policy

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan's CCF government has brought out a new government automobile insurance "package policy" that sells for $1.50 a year less than one previously sold but raises the "collision deductible" from $25 to $50.

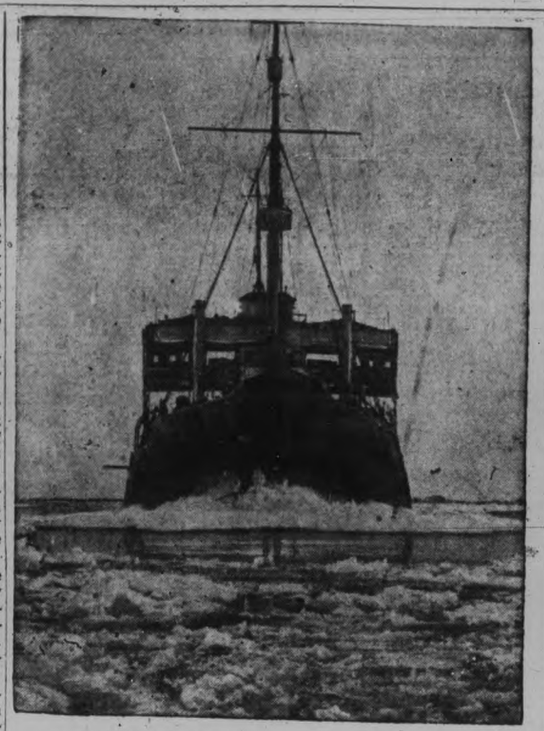
The new policy announced Monday combines all types of insurance at a flat rate of $16 a year. But when motorists smash their fenders they must pay the first $50 of the repair bill instead of $25 formerly. The policy includes $50,000 public liability protection.

Motorists who want $25 deductible protection can have it for an extra $9. For the added fee, they also get public liability coverage of $100,000.

These policies supplement the basic $100-deductible compulsory policy, the premium on which recently was raised from $10 annually to $20 for late-model cars. The compulsory policy limits public liability coverage to $20,000.

The basic $100 deductible is compulsory. The additional protection in the "package policy" is optional.

INCLUDED IN POLICY



The package policy includes practically everything to give complete coverage such as fire, theft, public liability, collision and other protection.

Provincial Treasurer Clarence Fines, minister in charge of the government insurance office, said the new $16 "package policy" will appeal to many motorists who find the $100 deductible feature of the compulsory policy too much to assume but are able to foot repair bills up to $50.

The new package policies will be issued for passenger cars and farm trucks of any size.

In addition to the compulsory insurance and the optional "package" plans the Saskatchewan driver's licence fee includes $2 for insurance. This recently was increased from $1.

Accordingly, maximum protection under government insurance plans costs $47 for a late-model car—$20 basic, $25 for the "extended package" and $2 assessed in the driver's licence fee.

More Strikers Return To Textile Plant

LOUISEVILLE, Que. (CP) — Their 11-month strike apparently ended, former employees of Associated Textiles Ltd. continued their trek back to the plant Tuesday.

"About 300 showed up Monday asking for jobs," said Oscar Marc-Aurel, plant manager. "The personnel office has been filled again Tuesday.

"During Monday and Tuesday we have taken back about 100 and now have about 600 workers exclusive of supervisory staffs. We are going to run two full shifts, eight hours each, and expect them to be filled this week. We will then have around 720 workers."

Mr. Marc-Aurel said the returning workers are being paid rates offered by the company when the plant was declared open July 21 last. A 12-cent hourly increase was put in effect then, which he said was the figure rejected by the strikers who walked out last March. They numbered about 800 then and they sought a 20-cent-an-hour increase over the hourly wage of 73 cents.

NEW HANDS TAKEN ON

Since re-opening of the plant in July, some former employees have returned and new hands were taken on from neighboring communities.

In Montreal, three labor organizations linked with the strike issued statements critical of the company and provincial government but without definitely stating the strike had been called off.

The Louiseville Textile Syndicate's statement said "the union has decided not to drop from membership those members who return to work."

The back-to-work movement followed a closed meeting Sunday night of the Louiseville Syndicate and officials of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor and the National Catholic Textile Federation.

Ask Overhaul Tax Structure

HAMILTON (CP)—Ontario real estate men urged the provincial government Tuesday to overhaul the municipal tax structure and limit amounts allocated for educational purposes.

Ending a three-day annual conference, the Ontario Association of Real Estate Brokers approved resolutions aimed at tightening municipal spending and providing more money for essential civic services.

The group claimed some education boards tended to include extravagant features in design and construction of schools. The government was asked to consider a limit on amounts allotted for education "consistent with the areas concerned."

Commit Parents To Stand Trial

KITCHENER (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry William Paepcke of nearby Elmira Tuesday were committed for trial on a charge of murdering their daughter, Glenis, 3.

At the preliminary hearing the court was told that a post-mortem, following the child's death Jan. 27, revealed about 75 bruises on her body. Cause of death was a brain haemorrhage.

Witnesses said Mrs. Paepcke told them the child had fallen from the toilet. They testified they had seen the little girl bearing bruises previous to her death and had often seen the mother spank her.

Paepcke's statement made to police officers was entered as evidence, but was not read in court.

Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick said that in it Paepcke had admitted spanking the child with a belt the day previous to her death.

Abandoned Family

PARIS, Ont. (CP)—William Fitness was sentenced Tuesday to six months for abandoning and not supporting his wife and seven children. Fitness was arrested in Edmonton Jan. 31 and brought back here by plane. Magistrate R. J. Gillen, before passing sentence, asked Fitness if he had anything to say. Fitness replied: "Just guilty, that's all."

City Approach To Fluorine Still Conservative; Study Others' Experiments

Otonabee Water Already Contains Fraction Of Amount Believed Necessary To Decrease Dental Cavities Effectively

Peterborough's approach to putting fluorine in city water is likely to remain conservative. City officials are watching with interest the experiments in other communities but they have not yet decided to adopt similar measures here. The theory is that water containing one part per million of fluorine cuts down on dental cavities—particularly in children up to the ages of eight or nine years. An analysis by the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys shows that the natural supply of fluorine in city water varies between a fifth and a tenth of this amount. Tests were taken over a two-year period and a report was made to Howard Powell, assistant manager of the Peterborough Utilities, last May.

Many communities have no flurorine at all in their water supply but where there is any it is generally about the same as Peterborough.

A year ago Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, said that an interim report on fluoridation of water at Brantford—taken after a study of five years—indicated that there had been a decrease in the number of dental cavities in school children.

At that time Dr. Kelly said that nobody should rush away with the idea that this proved the desirability of spiking the city's water with fluorine. During the same five-year period there had been a decrease in the number of dental cavities among Peterborough school children, and nothing had been added to the drinking water.

OTHER WAYS BETTER

During that time children's teeth could have been looked after better—perhaps through the intensive campaign for oral hygiene. And the children may have consumed more milk and had a better balanced diet.

In short, in the opinion of Dr. Kelly, the whole subject needed more investigation and statistics should be more carefully analyzed before a definite conclusion could be drawn from the Brantford report.

Since then the Board of Health has been marking time, waiting for more conclusive evidence.

Dr. D. P. Wells, the present MOH, also counselled against hastily plunging into a fluoridization program.

(One authority estimated that such a program would cost about $2,000 a year. And most of the effect would be wasted because only a small percentage of the city's processed water is drunk.)

AWAIT REACTION

"I haven't gone into the matter very much," said Dr. Wells. "We have been waiting to see what the reaction would be in Toronto . . . I've felt it was a matter that could be kept over while more important matters occupied my attention."

He suggested a "conservative" attitude toward a fluoridization program. There would have to be a check on the community needs, and the question would have to be asked "Will it produce the results wanted"?

Dr. William X. Blackburn, Hunter St. dentist, recalled that a year ago the Peterborough Dental Association refused to make any recommendation regarding fluorine.

"It's probably helpful to one-tenth of one per cent of the total population," said Dr. Blackburn. That's not a high percentage of effectiveness but it probably does help.

"Personally I'd rather see the fluorine put in milk. Then the right people (chiefly young children) would be getting it—and here's another consideration—probably the right people would be paying for it."

Dr. Blackburn said that at present the total effectiveness of flourine was "very hard to evaluate."

School Upkeep Costs $207,245 In 1953 Budget

Estimates totalling $207,245 were approved by the property committee of the Board of Education on Tuesday evening. These now will be sent to the finance committee to be included in the 1953 educational budget.

This is an increase of $27,169 over last year and is largely accounted for in the extra cost of operating the enlarged school system in Peterborough. This year the cost of operating Kenner Collegiate is added to the 12-month period and operating the new Armour Heights school and Cameron St. school for four months.

The public school budget amounts to $129,895 an increase of $15,523; the collegiate academic $43,480 an increase of $5,490 and the collegiate vocational $33,870 an increase of $8,156.

Some of the larger items in the budget are: caretakers' salaries, $79,850; supplies, $8,100; fuel, $29,500; light, water and power, $10,600; taxes (garbage tax), $2,750; maintenance wages, $27,200; repairs, $22,000; city hall rental, $5,400; furniture, $3,000; cost of living bonus, $9,070, and unemployment insurance, $900.

Suggested major repairs include a new roof on Queen Alexandra school, exterior painting to Central school, new roof on part of South Central school, painting and repairing PCVS auditorium; preparations for a new shop in South Central school and placing of fluorescent lighting in several rooms at the PCVS.

Civic Hospital Report Shows $3,163 Surplus In 1952

An excess of revenue over expenditure of $3,163.55 during 1952 was reported by T. T. Rodger, treasurer of the Peterborough Civic Hospital Board of Governors, at the annual meeting Tuesday night. Total revenue for the year was $1,015,501.81, nearly $164,000 above that of 1951. Expenditures totalling $1,012,338.26 were greater than those of $881,557.39 in 1951 but the surplus of $3,163.55 contrasted sharply with the 1951 deficit of $40,033.05.

A big item in the increased revenue was that received from patients which totalled $647,314.77, nearly $42,000 more than a year ago.

Principal factor in the increase of expenditures was higher wage costs—accounting for nearly 70 per cent. of total expenses—wages and salaries amounting to $698,011.85 in 1952.

NEED FOR SUBSIDY

This and other factors created a continuing need of the hospital that it be subsidized by the city, Mr. Rodger claimed, pointing out that the hospital had received approximately $35,000 more from the city in 1952 than in 1951.

He emphasized, however, that the total subsidy from the city would be considerably reduced were the actual cost of the city's indigent patients met by the corporation—as is so in the case of Peterborough County's indigent patients.

During the greater part of 1952, the hospital's financing problems were notably eased in comparison with those experienced in 1951, Mr. Rodger said. Accounts receivable had been reduced by $4,372; there ws $11,810 greater reserve available, and of the 1952 accounts $54,398 or 48.6 per cent. of the total were protected, as compared with $49,050 or 42.2 per cent. in 1951.

"While it is not possible at this time to predict with accuracy the likely total revenue for 1953, we are, however, aware that inescapable expenditure increases will require to be provided," Mr. Rodger concluded.

Dr. G. Stewart Cameron, chairman of the school of nursing committee, reported that in keeping with the requirements of provincial statute law affiliation had been maintained with the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, where groups of students, generally from intermediate classes, go for 12 weeks' training. Anticipating compulsory training in treatment of mental illness, the school has secured admission of students for training at the Ontario Hospital, Whitby.

SAN AFFILIATION

Consideration will be given at a later date to affiliation of the hospital with the Weston Sanatorium for instruction in the care of tuberculosis patients.

The committee had accepted the advice of the faculty that student nurses should wear caps at all times while on duty, even during the probationary period. The tra-

JOHN MADDEN is the new president of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, succeeding Gordon McGavin, 1952 president.

Elect Madden C Of C President

John Madden was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

The election was held at a board meeting: Gordon Dobbin was elected vice-president, T. E. McKay, treasurer, and James Fraser, secretary.

The board decided to go on record as approving the payroll deduction system of contribution to the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund, March 6-18, for its retail section. A motion was passed that instructions be given to the retail section to support the adoption of payroll deduction by city retailers.

City Consults Township On Street Annexation

City council intends to consult North Monaghan council about joint action to expropriate the west end of Weller St., that was retained by Hugh Stewart when the city bought 19 acres of his lands for the site of Civic Hospital.

At finance committee Monday night, it was proposed that, "We ask them to go in with us and clean it up." It was remarked that there had been rumors of the sale of the Stewart property of late, but the last information the Examiner heard, was to the effect that enquiries had not culminated in transfer, at least not yet.

Street Railway Barns To Fall, Built In 1895

Demolition of the old Peterborough Radial Railway Co. car barn on King St., now the property of Don McGillis, is likely to begin next week.

Harry Kinsella will do the razing. He had partnership in the job of clearing the houses on Charlotte and Louis St. from the site of the federal government's postal-customs building now in construction.

The spacious barn was built in 1895 or 1896 by a former street railway company, as recalled by Harry Beal of Frederick Ave. In his memory it was the latter year. Incidentally Mr. Beal has been confined to his house for the last month.

Then it was acquired by the Hydro-Electric Commission in the purchase of the multiple interests of the Electric Power Company including power and gas plants, street railway and various assets. That was about 1913-14 when the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson set up public ownership of power in this Central-Eastern Ontario as an extension of the Hydro-Electric Power system.

LAST IN 1929

The Hydro continued operation of the street cars until 1929 when the Border Transit Ltd. ventured into bus operation here after the Hydro had decided to fold up its transportation service. Head of that company was the late Frank Mitchell of Windsor.

In 1936 Border Transit paid the city $12,000 for the King St., barn for the housing of his established and greatly enlarged fleet of buses. Apparently, in 1949, Irwin-Godson Ltd. were thinking of moving from their George St. location at King St. It was reported they paid $27,500 for the building which was later bought by Mr. McGillis for $37,000.

That is the comparatively recent background of the barn of the old street railway which at one time ran its tracks to the Auburn terminus on the west side of the river about opposite the old woolen mills; then south to the foot of Lock St., and to Jackson Park and the C.G.E.

The late T. Evans Bradburn was once prominently identified with the street railway about the turn of the century.

First owner of the King St. lot was John Brown who obtained it from the Crown in 1832 and sold part of his property in 1841. Names which were later attached to the land were Aaron Comstock, grandfather of Max Comstock, J. C. Shook, Mr. Bradburn, Alfred Parker, who operated a dye-works on the east side of the creek at Charlotte St., Harry Rush, Thomas Cahill, Robert C. Smith.

Ardent Smokers

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Smoking at hockey games here has become such a problem that civic officials decided to have Minto arena patrolled by uniformed police and firemen.

Busy Day

Health Minister Paul Martin, guest speaker at the Citizen of the Year dinner tonight in honor of Robertson Davies, editor of The Examiner, had a busy agenda before him when he arrived today. Shortly after his arrival, he had an informal lunch with members of the local Liberal association. Then his visit to both city hospitals began, and the visit was expected to conclude not too long before the dinner tonight. He expected to leave the city soon after the dinner.

Social Worker Needed At Civic

Need for a social worker at Peterborough Civic Hospital was suggested by Superintendent John Hornal Tuesday night.

Mr. Hornal told the annual meeting of the Board of Governors that a trained social worker could help in the adjustment of many problems associated with sickness and hospitalization where mental sickness is not immediately involved.

AID GENERAL HEALTH

"While no opinion is offered from a medical angle, it is felt that the service offered by such a person would contribute something not only to the mental but also to the general health of the community," the hospital superintendent said.

"As 1952 passes the impression is strengthened that the problem of mental health is one of the most serious the community is facing. It is not suggested that this community is unique, but that the conditions of modern life are accentuating this problem in various ways.

MENTAL STRESSES

"We cannot be engaged in hospital work without being conscious of the tremendous mental stresses people must undergo and the effect that these have upon their health. The feeling develops from our administrative experience that the correlation of our community resources to help people under stress would be better achieved if a trained social worker was available.

"There is no doubt that if a mental health clinic is established here that a trained social worker will be a member of the team, but this person will only have time for cases referred to the mental health clinic.

"To a community conscious of high hospitalization rates, it must be of as great importance to prevent illness as to cure it."

Fast-Growing Family

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP)—The Van der Schyff family at Parys has had nine children in 12 years of married life. The family includes one set of triplets and two sets of twins.

Return Swanston Chairman Hospital Board

Max J. Swanston was re-elected chairman of the Board of Governors of Peterborough Civic Hospital at the annual meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers re-elected: R. R. Stewart, reeve of Otonabee township, vice-chairman; T. T. Rodger, treasurer, and John Hornal, secretary.

Committee chairmen are: M. J. Swanston, executive; T. T. Roger, finance; J. L. Welsh, property and house; Dr. G. S. Cameron, school of nursing.

MAX J. SWANSTON

John Hornal was re-oppointed superintendent and Miss Evelyn Robson, director of nursing and principal of the school of nursing.

Thanking his colleagues for re-electing him, Mr. Swanston said Peterborough had "truly a citizens' and a civic hospital" through co-operation of the board, officials and staff, whom he commended for maintaining the support of the community. He also welcomed T. J. Carley, QC, to board membership.

SERIOUS BURDEN

In presenting his report, Mr. Swanston termed the care of indigent patients "a serious burden on the hospital and the city of Peterborough." He said it was significant that the indigent patient days' stay for 1952 had increased by 2,317 over 1951, from 8,651 to 10,968, or nearly 27 per cent.

Expressing appreciation to Peterborough County for continuing to recognize its responsibility for the cost of treatment of indigent patients from the county, the chairman said: "Until such time as a more realistic formula can be worked out for the payment of the care of indigent patients it is gratifying to have our neighboring municipality shoulder fully those costs of indigent patients from their territory not covered by statutory rates and government grants."

STUDY EXPANSION

Expansion of facilities for treatment of poliomyelitis and psychiatry in co-operation with the provincial department of health was also being considered by the board, Mr. Swanston said.

Pointing out that hospital costs had reached an all-time high, Mr. Swanston called for a continued effort by the board to "reduce or contain this cost, consistent with satisfactory service."

Tribute was paid to the late John R. Marshall, honorary chairman of the board, who died April 25 of last year. The chairman announced that the board, through a special committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. E. Fanning, had planned a bronze tablet as a memorial to Mr. Marshall.

New Year's Invitation

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, (AP)—The British have invited Malay's guerrilla rebels—98 per cent of them Chinese—to come out of the jungle for a traditional Chinese New Year feast Saturday. "Remember preserved ducks, sausages and meat?" asked 15,000 cards showered from RAF planes over North Malaya. "Just think how happy your New Year can be. . . ."

Chief Favors Water

Sound Predicted As Future Fire Quencher

Just because she's outworn her welcome, don't throw your mother-in-law out into the snow. Her high-pitched yackety-yak may yet prove of more value than a present-day fire extinguisher, or even a paid-up fire insurance policy.

A United States expert has come up with the theory that noise—or supersonic sound waves— if you will—is going to replace axe and hoseline in the armory of firefighters' weapons.

According to Dale K. Auck, authority from the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies, the fires of tomorrow will be put out by beaming high frequency sound waves at them. Cumbersome hoselines spewing volumes of water all over the place will be a thing of the past.

If shrillness becomes not only a virtue but also a necessity in this Buck Rogerish future then, mother-in-law seems destined to come into her own at last.

But to Mr. Auck, a high-domed electrical engineer, the theory is not to be passed off as a gag at the expense of mother-in-law. He's deadly serious about it.

Interviewed by an NEA correspondent, Mr. Auck explained: "In a laboratory you can bend or diminish the flame of a Bunsen burner by bouncing sound waves against it. There's no reason the same thing couldn't be done with bigger blazes as our knowledge of sound increases."

As envisioned by Mr. Auck the futuristic fire department would have a large generator with its own power unit. A large dish-shaped antenna, similar to a radar search screen, would be attached.

If fire broke out the firemen would lay down their horseshoes or blackjack cards and aim the antenna at the blaze. The generator would send out directed high-frequency sound waves and snuff out the flames in nothing flat.

That's the theory, anyway.

"Sounds like a good idea," said Peterborough's fire chief, Ralph Leonard. "All I can say is the sooner they get it the better."

Chief Leonard, who has attended the latest firefighting schools in Great Britain and the United States, admitted it was a new gimmick to him.

He said he had experienced the pleasure of meeting Mr. Auck—a very fine gentleman and a clever chap—but it was the first time he had ever heard of putting out fires with just plain noise.

"In the meanwhile we'll just have to stick to the tried and true method—using plain water," he said cautiously.

At the same time Chief Leonard indicated he was no reactionary. He was always open to new suggestions. The sound weapon, though, seemed mighty close to the territory now occupied exclusively by Buck Rogers, Flash Gordon, and others of that ilk.

An illustration in the NEA article shows a conventionally dressed fireman flashing something that looks like one of the comic heroes' disintegrator guns. A short blast from this sound-weapon would apparently knock out any flames.

Just what it would do to the chandeliers, the windows, and the best kitchen china remains unexplained.

Another suggestion by Mr. Auck is that small sound generators be installed in buildings just like present-day sprinkler systems. If a fire broke out the sonic sprinklers would trigger off in the same way the present hydraulic ones do.

"We're still using the same old fire extinguishing agent—water—that we've been using for ages," said Mr. Auck. "All we've done is to improve its application technique. It's time that we looked for a better agent, and sound waves may be the answer."

OK, mother, start practising the scales.

THIS IS WHITE CANE WEEK

8th Nation-Wide Campaign for Courtesy Assistance to the Blind

It's Up to YOU to Help The Blind!

THE WHITE CANE AS A SYMBOL

As the symbol of blindness, the White Cane signifies the desire of blind men and women for independence and social responsibility. On the street, with the White Cane to guide them, they can travel alone. They are free to come and go as they will. This freedom is conditional to some extent upon the courtesy of the sighted public. But it is freedom nonetheless. Which of us has not become confused in a strange district and asked a passerby to set us on the right road? We don't feel inferior in any way, and once we have got our bearing, we can go on our way. The same is true of the blind man.

The men and women who carry the White Cane are not beings set apart. They seek to enter every phase of ordinary life, finding their way with their White Canes, hoping that those who can see will regard them as the normal citizens that they are.

LISTEN FOR THE TAPPING CANE

- Listen for the Tapping Cane which is the blind man's polite request for assistance. Then "do as you would be done by" and lend a helping hand to the less fortunate.
- A little thought on your part will indicate the right course of action. Don't take things for granted. Always ask the blind man what assistance he needs. He is quite capable of telling you and will not be embarrassed by explaining exactly where he wants to go, what bus he wants to get on, etc.
- Go the whole way. If you are letting a blind man out of your car or have given him other assistance, be sure before leaving him that he knows exactly where he is and that he has his bearings so that he can start off on his own again with confidence and safety.
- If you are driving a car, take a little extra time and give that sightless person with a white cane the right-of-way.

Courtesy and Assistance:

The use of the White Cane is a practical method of assisting the blind to greater independence through the intelligent co-operation of the sighted public. If you wish to be courteous to those who are blind, assist them whenever possible. The following are a few suggestions:

DO allow a blind person to follow you when guiding him off or on a bus.

DO assist the blind person to locate entrances to homes, stores, etc.

DO remember that the steady tapping of a White Cane signifies that a blind person wishes your assistance.

DO ask a blind person where he wishes to go and be sure he has his bearings before you leave him.

DO remind the cylist that his approach is silent and to allow the blind person to pass in front of him.

DO remember never to push or forcibly steer a blind person.

DON'T race your car motor while waiting for a traffic light when a blind person is crossing in front of you; as this may confuse him.

DON'T leave obstacles such as bicycles or children's toys on the sidewalk. They cannot be seen by a blind pedestrian and may cause serious accidents.

DON'T leave your car door open while parked. It may cause a serious accident to a pedestrian, and especially to the blind pedestrian.

DON'T back out of a driveway until you make sure the sidewalk is clear of pedestrians.

DON'T GRASP A BLIND PERSON BY THE ARM BUT ALWAYS ALLOW HIM TO TOUCH OR HOLD YOUR ARM FOR GUIDANCE.

Will Discuss Sugar Imports Howe Declares

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Howe will tell the Commons soon of his talks in Cuba on the question of sugar imports.

Mr. Howe declined to elaborate on the subject Tuesday night on his return with the Canadian goodwill trade mission to Latin America.

The mission's five-week tour to nine countries was a "complete success," he told reporters.

Canadian sugar beet growers have complained strongly of excessive imports of Cuban sugar, and Mr. Howe, in Havana last week near the end of the 17,000-mile trip, discussed the problem with government officials there.

"All I can say at this time is that the talks were very satisfactory," he said. He would make a statement later to the Commons on the entire mission and particularly on the sugar question.

TO CONSULT CABINET

The minister will likely consult first with the cabinet. He may hold a press conference later.

"There is a great opportunity for Canadian exporters in Latin America," Mr. Howe told reporters, after he was met by Prime Minister St. Laurent outside the big C-5 RCAF transport which carried the trade mission.

The 12-man mission, representing Canadian manufacturers and traders, looked tanned and healthy from the tropic climate as they stepped from the plane into the glare of lights from television and newsreel cameras.

The mission, which left Ottawa Jan. 5, visited Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Venezuela, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Cuba and Mexico.

Mr. Howe said he had invited all countries to send trade missions to Canada to increase the flow of trade both ways between Canada and Latin America.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Fear Freedom Menaced By Control Of Literature

OTTAWA (CP) — A religious group representing about 20,000 Canadians today warned against creating "a monster" to deal with the problem of sale and distribution of indecent literature.

The warning was contained in a statement prepared by the Canadian Union Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists for presentation to a Senate committee investigating the problem. A brief also was prepared by Darren L. Michael of Oshawa, Ont., executive secretary of a special committee of the conference which drew it up.

The conference welcomed action by Parliament to protect the country "from such manifest dangers to its morality" as indecent literature.

However, it suggested "adequate safeguards. . . to assure the continued freedom of the press" and that any measure "be confined to the prohibition of the publication, sale and distribution only of that literature which is commonly classified as obscene, lewd and vulgar."

Mr. Michael said his church is concerned about some of the proposals already made to the committee for dealing with the problem.

At sittings last year, the committee heard suggestions from various organizations for some form of censorship and for a clear definition of obscenity in the Criminal Code.

"We feel that some of these recommendations if enacted into law would prove a clear threat to freedom and might well be the prelude to a thought-control, police-state climate so repugnant to our free way of life.

"While we wholeheartedly deplore the publication and distribution of literature that is unquestionably obscene, we hold that we must not create a monster to deal with a problem affecting a small segment of the population, that might some day turn savagely on the life-blood of our freedoms."

Bird Lover

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sympathy of a seven-year-old boy for nine budgies cost his parents $65. He released a neighbor's birds from their cage, and his parents agreed to pay for the loss.

House Backs Government On Dam Stand

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has the backing of a Commons majority in its stand against moving quickly on the $250,000,000 South Saskatchewan irrigation-power project.

It won two votes of confidence on the issue in the House Tuesday, its supporters voting for the government on the showdown.

In a debate that stretched through parts of three days, several western Liberals called for the dam and drew some backing from eastern party members after an office-to-office campaign in the Parliament Building. However, there was a preponderance of Liberal approval of the government's attitude that it wants more information before acting.

Immediate construction of the project was vetoed by a royal commission that reported recently to the government. The commission suggested the cost at this time would outweigh benefits aimed at supplying power and irrigation to the dry southwest area of Saskatchewan.

The non-confidence motions in the government were initiated by the Progressive Conservatives and the CCF. They were defeated, respectively, by 123 to 58 and 136 to 61. In each case, a solid bloc of Liberals outweighed the three opposition groups.

The Progressive Conservative motion expressed regret that the government's annual estimates do not contain provision for construction of the dam. The CCF added that the dam had been recommended by engineers of the government's Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration.

After defeat of the CCF amendment Stanley Knowles, CCF whip, appealed to the government to accept the Progressive Conservative motion without regarding it as a non-confidence motion whose passage would topple the administration. However, this got no reaction from the cabinet.

Earlier in the debate, Liberals voicing support of the dam had said they would not vote for motions that—technically, at least—could overthrow the government.

No cabinet members took part in the debate Tuesday. On Monday, Prime Minister St. Laurent and Agriculture Minister Gardiner got into the discussion, the prime minister explaining that the cabinet wanted "more information" before taking action.

Two back-bench Saskatchewan Liberals—Irving Studer of Maple Creek and J. J. Smith of Moose Mountain—expressed support for the dam Tuesday.

Mr. Studer called for a committee consisting of PFRA and other experts, along with the agriculture minister, that might bring in a "valid decision" in 30 days. Mr. Smith wanted an all-party Commons committee to make a study.

Appointment of a House committee also was suggested by John Sinnott, Liberal from the Manitoba riding of Springfield.

Pair Plead Innocent To Murder Charges

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Two men accused of the holdup-killing of a Buffalo jeweller calmly pleaded innocent to first-degree murder charges Tuesday.

Maurice (Digger) O'Dell, 28, and Walter H. Griffen, 26, both of Hamilton, Ont., were ordered held in Erie county jail pending trial. No trial date was set.

The two Canadians were the subjects of the biggest border manhunt in years after Donald F. Hurd, 45, was fatally shot Dec. 9 during a daring daylight holdup of his jewelry store.

Still at large is an alleged accomplice, Ralph J. Grubisich, 33, native of Windsor, Ont.

Quits Modelling To Become N.Y. Secretary, Then Painter

NEW YORK (CP)—Dark-haired Joyce Lockley of Hamilton, Ont., is one model whose ambition was to get away from Broadway, rather than crash the Great White Way.

Joyce, who discovered she liked painting better than posing for artists, now is on her way to Europe to paint some pictures.

The story of the Hamilton girl, who quit modelling to become a New York secretary and then took up art was told by Earl Wilson, whose column "It Happened Last Night," appears in the New York Post.

"I couldn't make a living as a painter at $25 a picture," she told Wilson. "I was just a week-end painter . . . till this thing happened.

"A woman handed me a small 13th century religious picture from the Catholic Church. She asked whether I could copy and enlarge it.

"It came out good. The woman wanted several at $50 a picture."

But she kept her secretary's job, awaiting further encouragement for her painting, until she saw an article about Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen best known for his country-wide Catholic Hour broadcasts.

"I was an Episcopalian," she said. "But I knew this man would affect my life."

She sent him a painting for Christmas. He wrote to her:

"Whenever I receive such a gift, I ask myself why I should be so favored. It is certainly not because of what I am but rather because you and your faith have seen in me the One whom I so unworthily represent.

"I shall consider myself as the glove, but the Hand that receives and the Hand that rewards you shall be the Lord himself."

That started Joyce painting. She soon had 20 orders—and attained her great ambition—to get away from New York.

Now she plans to visit Majorca.

"Living's cheap there. The climate's beautiful. I'll paint seriously—maybe even try some landscapes."

Sorority News

Members of Alpha Theta and Xi Iota Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority were guests of Miss Mary Bolton, Water St., for the meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Grant Clark presided for business and it was decided to hold a bridge party on April 13. A convener is to be appointed.

There will be a collection of good used clothing to send to flood victims in Europe and Mrs. Ernie McWilliam is in charge.

Miss Wilma Armstrong had charge of the program and Miss Moira Whalon introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Ross Williamson, who spoke on opera and played recordings.

McIlroy-Monahan

The marriage took place Saturday in Toronto of Miss Rosanne Monahan, formerly of Peterborough, to Mr. Kim McIlroy of Toronto. The bride is daughter of Mrs. Gordon Monahan, now of Ottawa, and the late Mr. Monahan. The groom is son of Mrs. Elsa May McIlroy of Toronto, a summer resident at Stony Lake.

Miss Monahan wore an afternoon length dress of powder blue faille with off-the-shoulder scalloped neckline sprinkled with brilliants and a pale blue straw hat trimmed to match. Her corsage was a white orchid.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's mother and afterward the couple left by plane for a honeymoon in New York City. The bride travelled in a black and royal blue striped twill suit and wore black accessories, and a fur jacket.

DOROTHY DIX:

Discourage Friendships With Older Teen-Agers

DEAR MISS DIX: Should my 13-year-old daughter be permitted to go to parties with boys? Should she be allowed to go out with boys and girls 15 and 16 years old? MRS. L. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: While your daughter should be allowed to go to parties given and attended by her contemporaries, friendship with the older boys and girls should be discouraged. The greater freedom that they enjoy, by virtue of age, is likely to make your youngster discontented with the privileges she has.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My 16-year-old daughter is going with a fine boy of 17. She sees him every night, and they are at our home four or five night a week. While we watch television in the living-room, she and the boy like to listen to records in the dining-room. When I go into that room, I frequently see them kissing or engaged in other affectionate gestures. My three younger children are quite amused at this, but I don't like the idea. I have talked to my daughter and her friend about it, and while the boy took the censure in good spirit, my girl was rather peeved. Was I right to ask them to check their behavior? MRS. E. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

HIS VISITS TOO FREQUENT

ANSWER: While your daughter's display of affection may be embarrassing to you, you must realize that youngsters who are fond of each other will indulge in caresses, and it's much better for them to do so at home than outside. One thing about the friendship is definitely out of bounds, however, and that is the frequency with which they see each other. Young people should not be together as much as every night in the week, and you should try to divert your daughter's attention to other friends, recreation, or study. When the young people are at home, try to draw them into the family circle rather than having them shut themselves in another room.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My sweetheart is overseas and he has asked me to go stay with his parents while he's gone. I've never met any of his people, and my own parents don't approve of the idea. What do you think? T.K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your parents are quite right to disapprove of this idea. Just what your sweetheart has in mind, I can't fathom. Perhaps he feels your presence may ease the loneliness of his family, or perhaps he doesn't trust you, and wants them to keep an eye on you. However, your place is with your own folks, at least, until you are married.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Several months ago I met a chap in the Air Force. He asked me to correspond with him, and we wrote each other for some time. I received the last letter from him two months ago, although I have been sending him pictures and a package or two. There is a possibility that he may have been transferred to another base, or even overseas. Should I write again or forget the whole thing? PATTI.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since mail does mean so much to boys away from home, and mail service is so uncertain, don't give up unless you are quite sure your letters are being received and ignored. Try another one or two anyway. If he has been transferred, he'll receive all your mail in a batch, and will undoubtedly acknowledge it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My steady boy friend and I split up two weeks ago because he began going with other girls and I got mad. I love him very much and we were to be married in the spring. I see him around at dances, etc., but he never speaks to me. How can I find out what the trouble is, and get him back? I am 17. ESTHER R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It would seem quite obvious where the trouble lies. The boy certainly wouldn't have gone with other girls if he had serious intentions of marrying you. My conclusion would be that you dreamed more into the friendship than he was willing to contribute and his declaration of independence was indicated by dating other girls. There certainly is no point in trying to get him back under the circumstances. He departed voluntarily and it will be better for you to make new friends.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special Meal Allows Person To Eat, Watch Television

Mary J. calls this her Television Meal. You can hold your plate in your hand, cut the meat with your fork, watch television and talk all at the same time. Believe me, she can do it too. And besides, you get an extra dividend: a wonderful pot of soup leftover for the next day—but don't forget or spurn the half parsnip. That last is a specific.

Mary J's Potted Meat
Scalloped Potatoes
Fresh Frozen Peas
Lime Jelly Ring with Cottage Cheese, Cucumber and Grapefruit
Celery Hearts and Pickled Onions
Pineapple Bavarian Fruit Cake
Coffee

Directions:

MARY J's POTTED MEAT
(With Soup Dividend)

Two pounds lean beef from upper shank, 1 pound lean shoulder pork. Put on to cook in large pot with water at least 5 inches over surface of meat. Add 1 cut up onion, ¼ of a turnip cut in tiny dice, 3 or 4 big stalks celery with leaves on, cut up, 3 or 4 carrots cut into tiny dice, ¼ cup parsley, ½ parsnip cut into tiny dice. Now salting and peppering this is quite an experience for you add them and as you add you taste. Mary says you taste so much and add so much that your tongue is blistered for a week (her own words). Anyway it needs lots of salt and pepper. Simmer all morning. If you really have it at simmering point it's all the better if you do it for eight hours. Lift out the meat with the pancake shovel and on a large plate pull the meat into shreds with 2 forks. Strain out 2 cups of the liquid from the pot. Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in ¼ cup cold water, then dissolve it in the 2 cups hot liquid. Pour this over the meat. Pour into 2 moulds to set and chill. Chill the leftover soup, and then skim off fat. Add a little more water and heat for next day's lunch or supper. The sweetness of the parsnip is the secret of the success of this soup.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

Have ready a buttered casserole. Wash, pare and slice 6 potatoes—but as you pare slice them into casserole. When 2 are sliced have ready 1½ tablespoons flour mixed with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Sprinkle ½ of this over first layer. Dot each layer with butter, using 2 tablespoons in all. Repeat 3 times. Pour in milk just to cover. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until very tender and browned. (To make scalloped potatoes into a 1-course main dish add

Accident Appeal Dismissed By Court

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Appeal of a Sarnia man who sued the other motorist in a two-car collision but wound up paying a counterclaim has been dismissed by the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Maurice Sauve appealed judgment of Middlesex Judge Ian Macrae in an action he brought against Alva Wray over a collision Dec. 16, 1950 on plank road near Sarnia.

Mrs. Wray and her daughter, Roslie, were injured.

In judgment Oct. 20, 1952, Judge MacRae dismissed the plaintiff's action and found Wray entitled to recover $822.84 damages on a counterclaim against Sauve.

Grain Elevator Strike Expected

VANCOUVER (CP) — Strike action which he said would virtually cripple grain shipments from Vancouver and neighboring New Westminster was foreseen Tuesday night by a spokesman for some 250 grain elevator workers.

Ed Sims, spokesman for Local 233 of the Grain Elevator Workers Union (TLC), told a labor meeting the strike will start at 8 a. m. next Monday in the two ports unless settlement is reached.

He said the companies have refused to negotiate further after turning down a majority recommendation of a conciliation board.

The majority report recommended an increase of five cents an hour for night work and 10 cents dust premium for certain jobs.

A minority recommendation was for an increase of 12½ cents an hour. The basic rate at present is $1.50 an hour.

Civic Hospital

ditional capping ceremony was therefore discontinued.

Dr. R. M. Matthews, president of the medical staff, reported that the interne training committee established early in 1951 had rendered valuable service in co-ordinating duties of internes, supervising them in the performance of their duties and helping them to obtain organized training from individual members of the various services.

Consideration was being given to a proposal from the provincial Department of Health designating the hospital as a "polio centre." A special committee was set up by the medical staff and members visited Kingston and London where such centres had been operated. A detailed report of their findings will be made shortly.

Miss Evelyn Robson, director of nursing and principal of the school of nursing, reported that the student body consisted of 30 senior, 28 intermediate and 39 preliminary students. Graduates of the school number 520.

Thirty-one students received instruction and experience at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and 24 at the Ontario Hospital, Whitby. Eighteen students each had three days of observation and 13 students each had two days of observation with the nursing division of the local department of health. Forty-three students had one day of observation each with the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

GIVE OXYGEN TENT

Mrs. C. A. Craig, recording secretary of the Women's Auxiliary, reported a record year in achievement. An iceless oxygen tent was obtained costing $738 and toys were given to 10 children in the hospital at Christmas.

The cost of installing 58 pillow radios on the one floor was shared with the Board of Governors. This expenditure is viewed as an investment as the auxiliary shares the revenue equally with the board.

Furnishing of the recreation room in the nurses' residence, begun in 1951, was completed this year, and 27 thermometer sets were presented to the 1952 graduating class.

DRIVE SUCCESSFUL

The most successful membership drive to date was held in October under the convenership of the first vice-president, Mrs. E. Chambers, when 5,090 general members and 13 new life members were obtained. Total receipts amounted to $1,478.25.

The patients' library was finished and completely furnished during the year at a total cost of $1,456.54. There are 865 books and 22 current magazines available. The committee under the convenership of Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy visits the patients each Tuesday and Friday. During the year, 4,400 books and magazines were circulated and many new books were purchased in 1952.

Numerous other activities were carried on during the year to provide extra comfort and service for the patients.

Leader Resents Interference On Election Bill

QUEBEC (CP) — Government leader Edouard Asselin suggested Tuesday it is not the role of the provincial upper house to interfere with a bill amending the Quebec Election Act.

Mr. Asselin, introducing the government bill overhauling Quebec's election system in the legislative council, said the upper house traditionally refrained from touching legislation concerning elections. It was the domain of the elected Assembly members.

The debate in the upper house was one phase of a busy day in Quebec's bicameral legislature which also heard Opposition leader George Marler start the budget debate in the legislative assembly.

Mr. Marler said the "real cause" of the government's $38,905,700 deficit was desire of the Union Nationale to win last summer's election "at any cost."

NET DEBT INCREASES

Mr. Marler said the net debt of the province increased by $67,952,362 since 1945, although tax collections increased from $62,000,000 in 1944 to $200,000,000.

The finance minister had said part of the cost of public works for the current year, ending March 31, was paid from loans negotiated in New York but "the truth is that the government spent all revenues at hand. . .and borrowed millions from the banks to meet expenditures during the election campaign."

This was done through statutory authorizations, Mr. Marler said. A similar situation cropped up in 1948 when the over-all deficit was more than $31,000,000.

Mr. Marler estimated taxation was higher in Quebec than in Ontario while the average weekly salary of workers compared unfavorably with Ontario.

Trade Minister Beaulieu, replying to Mr. Marler, said no province could show as favorable a financial situation as Quebec.

Veiled Threat Against Press

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — The government today issued a veiled threat against South Africa's press for waging a "horrible lying campaign" against Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's public safety bill.

Justice Minister Charles Swart made the threat before Parliament in moving for adoption of the bill. It would empower the government to declare a state of emergency in any area disturbed by the campaign, against Malan's racial segregation program.

Swart said press interpretations of the bill and reports of it sent overseas make the name of South Africa "stink."

The press had engaged in unprecedented "recklessness" in its campaign, he said.

"When you have a bill, whose provisions are very clear, being so misinterpreted, then I can only ask Parliament should take some sort of steps," Swart said.

LIME JELLY RING

Prepare a lime jelly dessert as directed on package, but use 2/3 cup less hot water. Add 2 tablespons vinegar or lemon juice. Chill and when partially set add ½ cup each cottage cheese, wafer-thin cucumber and well-drained fresh grapefruit. Chill until set in ring mould. Unmould on large chop or salad plate. Serve mayonnaise in centre. Garnish with shredded lettuce and radish slices.

A popular variation of the above salad is to use lemon jelly dessert and 1½ cups grated raw carrot and 1¼ cups drained canned pineapple instead of cottage cheese, cucumber and grapefruit. Never use fresh pineapple in a jellied mixture, for it won't jell.

PINEAPPLE BAVARIAN

Two tablespons gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 1 20-oz. tin shredded pineaple, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ pint cream. Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Heat pineaple, add sugar, lemon juice and when boiling remove from heat, add soaked gelatin, stir until dissolved. Chill until it just begins to thicken. Stir, then fold in cream which has been whipped. Turn into bowl to chill and set. Serve in stemmed glasses topped with cherry.

Stephenson Heads Lindsay C Of C

LINDSAY (ENS)—George Stephenson was elected president of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerc at last night's annual business meeting. He succeeds David Thomson. Ken MacDuffie is new vice-president.

The chamber was told by Past President Thomson and President Stephenson that more industry for the town during 1953 should be the aim of the members. In calling for a more active industral policy, however, Mr. Thomson also warned that the present industries must be taken care of, while a hunt for new ones continues.

The annual trade fair was discussed, and Secretary Manager Harold Pollock reported that last year's fair had been an unqualified success, which brought a great deal of new business, both to the firms who exhibited, and to the town. Past President Thomson, in his recommendations to the new executive, urged a larger fair this year, with more variety. The fair, he said, could be the biggest money-maker in the chamber's files.

Reference was also made to the chamber's sales school, which starts in Lindsay Thursday night. Mr. Pollock reported that where the chamber had expected about 25 enrollment for the school, it now appears that the class will have to be limited to 100. He said top sales speakers had been obtained for the school, which will run for five weeks.

Financial report, by Treasurer George Ross, showed that the two-year-old chamber had come from a deficit at the end of 1951 to a surplus, but added that any future projects undertaken by the chamber would have to be self-sustaining. Past President Thomson recommended also that a Friday opening, and Saturday closing, should be tried out, since the main street is the most important street in the country, and the basis of free enterprise system which the chamber endorses.

New directors elected to executive were Bill Allely, Wilbur McCarty, Martin Thurston, Ken Richmond, Jos. Staples, George Williamson, Alex. McKessock, Mrs. M. O. Strickland and Bruce Maidens.

Lindsay Men Try Co-Op Housing

LINDSAY (ENS).—A group of 32 men, members of St. Mary's parish of Lindsay, have formed a co-operative building group named the "Maryknoll Housing Co-operative Association," under the sponsorship of St. Mary's Parent-Teacher Association.

They have completed a deal for the land on Logie St., known as O'Reilly Field, with an additional piece available, sufficient to subdivide into lots 60 by 120 feet. Having gained sufficient knowledge of their project by a course of intensive study conducted through the research department of St. Patrick's College, Ottawa, they have now extended their membership to a second group open to members of any faith interested in building co-operatively.

One of the fundamentals of the organization is that members must contract to supply at lease 12 hours of labor each week at specified times until all homes are built. On completion of each unit the names of members are placed in a receptacle and the name of the future owner drawn. A leader of the group said today that the method of building co-operatively has been proved and tested in four other provinces in Canada to such an extent that these provinces have enacted legislation to assist men who are unable to pay down payment on expensive homes to build their own co-operatively. The Lindsay projects, he said, would enable the members to save up to $3,000 on the price of a home.

The local organization was formed last November by the Rev. Marrocco, formerly of Peterborough, director of social activities for Ontario. The Maryknoll group hopes to complete 15 units this year at least.

City Finds No Space For Lacrosse Trophy

City Clerk Outram has been directed by the finance committee of the council to explain to the juvenile lacrosse team that the city has no suitable place for the Ontario championship trophy they won last summer.

"If we had the Memorial Community Centre with the trophy room in its plans, we could take care of this cup," Ald. T. D. Miller remarked.

"We'd be glad to co-operate with the juveniles," Mayor Waddell said, "if we had a suitable place."

"How about putting it in the Mayor's office?" Ald. Graham asked.

"The cup is 36 inches high, and is hardly suitable for keeping in private homes, Ald. Miller said.

Ald. Syd Black commented that trophies are shuffled around until their significance became dimmed. He said a Rotary Club cup had gravitated to his place, and no one wants it. The names on the record shields of the pedestal are of players who are now grown up men.

Ald. Beggs suggested that the council write the juvenile lacrosse executive explaining to them the circumstances of lack of a proper place of keeping, and suggest that they might find some alternative location. His motion of reference to the repection committee was seconded by Ald. Anglesey.

Approximately one-fourth of the insects found have never been reported outside the Monte Bellos.

Senator Fears Chiang To Drag U.S. Into Mess

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, the Senate's only independent, says he believes the Chinese Nationalists may be trying to engage the United States in war on the China mainland in order to regain power.

Morse told a reporter Monday night:

"I want to make it clear that I have so little confidence in the fighting ability of the Nationalist Army that I am not in favor of endangering the lives of American boys in protecting it.

"It is my opinion that the Nationalist Chinese have for many months been trying to engage us in an expanded war against the Chinese Communists. We must be careful not to be drawn into all-out war."

TOO MANY HOLES

Morse, who bolted the Republican party during President Eisenhower's campaign last fall, said Eisenhower's state of the union message dealing with plans for permitting Nationalist forces to raid the mainland left "holes which you could drive a truck through." these questions:

"What are we to do after we withdraw the 7th fleet and Chinese Nationalist forces invade China, are beaten off and withdraw to Formosa with the Communists chasing them? Are we going to help throw the Reds back?"

Dairy Workers Organize Club

BARRIE (CP) — A club of about 100 dairy workers, said to be the first of its kind, was formed here Tuesday to study methods of improving milk plant operations.

Comprising owners and employees of dairies in a 50-mile radius of this Lake Simcoe town, the club will meet regularly to give milk distributors a better understanding of their industry.

Everett M. Biggs, Ontario dairy commissioner who spoke at the organization meeting, said the group marked the first attempt that plant personnel, milkmen, managers and owners from a number of dairies have formed a club to discuss mutual problems.

Dairies from Newmarket, 15 miles north of Toronto to Parry Sound on Georgian Bay are represented.

Club executives include Herman Cauthers of Lakeview, president; Dell Turnbull of Aurora, vice-president; and Reg Glass of Newmarket, secretary-treasurer.

Improper Instructions Blamed For Wreck

ST. THOMAS (CP)—A coroner's jury charged Tuesday night that the Dec. 17 Wabash train collision, which claimed the life of Frank J. McAteer, 64, could have been avoided if proper instructions had been given the engineer of the westbound manifest freight train involved.

In addition, the jury said that crews of yard [illegible] have been leaving headlights on high beam when clear of main lines, obstructing the view of switches to engineers of incoming trains.

A 45-car westbound freight went through an open siding switch and hit a small diesel yard engine. A caboose attached to the diesel was demolished.

Pipeline Plan Advances Step

TORONTO (CP)—Financing of a proposed pipe line from Superior, Wis., to Sarnia, apparently advanced a step Tuesday but the size of the step wasn't quite clear.

From New York came word that Interprovincial Pipe Line Company has registered 1,500,000 shares of $5-par capital stock with the United States securities exchange commission, and that the stock would be offered to present shareholders at a subscription rate not yet determined.

In Toronto, however, interprovincial spokesmen, while confirming the registration with SEC, said the number of shares and their value has not yet been decided. It was indicated that the figure named in the registration is for purposes of establishing a registration fee.

A letter Monday to shareholders said the company plans to offer to shareholders "rights to subscribe for additional shares in ratio to shares held, at a price to be determined by the board of directors."

The proposed pipe line, it is estimated, will cost about $86,000,000. The line would be 635 miles long, and be an extension of the present 1,100-mile line from Edmonton to Superior.

COBALT BOMB—Radiation technicians Nancy Brown, right, and Isabelle Nauer illustrate use of the Cobalt "bomb" at Montefiore Hospital, New York, as the new therapy unit makes its debut. Miss Nauer wears a plaster cast of the type moulded on a patient's head in a brain tumor case. After conventional X-rays locate the tumor, the cast is marked so that the Cobalt unit can be directed at the same point during each treatment. The "bomb" came from Canada's Chalk River Atomic Energy pile and produces more radiation than all the world's medically used radium.

Tuberculosis Being Conquered No Longer Called "White Plague"

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. (NEA)

Tuberculosis, or what used to be called the "White Plague," is being conquered. A generation ago this disease was one of the most important causes of illness and death throughout a large part of the world. While it is still important, there is perhaps no better way of showing how it is being subdued than to cite the figures released not long ago by a large life insurance company.

In 1951 this company paid out less than $5,000,000 on account of death from tuberculosis, which was less than one-sixtieth of the amount paid by the same company for all causes of death, including accidents.

Only 25 years before, the company paid over $10,000,000 in an average year on death claims because of tuberculosis, and this amounted to about one-tenth of the total amount paid for all causes of death.

Tuberculosis, however, is not yet wiped out, even though the end is in sight. All of the methods which are now known for fighting the disease must be used, and new methods must be developed constantly as is even now the case.

Tuberculosis of the lungs, which is the most common form of the disease, can and should be discovered early. This can be done by the use of the X-ray film. The early discovery of the disease is particularly important since a patient who is given rest and proper care at this time can almost always be restored to good health.

Furthermore, if someone with an early form of the disease in the lungs can be isolated from others, danger of spread of the disease is enormously lessened.

While it is important to recognize the disease early, it should be stated also that even those who have advanced cases of tuberculosis can often be successfully treated with modern methods.

The treatment of tuberculosis is, of course, a highly technical matter, and must be adjusted to the individual need. Rest, both of the body as a whole and of the diseased lung tissue, is still perhaps the most important single method of treatment.

DRUGS HAVE SUCCESS

However, streptomycin—a penicillin relative—and a new drug with a complicated name, have both been used with more or less success in the treatment of tuberculosis, though they cannot be considered as substitutes for other time-honored measures.

It is not possible, of course, to cover the subject of tuberculosis in a single column, but what I wish to emphasize at this time is that many of us are alive and well today, and have living relatives who would have died from tuberculosis under the circumstances existing 40, or even 25, years ago. While not yet complete, this is the kind of progress which we should like to report for treatment of all disorders of the human body.

OTTAWA (CP)—Field Marshal Montgomery will visit Eastern Canada in April, it was learned Tuesday.

In conjunction with a visit to the United States, the famous British soldier will arrive in Ottawa April 16. Tentatively, he plans to visit Kingston April 16-17, Hamilton April 18-19, Toronto April 20, Quebec City April 21-22 and Montreal April 23-24.

A defence headquarters spokesman said the main purpose of his visit will be to see Canada's service training establishments and study facilities here for officer training.

Cancel Program Costs Too Much

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC said Tuesday night that costs far in excess of the original budget forced cancellation of plans for televising the opening presentation of the Royal Conservatory Opera Company at the Royal Alexandra Theatre tonight.

Stuart Griffiths, CBC's TV program director, flew here from Montreal to determine if costs could be cut so that the production of "Madame Butterfly" might still be televised.

One factor in the unanticipated costs was the different interpretation placed by the CBC and two unions — the Toronto Musicians' Union and the Association of Canadian Radio Artists—on agreements governing televising of such events.

However, J. M. Reynolds, CBC program officer, emphasized the CBC had no quarrel with the unions on that matter.

Queen's Warm Charm Makes Investiture Informal, Pleasant

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—The Queen conducted the first investiture of her Coronation year Tuesday with a notable display of warm charm.

She created 60 knights with graceful flourishes of her bright sword, and passed out 180 other awards with sweet, girlish smiles. Elizabethan era investitures, it became apparent at Buckingham Palace, will have the feminine touch.

The Queen was natural and serene among the plush uniforms and the pomp of the white and gold state ball room where the old ceremony, frequently so formal that it is frigid, was conducted. She wore a straight gown of deep purple, with elbow-length sleeves and almost without ornament. No hat covered her short, brown hair, and the only jewel she wore was a diamond brooch at the left shoulder. She gave an impression of having sauntered casually out of her living room to distribute the royal honors.

TWO FEMININE TOUCHES

The Queen provided two of the feminine touches before she entered the ball room with her brightly-uniformed household officers. She heard that two mothers who were to be present were 87 and 89 years old. She instructed that wheel chairs be provided for them, and the mothers were pushed into the brilliant setting by much-braided officials.

The second show of sympathy was her decision to give two posthumous awards first, and privately. She received alone the widow of a London policeman shot to death in a fight with burglars, and the parents of a policeman slain in Malaya.

The men being created knights knelt before the Queen as she touched them lightly on each shoulder with her sword. Those in a long queue who received other awards stood before her for a moment while she deftly pinned on medals.

ROOTS AND HER BUDDIES —By Edgar Martin

Kingston Players Achieve Fame And Drama Awards

By JOHN PATERSON

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—The International Players, a hardy stock company in this historic eastern Ontario city, are nonchalant about the way they break theatrical records and rules.

With a record 1952 season of 46 consecutive weeks behind it, the company, operated by Arthur Sutherland of Kingston and Drew Thompson of Ottawa and Toronto, is about to begin its sixth year.

The company policy, adopted during a dark moment in 1949, continues to be "pay what you like." The audience, admitted free at the door, is asked to demonstrate its appreciation when the collection plate is passed.

HECTIC AT TIMES

Sutherland, the tall, husky business manager, admits the system is a bit hectic.

"We play two acts, then we have the collection plate passed by several attractive girls. We'll never get wealthy at it and often it's either feast or famine. But it's a living and we're doing what we like best, working in theatre."

Thompson, co-partner, has played in about 400 of the company's 800 performances since it was founded in 1948 by Sutherland. Thompson, born in Ottawa and a graduate of the University of Toronto, played a season of stock in Vancouver and then toured most of Western Canada with the Everyman Theatre of Vancouver before returning east.

SUTHERLAND VALUED MAN

Sutherland, born in Kingston, was graduated in 1937 from the American Academy of Dramatic Art, New York, and played in various United States stock companies. He also made some movie shorts before joining the U.S. Army and serving overseas.

After the war he decided to form a stock company in Kingston. The first 11-week season of summer theatre, with admission by ticket in the normal manner, was successful. But in the third week of their second year business came to a standstill.

"Things were a bit desperate," he said.

"I had promised the actors a full season and so we decided to start this collection plan. At first our collections ranged from a dime to a dollar but things have picked up. The audiences like us and we have had to move to the Memorial Hall which holds 650 people.

ENLARGED IN 1950

"We added nearby Gananoque to our schedule and, in 1950 we started to play dates in the Toronto district.

"We've used more than 200 actors from all parts of Canada and even a few from the United States. We've done 150 plays, from George Bernard Shaw's 'Arms and the Man'—our worst flop—to 'Tobacco Road,' our biggest hit.

"We staged the world premiere of 'Fortune My Foe' by Robertson Davies of Peterborough, Ont., and it was a big success."

Despite their experience the partners are quick to admit they still can't tell for sure what audiences will like.

Their playing season has lengthened from the original 11 weeks until in 1951 they played 27 weeks in Kingston and Gananoque and another 17 weeks in Toronto. In 1952 the season extended from February until Christmas.

The 1953 season began Feb. 9 when they produced the annual Queen's University revue. Next week the International Players will be open for business.

Evacuation Of Suez Agreed Upon

Technical Details Still Remain To Be Ironed Out

CAIRO (AP)—Britain and Egypt today signed an agreement covering the future of Sudan, and Premier Mohammed Naguib's office said evacuation of British troops from the Suez canal has been agreed upon in principle.

These are the two issues that have been separating Britain and Egypt. Solution of both could go a long way toward enlisting Egypt in the proposed Middle East defence command being framed by the West.

The Sudan is a 1,000,000-square-mile area which Britain and Egypt have been running jointly since 1899. The agreement gives the 8,000,000 Sudanese the right to decide their ultimate future within three years. They could decide to join Egypt, join the British Commonwealth or set up an independent state. Early elections for a parliament are planned under supervision of a Briton, an Indian, an American, and two Sudanese.

As for the Suez canal zone, Naguib, in common with the preceding Egyptian government, has demanded withdrawal of all British troops. A political adviser to Naguib, in asserting today that removal of the troops has been agreed upon in principle, said only technical details remain to be worked out. These, of course, might bring stumbling blocks.

The Sudan agreement was signed by Naguib and Sir Ralph Stevenson, the British ambassador. Both expressed the wish to start discussions immediately on the Suez question, an Egyptian informant said.

In London, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden hailed the Sudan agreement as "a reasonable settlement of this question which has long bedeviled our relations with Egypt." Here in Cairo, Stevenson expressed belief the agreement "opens a new era in the greater mutual confidence between our two countries."

CHOSEN "CITIZEN OF THE YEAR" in Peterborough during 1952, Robertson Davies, editor of The Examiner, is shown (centre) receiving a framed citation from Joseph Rogow, president of B'nai'Brith Lodge at the annual dinner Wednesday night. Right, is the Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of Health and Welfare, who paid his tribute to Mr. Davies and who urged Canadians to create a culture of their own. Differences in the traditions and history of the various racial groups "serve to contribute to the variety and richness of Canadian life and protect us against the perils of standardization," said Mr. Martin. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Legislature Keeps Grants At High Level

Hope To Strengthen Autonomy, Powers Of Local Governments

TORONTO (CP)—The 1953 session of the Ontario legislature will devote much of its time to municipal affairs, it was indicated today in the speech from the throne read at the session opening by Lieutenant-Governor Louis Breithaupt.

The 800-word speech, one of the briefest in years, forecast important measures aimed at strengthening the autonomy and powers of municipal governments. It indicated that provincial grants to municipalities, totalling $120,000,000 last year, will continue at a high level.

In its forecast of government legislation the speech said "most important legislation "will be introduced dealing with the complex structure of municipal government in the greater Toronto area.

CO-ORDINATE SERVICES

The speech said legislation dealing with the greater Toronto municipal tangle will have the purpose of co-ordinating the essential services of the 13 municipalities involved.

"This metropolitan area, one of the greatest in Canada," the speech said, "urgently requires the means and the power by which problems affecting the life and being of well over a million people may be dealt with."

The government already has the report of a royal commission on the question which recommended a metropolitan council with exclusive jurisdiction over the principal services of all the municipalities.

Measures will also be put forth to preserve archaeological and historical sites found within the province. This move followed removal of relics from recent historical finds.

Cobourg Boy, 6 Killed By Truck; Transport Ditched

COBOURG (ENS)—Six-year-old Allan Westbrook was killed instantly Wednesday afternoon when he was hit by a brewer's transport on Highway 2, three miles east of Cobourg. The truck driver, 32-year-old Jack Collingham of Toronto, ditched his transport in a vain effort to miss the lad. Allan had just gotten out of a car driven by Geoff Taylor, who usually drove the Westbrook boy and his own son home from school — Haldimand township school, a mile west of the boy's home.

The transport was travelling west when the driver saw an eastbound car with a trailer behind (Taylor's).

RAN FROM BEHIND TRAILER

"A child ran from behind the trailer right in front of my outfit," Collingham said. "I wheeled sharply to the ditch, trying to avoid the boy. I couldn't make it and the bumper caught the lad. I believe he went under the transport."

About 145 feet west of the point of impact—just in front of the boy's home—the transport finally came to a stop, having carried the boy's body that distance.

A trail of the lad's belongings was a series of tragic clues, first showing the point of impact, and others showing the direction his body had been carried. A boy's rubber boot at the driveway to the Westbrook home marked what police believe was the point of impact.

Beyond it was a battered lunch pail and farther on was a boy's mitt.

Taylor told police "I give my lad and Allan a ride home from school each afternoon. I usually pull up on the north side to let Allan out, but today I had the trailer on and so I pulled up on the south side.

WARNED YOUNGSTER

"I warned the boy to be sure and wait until the highway was clear before he went across it. I saw the brewery truck in the rear view mirror before it passed me. I saw it swerve sharply and I stopped the car to see what was the matter."

The boy is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Westbrook, and two brothers, Ronald, 2 and Gene, 5. Coroner Dr. J. M. Fleming investigated with OPP Constables Bill Warner and Bill Baluk.

Mr. Westbrook is a carpenter, employed by a Cobourg contractor.

Traffic Tied Up By Storm Across Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — For six hours Wednesday night snow, rain and sleet swept across southwestern Ontario, causing scores of accidents and thousands of dollars property damage.

The storm, which started in Missouri, centred just south of Lake Ontario early today and was moving rapidly eastward. Behind it, brisk northwest winds brought slightly colder weather and clear skies were forecast for Friday.

Pushed by a 30-mile-an-hour wind, Wednesday night's storm brought traffic to a standstill in many centres, disrupted telephone communications in one town and halted police service in another.

Toronto reported 19 accidents during the six-hour period, and 16 persons were injured, none seriously. One woman died after shovelling snow.

Guelph had a "mild" sleet storm while the Chatham area got off lightly with fog and rain.

Three inches of snow fell in the Kingston-Peterborough area and brought traffic to a standstill.

The Barrie - Orillia area was hardest hit with a foot of snow falling there between 7 p. m. and midnight. Ontario provincial police at Barrie called their cars in and officers sat out the storm unable to answer calls.

U.S. President Refuses Save Rosenbergs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has refused to spare the lives of the Rosenbergs, whose controversial death sentences for atomic spying he termed just punishment for a crime which "could very well result in the death of many, many thousands of innocent citizens."

A lawyer for he husband and wife said he would carry a new appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, which on two previous occasions has refused to review the case. The Court seldom changes its mind in such circumstances.

The Rosenbergs — Julius, 34, and Ethel, 36 — received the word that the President had turned down their appeal in the death cell block at New York's Sing Sing prison. They had no comment. They have insisted they are innocent.

Their electrocution, originally set for Jan. 24, had been delayed by Trial Judge Irving R. Kaufman while the presidential appeal was pending. The judge's stay expires four days hence; he will then fix a new date for the death sentence to be carried out.

If it is, the Rosenbergs will be the first American civilians to pay with their lives for the crime of espionage against the U. S.

That fact has figured largely in the world-wide propaganda campaign, sparked by Communists, to save them.

Eisenhower said there was no new evidence and no mitigating circumstances which would justify changing the sentence.

"I have determined that it is my duty, in the interest of the people of the United States, not to set aside the verdict of their representatives."

Martin Urges Own Culture Says Davies One Of Leaders

The Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of National Health and Welfare, on Wednesday night was guest speaker at a dinner given by B'nai B'rith Lodge honoring Robertson Davies, editor of The Examiner, who has been chosen Peterborough's "Citizen of the Year." In his address, "Citizenship and Canadian Letters," Mr. Martin called for a distinctively Canadian culture. He asked for an honest and unself conscious awakening of the national spirit, and he told Canadians not to be timid about their intellectual and aesthetic achievements. Some 300 Peterborough people—a cross-section of the community—were present at the Club Aragon Wednesday night to honor Mr. Davies who is critic, playwright, humorist and novelist, as well as editor of The Examiner. In a poll conducted by C. R. (Bud) LaBranche of the Review, Mr. Davies was chosen "Citizen of the Year."

Again — for the third successive year — the Peterborough B'nai B'rith Lodge made arrangements for the dinner and a speaker.

A CHEX radio audience, as well, heard the federal minister of health compliment the people of Peterborough on their choice. The address will be carried over a nation-wide CBC hookup on Friday night.

"Through the man we are honoring tonight, Peterborough has also won a distinguished place in the cultural life of this nation," said Mr. Martin.

TRIBUTE TO MAN AND CITY

"To me, it is significant that a Canadian city should choose a literary figure as its Citizen of the Year. In this industrial and mercantile centre, it would have been quite natural to have selected one of your prominent businessmen. Or, with Peterboroughs' fine record in athletics, you might have chosen one of your outstanding sportsmen . . . Instead, you have selected a man of letters.

Police Guarding Legation As Soviet Breaks Relations

TEL AVIV, Israel (CP)—Policemen armed with submachine-guns guarded the Soviet legation here today, while inside Russian officials were feverishly packing. They are expected to depart as hastily as possible—probably within 24 hours—following Moscow's dramatic break-off of relations with Israel at midnight Wednesday night.

Shutters were tightly drawn on all legation windows—except for a few torn off in the Monday bomb explosion which Russia said was the immediate cause of the rupture.

A Tel Aviv magistrate ordered 16 young Israelis, taken into custody in a country-wide manhunt for the terrorists who set off the explosion, held 10 more days for further questioning. Most of the youths were connected with the local "Anti-Communist League" but all denied having anything to do with the crime.

Five other persons nabbed in the hunt are scheduled to appear before a magistrate in Jerusalem later today.

Israeli officials were not surprised at the break. It is generally

Think Pearson May Resign

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto paper says today in a newspage story from Ottawa that External Affairs Minister Pearson will resign his cabinet portfolio and become secretary-general of the United Nations if that job is offered to him.

Trygve Lie, the present secretary-general has announced his resignation.

The paper says there is some reason to believe the Russians "would not exercise their veto right" if the security council recommends Mr. Pearson for the post.

The Star adds that if Mr. Pearson leaves the cabinet he probably will be succeeded by Health Minister Martin, leader of the Canadian delegation at the last UN session.

Jury Convicts Former Sergeant

NEW YORK (AP) — Former army Sgt. John David Provoo today faced a sentence that could be anything from five years in prison to death for treason while a prisoner of the Japanese during the Second World War.

A federal jury Wednesday night found him guilty of four overt acts of treason. It was unable to agree on three other treason allegations.

Sentencing was scheduled for next Tuesday.

Provoo, 35, was convicted on one charge that he was at least partly responsible for the death of a fellow prisoner of war, Capt. Burton C. Thomson of Swea City, Ia.

The jury also found Provoo guilty of offering his services to the Japanese and of making two radio broadcasts from Tokyo during the war.

The jury was unable to agree that Provoo tried to persuade an American colonel to give a U.S. Army code to the Japanese; that he seized a pair of boots from a fellow prisoner and gave them to the Japanese; and that he joined the Japanese in questioning a fellow American prisoner for the purpose of discovering where the U.S. forces on the Philippines had hidden silver bullion.

U.K. Freighter Chased By Ship To Hong Kong

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The 3,539-ton British freighter Incharran today steamed undamaged toward Hong Kong after being chased and attacked in the Formosa strait by a tank-landing ship, believed here to have been a Chinese Nationalist vessel.

British naval authorities said the Incharran flashed a distress signal early today. Twenty-one minutes later she signalled that she had successfully evaded her attacker.

The Incharran was coming from a north China port.

Her position when fired on was 75 miles south of Wenchow, at the head of Wenchow bay about 175 miles south of Shanghai and 130 miles north of Taipeh, Formosa.

Official Nationalist sources at Taipeh said the junks were not Nationalist.

Fire Destroys Home Of M.P.

CHARTIERVILLE, Que. (CP)—Fire early today destroyed the home, store and stables of J. A. Blanchette, Liberal member of Parliament for Compton and parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton. Chartierville is 50 miles from Sherbrooke.

An adjoining home was destroyed and six race horses in Mr. Blanchette's stables killed. An apartment house, owned by Mr. Blanchette's daughter, situated about 30 feet from his home was considerably damaged.

Cause of the fire was unknown.

Two Children Die In Burning House

MCTAVISH, Man. (CP) — Two children were burned to death Wednesday night. Their mother rescued a third infant from its crib in their blazing home near this town 38 miles south of Winnipeg.

Dead are Alva, 2, and Annie, 3, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Loewen.

The fire started when another daughter, Erna, tripped while carrying a kerosene lamp. The flames quickly spread beyond control. Mrs. Loewen rushed from the house with the baby in her arms.

Neither Mrs. Loewen nor her husband, who had been working in the stable at the time, had a chance to get back into the blazing building to rescue the other two girls, believed to have been asleep at the time.

Car Plunges Through Ice

SUTTON (CP) — Ten hockey enthusiasts escaped safely Wednesday night after their car plunged through the ice into 20 feet of water in Lake Simcoe.

They managed to get out of the old model touring car and crawl out on the ice. After they made their way to a nearby farmhouse, a doctor was called. He treated them for frost bites and exposure and ordered them to bed for 24 hours.

The 10 were all residents of Georgina Island, about a mile from the mainland in Lake Simcoe. They were: Carl Lance, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Trumble, Mrs. James York, 27, Dick Charles, 17, Lillian Bigcanoe, 20, Margery Blackbird, 15, Queenie Ashquake, 15, her 11-year-old sister, Clara and William Warren, 15.

They were hockey players and fans returning home from a game at this village some 50 miles northeast of Toronto. Lance, the driver, said he lost his way in a snow storm.

"There was no warning," he said. "One second we were on the top, the next under water. I felt the steering wheel bite into my stomach as the car hit the bottom of the lake."

Uncensored Book Serious Break

FORT MEADE, Md. (AP)—A censor's uncensored book on Korea accused Gen. MacArthur of "a most serious security break which proved costly in casualties," an army court martial was told today.

The book, "Korean Tales," by Lt.-Col. Melvin Voorhees, former chief censor for the United States 8th Army in Korea, also said that:

1. MacArthur, in a report to Congress, "offered contradictory testimony either because he was badly misinformed or toyed with the truth."

2. A number of accredited correspondents were charged by name with serious offences ranging from cowardice to treasonable acts.

Brig.-Gen. Frank Dorn, army deputy chief of information, said in a letter the allegation that MacArthur personally "was guilty of a most serious security break which proved costly in casualties sustained by United Nations forces, in an effort to obta a newspaper publicity."

12-Foot Snowdrifts In U.K. Cut Off Many Villages

LONDON (CP) — A blizzard raged over northern England and Wales today for the third successive day, cutting off more villages and bringing the worst traffic pileup in years. The blizzard also hit the continent hard.

In the north of England, hundreds of cars and trucks lay buried under snow. At least 40 main highways and 200 secondary roads were blocked by snowdrifts up to 12 feet deep.

Snow plows battled to cut a path through drifts before the wind piled up more snow. Farm workers struggled thigh-deep in drifts to rescue their sheep.

Watchers along the battered east coast looked for any signs that the North Sea was preparing to go on another rampage. The water level of the Thames and several other rivers rose during the morning, but not dangerously.

Hastily-repaired sea walls along the coast held solidly during the night. An excessively high tide is expected tonight, and 24,000 British service men and volunteers worked to bolster the levees still more.

Last night Canvey Island, worst hit area in last week's east coast floods, faced its first major test since the disaster — the gale-whipped high tide.

For four tense hours servicemen and flood patrols stood by in an icy gale as the tide rose. Three feet from the top of the sea wall it halted, then fell back.

The few remaining islanders, who slept with their boots on, were out early helping servicemen strengthen the sea defences in readiness for the next challenge later today.

Twelve-foot waves broke over the seawall early today at Sutton-on-the-sea, in the already-hard-hit Lincolnshire area, and water flowed ankle deep down the main street.

Buckingham Palace announced today that the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will make separate tours of the east-coast flooded areas Friday.

Car Collision Derails Train

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) — A train-auto collision in near-freezing rain and fog Wednesday night killed the car's four occupants, derailed the train and injured about a dozen crew members and passengers.

The train, the Baltimore and Ohio's West Virginian, was on its way to Parkersburg, W.Va., from Washington, D. C., some 25 miles to the southeast. A railroad spokesman said the locomotive and tender and seven of its eight cars jumped the rails when the auto jammed a switch.

Police identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, their son Pete, about 30, and Upton Harding, about 35. Fox worked on a dairy farm near here.

In another derailment, a Miami-New York Pullman train jumped its rails at a sharp curve near New Smyrna Beach in Florida Wednesday night. There were no serious injuries, although four or five persons were reported slightly hurt.

South Africa Has Election April 15

CAPETOWN (Reuters)—Prime Minister Daniel Malan today announced that a general election will be held in South Africa April 15.

He said the House of Assembly will be dissolved March 4. Nominations for the election will be filed March 18.

Malan's Nationalist party at present holds 86 seats in the house. The United Party, led by Jacob Strauss, which comprises the opposition, has 64 seats. The South African Labor party has six seats and three are allocated to representatives of Africans.

The opposition has attacked the government for its racial policy almost continually since it came to power in May, 1948. The color problem is expected to be the main platform of both parties in what Strass has described as the most vital election in South Africa's history.

Quell Fire On Ship Japan-Bound

9 U.S. Passengers, 2 of Crew Removed By Escort Vessels

TOKYO (AP)—Nine American passengers — including seven women—and two injured crew members were taken off the burning freighter President Pierce today after an explosion rocked the vessel about 100 miles southeast of Yokohama.

Late reports said the crippled ship of the American President Lines was limping toward Yokohama, escorted by two United States navy ships. A raging fire that gutted three of its holds was extinguished after a battle that lasted several hours.

Headquarters of the U. S. military sea transport service said the passengers and crew members were transferred to the Barrett, a transport service vessel, while others of the crew battled the flames deep in the holds.

STAY WITH SHIP

The Barrett and the navy transport George Clymer accompanied the stricken vessel toward Yokohama.

The navy said it had no details on other possible injured, what caused the explosion and fires, or how the flames were extinguished.

The fire broke out about noon. Rescue ships and planes rushed to the scene.

SEVEN U.S. WOMEN

The passengers include seven American women. At least two are service wives on their way to join their husbands in Japan.

Both the navy and the Japanese maritime safety board reported the vessel had developed a slight list, presumably from water pumped into the holds to quench the blaze.

It was not reported what had caused the explosion.

Order Hensler Stand Trial On Feb. 19

MONTREAL (CP) — Frederick Hensler, 37-year-old printing plant employee charged with the theft of a draft copy of the controversial Currie report, was ordered today to stand trial on the charge Feb. 19.

Hensler said nothing when rearraigned on the charge before Judge Eugene Lafontaine. Re-arraignment was necessary because legally Hensler had jumped bail when he was taken to Toronto to face a non-support charge laid by his wife.

Immediately after the hearing, Hensler was taken to Bordeaux jail. He was out on bail when arrested to face the charge laid by his wife, who lives in Markham, Ontario.

Howe Makes Biting Reply To Criticism Of Sugar Beet Agreement

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe, a notably blunt man, used a broadax in the Commons Wednesday in an attack on W. J. McGregor, president of the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company, and on his firm. In as tough a diatribe against an individual as veteran House observers have heard in many years, Mr. Howe roughed up the Chatham industrialist off and on for a half hour after accusing him and his company of steaming up a "pressure campaign" to have the government stop import of Cuban refined sugar into Canada.

The minister tackled Mr. McGregor—admitting his intention to "really do a job on him"—as he announced that Cuba has agreed to modify refined sugar shipments in the interests of the sugar-beet industry of Canada.

Back from a Latin-American sales tour, Mr. Howe assured the Commons—which had been debating the problems of the Canadian beet industry—that no Cuban refined product would go directly into Western Ontario or the Prairie provinces.

MADE ARRANGEMENT

He made this arrangement with the Cuban trade during his 20,000-mile southern trip. Mr. Howe did not report on other aspects of his five-week tour but was expected to give members a general report later.

J. W. Murphy (PC-Lambton West) who Tuesday night launched the Commons debate on Cuban sugar imports, issued a statement outside the house welcoming Mr. Howe's assurances of no more Cuban exports directly into Canada's sugar-producing areas.

He added, however, that "how Mr. Howe proposes to make this effective is another matter upon which further clarification will be welcome."

The minister entered the debate after members from beet-growing areas complained that the beet industry was being hit by imports of Cuban refined sugar and urged the government to take action.

SHOULD USE NEGOTIATION

He turned on the sugar company head on the ground that any trade restrictions should be put into effect by negotiation between countries rather than by imposition by the importing country. Mr. McGregor, he said, had asked him last fall that Canada put a quota on Cuban refined sugar.

Later, he said, Mr. McGregor and his company circularized the beet-growing industry to take part in a "pressure campaign on the government to bring about legislation to stop the import of Cuban refined sugar."

"I am happy to say," Mr. Howe declared, "that the rest of the industry, being men of integrity, refused to have anything to do with that campaign. . . .

"However, Canada and Dominion Sugar Company then started the most aggressive pressure campaign that I have ever known of in my 17 years as a member of this house."

This included, Mr. Howe said, cables to himself in various South American countries.

LIMITED VOCABULARY

"It happens that Mr. McGregor is a man with a limited vocabulary, and he repeated certain phrases," the minister said. "Those phrases are all in his cables.

"In the meantime, the offices received telegrams and letters, obviously all written by Mr. McGregor or his staff, and signed by parish priests, by organizations of growers, by individuals and by various other people. . . ."

Turning to Mr. Murphy's speech Tuesday night, Mr. Howe remarked:

"I notice that the same old phrases that appeared in these statements and in the letters turned up frequently in his speech."

To Cubans who had been disturbed by Mr. Murphy's earlier speeches, he said, he had explained that the Lambton West member "was simply a politician looking for the votes of the sugar growers and that they were not to take his remarks seriously."

REPUTABLE CONCERN

Dealing with the Canada and Dominion Company itself, Mr. Howe said it is a reputable concern and its affairs are efficiently conducted. If its recommendations were "designed to benefit primarily the company itself," fault should not necessarily be found with that.

But Mr. Howe said he is informed—though not on authenticated information—that the company in 1952 had the highest gross profits in its history. This profit had not been shared by the beet growers, who took a cut in their returns.

"I am afraid this company has not learned about equality of sacrifice," he added.

Mr. Howe suggested that sugar-beet growers "might ask the refiners for a little share of the extra gravy that is being withheld at the expense of the Canadian consumer."

"I had planned," he added, "to really do a job on my friend, Mr. McGregor, in return for the loss of sleep he caused me on my trip. . . .

"One threat he made does not cause me very much concern. . . . It was a threat that, unless Cuban refined sugar was shut out of Canada, he would close the refineries.

"I would assume that Mr. McGregor has shareholders and a board of directors and that, just about the time he would start closing the refineries, the board of directors would decide to get a new head man."

HAS NO RESPECT

In reply to a later question on whether shutting off imports of Cuban refined would send up the consumer price of sugar in Canada, Mr. Howe said:

"It would put the refineries in the position of charging anything they liked for refined sugar and, while I have a great respect for the industry as a whole, I have no respect at all for the president of the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company."

Mr. Howe indicated that the reduction in shipments of refined sugar from Cuba depend on Canadian refiners halting what he termed "some exceedingly bad buying practices" in taking Cuban raw sugar. He said he is meeting the refiners later this week.

The minister called these practices "stupid" but did not elaborate.

"Assuming that remedial action is taken with regard to these buying practices which have discriminated definitely against the Cuban exporters," he said, "I think I can assure. . . that no Cuban refined sugar will be shipped into Western Ontario or into the three Prairie Provinces.

"It may be that, if the (Canadian) refiners are still considered to be taking too wide a margin, refined sugar will go to Newfoundland, which was always a market for Cuban refined sugar. It may go into the Maritime Provinces.

"All I am saying is that refined sugar will not be shipped directly from Cuba into the beet-growing markets."

12 Men Indicted For Arms Shipment

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Twelve men were indicted here today by a federal Grand Jury for alleged shipment of arms to Mexico. The indictment charged conspiracy to violate the Neutrality act.

Two of those indicted were Thomas Park and Thurman Randle partners in the Thurman Randle and Company of Dallas, a firm which deals in arms.

They are charged with having conspired to violate the arms-export provisions of the Neutrality Act, relating to the export in commercial quantities of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

Chamber To Give New Tourist Service

A new committee has been set up by the Junior Chamber of Commerce this year to plan a new program to aid tourists who will visit this district this summer.

On the new committee will be Ronald Balaam, Paul J. Dorris, Les Groombridge, Harry Beresford, and Ken Faggeter. Since the information booth has been operating, they have aided 30,000 tourists in finding accommodations and good fishing areas in the last five years.

This summer they will be in operation again in their new information booth, at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer Streets.

TAILORS' CHOICE

Recently Canada's Minister of Health and Welfare, the Hon. Paul Martin, went on a low-calory diet that slimmed him by 20 pounds. Wednesday night at the "Citizen of the Year" dinner here in Peterborough Mr. Martin made a jocular reference to it. "I wish I could aspire to such eminence," he said, "but the best I can do is to be chosen by the tailors' association as one of Canada's 10 best-dressed men — on the rather specious grounds of having successfully doffed a number of unnecessary pounds. Next to a doctor, no one profits more from one's diet than a tailor, for a "new man" needs new clothes."

Charges Bureau Becoming Pest

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said Wednesday the Bureau of Statistics should stop pestering small store operators for data.

Senator Haig told the Senate of one small store owner in his home town of Winnipeg who got a letter from DBS asking him for information about his milk, butter and other sales. It took the store owner two weeks to compile the information.

"I told him to throw it in the waste-basket," said Senator Haig. "I don't think the department should do that sort of thing; they could get information about milk sales from the distributors."

Senator Haig otherwise praised the work of DBS.

He spoke during second reading of a bill amending Canada's Statistics Act. The changes will widen the scope of the bureau in getting information about crime, about inland shipping and in other fields.

Child Dragged By Car Unhurt

LINDSAY (ENS)—A six-year-old girl was dragged across the street under a car, but escaped with only minor cuts and bruises at noon today.

Teresa Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Alfred Finley, was playing outside her home on Ridout St.

Allick Bagshaw, Water St., Lindsay, was driving along Ridout St. and noticed the child playing in the driveway near the street. An approaching car distracted his attention from the child and the next thing he saw was the child in front of his car. He swerved but the child apparently slipped under the car, was caught up by the undercarriage and dragged 12 feet across the street. The child's shoulder was resting against the rear wheel when the car stopped.

Constable William Mosley investigated. No charges have been laid.

BADLY WORRIED

Archaeologists were concerned that a discovery on Manitoulin Island believed 7,000 years old and others on the north shore of Georgian Bay might be spoiled or looted.

The province's highway construction program would be expanded further to meet the needs of the growing number of automobile owners — there now were upwards of 1,250,000 motor vehicle registrations in the province. Construction of modern highways was vital as a safety measure.

Expansion of the province had accelerated the public works program. Pressing need for office space to carry on provincial business made further expansion essential.

STUDY MARKETING

The speech said close study is being given to the "orderly marketing" of farm products. A sound program of conservation was being pursued and would be enlarged.

Every preparation had been made to go ahead with development of the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence river, and work would begin at an early date if international complications were overcome.

An interim report would be tabled on a study of provincial-municipal relations. The speech said the report's findings may be presented to the federal government for a study of federal-provincial fiscal relationships.

A revised Companies Act would be introduced. The act was sent to a committee last year and it had completed its study.

SAFETY MEASURE

Other new legislation planned included a safety measure permitting the inspection of elevators and other lifting devices.

Amendments and revisions would be submitted on the Pharmacy Act, the Mining Act, the Travelling Shows Act and the Public Halls Act.

Other legislative changes forecast, but on which no details were given, dealt with assessment, public health, forest fire prevention, schools, planning, unemployment relief, homes for the aged, jurors, insurance, agricultural societies, rural telephone systems and workmen's compensation.

Reject Motion For Wide Defence Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal majority of the Commons defence committee backed by the one Social Credit member, today rejected an opposition motion for a wide inquiry into Canada's defence department. The vote was 13 to 7.

At the same time the committee heard Percy Wright (CCF-Melfort) say that the department of defence production will hear very shortly from "authorities" about a "certain matter." He earlier defined the matter as correspondence dealing with dishonesty and extravagance on a secret defence contract.

Mr. Wright said "I am turning this matter over to the police."

The committee disposed of one argument after two full meetings but was promptly presented with material for another which will come up again Tuesday.

INTERIM REPORT

The vote involved a Progressive Conservative motion that the committee make an interim report to the Commons saying that the Currie report has been fully supported by the evidence of George S. Currie and that Mr. Currie should be asked to investigate the system of accounting, organization and administration in the whole defence department.

In the vote the Conservative and CCF members supported the motion while the Liberal and Social Credit members were against it.

The basis for new argument emerged at the close of the meeting when Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto, Eglinton) presented a new motion. It calls for production of all reports of the chief auditor of the defence department on accounting irregularities in the works services in the period covered by the Currie report.

UK Magistrates Study Deterrent

LONDON (CP)—The powerful Magistrates' Association, with a membership of 10,000 in the United Kingdom, will be canvassed on the issue of corporal punishment as a deterrent to crime.

The question posed and calling for a direct "yes" or "no" answer, is: "Are you in favor of the courts having power to order corporal punishment for crimes of violence?"

Two articles by anonymous magistrates, summing up the arguments for and against, have been distributed with the questionnaire.

Last October the association's annual general meeting rejected by a small majority a motion urging return of the lash. The action came at a time when the country was in the throes of an abnormal outbreak of violent crime. But with only 500 members present, the decision was held to be unrepresentative.

Voting papers are to be returned early in February and the result will then be debated by the association's executive council. If the poll shows magistrates decisively in favor of restoring corporal punishment, spokesmen said representations likely would be made to the home office, which has jurisdiction in such matters.

Lord Goddard, the lord chief justice, already has gone on record in favor of the lash for all crimes of violence.

felt that the Soviet Union has taken the first convenient pretext for a diplomatic rupture clearly indicated by recent Russian policy.

Informed sources suggest that Russia has doubted the full loyalty of the 2,500,000 Jews behind the Iron Curtain to the Communist regimes, and fear that the Soviet is about to launch a new and more violent campaign against Jews under Communist control.

No disturbances were reported today but last night 25 persons were injured when anti-Communist Israelis, wielding stones and fists, broke up a pro-Soviet rally pro-injured were in serious condition.

The note, which Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky handed ot Israel's minister here, Samuel Elia Shev, accused Israeli government leaders of inciting hostile action against the Soviet Union.

The Soviet government, the note concluded, "recalls the envoy of the Soviet Union and personnel of the Soviet legation (at Tel Aviv), . . . breaks off relations with the Israeli government . . . states that the further stay in Moscow of the Israeli legation is impossible, and demands that the personnel of the legation leave the Soviet Union without delay."

APOLOGIES IGNORED

The note turned aside subsequent explanations and apologies by the Israeli government and accused it of falsehoods, double dealing, and a "systematic fanning of hatred and enmity toward the Soviet Union and an incitement to hostile actions against the Soviet Union."

Israeli police were accused of conniving in the bombing.

In Tel Aviv, circles close to the Israeli foreign office speculated that all eastern-bloc states would follow the Soviet lead and break off relations with Israel, except perhaps Bulgaria. That satellite was viewed as a prospective custodian for Russian interests, which include large real estate holdings formerly belonging to the Russian Orthodox Church and recently transferred to Soviet jurisdiction. Tel Aviv sources also speculated that Switzerland or Argentina would be asked to take over Israel's interests in the Soviet Union.

The Russian people were first told of the bomb attack by the Moscow radio last night. The broadcast, and widespread publication in the press of the Kremlin's note, aroused immediate indignation among the Russians against Israeli leaders.

BROKEN AFTER 5 YEARS

The note charged that the bomb explosion was "evidence of the absence in Israel of elementary conditions for the normal diplomatic activity of the representatives of the Soviet Union."

The break ended almost five years of diplomatic relations between the two countries. Russia, on May 17, 1948, was the third country to recognize the then two-day-old Jewish state.

The Russians stressed in their severe note that the Israeli mission should clear out "immediately." But they did not set a deadline.

Eliashev, the former chief of the east European division of the Israeli foreign ministry, was summoned last night by telephone to the Soviet foreign ministry, just around the corner from his office. He was taken directly to Vishinsky. As soon as Eliashev was seated, the foreign minister read the note through to him and then handed it across his desk.

The Russian note said it was an "indisputable fact" that representatives of the Israeli government had taken part "in a systematic fanning of hatred and enmity toward the Soviet Union and an incitement to hostile actions."

Infantry Division Gets Armored Shorts

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) The 8th army today issued armored shorts to a frontline infantry division. If they prove practical they may become standard equipment.

The shorts, made of 12 layers of basket-weave nylon, weigh four pounds.

They are tacked to the armored vests which have been in use in Korea for a year. The shorts offer the same protection to the hip area which the vest gives the stomach, chest and back.

Seven Injured In Collision, Driver Charged

TORONTO (CP)—A Hamilton man lying seriously injured in hospital here was charged with dangerous driving following a head-on collision Wednesday between two cars. Seven persons were injured.

Police described the accident near Sunnyside Beach as one of the worst in years. Blood was "inches thick" in the gutters, police said.

Charged is Elwood Silliker, 27, of Hamilton. He suffered a severe head injury and lapsed into a coma shortly before being taken to hospital.

OTHERS INJURED

Injured in the second vehicle was the driver, William Robinson of Thompson Ave., vice-president of a knitting mill company. He suffered face cuts and a possible fractured wrist. Four other passengers were hurt. They were Marion Cornish, 23, of Hallam Ave., cuts to ear, hand and knee; Joan O'Leary, 21, of Danforth Ave., face and head cuts; Madeline Walsh, 21, of Roxborough St. E., head cuts, and John Dempsey, 55, of Melrose Ave., head injuries and a shattered kneecap.

Officers who investigated said both autos were wrecked and blood was running in the gutters. Five of the injured persons were thrown to the roadway by the force of the impact, almost being run down by passing cars. Silliker and Marvin were trapped in their vehicle and had to be pried from the wreckage.

Traffic was jammed to the Humber Bridge on the west and to Dowling Ave. on the east. Extra police were rushed to the scene to divert cars and ease the congestion. They had to clear a path for the ambulances to reach the injured.

At the point where the accident happened the Lake Shore is a six-lane highway, three for east and three for westbound traffic. Witnesses told police the Robinson vehicle was westbound on the third lane of traffic moving in that direction. The Silliker car was eastbound at a high rate of speed, witnesses said, and was in the third westbound lane.

Spend £367,000 On Coronation Now

LONDON (Reuters)—British taxpayers Wednesday received an inkling of how much of their money will be spent on staging one of the world's most costly and glittering pageants—the coronation on June 2.

A report presented in Parliament showed that by the end of March the government will have paid out £367,000 on Coronation preparations.

This is only an estimate on preliminary work completed in the year ending March 31. Remainder of the mammoth expenses incurred between then and the great day itself will be marked down on the country's bill for the next fiscal year.

Most of the preliminary cost—£350,000—went towards sprucing up 1,000-year-old Westminster Abbey, where the Queen will be crowned, and on the erection of seats for thousands who will witness the spectacle.

Failed To Appear In Court Driver Fined

Walter Zacariah, 373 Bethune St., was fined $20 and $2.50 costs or 20 days today when he was convicted of careless driving.

The charge arose out of a collision involving a truck driven by Zacariah and a car driven by Walter Orr, RR 4, Peterborough, last November 18.

Evidence of police was that Zacariah was entering the driveway of the Western Clock Co. off Hunter St. on the evening in question. He failed to negotiate the turn and the collision occurred as he was backing up to make a second attempt, causing about $75 damage to the car.

FAILED TO APPEAR

A plea of not guilty was entered by the court on behalf of the accused when he failed to appear in answer to a summons.

Two fines of $10 and $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail, concurrent, were imposed on Mark Wager, RR 5, Belleville, formerly of 679 Aylmer St., for failing to stop at a through street and for driving without a license.

Police evidence was that Wager had failed to stop for the sign at Parkhill Rd. and Dennistoun Ave. When asked to produce a driver's permit, Wager had only a 60-day learner's permit, which had expired.

Dickson Hutchison, RR 2, Millbrook, was fined $7 and $2.50 costs or seven days in jail for speeding.

Maurice Tolton, 461½ George St., was fined $7 and $2.50 costs or seven days in jail when he was convicted of driving through a traffic light at George and Hunter Sts. Jan. 5.

Frederick Doherty, RR 4, Lakefield, was fined $12 and $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail when he was convicted of driving without a license. A plea of not guilty was entered by the court on behalf of the accused when he failed to answer a summons.

Tried To Give Role Realistic Touch

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marilyn Monroe has an answer to criticism of her realistic movie role as a brazen babe:

"I just did the best I could. The part called for a tramp. I couldn't play it like an ingenue."

Her studio, 20th Century-Fox, said there have been complaints, "but not any unusual number and absolutely none from organizations."

This replied to the trade paper Variety report yesterday that complaints from women and women's organizations were "pouring in" to the studio, deploring the effect of the Monroe character in the film "Niagara" on children, husbands and sweethearts.

Refuse To Comment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House was asked Wednesday whether there was any substance to rumors that Arthur Godfrey, the radio and TV entertainer, might be appointed undersecretary of the Air Force. Press Secretary James Hagerty replied: "When we have appointments to announce we will announce them." Godfrey left last week on a tour of overseas air bases with Lt.-Gen. Curtis Lemay of the Air Force strategic bombing command. He is a naval reserve officer.

Skelton In Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Red Skelton is confined to hospital again His doctor said he is suffering from a virus infection and a severe case of neuralgia. The doctor said these troubles had no connection with the operation Skelton underwent in December for a hernia.

MOUNTIES IN CLASS—For the RCMP's officers, non-commissioned officers and constables who will ride in the Coronation procession next June, a course in public relations is considered important. They are taking classes in the subject at Ottawa under Sgt. J. Allen.

TRAIN FOR CORONATION—The RCMP horses who will take part in the Coronation procession next June also undergo special training. Blank cartridges are fired near the horses to accustom them to sudden loud noises of large crowds. Rattlers, tin cans and other devices also are used. Firing the rifles are S. Sgt. C. W. Anderson (left), riding master at "N" division, Ottawa, and Cpl. D. A. Hatfield.

GROOM SPECIAL MOUNTS—Good grooming is considered essential for RCMP special contingents wherever they appear. For the Coronation procession next June, the 35 officers, non-commissioned officers and constables are taking special pains. Here, constable J. Cook curries his horse. Members of the contingent range in height from five-feet-nine to six feet and are drawn from all 10 provinces and the Yukon.

Talk Renewed On Artificial Ice

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — The old matter of artificial ice for the local arena has come up again. This time the price has dropped below the $35,000 figure which was the subject of conversation last season.

George Bennewies, a representative of the John Inglis Company, interviewed a number of citizens on Tuesday, and outlined a plan for putting artificial ice into the local rink. Another meeting has been arranged for a future date, when Mr. Bennewies will present further data on the project, for the consideration of those interested.

Artificial ice has long been a topic of discussion in the town with many arguments being offered both pro and con.

The high cost has been the prohibitive factor so far, but if a plan can be worked out, and enough people are interested, Campbellford may yet be able to boast of an artificial ice arena.

Archbishop Denounces Rivera's Painting

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Archbishop of Mexico today denounced famed artist Diego Rivera's new movie house mural. Msgr. Luis Maria Martinez said the painting should be censured by all Mexican Roman Catholics.

The painting depicts the famous Mexican film comic Mario (Cantinflas) Moreno in his customary peasant filmgarb alongside the Virgin of Guadalupe. Catholic tradition says that the Virgin appeared in the 16th century to St. Juan Diego, an Indian peasant.

The prelate's statement aroused speculation that the mural might suffer the same fate as Rivera's painting in the Hotel del Prado dining room. A curtain now covers that decoration, which contains the phrase "there is no God" and has been attacked as atheistic and anti-religious.

Gambling Topic At Bethany WI

BETHANY (ENS)—There were 25 in attendance at the February meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute held at the home of Miss Mattie Thompson and Miss Lily Thompson. Topic for the evening was based on Citizenship and the roll call was answered by "A famous citizen I have known."

Secretary Mrs. Harold Sanderson read the minutes and the correspondence which included letters of thanks from the families of the late Mrs. Sarah Johnson and Reginald Palmer for flowers received at the time of their death; from the district secretary, Mrs. A. Hughes, regarding the ACWW convention to be held in Toronto in August. A donation of $25 received from the Ladies Guild of St. Paul's Church was contributed to assist with the institute's present project of building kitchen cupboards in the town hall basement.

Mrs. T. J. Jackson, convener of Group Two, had charge of the program, conducting a contest on the habits of wild animals, which was won by Mrs. Gervin Mulligan. She also gave a talk on "A Modern Approach to Gambling."

"Gambling is one of the oldest social problems with a history almost as old as humanity itself. It is an attempt to get something for nothing out of a wager one does not need to make; whereby if one party gains, the other loses. Archaeologists have found many evidences of gambling, such as a gaming board of gold and silver inlaid with crystal and ivory which dates back to 1800 BC. It is illegal to gamble in Canada, but the law is not always strictly enforced. Under the guise of raising money for charitable purposes, gambling syndicates are really only looking after themselves. In recent years several church groups have expressed strong disapproval of lotteries and other forms of gambling and have petitioned the Minister of Justice at Ottawa to have certain sections of the Criminal Code revised."

Mrs. Walter Rowland gave a talk on the "Lord's Day Act." "A good citizen will observe the Lord's day and keep it holy. With this in mind the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada was organized at the City Hall, Ottawa, in April, 1888. Since that time the churches of Canada placed responsibility of leadership in Lord's day problems with the Alliance. Provincial organizations have been established across the Dominion. The primary task of the Lord's Day Alliance is to safeguard Sunday as the national weekly day of rest."

During the social hour, lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Charles Stephenson Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Rowland. Mrs. Clara Armstrong moved a vote of thanks to the Misses Thompson for the use of their home.

Postponed Carnival To Be Held Saturday

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — The skating carnival sponsored by the local Rotary club, and which was to have been held last Saturday, will be held next Saturday instead.

Unseasonable weather melted the ice at the community centre, and the event had to be postponed.

The club has lined up an excellent program and a large crowd is expected. Proceeds will go toward community services which the club maintains.

UK Red Party Said Smaller

LONDON (CP) — The numerical strength of Britain's Communist party, estimated recently by a leading Communist official at 35,000, is believed to have declined in the last few months.

The party, unrepresented in Parliament, is also reported worried over finances and a decline in the sale of the Daily Worker.

The Manchester Guardian says a "note of alarm" is evident in recent party communications to members. The decline in membership is reported linked with the purges in Czechoslovakia and the alleged "medical conspiracy" in Russia.

At the same time, some anti-Communist and independent persons in touch with industrial areas say they believe some Communists publicly resign from the party as a cover-up, but continue to work "underground."

For The Salvation Of Europe

On Tuesday the Schuman Plan treaty went into operation, and its High Authority swept aside economic frontiers between the six countries taking part in the Plan, creating a common market for coal, scrap and iron. When steel is added to the list, probably in April, the Schuman Plan will be in full operation.

* * *

Under the Plan the governments of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg have surrendered their national sovereignty as regards coal and iron to the High Authority, a council composed of persons belonging to these nations. The High Authority has ordered the six Governments to abolish customs duties on imports, export taxes, quota restrictions on imports and exports, double prices which discriminate against other community shippers in favour of domestic shippers, and similarly double freight rates. Thus, in the important commodities of iron, coal and scrap, and by April, steel, the six nations are as one, with no frontiers, no currency restrictions, or anything else to hamper the free movement and sale of these mine and smelter products. The High Authority has full power over prices, production and allocation.

* * *

The French member of the High Authority, announcing the beginning of the Schuman Plan's operation described it as "an important step towards the eventual unification of Europe which is its only salvation." The unification—limited as yet to six countries—has now been achieved in the most important economic area, and one which in years before was the basis of most European international wrangles and of three wars.

* * *

Diplomatic observers think that the merger now taking place, through the Schuman Plan, will be followed by the removal of national barriers on other products, and eventually to a European federation and surrender of national sovereignties to it. The multi-million dollar iron, coal and steel merger is, as M. Bonnet said, "one means of convincing the people of Europe of the value of union." By treaty, the Schuman Plan is to run for fifty years. Long before the end of this century it may become superfluous, because in all matters, Western Europe has become a union.

Where Peterborough Gets Its Money

Last year $3,157,488.89 passed into the city's treasuries and $3,071,436.37 passed out, leaving, as we have already noted in these columns, a surplus of $86,052.52. It is the first time that Peterborough's council has had to budget for three million dollars. Where does it get the money?

Yesterday we attributed part of the $86,000 surplus to increased Provincial grants to the Civic Hospital. We said that Queen's Park is more mindful now than formerly of the financial burdens which municipalities carry, and is assisting by making larger grants. This is true, but still the grants are small in relation to the total sum which a place like Peterborough has to find to carry on its services. Of last year's total revenue of $3,157,488 the ratepayers (domestic and industrial) paid by taxes $2,661,973.20. Only $495,515.69 came from sources other than revenue raised from the rates—less than a sixth of the money the city requires. And of this sixth a sizable chunk came from city operations which produce revenue; a total of $150,000.

We shall not here attempt to aggregate the various Provincial grants to the city through various boards. These are complicated and will more readily be available when the detailed budget is brought down in Council. For instance, the general balance sheet now made public does not indicate the grants to the Board of Education, apart from grants for school debentures; the Board had, otherwise, from Queen's Park, about $216,000 in grants. But the main fact is this—that Peterborough ratepayers themselves paid in city taxes last year $2,661,973.20—in other words, most of the money required to run the city and its services. This does not include $3,830 got from the poll tax.

The sources of revenue apart from taxes and grants are interesting. Offices in the new City Hall other than those directly under the City Council are rented; for instance, the Board of Education pays rent for the space it occupies. These rentals totalled $27,533.42. Rentals of other city properties brought in $34,256.

The bus franchise produced $13,489 of revenue to the city coffers. People putting up signs along city streets—shops, for instance—have to pay yearly licence fees for the space occupied. Thereby the city got $9,829, and for specially illuminated signs, $522.

The dog tax brought in $1,296. Parking meter revenue was $32,969. Market tolls produced $2,091. (This was not clear profit; in fact, last year the market cost the city treasury $6,779 to operate.)

Police court fines added $25,782. But one must not think that the city is making money out of its law-breakers. The police department cost the city taxpayers $161,696 during the year, less a provincial subsidy of $21,674.

An item of city revenue not often considered is the pay-back which the city gets from the operation of the liquor store. It amounted to $8,619 last year. This is of course only a drop of the profit made by the Liquor Control Board from its Peterborough store.

For reasons which we gave yesterday, the surplus of revenue over expenditure does not mean that the city council budgeted poorly. Most items in the statement show a close relationship between estimates and actual revenue and expenditure.

However, the Liquor Commission did more business than the Council expected—at least that is our explanation of the Council's estimate that it would get eight thousand dollars from the Commission, and actually got $8,619. The dog tax was not as productive as the Council expected; they estimated $1,700 and got $1,296. They over-estimated the swag which law-breakers would provide, too, by more than a thousand dollars. A poor guess or too low an estimation of their fellow-citizens' respect for the law?

There were some generally minor errors in estimates of expenditure, too. For instance, the city offices spent $564 more on postage and cheque stamps than estimated—but that side of the city's financial statement is another story.

Justice And Vengeance

Powerful efforts are being made to persuade the Parliament of Canada to abolish the death sentence as part of our judicial system. The Ottawa Citizen is showing a keen interest in this matter, and argues powerfully for the abolition of hanging. We are interested in this matter, and open to conviction, because we have never been able to decide what we think about the death penalty; we have never been able to decide, for instance, whether it is not more cruel to keep a man in prison for life than to kill him; presumably it depends on the temperament of the man.

A sentence in a recent Citizen editorial moves us to think again on this subject. "Justice, unless equated with vengeance, could be served equally well if the extreme penalty were not death." The Citizen writes as though justice had nothing to do with vengeance; but surely justice began as a form of organized vengeance, and still keeps that character? We punish people who have sinned against society. Why? Punishment is probably a deterrent in simple, civil cases; a man who has paid $2 for illegal parking will be careful in future. But what about criminal cases? Has it ever been decisively shown that punishment deterred people of criminal tendency from crime? And if punishment is not a deterrent, what is it but vengeance?

What we have said is not an argument against the abolition of the death penalty. But we think that instead of tinkering with our legal code, we ought to do some straight and fundamental thinking about crime and society's attitude toward criminals. Can we change them? Can we cure them? If we can, how is it done? Do our prisons do it? If not, why not? Can we afford to change our present system of elaborate and legalized vengeance against those who break our rules?

Let us not quickly dismiss the idea that our legal system is one of organized and codified vengeance; let us not even assume that it is a reprehensible thing for that reason. But let us give it a clear, honest examination.

NOTE AND COMMENTS

A French Senator has been eaten by cannibals, and those who advocate abolition of the Senate in Canada are investigating the matter.

Style writers say that more silk will be worn this year, and for the benefit of the very young we must explain that silk is a sort of synthetic nylon.

A Hollywood item remarks that the growing number of foreign royal persons in that city is giving it an aristocratic atmosphere. Which suggests that the "home of lost causes and impossible loyalties" has moved from Oxford to Hollywood.

Evening trousers for women have been introduced in fashionable circles, and a style reporter says "evening pants are here to stay." Good news for those relics of the '20s, who were alarmed by bold girls who boasted that they didn't wear any.

DIPLOMATIC COMMENTARY

'Taking The Wraps Off Chiang'

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER in London

ALTHOUGH the short visit to London of Mr. John Foster Dulles, the American Secretary of State, appears to have passed off amicably enough, the events of the week have undoubtedly accentuated the existing differences in American and British foreign policies; moreover, they have clearly shown the danger that these difference may widen. It is a danger that must be frankly faced and dispassionately discussed if the alliance between the two leading democratic Powers is to be kept sound.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE IMMEDIATE ISSUE over which the difference between American and British views has been underscored by the week's events is, of course, Formosa. America has decided to "take the wraps off Chiang-Kai-shek" and change the mission of the United States Seventh Fleet in the Formosa Straits from "neutralization" to "protection" of the island. Britain has officially expressed her concern over this decision and made it known that she considers its political disadvantages to outweigh its possible military advantages. And this restrained official criticism of the American decision is accompanied by rather less restrained expressions of dismay and reproof in Parliament and public opinion.

Taken in isolation, this renewed disagreement over Formosa need not, perhaps, be taken too tragically. It must be remembered that Britain and America have agreed to disagree over this question ever since it was raised by Mr. Truman's order to the United States Seventh Fleet on June 27, 1950. That order launched a unilateral American policy, with which neither Britain nor any other nations ever associated itself. The present American modification of the order is a unilateral policy. It could plausibly be explained as a chiefly symbolic act, meant to set at rest the public impatience aroused in America by the apparent paradox that an American naval force seems to "shield" Communist China from attacks by America's ally, Chiang-Kai-shek.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT CAN BE pointed out in support of this interpretation that Chiang lacks the naval and air forces which would be needed for a serious invasion of the Chinese mainland from Formosa; that even his army is in no condition to embark upon such an enterprise; that all he is fore-seeably able to undertake is spasmodic small-scale raids of the China coast; that such raids have in fact already taken place now and then, during the last few months, despite the still-existing orders to the U. S. Seventh Fleet to prevent them, that in short, nothing much is in practice changed by the changed character of the Seventh Fleet's mission.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHILE THIS harmless interpretation is perfectly possible, it is, however, not the only possible one. While America may have "no aggressive intent," Chiang Kai-shek may very well have such intent; and while the military aid which he has been receiving from America over the last two years (and continues to receive) may be meant merely to enable him to defend Formosa, he himself may one day feel sufficiently strengthened by it — and sufficiently encouraged by the removal of the American "shield" from China — to attempt a major offensive landing on the mainland.

Such a landing, if unsupported, would in all probability be a forlorn venture. But could the Americans stand by passively while Chiang's forces were facing final annihilation on the mainland? Would they not feel morally bound, after all the support and encouragement given to the man whom they still recognise as the legitimate ruler of China, at least to assist in his evacuation and rescue? And would such an evacuation and rescue operation not almost automatically involve them in active hostilities in Chinese waters and, quite possibly, on Chinese soil?

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS EASY for the worried British to feel that America, by "taking the wraps off Chiang" may have made a long step down the slippery slope that leads to unlimited war with China; indeed, that she may already have deprived herself of her full freedom of decision in this respect, and left the fuse which may light the conflagration in the interested hands of General Chiang Kai-shek.

This unhappy feeling of the beginning of a drift to war is reinforced by some other declarations made by responsible American leaders, from President Eisenhower downwards, during the last few days. These lend themselves to the interpretation that the basic doctrine of American foreign policy may have been changed — or may at least be about to be changed — from "containment" of Russia and defence against aggression to diplomtic and possibility military counter-offensive against Russia and Communist China.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM an American point of view, this would be quite understandable. After all, it is an exasperating paradox of current history that Russia should in the last eight years have succeeded in carrying through a gigantic expansion and conquering and subjecting more than half a dozen countries and many millions of people, in the face of a Power clearly and vastly stronger than herself. The feeling that the policy of leaving the initiative to Russia and China and "waiting to be hurt" has not paid is in such circumstances very natural. The conviction that the present arbitrary and cruel divisions in Europe and Asia cannot be accepted as either legally justified or historically lasting, that the present state of "paralysed tension" must not be mistaken for settled peace, and that among the conditions of a real peace settlement must be the restoration of national independence and national unity to those who have been forcibly deprived of them by Russia, is shared by most British people, and certainly by the British Government.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT if the new American Administration should, advancing from this common ground, decide to force the issue with Russia or China at the risk of general war, it would in all probability find itself separated from the British. The British attitude towards the Russian threat, in which the Government is united with the overwhelming mass of the nation, remains one of merely standing firm, not trying to advance by force, and the tactical doctrine of British foreign policy vis-a-vis Russia remains, in effect, "containment."

It cannot be different, because the certain penalties of a war with Russia are so great for a country in Britain's position — and the same is true of America's other European Allies — that it is psychologically impossible for Britain to submit to them merely to improve the existing international situation, unsatisfactory as it is. All she can reasonably do in her position is to prepare herself to fight, if necessary, in individual or collective self-defence against aggression; and for the rest to remain patiently on the alert to take diplomatic advantage of any crack that may appear in the Russian Empire. In the British opinion such cracks are by no means unlikely to occur either in Eastern Europe or between Russia and China, even if it may demand some patience to wait for them. Britain cannot afford impatience.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FACT which threatens to separate America from Britain (and her other Allies) is that, in a certain sense, America can afford impatience. The individual sacrifices which America would face in a war with Russia would be as tragic as those of any other nation, but America would not in a war with Russia, like her Allies, face the risk of destruction as a community. In the last resort, the situation reduces itself to the crude and simple fact that America is stronger than Russia, while Britain is weaker than Russia, as well as geographically nearer to her.

This essential inequality poses an inescapable problem to the present American-British alliance, and to the American alliance system in general. (For everything that has here been said of Britain applies in even larger measure to France, Italy, and the smaller member of the N.A.T.O. (North Atlantic Treaty Alliance). This alliance system can only function like a convoy — at the fastest pace of the slowest ship. The restraint it imposes on the fastest ship, and the exertions it imposes on the slowest ones are both exasperating. The temptation is never far away to break up the convoy — which means, for America's allies, neutralism; and for America, "going it alone." So far, neutralism among the weaker Allies has been the chief danger to the alliance. At the moment, it looks, for once, as if American unilateralism is the danger. If the alliance is to succeed and prosper, both these temptations must be understood — and resisted.

PARADE OF THE HOME GUARD

Unsatisfied Judgment Fund Dry

(CALGARY HERALD)

THE deputy provincial secretary, E. R. Hughes, has just issued a disquieting tstatement to the effect that the expenditures out of the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund "are approaching the point where they will equal the money paid into the fund."

Mr. Hughes' report states that in the nine-month period between April 1, 1952 and December 31, 1952, a total of $280,597 was paid into the fund, while expenditures in the same period ran to $263,030. If claims against the fund continue at the present rate, it is quite conceivable, as Mr. Hughes' report admits, that expenditures could exceed receipts for the year.

When this fund was first introduced into the province in 1947, we pointed out the likelihood of its drying up at some time, especially considering the way people drive in Alberta. And if by the end of March this year, the fund has been dipped into for a sum greater than $280,597, what happens then?

The government will undoubtedly have to take action. Presently, by law, each owner of a motor vehicle pays one dollar into the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund at the time he gets his motor vehicle licence. This money is used to pay the court judgement against motorists involved in accidents, but who are unable to pay the damages for which they have been ruled in court to be accountable. If the fund is in the red, the government will have to raise the fund fee which is charged each year. And even if that fee were raised this year, who knows but what in a couple of years' time it wouldn't have to be boosted again.

This system, as we have pointed out before, is in efficient and illogical. What the provincial government ought to do, we believe, is to insist upon third-party insurance being carried by all owners of motor vehicles. The government should stipulate by law that every owner, before receiving his licence each year, must produce an up-to-date insurance policy covering damages to any person or property that might be involved in an accident with the owner's car. An insurance policy covering merely the owner himself would be no good. And after the passage of such legislation, anyone found driving a vehicle and not covered by such public liability insurance should be jailed.

In this day of high-speed cars and mounting casualty lists, these things should be covered by more than the haphazard assurance which this fund can provide. Anyone who can afford a car should be able to afford proper insurance on it or should not be allowed to handle these dangerous weapons in public. The number of accidents is bad enough now, with no driver testing yet being carried no. But without compulsory insurance in the interests of general public protection the result is to increase general carelessness on the highways. The Alberta government ought to give serious thought to this fund at the 1953 session and consider the alternative of compulsory public liability insurance for all owners.

Fish Story —Alberta Style

(Winnipeg Tribune)

At Bentley, 80 miles south of Edmonton, a drilling crew was working merrily. Its drill was down 500 feet. Then all of a sudden the boys had a flowing well on their hands. Nice clear water came bubbling up from the hole.

But as they were pulling out they noticed flocks of magpies gathering around the flowing well, having a wonderful time. They checked more cisely. Then they discovered that they were in Alberta after all— they had struck a fish gusher. The water coming from the hole was full of fish.

Learned authorities were called in and they confirmed the presence of thousands of Eucalia inconstans— brook stickleback to us —in the water.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version).

Then Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and went to seek David and his men upon the rocks of the wild goats. And he came to the sheepcotes by the way, where there was a cave .... And the men of David said unto him, Behold the day of which the Lord said unto them, Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, that thou mayest do to him as it shall seem good to thee. Then David arose, and cut off the skirt of Saul's robe privily ....

And he said unto his men, The Lord forbid that I should do this thing unto my master, the Lord's anointed, to stretch forth mine hand against him, seeing he is anointed of the Lord. So David stayed his servants with these words, and suffered them not to rise against Saul. But Saul rose up out of the cave, and went on his way. So David also arose afterward, and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, saying, My lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David stooped with his face to the earth, and bowed himself.

And David said to Saul, Wherefore hearest thou men's words, saying, Behold David seeketh thy hurt? Behold, this day thine eyes have seen how that the Lord hath delivered thee today into mine hand in the cave: and some bade me kill thee: but mine eye spared thee; and I said, I will not put forth mine hand against my lord; for he is the Lord's anointed....

And it came to pass, when David had made an end of speaking these words unto Saul, that Saul said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And Saul lifted up his voice, and wept. And he said to David, Thou are more righteous than I for thou hast rewarded me good, whereas I have rewarded thee evil. (I Sam 24: 2, 3, 4, 6-10, 16, 17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Behold, the days come, said the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgement and justice in the earth. (Jer. 23: 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times? Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times: but, Until seventy times seven. (Matt. 18: 21, 22.)

Gissing Anniversary

(Ottawa Citizen)

The publication in Britain of a new edition of George Gissing's "The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft" marks the fiftieth anniversary of the first appearance of the "Papers." Gissing's life, like the picture of lower middle class life in his novels, was so earnest as to allow for little romance or adventure. Because, as Oscar Wilde put it, the sun always rose in the East End in Gissing's novels, they did not attract a large readership in the author's lifetime. Only the quasi-autobiographical "Papers" which were published in 1903 proved popular. Having made no attempt at popular writing, the poor scholar may have been too surprised to be vain about the fame that finally came to New Grub Street. He had little time to savour his success. For the fiftieth anniversary of the first edition of "The Private Papers Of Henry Ryecroft" is also the fiftieth anniversary of Gissing's death.

Canadian Acts As Hub In Flood Relief

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (CP)—Col. Walter Reynolds of the Canadian Red Cross Society acts as the human hub of world aid to the flood-stricken Netherlands.

In the space of just a few hours Tuesday, relief shipments were received from Canada, the U.S., Denmark, Sweden, France, Austria Great Britain and Italy. The shipments ranged from 15 tons of bread from France to a complete 12-car medical train, staffed by 60 Austrian doctors, nurses and medical technicians.

Telephone calls and cables pour in with offers of aid and requests for specific information on what's needed. Supplying that information is Reynold's job.

DUAL ROLE

As national director of disaster services for the Canadian Red Cross Society he is playing a dual role in Dutch relief. He is the Canadian Red Cross Society's official representative in Holland and he is also the appointed representative of the International League of Red Cross Societies at Geneva, Switzerland.

"Around the clock we're in constant touch with the Canadian Red Cross headquarters at Toronto," he told a reporter. "They know what's needed here sooner almost than we do ourselves."

Aid of the type requested is needed so badly that supplies are flown in, picked up by Dutch air force crews and dropped over stricken areas—all within hours.

"The trick is to know what's most needed and to get it here fast," Reynolds said. "The picture is changing for each flooded area every hour."

Coronation Gives Food Bonuses For Hungry British

By ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP)—The Coronation is going to mean a few food bonuses for the British people—but nothing as hearty or mouth-watering as the non-restricted fare of other crownings.

In fact, the government concessions for the great occasion—a few extra ounces of margarine a person plus sugar and candy—fell a little flat. Newspaper editorials greeted them with thinly-veiled irony.

Still, there was one beefy sop to the stomach, recalling the lavish and meaty days when great roasts turned lazily on open-air spits. Anybody will be able to hold a Coronation ox barbecue—all you need is the ox, fuel and cook.

And you've got to give the meat away.

LUCKY WOKINGTON

Luckier than most centres is Wokington, Berkshire, which had either an ox or venison promised long ago to provide a party for the elder citizenry.

An 80-year-old member of the fire department, veteran of the 1937 coronation barbecue, is scheduled to start things at 10 p.m., the evening before Coronatio Day. Oak log fuel will be lit in the town square, the ox will be spitted and the carcass shifted into grilling position on the steel tripod used first for the barbecue marking Queen Victoria's jubilee.

Delicious juices will be captured in special pans while the basting of hundreds of precious rations continues all night under the eye of the fire department chief. If all goes well, the first slices will be served at noon Coronation Day.

Undoubtedly the leading barbecue chef in Britain is Harry Johnson, 63, whose light touch with a carcass has been perfected with 1,500 oxen, deer, pigs and sheep. Johnson, an engineer when he's not barbecuing, was sought by 68 places for Coronation duty but will use his three-foot carving knife, now 42 years old, at Bournemouth.

Some branches of the United Farmers' Union have reported scores of requests for qualified chefs—a situation which the international academy of cooks and chefs tried to rectify with an offer to supply some at a small fee. No takers have been reported yet, however.

OAK FUEL BEST

A good-sized ox costs about $290 and should supply about 3,000 portions. Proper fuel, experts say, is as essential as clear weather. Oak is best, sprinkled periodically with bay leaves and pine needles.

The lack of enthusiasm about the Coronation rations, ox or no ox, was summed up by a News Chronicle editorial, titled ironically, "In Merrie England." The government, the editorial said, possibly was afraid of issuing more rations in case traditionally festive spirit ran amok.

Extras include a pound of sugar a person, quarter pound of "marge," increased glucose, full-cream powdered milk, toffee, potato flakes and popcorn.

There'll be extra allotments of other rationed foods, such as cheese, for street or children's parties celebrating the crowning. The food ministry also made reference to ham, tinned meats and sausages as non-rationed foods good for parties. Eggs will be off ration by then and candy has just been freed from ration controls.

For the general public—an echo of the days when England's beer was stronger—there's Coronation beer abrewing. Three times as strong as the current variety, it costs more, too.

Good Deed For Day Costs Driver $270

PARIS, Ont. (CP)—Sidney Stewart stopped his car on a nearby highway recently to let 16 does cross.

Then a 210-pound buck, chased by two dogs, dashed on to the highway and crashed into his car, causing $270 damage. The buck was badly injured and Stewart shot it with a rifle borrowed from a farmer.

He said Wednesday that his car insurance doesn't cover this type of accident and that he feels the lands and forests department should be responsible for damages that deer inflict on autos.

Busy Airline

Driving Spree Brings Man Fine Of $75

TORONTO (CP)—Stephen E. Capell, 33, of St. Catharines was fined $75 Wednesday as a result of a driving spree on the night of Jan. 2.

Capell said he did not know Toronto and was taking directions from a passenger.

RCMP Obtain Warrant For Key Ring Figure

MONTREAL (CP)—RCMP officers Wednesday obtained a warrant for a man described as a "key figure" in a smuggling ring that allegedly brought Italians into Canada illegally.

Two Men Charged Under Lottery Act

HAMILTON (CP)—Police said Wednesday two men will be charged under the lottery act for selling hockey lottery tickets. Questioning of the pair followed weeks of investigation and a round-up of several hundreds of the tickets in a general crackdown.

One of the men sold more than 1,500 illegal tickets at 25 cents each, police said.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—English-language daily newspapers in the U.S. set a new all time high circulation mark in 1952, it was reported by N. W. The Ayer report said daily English-language papers in the U.S. last year reached a circulation figure of 53,738,000, topping the 1951 mark of 53,618,509. The new figure was 145,000 more a day.

By Edging Stouffville 6-5 Petes Remain In Hunt For Playoff Position

Jimmy Ellis and his husky TPT senior hockey stalwarts continued their winning ways at Stouffville Wednesday night, defeating Clippers 6-5, and served notice thereby they are definitely a factor in the final mad scramble for playoff rating as the season's end approaches. The inspired Ellis crew meet the Kingston Goodyears Friday night in what should prove another epic and decisive struggle.

Playing a furious, driving, never-say-die game from bell to bell, the Peterborough lads came from behind in the dying minutes of the final frame to wrest the lead from the powerful Clippers, after the vaunted homesters had forged ahead in the early stages of the third in a great drive.

FRYIA OPENS SCORING

Play opened fast and Mills took the gate for holding at 4:10, but no damage resulted. After eight minutes of fairly close-checking hockey, Chum Fryia gave Peterborough the lead as he forechecked Nick Bangay circling the home net, hooked the disc and blazed a sizzler to the right corner to astound Norm Stunden. Fast two-way action followed, and Joe Lewis hit the sin pew for hooking. Hill, Crowley, Wasson, Spiker and Leonard, then Fryia, Monty, Army, Hunter and Greenlaw stormed the home cage, but Clippers held on. Ray Harding stopped shots in rare form robbing Stephenson at point-blank range and a dozen more. Gibson hit the post on an open net and Harding robbed him again at the doorstep. Crowley boarded near period's end for the gate. Petes held a fair edge in play in the initial frame.

Peterborough started the second short-handed, but Fryia, Greenlaw, Leonard and Wasson held the fort through. Mills hit the goalpost on a sizzler. Crowley returned again and Hal Gibson put Clippers on even terms at 3:52 as he broke from his blueline to outdistance his pursuers and whip a low backhander to the left corner behind Harding. Crowley and Stephenson got the thumb for roughing. Then Fryia and Greenlaw combined on a beauty as the former sailed downed right wing, passed to Toody, who drove a dandy from 15 feet out that found the corner.

LEAD SHORT-LIVED

Seconds later, the elusive Greenlaw worked in close with Army Armstrong as play reached a feverish pace either way, and Army fooled Stunden from the outer red circle. Clippers rushed back to tie the score on two brilliant efforts by Mark Mills and Ron Bell with Nick Bangay and Frank Stephenson, George Stark and Gord Lewis respectively, drawing assists as Clippers took the initiative away from the visitors, momentarily. Hunter drew a hooking penalty at the three-quarter mark, but play in the main proved fast and essentially clean.

With less than a minute of play, Petes again stormed and Monty Montgomery picked up the disc at centre, drove in hard and whistled a terrific blueline drive that burned through the Clipper sentinel high into the twine. The frame ended with Petes driving hard.

The final frame proved most colorful and sensational of all, packed with burnig speed and a hundred incidents as both teams strove hard to outguess and outmanoeuvre the other, and play reverted either way with relentless vigor. Greenlaw from Fryia was close at the doorstep. Clippers drew on even terms after Stephenson snared a long drive behind the visitors' net and deftly pushed the disc into the right corner under Harding's feet.

Ron Bell, who played a fine game for Stouffville, broke the deadlock at 8:17 when he snared the rubber inside the attacking zone, eluded his rivals and closed in to draw Harding and flip to the short side with Ray having no chance to save. Petes fought hard, but Clippers put up a stubborn defence. Mills took the gate for tripping at the three-quarter mark but no damage was done.

STAGE STRONG FINISH

The began the dramatic finish—the victory drive. The irrepressible, cool Gus Leonard leg-wearily sped down right wing, passed desperately to the flying Greenlaw, now close to the rival twine; the fleet winger brought his stick down and the disc was in the net. A minute later, Freddie Mortimer scored as the flying men of Ellis continued their relentless drive. Driving into the corner, the clever veteran forward snared the puck and drove a blistering ice-cutter that hit the left goal-post and caromed in the twine for the winning counter.

Penguins Edge Trojans 31-27

Leading throughout by a slim margin, the Penguins slipped past the Trojans 31-27 Wednesday night in YMCA house league basketball. Both teams had trouble scoring for the first three-quarters, then broke into a rash of baskets and foul shots, but the Pengiuns still retained their early lead.

Dawes and Outram sank foul shots for the Penguins in the first quarter for a 2-0 score; then Hurle and Dawes added baskets in the second for a half-time score of 6-3, Trojan points going to Pearton and White.

Both teams started to find the hoop range in the third quarter, Heal for the Penguins and Wood for the Trojans hitting the mark and pushing the score up to 15-12 at three-quarters.

Heal was joined in his scoring spree in the fourth quarter by Hurle as they combined for eight field baskets for 16 points. Ibey and White added points for the Trojans in the fourth quarter but not enough for the win.

Heal topped all the scorers with 16 points while teammate Hurle had nine. Best for the Trojans was Ibey with eight. Lineups:

Penguins (31) — O'Connor, Dawes 3, Hurle 9, Outram 3, Heal 16.

Trojans (27)—Pearton 4, Ibey 8, White 6, Wood 4, Fell 5.

Queen Alex Gains Tie

Starry playing by every member of the Queen Alexandra senior hockey team enabled them to hold the powerful Prince of Wales sextet to a 2-all tie on Wednesday at the Civic Arena. Both goalies gave outstanding performances.

Macklin for Queen Alex was exceptionally good, while Trotter in the Prince of Wales nets turned back what appeared to be several sure goals for the squad from the north end. Downer and Tucker gave Macklin solid support and broke up numerous Prince of Wales rushes. The Stewart, Hamilton, Johnston line was best for Queen Alex. Hamilton and Johnston were the goal getters while Stewart assisted on both tallies.

For Prince of Wales MacFadden, Coombes and Shaw made the best showing with McFadden and Coombes getting one each. Referee A. Druery handed out penalties to Lesurf, Bowen and Butler of Prince of Wales and to Stewart of Queen Alex. Downer of Queen Alex suffered a cut over the right eye which required three stitches to close. Teams:

Queen Alex: Macklin, Downer, Tucker, Stewart, Hamilton, Johnston, Kilborn, Nelson, Moore, Sanderson.

Prince of Wales: Trotter, Smillie, Lesurf, Jay, Bowen, Butler, McFadden, Coombes, Shaw, Riel, Ketcheson, White.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Seems our athletic teams are winning too many championships—at least too many to meet the city council's purse in presenting the champions with gifts. So, this long-established custom is likely to go by the boards, though winning clubs may still be dined at public expense. To keep the record straight, Peterborough won a Canadian senior "A" lacrosse title again in 1952, the intermediate "A" Eastern Canada football crown, the curling championship of Ontario, the intermediate soccer honors in the province, an Ontario juvenile "B" lacrosse pennant, and a ladies' provincial badminton title. SPS won the senior Ontario Catholic Conference grid title, while PCVS seniors again took COSSA honors. These latter two are not all-Ontario championships, of course.

* * * * * * *

Well, the council discussed the matter of recognition of these athletic trimuphs by local athletes— men and women— but felt that it was proving too costly to buy gifts for Ontario or Canadian winners anymore. Except perhaps a scroll or some such. We are well aware of the fact that the council should pare costs wherever possible, but don't let it be a scroll. It'll become as lost as various trophies have over the years, and it won't be appreciated by the clubs concerned. We'd suggest some sort of gifts, even if not expensive ones, and certainly feel that a Canadian senior "A" title is worth special honor by any city. Even our COSSA champions deservedly are remembered.

* * * * * * *

It Took Some Digging

Time was, and not so very long back, when this city was starved for athletic laurels. We couldn't seem to win anything, year after year. Peterborough was considered just another poor cousin in provincial sports. Many prominent firms and citizens here dug in to keep the sports' flame burning and, in recent years, they have brought credit to the city and have done a great deal to encourage our youth along athletic lines. Surely a pared-down cost for recognition of athletic achievements of a provincial, Eastern Canada and national scope is only fitting. Such a cost in the tax rate must be quite small— with years when it never occurs—but, personally, we feel the gesture toward encouraging our youth athletes is really worth while.

* * * * * * *

Doug Mortimer's youthful Oddfellows made sure of it here last p.m. by pounding out an 8-2 junior "B" puck win o'er Cobourg Jays. That puts 'em in a third-place tie with Lindsay to wind up the group schedule. They'll have to settle third and fourth place spots ere group semi-finals can commence, and this sawooff could be a preview of the semi-final series. Kingston are safe in second slot behind the high-riding Hawklets of Bella Villa, and Oshawa has been out of the running for several days. Should be word by tomorrow on this next game. The IOOF-ers didn't get untracked in the first frame, but rolled convincingly in the last two chukkers to wrap up the tussle in neat style. A clean contest before few fans.

Petes Still In There

When we remarked the other day on "the unpredictable Petes" some folks said: "You can say that again." So we'll say it again— those unpredictable Petes came through in Stouffville last even to jerk out a 6-5 sizzler o'er the classy Clippers. It couldn't have happened at a better time, and puts the Ellis men just a game and a half back of Kingston. We have 21 points now and they have 24. And Kingston clashes with the Petes here Friday night! That'll be the big one of the season so far. A local win on the morrow would put the T-P-T team just half a game back of the K's. Petes then have Belleville here Monday, and will wind up their schedule in the Limestone City next Friday, Feb. 20. So, they're staging a real stretch drive in a desperate attempt to make a playoff berth and oust either Kingston or Belleville, the latter also having 24 points. Boyoboyoboy!

Hectic excitement, too, along the Rue Brock last snowy evening as the pro grapples tangled. Skullduggery triumphed when villainous Hi Lee tricked a confused Referee Sammy Gotter into thinking Whipper Watson had clouted the ref, when 'twas Hi, unbeknownst to Sam—if you're still following us. Anyway, Gotter awarded the deciding fall of the main bout to the nasty team of Lee and the Mask over popular Whip and his teammate, Yukon Eric. This led to further furious action afterward, with Larry Moquin—a semi-finalist —getting into it, too, on the side of the good guys. 'Twas a torrid bout throughout, rolling rapidly all over the ring and overflowing into the aisles at times. Moquin got his dander up in the semi-windup and beat the bejabbers out of a tough cookie named Frank Valois. Prelim betwixt Earl McCready and Steve ("Mr. America") Stanlee ended in a draw

TORONTO (CP)—The 16th annual Ontario curling championship is being played here today with eight divisional championship rinks in action.

Winner will represent Ontario in the Canadian championship at Sudbury March 2-6.

Dr. R. Clark of Peterborough last year's Ontario champion, is back again with only one change in his rink. His opponent in the 1952 final, J. G. W. Sands of Kingston, returns with his quartet intact.

Other contestants are H. A. Haight of Hamilton Thistles, S. H. Smithers of Galt, Peter Gilbert of Chatham, Dr. A. C. Baillie of Orillia, T. F. Beattie of Toronto Granites and Frank Smith of Owen Sound.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

With a capacity entry of 28 rinks from clubs around this district, M. Knox of the Peterborough Club skipped his rink to take first honors and the Hiram Walker Trophy in yesterday's open bonspiel. He was closely followed by another local rink, skipped by Dr. M. McCartney, for second place; H. R. Martin, also from our local club, and L. Mackey of Lindsay were the other three game winners.

So closely contested were the games that only four points separated the four three-game winners. All rinks played the usual three 10-end games, and one noticeable feature was the number of games that went overtime.

The success of these bonspiels is largely due to the wonderful cooperation of the ladies, the members in general, and the bonspiel committee. It takes a lot of time and hard work to put these events across.

In presenting the trophy to the winning rink, Thomas Sheridan, on behalf of the Hiram Walker Co., expressed their appreciation to the competitors and the Peterborough Curling Club.

During the presentation of prizes, chairman Fred Stenson thanked the players, and hoped they would come back for other bonspiels scheduled for later dates.

The Lakefield girls had little trouble disposing of the Bancroft lasses. With speed they coasted to the victory with R. Wilson heading the scorers with two, Armstrong, Duggan, Armstrong and Staples singles.

Oddfellows Beat Cobourg In 8-2 Junior Contest To Draw For Third Place

The local Oddfellows racked up an 8-2 victory over Cobourg Jays here last night to wind up their regular OHA junior "B" schedule in a third-place tie with Lindsay. It will be necessary for these teams to meet and settle third and fourth places before the group semi-finals can commence as playoffs call for the first vs. fourth and the second vs. third teams to tangle. Belleville finished the schedule on top, with Kingston safe in second place. No word has been received as to when Lindsay and Oddfellows will meet. The best-of-five group semi-finals are due to commence next week.

NEXT OF KIN

It was a slim crowd that viewed the fairly fast and quite clean contest. There were but nine penalties, six to the homesters, mostly for interference or holding the puck. Rocky Wilson and Bob Gardner sat this game out for Doug Mortimer's men, while Red Robinson was back in the local lineup. Dawe went almost the whole route for the losers and looked good. Jerry Frizzelle stood out for IOOF defensively and in rushing. Dick McCracken also went well.

The whole club clicked okay this time after starting slowly. Cobourg led 1-0 in the first period, but the Links rolled for a 4-1 margin in the second, and they pitched home four without a return during the third chukker.

SCORED FIRST

Doris was back from a slashing penalty in the first when Dawe got through to slip one by Bob Delahey. McCracken got that back early in the second on a play with Coyle and Frizzelle. Cane was off for slashing when McDougall tallied from Doris. Later, Ferguson got a neat one on Robinson's pass. Though Coyle was away for tripping, Doris dangled in to park the biscuit again with Frizzelle starting the play. Boswell then took advantage of Coyle's absence to snare Cobourg's final goal of the night and of the season.

Almost from the faceoff in the third, Coyle went in with Twist to make it 5-2. Robinson scored one of his speedy specials with Floyd and Ferguson. Then Dotzko drew the finger for slashing, followed by Coyle for tripping. Twist tore through with McCracken to lengthen the local's lead, and Doris wound it up a bit later on a nice play with McDougall. McBride got the nod next for slashing, Snape followed for holding the puck, and near the close Byrne and Twist, two minutes apart, were gated for interference.

Teams:

Cobourg: Goal, Lingard; defence, Dawe and Cavanagh, centre, Campbell; wings, Boswell and McBride; alternates, Dotzko, Cane, Bowen, Hessin, McIvor, Pearse, Church and Halford.

IOOF: Goal Delahey; defence, Sullivan and Byrne; centre, Twist; wings, Coyle and McCracken, alternates, Kearns, Doris, McDougal, Robinson, Floyd, Ferguson, Snape and Frizzelle.

Referee, D. Calhoun; linesman, R. Wilson.

Kenner Colleens Edge St. Peter's

Kenner Collegiate girls took an exhibition game from St. Peter's High quintette Wednesday night by the slimmest of margins, 43-42. The Saints' lasses were playing their first basketball game and stayed close to the Kenner girls which was quite unexpected.

Both schools are introducing basketball to the girls for the first time this year. The new Kenner Collegiate has played two in junior play but they are still learning the fundamentals. At the same time St. Peter's with its new gym has concentrated on practising in preparation for next year when a girls' team will be entered.

St. Peter's High Joanne Kearns set the hoop on fire Wednesday with one of highest girls' individual scoring efforts in several seasons. She hit the hoop for 21 points while teammate, Ruth Hickey, scored 13.

Kenner Collegiate distributed the points better. Dianne Smith, who has had some experience in girls' city league play, topped the scorers with 18, followed closely by Barbara Succee with 13.

Lineups:

St. Peter's High (42)—Joanne Kearns 27, Ruth Hickey 13, Mickey McNaughton 2, Darlene Crowley, Joan Heard, Anne Sullivan, Barbara Rose, Arleigh Fitzgerald, Helen Finn, Evelyn Halnik, Rose DeCarlo.

Kenner Collegiate (43) — Joan Guthrie, Dianne Smith 18, Marge Harvey, Mary Tudhope 6, Sally Somers 1, Barbara Succee 13, Sally Reynolds 5, Donna Jarvis, Lorraine Middleton, Marg Lombard, Dawn Keay, Jacqueline LaPointe.

Hi Lee Stoops To Conquer Over Whipper Watson In Main Grapple Bout

Hi Lee stooped low last night in the main pro mat match at the Brock to give his side (which included the Mask) an undeserved decision over Whipper Watson and Yukon Eric in the deciding fall. He clipped Referee Sam Gotter (who wasn't looking) and told his indignant nibs that the Whip had done the foul deed. This, coupled with a big tumble Gotter took just previously when Watson threw the Mask Sammy's way, proved too much for the official. He awarded the third fall to the villainous pair.

The crowd didn't take kindly to it, and Sam and the winners had police protection through the milling fans, Lee toting a chair for added protection. Watson and Eric were plenty peeved, too, as was Larry Moquin (another grappler) who climbed into the ring at the end. They beat up Lee and the Mask to a fare-thee-well, but Hi and his hooded pal still were named the winners.

A WILD BOUT

It was a wild and woolly bout throughout. Whip scaled 238 but was the fastest man in there. Eric bumped the beam at 274 and was the strongest one of the four combatants. Towering Lee, scaling 298, was a mean customer at all times. His partner, the 251-pound Mask, proved the trickiest over most of the route. The latter won the first fall in 17 minutes over the Alaskan; with Lee from outside the ropes holding Eric's feet. But Yukon got the next fall in 13 minutes when he hoisted huge Hi Lee to his brawny shoulder and applied the back-breaking "Kodiak Krusher." The final round ended in 12 minutes.

As usual when the Whipper is on deck, the action was fast and wide-open. It ranged in and out of the ring and all over the place, as screaming fans jumped out of their ringside pews to escape annihilation at times. Four fought in spasms inside the roped enclosure and there were a few times when all four were battling bitterly out in the aisles. The confused ref remained confused.

Sam Gotter had a rough night of it, and was nearly beaten up a few times by the enraged Whipper and Eric. Also, Moquin threatened to toss him around after the unsatisfactory finish of the main bout—Larry feeling that the villains were let away with far too much by the blind arbiter. Moquin gaily joined the post-war festivities to paste Lee and the Mask around to the delight of a goodly gallery.

THREW PUNCHES

Moquin, at just 220 pounds, won the semi-final over the 246-pound Frank Valois, another Frenchy. It took him 22 minutes to do it, but it was a smooth bit of work when it came. The bigger Valois appeared to be setting Larry up for a fall with headlocks and slams, when Larry slipped a lock to fall into a reverse full nelson, and he ended by standing the surprised Valois on his shoulders for the three count. Big Frank used a barrel of illegal tricks all through, but when angered Moquin was another Dempsey in action. He moved fast and threw a flurry of short, hard punches up and down to chase Valois around to the plaudits of the customers. He once twisted his opponent's ear, and obligingly demonstrated it on the ref when questioned as to its legality. It was a lively bout.

Earl McCready, going 247, and handsome but rough Steve Stanlee, 233-pounder, who was once voted "Mr. America" in a poll, dished up a dandy prelim which went to a draw. McCready was giving his rough rival the business with head smashes into ring turnbuckles at the bell. The crowd liked the hot action, pulling for McCready, with the referee usually warning the wrong party when it got out of line. Steve rasped McCready's eyes, but later was hung up good in the hemp, and then chased out of the ring. He had to leave it again several times for protection near the finish.

Gavilan Winner Over Badly Outclassed Davey

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan, fresh from obliterating TV's top boxing attraction—a cruelly-outclassed Chuck Davey—clamored today for a shot at the middleweight crown against Randy Turpin or Bobo Olson. The killer from Cuba blasted the Davey invincibility myth Wednesday night before a Chicago Stadium crowd of 17,450 which paid a record welter bout gross gate of $275,454. Gavilan weighed 146½, Davey 147.

"It's now middleweights for me," said the jaunty Gavilan, unmarked in his 10th-round TKO triumph. "I want to take on Turpin or Olson. Either one after this tournament business."

He was referring to the elimination tournament proposed to screen some 11 contenders for Sugar Ray Robinson's vacated 160-pound title.

ALL SET

"Let Turpin or Olson find out who is champion and then I fight that guy," said Gavilan, who already has licked five of the middleweights trying to elbow into the title picture.

Davey, gasping desperately for breath, was unable to come out for the 10th round. Gavilan had felled him four times—once in the third and three times in the brutal ninth.

This match—or mis-match as ring experts contended since it first was announced—was a cruel awakening for the legions of TV fans mesmerized by Davey's cute southpaw style that had riddled two washed-up former champions, Ike Williams and Rocky Graziano, and earned him a crack at the title.

Yet, on points, Davey was making a battle of it. This was because Gavilan let the blonde gamester get off the hook in the third round and then fooled around by switching southpaw himself in the fifth and part of the sixth rounds.

Gavilan conceded after the fight that he knew he could put Davey away any time after the third. Even fighting as a left-hander, Gavilan was accorded no worse than a draw in the fifth and sixth and one official even gave him both rounds.

TRAINER FIRM

It was Davey's trainer, Issy Kline, who prevented Chuck from coming out for the 10th round. Davey wanted to go.

"I had the doctor (Irving Slott of the Illinois athletic commission) look at Chuck," said Kline. "He was gasping for breath from a punch to the adam's apple. He suggested we call it quits. I'd have done it anyway. If Davey went out for that 10th, he'd have been killed."

The beginning of the end came in the eighth when Gavilan opened a gash on Davey's right cheekbone. Davey came out fighting in the ninth. He started exchanging punches with the Kid and thereby signed his own death warrant.

A jolting right floored Davey for a count of nine. Gavilan smashed a left hook that floored Davey again for nine.

MOVED IN FOR KILL

Gavilan moved in for the kill. His right-hand punches to Davey's head sent him reeling through the ropes and nearly out of the ring. He sprawled on the ring apron and might have slipped off, but photographers held up their arms for protection and steadied Davey for the instant he needed to regain balance.

Davey staggered to his feet at the count of nine just before the bell ended the round. But it was obvious that between-rounds ministrations would be of little or no help.

Gavilan, even if he slayed the TV goose that laid the golden egg, collected approximately $85,000 for his 40 per cent slice of the announced net gate of $211,415. Davey got 20 per cent, or about $42,500.

Hornets Whip Chiefs 6-2, Tied For First

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pittsburgh Hornets moved back into a first-place American Hockey League tie with the idle Cleveland Barons Wednesday night, walloping the fifth-place Syracuse Chiefs 6-2.

The smallest St. Louis crowd in AHL history—1,458 fans—saw the fourth place Flyers edge the tail-end Buffalo Bisons 2-1.

Pittsburgh and Cleveland, who have been fighting neck-and-neck for the leadership for a good part of the season, have 5 points apiece, 11 more than their nearest rival, Hershey Bears.

PACED ATTACK

Danny Lewicki and Bob Sabourin paced Pittsburgh's attack against the Chiefs with two goals apiece. Bob Solinger and Ray Timgren scored the other Hornet markers. Don Ashbee and Harry Pidhirny tallied for Syracuse.

St. Louis Goalie Ralph (Red) Almas put on a terrific one-man show in the Flyers victory over the Bisons.

Knocked down by a shot off the stick of Buffalo's Calum Mackay late in the second period, Almas recovered to protect the St. Louis cage with 57 stops.

Guyle Fielder and Buddy Boone scored for the Flyers and Gordon Pennell for Buffalo.

Dukes Edge Hawks 6-4; Leading Flyers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barrie Flyers aren't winning the key games in their stretch drive for first place in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series. The league-leading Toronto Marlboros on the other hand are coming through in the clutches.

Wednesday night, the Dukes got a three-point edge on Barrie by defeating fifth-place Galt Black Hawks 6-4 while the runner-up Flyers bowed 7-2 before Toronto St. Michael's, third in the nine-team loop.

Montreal Canadiens, Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association leaders, suffered their first defeat on the road by taking a 5-2 loss from Oshawa Generals of the OHA.

Gerry James and Louis Bendo led Marlboros' attack with two goals each. Parker Macdonald and Tom McCarthy netted the others. Jim McBurney, the league's top scorer, tallied three times for Galt. Mario Chischini scored once.

PACES IRISH

Murray Costello paced St. Mike's with three goals. The remainder went to Ed Plata, Bill Dineen, Jim Logan and Butch Ratchford. Tiny Tony Poeta notched both Galt counters.

Harry Sindon, Don McIntosh, Roger Maisonneuve, Bob Attersley and Bobby Mader divided Oshawa's scoring. Brian Mackay and Claude Vinet came through with Montreal's markers.

No games are scheduled in junior play tonight. Friday Marlboros go to Kitchener, Quebec Citadelles play at Guelph, Montreal Canadiens at Barrie and Windsor at St. Catharines.

Brantford Clips Sarnia 6-5; In Fourth Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Redmen can relax.

They made fourth place in the Ontario Hock[illegible]sociation senior A series Wednesday night with a 6-5 overtime decision over Sarnia Sailors and made sure of a spot in playoffs starting next week.

Owen Sound Mercurys strengthened their chances of copping top spot in the seven-team circuit by holding the runner-up Stratford Indians to a 3-3 deadlock. With three more league games scheduled, Mercs hold a five-point edge.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A southern group, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds tightened their grip on second place with a 5-2 victory over Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Indians.

LOOK AFTER SCORING

Sam Kennedy, Bill Dinning, Walt Hnatiuk, Bill Shill, Don Oberholtzer and Bill Simpell took care of Brantford's scoring. Harry O'Connor notched two for the Sailors and Ollie Haddon, Nick Federonick and Alf Lewsey got one apiece.

Pat Wilson scored twice for Stratford and Lloyd Ferguson collected the third. Harry Kazarian, Jerry Reid and Art Hayward scored for the Mercurys.

Hec Pozzo, Johnny Offidani, Lorne Watters, Terry [illegible]cchi and Doug Towers led the Greyhounds' attack while Laurie Peterson and Jack Heon tallied for the Indians.

No games are scheduled in the OHA tonight. Sarnia is at Stratford Friday while Chatham plays host to Kitchener. In the NOHA, Sudbury Wolves play at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., tonight.

Double Jinx Holds Good As Rangers Tie Wings, Howe Stalled On Goal

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A double jinx held good in New York Wednesday night. Detroit Red Wings, who lead the National Hockey League by five points, haven't won a game against the tail-end New Yorkers since Lorne Gump Worsley replaced the injured Chuck Rayner in the Ranger nets Jan. 7. The best the defending league champions could do was a 2-2 tie before 8,469 fans. A third-period goal by Johnny Wilson gave the Red Wings the tie and ran Detroit's unbeaten string to eight.

The second jinx affected Gordie Howe, Detroit's star rightwinger and leading point-getter in the league. In the four previous meetings in New York this season, Gordie has been able to score only one goal, mostly due to the effective checking of Eddie Kullman.

ONLY GETS ASSIST

The 24-year-old Howe was shooting for his 200th tally of his NHL career, which began when he was 18, and his 40th of the year. The best he could do was garner an assist on a goal by linemate Ted Lindsay. It was Howe's 72nd point of the season and Lindsay's 53rd.

Nick Mickoski got New York's first goal on his own rebound. Kullman and defenceman Leo Reise received assists.

Paul Ronty passed to Wally Hergesheimer, who scored his 22nd goal of the season for New York's second tally.

Tonight Detroit moves to Boston where a victory for the Bruins would put them in a fourth-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs.

In the only other game tonight, second-place Montreal Canadiens try for a two-point gain on Detroit at the expense of the third-place Black Hawks in Chicago.

QUEEN'S PLATE JUNE 2

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Jockey Club has set Coronation day, Tuesday, June 2, for the running of the classic Queen's Plate at Woodbine Park. Usually the race has been held on the Saturday nearest May 24.

The announcement was made Wednesday at a meeting of OJC shareholders. The Plate Trial will be run Saturday, May 23.

E. P. Taylor and Col. K. R. Marshall, who was re-elected president, both said that traffic criticism of the new track to be built on No. 27 highway is premature.

Mr. Taylor said improvements in the highways will be made before the track is opened.

Directors re-elected were: Allen Case, E. P. Taylor, R. S. McLaughlin, J. E. Smallman, J. Frowde Seagram, L. M. McCarthy, George C. Hendrie, J. M. Macintosh, Charles Burns, F. A. Sherman, and Harry J. Carmichael.

VESSELS PICKS CANADA

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts indicated Wednesday Billy Vessels is available as trade bait to the highest bidder—if the price in players is right.

The flashy Oklahoma halfback, Heisman Trophy winner, was Baltimore's first draft choice, but he has decided he would rather play with Edmonton in the Western Canada Football League.

"I've made up my mind. I'm going to sign with Edmonton Saturday," Vessels announced at his campus dormitory in Norman, Okla.

"It's not that I don't want to play with Baltimore," he commented. "It's just that I think playing with Edmonton will be better for me in the long run."

Colts President Don Kellett said he would consider offers for the 185-pound gridder from other National Football League clubs in the near future. A couple of clubs already have put out feelers, he said.

"We don't want cash," Kellett said. "We want some top flight players in exchange if we trade Vessels."

According to Kellett, Vessels chose Edmonton over Baltimore because of the Canadian city's tie-in with oil fields.

LEFTY ACQUITTED

HALIFAX (CP)—Al Millar is probably the first hockey player who was ever acquitted of an assault charge because he bats left-handed.

The goaltender of Charlottetown Islanders of the Maritime Major Hockey League, charged with hitting a woman spectator with his stick during a game, was freed Wednesday because of testimony that he swung the stick from his right shoulder.

Magistrate R. E. Inglis, in reviewing the case, said prosecution witnesses testified that Millar swung his stick from the right shoulder and hit Mrs. Lola Hanna, sitting with her husband in a rink-side seat.

"Yet the accused is left-handed," he said. "His natural swing is from the left side. . . and the natural swing is what I have to consider."

✦ ✦ ✦

PHILLIPS STAR AT 55

THESSALON, Ont. (CP)—Bill Phillips, who played for the old Montreal Maroons of the National Hockey League 25 years ago, can still keep up with the new generation.

Tuesday night Phillips, now 52, scored three goals for Thessalon Eagles in a 9-8 overtime victory against Sault Ste. Marie junior Canucks in a Sault-Algoma Hockey League game.

✦ ✦ ✦

PHELAN MAY COACH

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jimmy Phelan, a famous name in football on both sides of the border, said Wednesday he will be "delighted, if I am invited" to coach the Vancouver football club.

He told club treasurer Bill Ralston he will be in Vancouver Tuesday for "talks" with club directors who will meet today to consider several applications for the job.

Former Notre Dame quarterback, Phelan coached University of Washington Huskies for 12 years and took them to the Rose Bowl in 1938.

His last job was with the Dallas Texans professional team which folded in mid-season last fall from lack of support.

MILES SIGNS

EDMONTON (CP) — Halfback Rollie Miles has signed a 1953 contract with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Eskimo officials announced Wednesday that Miles signed up for his third season with the western champions. He is the first player signed for 1953.

The Edmonton cub, which is looking for a coach, announced that Darre Roya, former Oklahoma University quarterback and coach at Mississippi State Coege since 1945, wil arrive Saturday to talk with club officials.

WATCH YOUR FEET!

Today's teen-agers' taste in their selection of winter clothing defies description. In footwear, many have turned to warmly lined air force type overshoes, which, although snug and warm, resemble the proportions of violin cases. When I see a young lad trying to stuff one of these into a hack to get a toe-hold for delivering a rock, I close my eyes and shudder inwardly at what might happen if one of his gunboats were to slip.

The footwork involved in balancing and swinging a stone on a slippery ice surface should be studied very carefully. It stands to reason that heavy, clumsy footgear will hinder proper manipulation of the feet in the hack and during the delivery, so don't wear heavy soled shoes, flight boots; or similar gear on the ice. Basketball players, bowlers, football players, etc., all wear special shoes to meet conditions demanded in their particular sports. Why should curlers try to be indifferent to similar requirements for co-ordination and effectiveness.

Light soled shoes with rubber heels, I have found, give the best satisfaction. For warmth, kid leather is better than the usual calf. Thick soled brogues gave me my worst season in curling. Crepe or rubber soled scampers are worn by Jimmie Welsh and his rink.

If you want a follow-through by sliding on the ball of your left foot, the suggestions above are worth remembering.

NEXT . . . WATCH YOUR FEET (PART 2)

Marlene Stewart Among Golf Winners

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Favored teams all won by comfortable margins Wednesday in the quarterfinals of the Everglades club mixed foursomes invitational golf tournament.

Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont. and Hobart Manley, Savannah, Ga. the medallist team, won a 4 and 3 decision over Vonnie Colby, Dania, Fla., and Lynn Creason, Harrisburg, Pa.

Edean Anderson, Helena, Mont., and Art Ruffin, Wilson, N.C., defeated Bea McWane, Birmingham, and Reginald Boardman Jr., Palm Beach, 5 and 3.

The defending champions, Polly Riley, Fort Worth, and J. Walcott Brown, Manasquan, N.J., scored a 5 and 4 victory over Pat Devany, Gross Isle, Mich., and W.B. Merry, West Palm Beach.

The 18-hole semi-final matches were to start at 2:15 p.m. EST today, with the Stewart-Manley team facing the Anderson-Ruffin duo and the Romack - Pagan combination paired with the Riley-Brown team.

Scherer Appointed Brantford Coach

KITCHENER (CP) — Walter (Punch) Scherer said Wednesday he has been appointed coach of the fourth-place Brantford Redmen of the Ontario Hockey Association senior A series.

Scherer, former business manager and coach of the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, said he would handle the Redmen during games, Bill Dinning, playing coach, would coach at practices.

CHOOSES EDMONTON — All-America halfback Billy Vessels, 21, of Oklahoma says he will sign a contract with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Union although Baltimore Colts of the professional National League are said to be still after him. Vessels, voted the outstanding player in the United States college ranks last season, said he would take a job with a Canadian oil company during the off-season.

James Gifford Director Of Good Roads Association

James Gifford, veteran reeve of Ennismore township, on Wednesday was elected one of six directors at the final session of the Ontario Good Roads Association's 51st convention.

Officers elected for 1953-54 were James Gaw of Leeds and Grenville, president; and A. Boyer of Prescott and Russell, Edgar Drew of Lennox and Adding'n, vice-presidents; directors—Leonard Wookey of Nipissing, Harvey Rose of Toronto, E. W. Jones of Simcoe, N. L. Powell of Peel, Gordon Bryce of Lambton, and Mr. Gifford of Ennismore.

Highlight of the day was an address by J. D. Millar, deputy minister of highways. He said that the Ontario municipalities should spend on accident prevention two per cent of the amount they devote to road construction.

One of several speakers at the annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association. Mr. Millar estimated that a community could save two lives by investing $2,000 in a safety campaign.

"Accident prevention must become as much a part of highway expenditures as the construction of bridges or the laying of pavement," he said, reporting that the auto death toll in Ontario was more than 1,000 in 1952, a record high.

AGAINST TOLL ROADS

Mr. Millar said Ontario is opposed to toll roads, proposed at the convention earlier in the week. The province now had 230 miles of dual-lane controlled access highways, more than any state in the U. S. not relying on the toll system.

In a night address, Highways Minister Doucett spoke on immigration and said there is no room in Canada for groups who will perpetuate age-long feuds of Europe. This country needs the "right kind of immigration" and he urged transfer of large sections of the British economy to Canada.

Agriculture Minister Thomas suggested there was still a place for the scenic secondary roads where people could drive more slowly, enjoy the scenery and live a lot longer.

The City Engineers' Association suggested a study of means to make a more equitable distribution of funds derived from gasoline taxes and licence fees. At the same time, Wellington county delegates sought a 75-per-cent contribution from the province in county road building. The province now contributes 50 per cent.

GRAVEL DISAPPEARING

P. D. Patterson, Huron county engineer, warned the convention that sources of gravel for road construction were being rapidly depleted. He suggested the use of sand as base wherever possible.

J. N. Allan, member of the legislature for Haldimand-Norfolk, said he felt municipalities were being shortsighted if they built inferior roads on a pay-as-you-go basis. He suggested issuing debentures for durable roads or constructing them with the aid of long-term financing.

Inspector Albert Witts of the provincial police traffic division said the cure for traffic deaths and the high accident rate was individual responsibility.

GLASS-BLOWER ART—Glass model of a tricycle, perfect to scale, is held by glass-blower Elmer Hookway of Toronto, a veteran of 50 years in the art. It took nearly 36 hours to complete. Wheels rotate easily and handlebars move in a tiny socket fitted to 1/16 of an inch.

Became Mother At 17 Years, Charges Rape

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Ward, 19-year-old star prosecution witness in the vice trial of Minot (Mickey) Jelke, says she became a mother at the age of 17 as a result of being raped.

The copper-haired call girl was cross-examined for the first time Wednesday during her three days of testimony against the man who allegedly jilted her for another woman.

Jelke, 23, heir to an oleo-margarine fortune, has been accused of inducing Miss Ward and two other young women to become high-priced prostitutes and of living off the earnings of Miss Ward.

With the press and public barred from hearing prosecution testimony by order of Judge Francis L. Valente, reporters must rely on questioning lawyers in the corridors.

Jelke's chief counsel, Samuel Segal, quoted Miss Ward as saying she had been raped by a man she declined to name.

Miss Ward was reported to have peeled off to the all-male jury another list of men who paid for her, giving the dates and her fees —$50 to $100 a night.

She testified she knew a number of theatrical and newspaper people not as clients but as friends.

Returning from a visit to the city, Hendy said today the Fort Wayne team in the International League has drawn "eight capacity crowds" and that "for the Fort Wayne-Cincinnati game this week, it was impossible to buy or beg a ticket."

The new rink at Fort Wayne seats 8,200.

He said the American League hopes to "persuade Cincinnati and Indianapolis to return next season" and added "I certainly would ask the league to invite in Fort Wayne."

Survey Delayed For 4 Months

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A survey of the causes of high water levels in Lake Ontario, scheduled to be made by the International Joint Commission, has been delayed four months because Canada has not named a man to the study board, it was reported today.

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, in a dispatch from Washington, quoted A. O. Stanley, head of the U. S. section of the IJC.

The commission held hearings on the lake's water level last fall after shore property owners charged that the lake's overflow had caused serious damage to their land.

As a result of those hearings and others conducted by the U. S. army corps of engineers, Canada removed the Gut Dam in the St. Lawrence river, which shore owners said contributed to high water.

FLOOD GAP—Flood workers in King's Lynn, England, haul sandbags to a huge gap in the seawall. These men are members of a 12,000 disaster duty force who are standing ready as a 50-mile-an-hour gale again threatens Britain's 300-mile danger zone.

Howe Still Hopeful New Wheat Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Wednesday he is hopeful that a new international wheat agreement will be negotiated at Washington.

He told John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre), in the Commons that he is in close touch with the 46-country negotiations and he knows of nothing which would lead him to conclude that discussions had broken down.

Mr. Howe said the Washington talks are private and no information can be given out. Meetings of importers and exporters were continuing from day to day.

Vote Ordered For CP Staff

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board decided Wednesday to order a vote among editorial employees of The Canadian Press on the question of revoking the certification of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) as bargaining agent for a unit of CP editorial workers.

The decertification was asked by a group of CP employees. It was the fourth application made by a majority of the bargaining unit in the last 1½ years. Two others were rejected, and on a third the board advised the applicants to withdraw it as premature.

The board's decision on the latest one, filed Dec. 31, was taken at a closed meeting at its regular February session. Board officers withheld any announcement pending notification of the parties involved.

However, an informant said the board had decided merely on a vote, leaving details such as the date of the ballot to be arranged by the staff of the federal labor department.

The action came after a long dispute between CP, the national co-operative news-gathering agency, and the guild, which was certified in April, 1950, as bargaining agent for the unit of editorial workers in Canadian Press bureaux within Canada.

Charge Funeral Home With Poor Conduct

DETROIT (CP)—The board of examiners in mortuary science Wednesday charged Lewis Brothers Funeral Directors, Inc., with unprofessional conduct and asked that the company's licence be revoked or suspended.

The list of 23 charges said a 17-year-old girl was handcuffed to a male body in the embalming room in the summer of 1950 and left there "in terror, with the lights off and the door closed, as a practical joke."

A company spokesman said the charges would be "shown to be false when the time comes."

RESCUED FROM BAY

HAMILTON (CP)—Carolyn Wallace, 11, of suburban Hamilton Beach fell through the ice on Hamilton Bay Wednesday and was rescued by firemen. The girl was skating with friends when she fell through.

Dr. Jordan Says

Good Physical Condition Can Help In Having Child

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A lady who read one of these columns on barren marriages asks for further information. She says that she is 37 years old, has been married 16 years, but has been unable to have a child.

Doctors have examined both her and her husband and have never told her she would not ever conceive, but haven't really told her what the trouble is, she says. She said she thought that to be sterile means one cannot bear children.

This is indeed a difficult and touching problem. There are many married couples who want very much to have children and just do not seem to be able to do so. The "why" of this is not always easy to discover.

However, it should be said first that fertility is not always what may be called an absolute matter. In nearly all human beings fertility varies from time to time, but it is apparent that some persons have longer periods of comparative sterility than others.

The first step for a couple that wishes to have children but does not seem able to do so, is for both partners to be thoroughly examined. Failure to bear children is just about as likely to be "the fault" of the man as of the woman, and an examination of only one partner is therefore inconclusive.

Modern methods of examination can and often do reveal a physical cause either in the wife or husband which may explain the failure of conception. In many cases, and in either partner, this can be corrected.

In the case of the correspondent whose inquiry is mentioned at the beginning of this column, however, that step has already been taken and apparently the doctors have not found any definite reason why the couple cannot have children. If this is the case, the couple must be recognized as "relatively infertile"—that is, they can have children, but the chances of having them are not very good.

This, however, explains why the physicians have not committed themselves to saying that the woman cannot ever conceive. Indeed she may go along for years and then, when she has given up hope, may suddenly have a child.

MAY NEED VITAMINS

In couples where there is relative infertility—in other words, no definite reason why conception cannot take place—the effort has to be made to keep both husband and wife in the best possible physical condition. Sometimes the addition of vitamins to the diet, the correction of some minor defects—even such as diseased tonsils, or the like—may bring about the desired result.

The physician is here looking on the borderlines of medical knowledge and cannot guarantee any results, but it seems to be an undoubted truth that sometimes improvement in the general condition of one or both partners will lead to the birth of a child long desired and long delayed.

Steak 39 Cents

BOSTON (AP)—Steaks for 39 cents a pound were on sale Wednesday in the Boston market district. The steaks, roasts and other cuts were frozen New Zealand beef. Standard steak cuts, with the bone in, retailed for less than half the price of domestic beef. Prices for various other cuts ranged up to 69 cents a pound.

Consider Liquor Ads

TORONTO (CP)—Arthur Welsh, chairman of the liquor control board, said Wednesday the possibility of allowing direct liquor advertising in Ontario is "still under consideration." Liquor companies now may advertise only indirectly through public service or institutional advertisements.

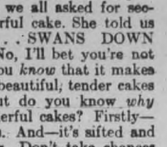
New Contract Supports Ration

LONDON (CP) — Britain's renewed bacon buying from Canada will help support the increased ration of five ounces a week effective Feb. 22, a food ministry spokesman said.

He was commenting on the announcement Jan. 23 that some $1,000,000 will be spent in the near future to buy Canadian supplies. Britain virtually suspended purchases in 1951 and took none at all in 1952.

In 1950, before dollar restrictions dried up most of the flow of Canadian food to Britain, this country imported 726,904 hundredweight of bacon, valued at £9,257,568, from Canada.



Now more than 50 per cent of total imports of bacon come from Denmark.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, February 12th—No trouble getting up—even on dark, dismal mornings . . . not since I began eating hot Cream of Wheat for breakfast. I just "rise and shine" at the thought of the good breakfast I'm going to have. And it doesn't take long to prepare! Just five minutes of boiling (do it while the coffee's perking) and Quick Cream of Wheat is cooked to delicious smoothness. Gets you off to a quick start, too! It contains iron for good red blood, and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. It's a treat for the whole family—CREAM OF WHEAT, the hot cereal for quick starts. Enjoy it soon!

I'm Sure That, Like Mrs. Mart Kenney, Norma Lock of singing fame and wife of the well-known bandleader, you'll enjoy the flavour, nutrition and economy of BLUE BONNET MARGARINE. You'll love the delicate, sunny-sweet taste that Blue Bonnet gives to your favourite foods . . . you'll appreciate Blue Bonnet's year 'round nutritional value (no other spread is richer in Vitamin A) . . . and you'll like what Blue Bonnet does for your food budget. I'm a constant Blue Bonnet user. I use it in cooking, on vegetables, as a spread for bread. It's as delicious melting hot as served fresh from the refrigerator. (And it's foil-wrapped for extra protection). When you try it, I'm sure you'll agree.

I've Never Seen A Husband As Proud as Mary's was the other night! He beamed with delight when we all asked for second helpings of Mary's wonderful cake. She told us her cake success "secret" . . . SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR. Surprised? No, I'll bet you're not if you use Swans Down. For you know that it makes cakes as light as a dream . . . beautiful, tender cakes that melt in your mouth. But do you know why Swans Down makes such wonderful cakes? Firstly—it's made by cake-flour experts. And—it's sifted and resifted 'til it's 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Don't take chances when you're cake-baking . . . to all your precious ingredients—add the "wizardry" of Swans Down Cake Flour.

There's A Family Conspiracy in our house . . . The kids love it—dad insists on it—and I cook with it . . . in fact, we'd be downright unhappy without HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP to add zest, colour and exciting tomato flavour to our meals. We call it 'Red Magic'—and so will you when you find out what it does for food at the table and in the kitchen. Buy two bottles at a time . . . one to set before the folks at mealtimes . . . one to cook with. Heinz Ketchup works wonders with leftover meats, stews and casseroles. Ask your grocer for Heinz Tomato Ketchup—from the famous family of Heinz Tomato Products on display in his store.

I'll Never Be overjoyed at the thought of dishes to do. But I certainly don't dread dishwashing now that those new chemical soaps make it so much easier. And with JERGENS LOTION to keep my hands in perfect condition—even these new soaps can't harm them. Yes, Jergens is the answer to the problem of hands roughened and dried by chemical soaps. Just use it after every watery chore. Because Jergens is liquid, it quickly penetrates to supply the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Make a hand-care habit of it. Remember Jergens Lotion . . . because you care for your hands. Costs just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

Worried About The High Cost Of Living? I can tell you a wonderful way to cut your milk bill in half. Just use MIL-KO for drinking, baking, cooking and whipping. I find that a one pound package gives me four quarts of delicious, nourishing skim milk . . . at half the cost of ordinary milk. You see, Mil-ko is actually "the lean meat" of milk—fresh, sweet and pasteurized—with only the fat and water removed. High in food value and low in calories, Mil-Ko is excellent for reducing diets. Ask your doctor about it . . . I'm sure he'll agree. Do try Mil-Ko soon . . . prove to yourself how good for your health, for your waistline and for your budget Mil-Ko is!

Communist Candidate

TORONTO (CP)—Stewart Smith, regional organizer for the Communist Labor-Progressive party, was nominated Tuesday to contest Toronto Greenwood riding at the next federal election.

Will Need Asia In West's Camp

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Wednesday night one of the greatest services the United Nations can perform is to bring Asia into the Western camp.

"We are, perhaps, too prone to think the world revolves around North America and Western Europe," Mr. Pearson, also president of the UN said.

"Asia and Africa have awakened. Their peoples are determined to be free and have a better life. . . Asia is on the march. The problem facing us is will she march with us or against us?"

Mr.Pearson, speaking at the annual meeting of the Leeds Liberal Association, said the UN is the best possible international machinery available.

Drops Request On Indian Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal senator agreed Wednesday at the request of the government to withdraw a bill proposing that the property of Indians be subject to legal claims by white men.

Senator G. H. Ross (L—Alberta) agreed to the withdrawal after Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, spoke against the measure. Under the present Indian Act the real or personal property of Indians on a reserve is not subject to such claims other than by another Indian.

Senator Robertson said the North American Indian Brotherhood protested the proposed change, saying it would break a pledge given the Indians on revision of the Indian Act in 1951 that no amendments would be made without the Indians themselves making representations.

Royal Farms Streamlined, Raise Production

WINDSOR, England (CP) — The royal farms at Windsor, covering 650 acres of former parkland, are being streamlined in accord with current emphasis on more food at lower cost.

A new feature is a herd of attested Ayrshire cows, yielding 150 gallons of milk daily. There is also a herd of 40 pedigree attested Jersey cattle.

All cattle on the royal farms have been dehorned. As calves are born, their horn buds are treated painlessly to arrest development.

FOLLOW EXAMPLE

One reason for dehorning is the practice of turning cattle into straw yards at night to ensure that milk maintains a high standard of purity. Advocates of dehorning have been encouraged by the royal example. Some cattle breeding societies have announced that absence of horns will not prejudice show chances.

The Windsor farms also house 1,000 Sussex Rhode cross poultry, kept in covered yards with night lighting to aid egg production in winter. Average yield in the last four months has been 60 per cent.

Food produced goes to royal residences. The surplus is sold commercially.

Mickey Rooney's Name Mentioned In Jelke Procuring Trial

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Rooney's name popped up Wednesday from the past of call-girl Pat Ward, but the pint-sized movie star said "we were never alone."

Miss Ward, a copper-haired 19-year-old, is star witness at the cafe society procuring trial of Minot (Mickey) Jelke.

Also mentioned as Miss Ward acquaintances from the pre-Jelke days—when she was an already-tarnished belle of cafe society—were disk jockey Jack Eigen, comedian Joey Adams and a "well-known newspaper man"—not identified. Eigen and Adams both denied any more than casual meetings with her.

ENTIRELY PROPER

Miss Ward's lawyer, J. Roland Sala, said her meetings with the men were "entirely proper."

The names of the men were mentioned outside of court by defence lawyer Sam Segal, who declined to name the newspaper man.

Of Rooney, one of Hollywood's top box-office attractions for years, Segal said:

"She said she knew him, that she had been out with him, had been to his apartment and had had dinner with him. . . She knew Rooney more than seven months before she met Jelke."

HAD DINNER ONCE

Jelke, 23-year-old heir to an oleomargarine fortune, is on trial on charges of prostituting Miss Ward and other cafe society charmers for playboys who could afford up to $500 a night for their company.

Rooney was playing golf at Los Angeles when reporters located him and asked him about Miss Ward.

"I met her once five years ago," the actor replied. "We had dinner with a crowd of people in New York."

Segal also said the names of comedienne Martha Raye and her husband, Nick Condos, were mentioned. Miss Ward took an overdose of sleeping pills in their New York apartment last May 22.

General sessions judge Francis L. Valente barred press and public from the state testimony at Jelke's trial.

Girls Don't Like Utility Model Glasses

BYRN-Y-MOR, Wales (CP)—Boys seldom make passes at girls who wear national health service glasses, a regional health committee was told.

Officials listened to complaints that schoolgirls were often "ragged" about their appearance in the nickel-framed spectacles provided free under Britain's national health service.

So the health ministry in London will be urged to allow girls aged 12 to 16 to have tortoise-shell frames instead of the present utility model.

Under the present system, frames other than the free type can be obtained for a reasonable aditional cost.

CHIANG'S AIR FORCE SMALL, BUT EAGER—The Chinese Nationalist air force will probably be the first to go into action against the Communist-held mainland under President Eisenhower's new policy of freeing Generalissimo Chiang's forces for offensive action. The Nationalist pilots are eager, but they haven't the planes to stage any major aerial attack. The Nationalist air arm has only about 300 old-type planes, including transports—and no jets. So attacks on the Chinese Reds probably will be confined to harassment and hit-and-run raids to disrupt rail communications. Pictures below, taken on Formosa, show Nationalist airmen in training.

"Cat Burglar" Has Accomplice

VANCOUVER (CP)—Convicted "cat burglar" Roland Desrochers said Wednesday a "big man" in the east disposed of thousands of dollars worth of loot.

"If I tell you who he is you would laugh at me," Desrochers told detectives who visited him in prison while investigating the robberies.

"Everyone knows him."

The 36-year-old second-storey man looted at least 80 Vancouver homes of $40,000 in cash and goods in a two-year period before being caught Monday and sentenced to 10 years.

Earlier, he told police he sent the loot to Montreal.

MARITIMES FLOOD—A February rainstorm, termed "phenomenal" by weather experts, washed out bridges, railway tracks, caused temporary evacuation of 25 families and marooned dozens of families in Nova Scotia. This is what happened to a snack bar near Halifax.

Miners in Britain are entitled to free technical education under the National Coal Board.

The River Nile has a total length of 3,850 miles, including 960 miles in Egypt.

Greatest Threat To Peace Removed—Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson says the greatest threat to world peace has been removed because the "temptation to easy and victorious aggression" in Western Europe vanished in 1952.

But he says, too, that a world could spring out of new military or economic measures in the Far East designed to end or shorten the Korean conflict.

His first reference was to the threat of Russian aggression. His second was obviously to the possibility that the U. S. will take new steps against Red China. Both were made in the Commons Wednesday in launching a foreign-policy debate.

"It is very natural," he said, "to desire to hit the aggressor in new places and with new weapons but it is also wise to realize that he may also hit us somewhere else and with new weapons in consequence."

NOT IN CIVIL WAR

Canada was fighting Red China solely because China was an aggressor in Korea. She was not interested in getting involved in Chinese civil war.

The debate was expected to continue today.

Mr. Pearson envisaged the day when Canada and the U. S. will be pressing farther and farther into the Canadian north to man defence ramparts because scientific advances will steadily increase the speed with which an enemy could strike at them.

He struck out critics of NATO and said it is NATO's growing strength and "steady progress" which more than anything else has eliminated "the temptation to easy and victorious aggression in Western Europe, that temptation which is the greatest threat to peace when totalitarian governments are around."

THREAT REMAINS

But, he cautioned, the threat of Russian imperialism still remains and the west should not allow itself to be lulled "into a false sense of security and complacency." The buildup must go on.

Without referring specifically to reports that the U. S. might take action against Red China, Mr. Pearson dealt at length with the Far Eastern situation.

"The effort to end the Korean War must not stop and I am sure will not stop.

"The guiding principle of Canadian policy in Korea is to continue to do everything possible to limit the present hostilities to the Korean peninsula and to take advantage of any opportunity for an earlier settlement of these hostilities by peafeful negotiation. . .

"Our general attitude in the UN assembly or elsewhere is to support proposals designed to facilitate an armistice agreement, and to oppose those which in our judgment would impede such an armistice.

DEFEAT OR AGGRESSION

"We consider that the purpose of the UN in Korea remains the defeat of aggression there and does not include intervention in the civil war in China. So long as Chinese troops act as aggressors in Korea they must be opposed, and that aggression, if possible, defeated. This does not mean that we who oppose them, by so doing, are committed to the overthrow by force of the government now in effective control of the mainland of China. . .

"Another point. . .is that we believe it is essential that Western and Asian democracies should maintain in this matter the highest possible degree of unity of purpose and action. We do not believe, accordingly, that the Western powers should press for measures at the United Nations or elsewhere, measures military or economic, which would certainly not be supported and indeed might be actively opposed by important non-Communist Asian states and which without such support would be less effective in ending the Korean war than in extending it."

BROAD PURPOSE

The recent Commonwealth economic conference did not result in any "narrow group aiming to improve its position at the expense of or without the consideration of others." It was realized that any action must be broader than the Commonwealth itself.

The effectiveness of the conference could not be finally judged until member countries adopted their own measures and until discussions were held with the U.S. and other non-Commonwealth countries.

Toronto Schools Start New Group Therapy

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto schools have introduced a new form of group therapy for 15- and 16-year-old boys who present problems of emotional unrest.

Dr. C. G. Stogdill, who is in charge of the therapy service, said the method takes the form of weekly discussions on subjects that the group wish to raise.

Dr. Stogdill said that these sessions help the adolescent overcome his loneliness and to see that other children have the same problems.

"The worker stays in the background and avoids impressing his views on the group," said Dr. Stogdill. "The adolescent learns to suppress some of his inclinations for the sake of being included in a group of his peers. The markedly seclusive adolescent is one of the most difficult persons to help—one must find some way of getting him interested enough to participate. Group therapy offers real promise in this regard."

Soft Winter

MONTREAL (CP)—The new Italian consul here arrived to find Montreal only slightly chillier than his native Turin in winter. Count Francesco de Rege-Thesauro previously was a colonial administrator in Africa and since the war has served at Casablanca.

MARRIED JAPANESE—Pte. Kenneth Beeds, 23, of Lloydminster, Sask., had a word of warning to Canadian girls as he brought his Japanese bride back with him after his service in Korea. Beeds said Japanese women are providing stiff competition for Canadian girls and that Japanese-Canadian marriages are increasing. A member of the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, Beeds said one big reason is that Japanese girls are more attentive to their husbands. He met the former Teruko Matsuo of Kure a year ago. They stopped over in Edmonton on their way home to Lloydminster.

Printer 61 Years Still Goes Strong

ROSEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Five presses have come and gone in Louis Kaiser's little shop in this tiny southwestern Ontario community, but the 84-year-old printer is still going strong.

This month Mr. Kaiser, former Roseville [illegible] of the [illegible] bailiff and [illegible]er of marriage licences, entered his 61st year in the printing business with an order from Baptist Johnston, Queen's printer at Toronto.

Mr. Kaiser was for many years a correspondent for the Galt Reporter at Galt, eight miles east of here, and rode four miles daily on his bicycle to New Dundee or Ayr to pick up news items.

He still uses, in his old, frame cottage shop on land owned by Kaisers for more than a century, type bought from the old Brantford Courier when that newspaper was incorporated by The Expositor in 1918.

Among his most prized possessions are a hand-made lock from the first jail built in Kitchener and his father's birth certificate, printed in German.

LIBERAL WOMEN MEET

The Peterborough Women's Liberal Association will hold their annual meeting and election of officers on February 25. It will be in the committee rooms, 408½ George Street, at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Jack Duignan is the 1952 president.

CLARK CURLERS ELIMINATED

The Peterborough rink, skipped by Dr. Ralph Clark, was eliminated in the Ontario curling championship tournament today by Hamilton Thistles. The Hamilton rink, skipped by H. A. Haight, won an easy 12 to 5 victory over the 1952 Ontario champions. Losers will play in the semi-finals of the consolation later today. Winners advance into the semi-finals of the championship play.

SKID INTO COLLISION

Damage estimated at $65 was done to a car driven by John C. Barnett, 48, 525 Albert St., when it was in collision with a car driven by J. S. Munro, 40, 681 Weller St., at Stewart and Townsend Sts. shortly after 6 p.m. Wednesday. Damage to the Munro vehicle was estimated at $45. Both drivers applied their brakes and skidded in vain attempts to avoid the accident.

FORM UE COMMITTEE

A policy committee was formed Wednesday night at a meeting of Local 524, UE. The executive of the union hope it will swell to nearly 200 strong and it will serve as a liaison committee between the membership and the negotiating committee while negotiations over a new contract are held with management. Two or three members of each department are included on the committee. Union officials say this should lessen the load on departmental stewards.

STRUCK ON HIGHWAY

A Niagara Falls truckdriver, Hugh W. Pollock, 30, received slight concussion and a fractured rib early today when he was struck by a car while walking along Highway 2, near the Newcastle subway. Provincial Police say the car was driven by Gerald Ellis of Young's Point. Pollock, driving a Secord Transport truck, Fonthill, had got out of his own truck to help another truckdriver who was in difficulties during the snowstorm. He was struck by the passing car and later was taken to Bowmanville Hospital where he was treated by Dr. S. H. Witzel of Newcastle. He left today for a checkup in a Niagara Falls hospital.

VISIT OF THE HON. PAUL MARTIN to Peterborough Wednesday not only enabled his deputy-minister of national health and welfare, Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, to visit his native city, but provided him with an opportunity to inspect Civic Hospital of which his father, Dr. G. S. Cameron is a member of the Board of Governors. Mr. Martin said he was especially pleased with the interchangeable staff system used by the two local hospitals, which were visited by the two men. In the top picture Mr. Martin is shown chatting with the Sister Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital and the Bishop of Peterborough, left to right: Sister Priscilla, Hon. Paul Martin, Most Rev. Gerald Berry. Bottom—the deputy minister chats with his father and the chairman of the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital. Left to right: Max J. Swanston, Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, Dr. G. S. Cameron.

Health Minister Praises City's Two Hospitals

High praise was accorded both St. Joseph's and Civic Hospitals by the Hon. Paul Martin, federal minister of health and welfare, who made extensive tours of both institutions Wednesday afternoon during a visit to Peterborough. "The two hospitals which I visited today indicate the great planning that has gone on here for some time," he said. "Both hospitals are well equipped and extremely well staffed.

"The principle of interchangeable medical staffs is to be highly commended," the health minister emphasized. "It shows an appreciation of the idea that medical science runs beyond the boundaries of creed and opinion.

"When I first visited the Regina hospitals I was very impressed by the operation of the same principle there and I am glad to note a similar practice in Peterborough."

NATIVE OF CITY

Mr. Martin also lauded Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy minister of health and welfare, who accompanied him on the tour. A native of Peterborough, he is the son of Dr. G. S. Cameron, 318 Stewart St. ,who is a member of the board of governors of Civic Hospital.

"Dr. Cameron's great contribution in the field of public health reflect greatly on him and the community from which he comes," Mr. Martin said.

In an interview, the health minister stated that specific projects for solving the increasing problem of hospital care of chronically ill patients had been discussed with certain of the provinces by the federal government. He declined comment on the problem of indigent patient care—increasingly acute in Peterborough—which he said was a matter for discussion between provincial and municipal authorities.

Mr. Martin said his department was concerned with the problems faced by hospitals which were caring for a large number of patients who are not seriously ill but because of old age or other disabilities required institutional care.

WANT MORE BEDS

"The reason we make grants in aid of the chronically ill higher than for others is because we want more beds provided for them," he said. "But we have to realize that the proportion of older citizens to the rest of our population is increasing, because of the increase in life expectancy."

"The life expectancy of Canadians has increased 20 years since 1900. In another six years, a million Canadians will be 70 years of age or over."

During his tour Mr. Martin met hospital officials, staff members and patients, with many of whom he stopped for a brief chat. He also inspected wards, operating rooms, laboratories and other facilities.

Accompanying him to both hospitals in addition to Dr. Cameron were Max Swanston, chairman of the Civic Hospital board of governors; P. D. Scollard of the board of governors of St. Joseph's Hospital, and Thomas Cavanagh.

The minister was greeted at St. Joseph's Hospital by the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough; the Rt. Rev. J. F. O'Sullivan, Immaculate Conception Church; the Rev. James McGuire, rectodr of St. Peter's Cathedral; the Rev. Roy McEacheran, hospital chaplain; the Rev. Mother Anita and Sister Camilla of Mount St. Joseph, and Sister Priscilla, Sister Superior of the hospital.

The sisters of the hospital, members of the advisory board and medical staff, graduate nurses, student nurses and staff were present in a group to welcome Mr. Martin as he entered the hospital.

On his tour of Civic Hospital, the minister was accompanied by Miss Evelyn Robson, director of nursing and principal of the school of nursing; John Hornal, superintendent; Dr. R. M. Matthews, president of the medical staff and Dr. H. A. Mitchell, chief of staff.

Following an inspection of the school of nursing, Mr. Martin was guest of honor at a tea in the nurses' lounge where he met informally with members of the staff, the hospital board and the Women's Auxiliary.

Suggestion Of Substituting Oil Painting For Photograph Of W. G. Morrow Fizzles

Proposal of a citizen that an oil painting of the late W. G. Morrow be substituted at the City Hall for the enlarged and softly tinted photograph in the vestibule received a cool hearing when it was conveyed to the finance committee of council this week by Mayor Waddell.

Cost of the painting was estimated at approximately $1,500.

"I don't think Mr. Morrow would have appreciated the spending of that money on a painting of himself in the lobby," said Ald. Syd Black.

"I thought Mr. Morrow was a very plain man, and I think he would have approved the plain photograph," was Ald Norman Graham's opinion.

Ald. Anglesey said he did not think much of a suggestion coming from one person. "I think the council in 1951 did as much as Mr. Morrow and the public would have expected."

Mayor Waddell said that the munificence of Mr. Morrow's bequest appealed to the citizen he was quoting as warranting a painting in oils, instead of the photograph.

"We can recall that the decision was made probably in a little hurry on account of the approaching formal opening at that time in October," Mayor Waddell reported. "The architects felt that the building in itself was a memorial to Mr. Morrow, and anything on the outside or the inside, which might be added, would tend to detract from that effect."

Their sentiment was that the walls in the building "should not be covered with things." Mayor Waddell said the will of Mr. Morrow left the detail of memorial to the decision of the people who arranged and carried out the plans. "So a suitable plaque was settled on, and the picture came later." Mayor Waddell said the architects were not in favor even of placing exterior identification in the words "City Hall" on the building. It was the architects who settled on the plaque.

That was the end of the comments on the communication dutifully relayed by Mayor Waddell.

Four Fire Calls

Firemen had four calls during the last 24 hours. Heat from an overheated coal stove blistered some paint on a metal-covered board belonging to T. Dunstan, 215½ King St. An overheated chimney and pipes required a handpump to eliminate the fire hazard at the home of George Cumpsty, 865 Water St. N. A chimney fire was reported at the home of Fred Johnston, 213 Westcott St., and another handpump was used to put it out. At the Canadian Sealright plant, Aylmer St., there was a false alarm when one of the sprinklers triggered off.

Sports Car Club To Hold First District Rally

The Peterborough Sports Car Club will hold its first rally, a 300-mile test, Easter weekend.

Most of the cars are expected to be Peterborough cars — about 20 — but there will also be drivers with their cars from Toronto, Lindsay and other centres. It will start April 3, Good Friday.

The rally will be a shortened version of the one held a few weeks ago that followed a route that took a wide swing around Lake Ontario and came through Peterborough.

There will be at least two drivers in each car and the goal in the rally to cover the 300-mile route without exceeding the normal highway speed limit and without lagging behind the times set for each section of the route.

Points are scored against cars which fail to maintain these standards. The ones completing the course with the lowest number of points against them are the winners.

START IN CITY

The course set starts in Peterborough, goes out Highway 7 to Kaladar, north to Eganville across to Barrys' Bay and down Highway 28 to Bancroft and on through to Peterborough on the highway. The places named are the check points and in between will set up check points to time speeds.

The club also elected its 1953 executive at Wednesday nights' meeting. Arnold Kelbrick was returned as president and Ronald MacGee was elected vice-president; Larry Cunningham, secretary, and Chris Kellay, treasurer.

The club is also planning a treasure hunt some time before the rally. At the club's next meeting, Feb. 25 in the library, two films will be shown of the 1952 Monte Carlo rally and the 1952 Alpine rally.

Meet To Discuss School Facilities At Bridgenorth

BRIDGENORTH (ENS) —Ratepayers of SS No. 5, Smith, met at Bridgenorth Tuesday night to discuss future school accomodation for the second time in five years.

Not quite three years ago the new two-roomed school was opened in Bridgenorth, and even then it was necessary to retain the old school as a classroom to handle the large number of children.

Now the ratepayers are faced with a similar problem, worse than the previous one. The present three rooms are overcrowded and worse conditions are in store in September.

At the end of a question and answer period and after considerable discussion on the questions, it was decided that a committee chaired by W. G. Ray look into the possibilities and bring their findings to another meeting.

Committee members are Mr. Ray, George Easton, Ken Underhill, Roy Wood and Mrs. A. Arnott.

School board chairman Karl Blewett reported on information taken from the township assessor last June. In the school section there were 71 children between the ages of one and five, 81 between the ages of six and 13.

A more recent tally shows that the first group has increased to 95 in number. There are 111 children enrolled at the school.

130 NEXT TERM

Six pupils are expected to leave the school for collegiate next September and about 25 will be entering first grade, bringing the total enrolment to 130.

A standard of 35 pupils in each classroom has been set as the maximum, and overcrowded conditions seem certain for next term. Six children were refused admission to the school because they were not six years old by January 1. The school inspector had reported that it was the duty of the board to provide accommodation for all pupils applying for admission to the school.

Among the questions fired at the board during the question and answer period was one asking what accommodation would be necessary for next year. Board members replied that they had considered adding one room. In response to another query, the board said that any addition to the present school would require more land.

Chairman for the evening was George Easton, and assisting him was acting secretary W. G. Ray.

Smith Ratepayers Petition Ontario Legislature To Stop Annexation Of Land

Hearing Expected Before Gov't Committee Early In March

May Require Special Act Over Petition

The Ontario Municipal Board has received and filed a petition objecting to the city's annexation of 1,256 acres of Smith township. More than 34 per cent of those entitled to vote on money bylaws have signed the petition. The Municipal Act requires a minimum of 10 per cent of those living within the area to be annexed and who are entitled to vote on money bylaws.

The city, through advertising, has announced its intention of applying to the Ontario Legislature for confirmation of the Municipal Board's order of annexation. This application will be heard at the next session of the Legislature after study by the house's private bills committee.

UP BEFORE COMMITTEE

It is expected that the application will be discussed in the private bills committee early in March—it is 26th on the list of applications for private bills.

Key to the overall problem is the fact that the committee can recommend passing of the special act confirming annexation over the objection expressed in the petition.

Ralph Standish, solicitor for the Smith Township ratepayers objecting to the annexation, said that this does not mean the petition will receive no consideration.

He said he hoped to be told of the time of hearing in committee so that he might express the group's views to the committee, and through the Hon. Harold R. Scott, member for Peterborough, to the Legislature when the bill is debated there.

"The petition is evidence of quite a strong objection to annexation," he said, adding that he believed more signatures could have been obtained. He said the group felt it was not necessary to get more names once three times the necessary number had been obtained.

While the city's application for confirmation and for a special Act to make it law could be dealt with by the committee in short order, Mr. Standish said he felt there would be considerable discussion of it before recommendation was made.

The matter has now passed beyond the hands of the city and the petitioners, and will be dealt with in the Legislature.

Fair Board Asks $1,000 Grant Of City Council

G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager of Peterborough exhibition, made application to the finance committee of the council Monday night for a grant of $1,000. He mentioned $1,500 as an amount that would be even more helpful.

"We have spent some $70,000 in restoring the grounds during the last five years," Mr. Gillespie said. "The federal government undertook to give us a grant of $3,000 a year for 10 years. We still have five years to go. City and county make up $3,000 in cash and work, and the province matches that with $3,000."

Ald. T. D. Miller, chairman, said the committee would like to have a copy of the Exhibition financial statement for 1952, which Mr. Gillespie promised to mail.

"I think we had the best fair in 1952 that was ever on the grounds," Mr. Gillespie said, but with regret for the midway disappointment to the public and particularly the children.

USED TO GET $3,000

"Years ago the council used to give us $3,000. I think I was on the council myself when that amount of grant was made.

"I don't think the council gave us any money last year, but Utilities Commission ran a water main through the grounds that could have cost $1,500. The city's parks committee spent $1,500 or better on the property. On the other hand we let the grounds be used by some 20 clubs. To get $3,000 this year we need to get at least $1,000 from the city.

"The county council gave us $500 last year, but they have cut us to $400 this year and are giving an extra $100 to Norwood."

Mr. Gillespie said there was no question in his mind about Peterborough being one of the best agricultural fairs in the province, as shown last year in the array of exhibits.

New Year May Be Difficult For Chinese Year Of Snake Noted For Bad Luck

By JEAN STENTON

When the Dragon dances Saturday to welcome the Year of the Snake, most Chinese will have enjoyed a special New Year's Eve dinner with members of their families. While it will be occasion for rejoicing, at the same time many of them will, figuratively speaking, be bracing themselves for blows that may be about to fall.

"The Year of the Snake is NOT a good year and we can look for bad luck in the next few months," one of Peterborough's Chinese cooks said gloomily.

For older Chinese, particularly, who recall the Year of the Snake, its recurrence is not exactly a cause for rejoicing. In previous cycles it has given them a bad time and there is no reason to expect that this one will be much better. To be sure, it is not as bad as the Year of the Monkey which is due in 1956, but it is one of the worst.

Both Westerners and Chinese have reason to remember the last two Snake Years. In 1929, the stock market crash and subsequent depression are still a harrowing memory. While in China, political upheavals and growing pressure from Japan before the Mukden incident are not happy recollections.

In 1941, the Snake kept up its record of bad luck and treachery with the attack on Pearl Harbor, war losses across the world and bitter fighting, hunger and death stalking the provinces of China.

ANCIENT CALENDAR

February 14 introduces the year 4650 for the Chinese. The lunar calendar has been widely used in China from the time of the first records. Finding it easier to measure time from the moon instead of the sun, the ancient sages observed that the planet Jupiter made a circuit of the earth every 12 years and Saturn every 30 years. Once in every 60 years they meet almost in the same place in the sky as seen from the earth. So the wise men determined this 60-year period corresponding to our century, from the stars. To each year of a cycle, they gave a name and these are the 12 terrestrial branches which correspond to the western signs of the Zodiac.

The Year of the Snake which has appeared in 1905, 1917, 1929, 1941 and 1953, to name a few, is due again in 1965. The Year of the Dragon which passes away Saturday left much unhappiness. Many Peterborough Chinese felt Communist pressure applied to their families or were chosen as victims in the Red extortion racket. Although this squeeze is supposed to have been pretty well stamped out, only a few weeks ago two residents here received demands for money backed by threats against their families. Whether the Year of the Horse in 1954 will be any better remains to be seen.

Although Peterborough's Chinese will observe the occasion with quiet, private dinners; in Formosa, Hong Kong and perhaps big cities like Vancouver and Montreal, the Dragon will dance in all his finery and the old customs will be enjoyed once more. Even in Red China, many families will celebrate the new year.

Canada Lodges Two Complaints With U.S.

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has lodged complaints with the new United States administration on two sore points in relations between the two countries.

The friction spots were U.S. restrictions on dairy product imports and U. S. delay in naming a partner for Canada in the power phase of the $750,000,000 St. Lawrence navigation-power project.

Transport Minister Chevrier, in a speech Wednesday to the Chamber of Commerce at Port Arthur, said Canada is becoming "somewhat impatient" at the delay of the U. S. federal power commission in deciding on the New York state power authority's application to undertake the St. Lawrence power project.

External Affairs Minister Pearson said in the Commons that power commission discussions "must not delay any longer the whole project."

STERN NOTE

And in a 450-word note delivered at Washington, the Canadian government expressed "serious concern" at the "infringement" of trade agreements involved in the import restrictions on dairy products. A copy of the note was tabled in the Commons by Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Chevrier said that after five months the U. S. power commission's hearing of the New York state application had been adjourned, with indications it will be some time yet before a decision is reached.

Canada is committed to building the $300,000,000 navigation works alone. The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission will share construction of the power facilities with whatever U. S. agency is approved in Washington. It is generally believed that New York state will do the job.

Mr. Chevrier said: "We are naturally becoming somewhat impatient at the delays in this matter which to us is of vital concern.

"Will there be no end to these delays? Why should it be necessary to postpone decision for another undetermined period? Why cannot we expect an early decision on the New York state application?

"These are questions to which Canadians would like an answer, and I believe no one can complain about our desire to have one."

Mr. Pearson said Americans have not been co-operating with Canada on the seaway "at the pace we feel the requirements of the situation demand."

Canada hoped the FPC decision would come soon and was "disappointed" it had not already been reached.

The two countries had solved many joint problems together, Mr. Pearson said. "Surely they will be able to solve this one, and soon."

The Canadian note on U. S. Dairy import barriers said the restrictions had infringed the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by the U. S. and were a departure from accepted principles of commercial policy.

Such departure, it said, "can hardly fail to weaken the force of those principles and to damage seriously the development of world trade on a constructive basis."

DIRECTS RELIEF — Lt.-Col. Walter Reynolds, national director of Canadian Red Cross disaster services, has been assigned to co-ordinate all relief activities in the European flood areas by the League of Red Cross Societies. Col. Reynolds was a staff officer with the Canadian army in Holland in 1945 during the liberation of that country.

New Year May Be

BIG CELEBRATION

The New Year is to the Chinese what Christmas is to the western world. For days ahead, Chinese women prepare foods so that during the holiday season they have no cooking to do. For from three to five days the nation dresses in its best clothes, shuts up shop, loafs, gambles, sets off firecrackers, pays calls and attends theatre performances. It is a great day—a day of good luck.

The women justify their idleness by saying that to chop meat on New Year's Day is to chop off good luck, and to pour water down the sink is to pour away good luck.

The Dragon means to Chinese children what Santa Claus means to Canadian youngsters. When they go to sleep New Year's Eve, their parents wrap silver dollars or other money in red paper and hide it under their pillows. They find it then as soon as they wake up on the morning of the great day.

It is the duty of the younger generation, dressed in its best, to bow to the older generation in greeting. Then the elder generation in its very formal and best clothes, gives the children more money and small parcels of candy.

New Year's Eve everyone stays at home and a family reunion is held. Quite often at the special dinner a whole fish, cooked, will repose on the table untouched. It is a symbol of the fact that if left alone, finances will be good in the coming year. If there are any unpaid debts, the collectors will appear at the home just before the year ends.

DRAGON MAY DANCE

It is always the hope of the Chinese that shortly after midnight, the temperamental Dragon will dance. Firecrackers rouse him from slumber and show gratitude and a warm welcome. Accompanied by drums and cymbals, the agile Dragon dances his way through the streets. Although the dancers are generally amateurs, they must be very adept and synchronize perfectly. They must move so that the tail does not get in front of the head in the twisting, prancing movements of the dance.

The Chinese regard the Dragon as a good, not evil influence. It is the most honored of animals, being the symbol of the Taoists. The Dragon represents to Taoists what the Cross does to Christianity. It is a symbol of joy and happiness, of all good in nature and life. Taoists call the "Yi" principle the playful spirit of man. The Dragon is like nature, man's servant not his master.

"Treat the Dragon kindly and he will be your friend," the Chinese citizens say. "We dance with him and twist his tail in good natured fun. Do not be afraid. Shake hands with the Dragon and you will find a way of peace."

The new Chinese year starts in a Little Month, which means it will have 29 days. There will be five such months and seven Big Months, each with 30 days. Roughly speaking, the Chinese months will be one month behind the equivalent western month. Peterborough's Chinese stick mostly with the Canadian calendar, using the Chinese one only for special occasions such as birthdays, Chinese holidays, festivals, etc.

The next big holiday of note in the lunar calendar occurs about the same time as our Easter and is known as the Spring Festival. There is a one-day holiday and school children enjoy a week's vacation. The farmers begin work in their fields and it is the time of special tribute to their ancestors.

Each clan or family of China has its own family graveyard and at the Spring Festival the living generation takes time to remember the dead. The entire family goes to the graveyard, taking food and arranging it near the graves. Then tall candles are lighted and imitation money burned. This is to help the Buddhist followers on their way in another world. It is because they wish to rest at peace with their ancestors that so many Chinese in Canada insist that their bodies be sent home for burial, when they die in this country.

MOON FESTIVAL

The [illegible]ig holiday is the Moon Festival. At this time farmers have more leisure to celebrate since this marks the completion of the harvest in autumn. In the eighth month of the year, at the time of the full moon, the Chinese mark the occasion with moon cakes. Even in Canada, many Chinese have these special cakes on that day. With an outer crust, they are something like a Canadian Christmas cake, but smaller.

As the big moon rises, the family places the cakes and fruit in the centre of their courtyard. It is believed that the moon represents a woman so only light foods are used. Candles are lit to the moon and after midnight, the food is moved back into the house and eaten. Only water or tea are served, wine being considered too strong for the female.

So as the Year of the Snake arrives, the Chinese are hoping for the best, but are prepared for the worst.

Ask Ottawa To Censor Publications

OTTAWA (CP) — Government censorship of publications before distribution was suggested Wednesday as a method to control the sale of indecent literature.

The suggestion was made in a brief to a Senate committee prepared by the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation.

It suggested:

1. A government committee or board examine Canadian publications before distribution. Anyone interested might appear before the board to outline a case for or against banning. Appeals from the board's decision to a supreme court judge should be provided.
2. An adequate staff in the customs department to examine samples of shipments of periodicals and pocket books.
3. Insertion of a clear definition of obscenity in the criminal code.
4. Banning of pictures on the covers of paper-bound books, except magazines.

STRICT CENSORSHIP

Mrs. Estelle Wishart of Toronto, chief commissioner of the Canadian Girl Guides, said her organization "would like to see all comic type papers and pocket books strictly censored and those which are salacious and pornographic suppressed."

Many indecent publications, although printed for adult distribution, ere available to young people.

At the suggestion of Senator Thomas Farquhar (L — Ontario), the committee set up a sub-committee to see if the criminal code can be amended and how the code can be enforced by the provinces.

Dodge Divorced

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Clora Tinsley Dodge Wednesday was awarded a divorce from motor heir Horace E. Dodge. The 35-year-old Louisville nurse charged abandonment and cruelty. Dodge, of Detroit, did not contest the suit. A property settlement will give Mrs. Dodge nearly $1,000,000.

Yukon's Water Power Attracts Mining Industries

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The siren voice of the Yukon, which once drew the gold-seekers of the world, now calls as irresistibly to the seekers of hydro power.

The territory's tumultuous mountain streams are catching the ears of industrialists in a manner which seems to indicate that a relatively few years will find them harnessed to turbines.

Most recent indication of this was at Tuesday's annual meeting of Frobisher, Ltd., big Canadian exploration and development company with mining interests across Canada and in Africa and South America.

Two quotations, in particular, from the address of Thayer Lindsley, president, have caught attention. One said:

"One of the purposes to which funds will be devoted is a survey of the water power resources of a part of the Yukon territory. This survey is being carried on under a permit from the director of water power under the Dominion water power regulations.

HOPE FOR FULL PICTURE

"It is hoped that within 10 months a full picture of the potential water power resources of the area will be obtained, and also an estimate made of the metallurgical uses to which such power can be put in connection with the expansion of the activities of Quebec Metallurgical Industries, Ltd."

The other quotation:

"Now that we have acquired interest in well-selected ore deposits (in various parts of the world) all of which are capable of ample production, it behooves us to consider sources of cheap hydro power to process these ores into finished products and alloys."

Mr. Lindsley said a special meeting of Frobisher shareholders will be called within the next few months "at which the whole plan will be given in complete detail, so that all can see its full implications."

Just as the water power of British Columbia's Kitimat has drawn to it a vast aluminum industry to process bauxite from far places, the water power of the Yukon may draw concentrates of minerals from many lands for processing.

Frobisher is not the only company interested in the Yukon's water power. Other reports forecast stepped-up development of the Yukon's own mineral resources for processing with its own water power.

The Financial Post, Toronto, asks this week concerning the Frobisher announcement:

"Is this the forecast of one of the largest Hydro power metallurgical developments yet to hit the Canadian North? Those 'full implications' could mean a major change in the economics of the Yukon."

Last August Aluminum Company of America sought permission from Canada to divert water from the Alsek river in southwestern Yukon for an aluminium development in Alaska. The request was turned down by the Canadian government.

Commit Wiles For Trial In Rifle Slaying

KITCHENER (CP) — Kenneth Wiles, 21, will be tried at the Supreme Court assizes beginning Feb. 23 for murder in the rifle-slaying of his fiancee, Marie Huras 17.

He was committed at a four-hour preliminary hearing Wednesday after a sawed-off, .22-calibre rifle was introduced as evidence.

The girl died Jan. 27 in a Toronto hospital of a bullet wound in the head.

Police said Wiles, a Kitchener carpenter, told them the rifle was resting between them with the butt on the floor of his car. He was quoted as saying that it discharged as he backed up and drove along a rough road to take the girl to work.

Constable Peter Davison testified that Wiles called him over at 6:30 a. m. and said "there had been an accident." The girl in the car was wounded, the officer said. He accompanied them to the hospital.

COULDN'T BE REPRODUCED

Professor Joslyn Rogers, Toronto medico-legal expert, said the cartridge found in Wiles' car was fired from the sawed-off gun and powder burns on the girl's kerchief could not be reproduced with a complete rifle.

Tests showed that powder marks from the sawed-off gun at a two-inch range appeared almost identical with those on the kerchief, Professor Rogers testified.

He also said the course of the bullet was from ear to ear, a course he did not believe it would have taken with the rifle resting on the floor in the position described.

FOUND RIFLE

William Balgy of Kitchener said he found a .22-calibre rifle near the girl's home on the morning of the shooting. The butt and the barrel were both sawed off.

Police later found parts of a barrel and gun butt in Wiles' garage and home. Professor Rogers said the parts matched the sawed-off gun found near the girl's home.

Ewan Cameron, Kitchener's deputy police chief, said Wiles told him Marie Huras had returned an engagement ring after a quarrel the Sunday before the shooting, but added that Wiles said she had given the ring back on previous occasions and they had "made up."

Britain Hopes For Seed Sales

LONDON (CP) — Hopeful that British seed successes at Toronto's Royal Agricultural Winter Fair will spur Canadian and United States demand, British growers are planning to advertise their seed industry in North America.

Several tons of certified seeds are being shipped to Canada for comparison with grasses already used commercially and in agriculture research stations. British Columbia, Nova Scotia and other provinces whose climate may be similar to Britain's will be chosen for the testing. Dr. T. M. Stevenson of Ottawa, agronomist, and H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, will aid in distribution.

British seeds won 91 awards with 166 entries at the fair last November. The national farmers' union is backing the British experiment.

Espionage Charges

MOSCOW (AP)—The newspaper Trud charged Wednesday that the entire personnel of U.S. diplomatic missions abroad are engaged in espionage. It denounced Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, and new undersecretary of state, as a rabid enemy of the U.S.S.R.

Bleeding Bowl Dated 1688 On Exhibition

TORONTO (CP)—A 17th century "bleeding bowl" and children's jewelry more than 3,000 years old will be included in a display of privately-owned treasures at the Toronto Art Gallery.

The fourth annual exhibition of "collectors' pieces" sponsored by the women's committee will be on view for three weeks.

The bleeding bowl, part of a collection of ancient medical instruments, holds exactly three ounces of blood and is dated 1688. Other items in the collection include invalid and infant feeding bottles and a "tongue scraper."

EGYPTIAN WORK

The display of children's jewelry includes Egyptian work dating from 1,000 B.C. and consists largely of carved scarabs and charms.

One of the highlights of the exhibition is a royal Worcester porcelain figurine of "Elizabeth trooping the color" created to commemorate the day in June, 1951, when the Queen, then Princess Elizabeth, substituted for her ailing father at the colorful ceremony. Only 100 of the statuettes were cast before the mould was broken and the example to be shown here is believed to be the only one in Canada.

Book On Stamps Of Late Kings Costly Edition

CALGARY (CP)—One of the costliest books on the market, a veritable philatelist's dream-come-true, is on display at the Calgary public library.

An immense volume, "The Royal Philatelic Collection" records for the first time the story of nearly 250,000 stamps in the collection founded by King George V and maintained by King George VI.

It was purchased jointly at a cost of $180 by the library, the Calgary Philatelic Society, the Calgary Stamp Collectors' Club and the Foothills Stamp Club.

The book was written by Sir John Wilson, who is in charge of the royal stamp collection at Buckingham Palace. It is one of a limited number published by Dropmore Press Ltd of London, and was planned and edited by Clarence Winchester.

The book is almost an encyclopedia of stamp collecting. Its 568 pages include a detailed descriptive catalogue with explanations of the symbols used in English, French, Spanish and German.

FINE REPRODUCTIONS

There are 64 pages of monochrome illustrations and 12 pages of lithographic color plates. The color plates are so realistic that it appears almost as if the stamps could be lifted from the pages. This faithful reproduction is the result of more than 50 printings of each pair of color plates.

The volume, measuring 14½ by 10½ inches, is bound in rich red leather—an entire Nigerian goat skin—the type of binding that will last hundreds of years.

The front cover carries a reproduction of the royal arms in gold. This was made possible through special permission of King George VI.

The book contains a complete catalogue of the 330 royal stamp albums and a 30,000-word history by Sir John Wilson, tracing the royal collection from its beginning about 1864.

"The Royal Philatelic Collection" is available to the public, but the library isn't taking any chances on such a valuable volume going astray. People wishing to read it must sign a register and the book is not permitted out of the library.

Free Storage Ends In U.K.

LONDON (CP) — Home office authorities have announced that free storage of household furnishings recovered from homes destroyed by Nazi sky raiders during the Second World War will come to an end this year.

In the 12 years it has been in operation the scheme is reported to have cost the British taxpayer more than £4,000,000.

At its peak the government-subsidized arrangement was housing the contents of some 20,000 dwellings and office buildings levelled by bombs, the figure now has been reduced to 260 lots of furniture, stored in 10 provincial and as many London depots, at an annual cost of around £20,000.

Owners have been ordered to remove their goods within six months. After that deadline, anything remaining will be sold.

Blue Fashionable For Men In '53

LONDON (CP)—Blue seems to be the fashion shade for men in Coronation year.

Tropical midnight, navy - royal, aqua mist, leisure blue and safari green are the new shades for men's outfits in everything from tropical suits to smart wear.

Navy-royal a blue popular with yachting men for many years, makes smart lounge suits. There is spectator blue for suede shoes, city green and lilac haze for shirts.

"The general character of men's wear colors this year shows depth and richness," said Britain's color council.

Most of the shades are navies with a twist towards purple that give varied depths of a "permanent blue" ink shade.

Quebec Council Approves Election Change

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A controversial government bill to amend the Quebec election act was approved by the province's legislature council Wednesday by an 8 to 7 vote.

Earlier by a similar vote, the house rejected a motion by the Liberal opposition that study of the bill be adjourned for six months —a parliamentary method of killing legislation.

Seven Union Nationale members of the upper house and one Liberal voted against the motion and seven Liberals supported it. The vote was on a bill already approved by the legislative assembly.

One clause in the bill eliminates opposition - appointed enumerators in urban constituencies.

RECORD FINANCIAL YEAR

Alberta appears headed for a record financial year. Provincial Auditor C. K. Huckvale said revenues for the first nine months of the current fiscal year topped $120,000,000, a little under the total for the whole 12 months of the previous year.

Members of the Nova Scotia legislature were warned by A. J. Mason (L-Cumberland Centre) that the province must produce better and cheaper coal to overcome market difficulties.

A get-tough policy with the radical Sons of Freedom sect was urged in the British Columbia legislature by Rupert Haggen, CCF member from B. C.'s Doukhobor district.

He said West Kootenay Power Company is not receiving adequate police protection. Company poles have been dynamited in recent months.

Jail 8 Officers

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. high commission newspaper Neue Zeitung reported Thursday that eight officers of East Germany's infant air force each were sentenced to 25 years in prison for planning to flee to the West in a Russian plane. The officers, members of the 5,000-man "air police," were convicted recently by a Soviet military court after another officer who had been in the plot denounced them to the Russians, Neue Zeitung said.

Radical Ideas Tested By RCAF—Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—A flock of radical ideas for Canada's next fighter plane are under preliminary consideration by the RCAF and its scientific advisers and some of the suggestions include flying saucers, officials said Wednesday.

They were commenting on reports that a 1,500-mile-an-hour "flying saucer" may be built at Malton, Ont., and that it will be able to take off vertically.

Officials said defence headquarters is studying all possible suggestions in the search for ideas for a supersonic plane to succeed the CF-100s and F-86E Sabres of today. But there was no indication that there is any solid backing at this stage for a plunge into the saucer field.

Two officials described the reports as far-fetched.

Martin Urges Own Culture

In how many Canadian cities would this have happened? Very few indeed. The selection of Robertson Davies for this high honor is a tribute not only to Mr. Davies but to Peterborough itself for this recognition it has given to the place of the arts in Canadian life."

Mr. Martin referred to Mr. Davies as "a significant figure in our national life," and he gave a personal evaluation of the Peterborough playwright's accomplishments.

Following is a partial text of Mr. Martin's address:

"We hear a good deal these days about young Canadian men and women of talent who forsake this country for greener pastures. 'When fortune frowns,' in Mr. Davies' phrase, 'the geniuses of easy virtue go southward.' Well, Robertson Davies is one who believes that, in Canada, fortune wears a friendly smile.

"After being educated at Oxford— if I might, as an old Cambridge student, use the word "educated" in its less precise sense —and after serving a thorough apprenticeship in stage-craft at London's Old Vic Theatre, he returned to his native Canada not only with an abiding enthusiasm for the theatre, but also with a charming and delightful wife— herself an accomplished actress.

"There can be no question of Mr. Davies' love of Canada or of his faith in the artistic future of this country. Canada is the central theme that runs through his writings. As a distinguished British director, Mr. Tyrone Guthrie, said in introduction to one of Mr. Davies' books, his frequent gibes at Canada and at certain Canadian ways in reality arise from his love of Canada.

'Who is this many-sided Citizen of the Year that we honor tonight? Is he irascible but irrespressible master of Marchbanks Towers? Is he the erudite editor who daily "examines" the news, and assesses it, I hope, according to a good "whig standard"? Is he the Sam whose diary may yet "uot-pepys" that other Samuel? Is he the penetrating satirist who tilts at stupidity and dullness — the crusader against the stuffiness of blimps and humbugs? Is he the worshipper at the Temple of Thespis who, in a country that knew little of drama, has given us a small but enduring place in the traditon that extends over the centuries from Sophocles to Shaw?

"The remarkable thing about Robertson Davies is that he is all of these men— and a good many more besides. Above all, he is Citizen of the Year—and "of no mean city."

"It is worth recalling, in passing, how many great contributions to human life and thought have been made, not by countries but by cities. We have only to think how much the directions of philosophy, law, religion, art, science and government were shaped by the influence of cities like Athens, Rome, Jerusalem, Paris and London— the centre and symbol of their civilizations.

"Robertson Davies, as a patron of our great national amateur theatre movement, the Dominion Dram Festival, as a skilful and sensitive director, and as a first-ranking playwright, has brought new vitality to the live stage in Canada. That it is a formidable task to be one of the pioneers in the imaginative— and largely imaginary —Canadian theatre is attested to by the words he puts into the mouth of Frontenac, that great Governor of French Canada, in his play "Hope Deferred":

"With the greatest difficulty I set up a fort in the wilderness of Cataraqui, but I swear I would rather do that again than repeat the agonies of getting 'Mithridate' on the stage! The rigours of exploration, gentlemen, are trivial in comparison with the variegated anguish of an impressario who attempts to work with amateur actors!

"A wise man once said that he cared not who made a nation's laws as long as he wrote its songs. Frankly, I would rather put my faith in Mr. Churchill's 'blood, sweat, and tears' than in the synthetic lamentations of the composer of 'The Little White Cloud that Cried.' And yet, it is only in the art of a nation that the inner aspirations of its people are expressed.

"There is no reason why Canada should not have an art of its own. Canadian life is a rich tapestry interwoven of races and cultures and creeds. From east to west there is no lack of interest or diversity to serve as inspiration for our poets and painters and writers. Salmon fishing in the Fraser, the stark beauty of our hinterland, harvesting the Prairie wheat, the energy of industrial Ontario, the handicrafts of French Canada, the unending struggle with nature on the Atlantic seaboard— these are the stuff, the excitement and reality of Canada.

"The essential differences in the traditions and history of our various racial groups only serve to contribute to the variety and richness of Canadian life and protect us against the perils of standardization. If, for instance, the literature of French Canada were more widely known, many of us would recognize that the arts of Quebec include a good deal more than hooking rugs. Similarly, if French Canada were given more opportunity to read the best of English-Canadian literature, it would lead to a strengthening of our understanding and respect for one another.

"Culture doesn't come out of a can. It cannot be contracted for or arranged by Order-in-Council. It cannot be acquired simply by wearing a beaver cap or drinking maple syrup. It will come into its own in its own good time.

"True, we have had Haliburton, Leacock and Robins; Pratt, Roberts and Klein; Callaghan, Maclennan and Hutchison; Mitchell, Radall and Birney, Gabrielle Roy, Roger Lemelin, Andre Giroux and others have given life to the literature of French Canada. Our group of seven have developed a strong, vigorous and colorful style of painting distinctly and exclusively Canadian. Gratien Gelnias has created an unique Canadian character in 'Fridolin'—too much for blase Broadway. Composers like Willan, Applebaum, Fleming and Weinzweig — Gratton, Champagne and Blackburn — have produced some first-rate Canadian music. But, in any substantial measure, Canada has yet to create a distinctive Canadian tradition in the arts.

"In commenting on our cultural development, John Buchan had this to say of Canadian letters:

" 'The modes in which English poets have sung of the English tradition, and of the mellow English landscape, are not the best fitted for our prairies and forest and mountains and northern wilds, or for a young and adventurous people. Canada must make her own music. What is wanted, in the words of the scriptures, is a 'new song to the Lord'.'

"Robertson Davies—more perhaps than any man in Canada—is doing this.

"Music, literature, painting, ballet, theatre—these and other art forms have too readily been looked upon as luxuries a young nation like Canada could not easily afford. In pioneer years Canadians were too preoccupied with opening the frontier to bother about the frills.

"Remember the old man in Mr. Davies' remarkably perceptive play "Overlaid," who used to sit before his radio in a Canadian farm kitchen listening to the Metropolitan Opera with his battered old top hat and white cotton gloves. He reflected this essential Canadian yearning in these words:

" 'There is always a gol-danged necessity to get in the way whenever you want somethin' purty. Somebody's got to take the bull by the horns an' ignore the necessities if we're ever goin' to have any o' the things that make life worth livin'.'

"There is, of course, no real reason why art must always come last. There is no real reason why we cannot have a distinctive art of our own. There is no reason why Canada's newsstands must be packed with foreign magazines. There is no reason why the Canadian air must be filled with the cacophony of the singing commercials, disc jockeys and crime dramas of other countries. There is no reason why our boys and girls must be bemused spectators before the spectacles of Hollywood.

"Canada of today has a story for the generations to come if only our poets and singers and artists and dramatists can somehow tell it enduringly. Athens is not remembered for its gross national product or its wisely diversified foreign trade, but for its products of heart and mind. The things necessary to sustain life have their lifetime significance—but the passion, humanity and vivid perception of the great artist makes him a citizen of every century, an inhabitant of every clime.

"Culture cannot be cultivated like a vegetable. It must be the honest and unselfconscious awakening of our national spirit. We are still somewhat timid about our intellectual and aesthetic achievements and a little resentful of what we consider inadequate recognition.

"But now, as we cross the threshold of another Elizabethan Age, who can tell what young impecunious actor is even now making his way from our Stratford to our London? And perhaps, in some such pleasant town as this, a modern Marlowe is growing to manhood.

"Culture, as I have said, is not a cabbage to be cultivated. But of course, the cultural achievements of Canada's future will depend in part on the opportunities provided for all people to discover and develop their creative talents. Progress for Canada is not merely a matter of housing, refrigeration or even plumbing. The more advanced thinkers question whether it is even a matter of television!

"The progress we must work for is creative, vital, with a sense of the beautiful, a place for leisure, and a regard for the preservation of whatever is best in our lives and in our traditions.

"Anyone who thinks that Canadians are all cast in one mold should take a look at Mr. Davies. To Robertson Davies, who sees Canadian life clearly and sees it whole, Peterborough is his platform but all Canada is his gallery. When he looks out across the wide stage that is Canada, he sees Canadians for what they are — not saint or sinner, not Jew or Christian, not Whig or Tory — but men and women with the essential dignities, yearnings and shortcomings of human beings who have been born, nurtured and re-born in the brotherhood of man.

"Race hatred, class dissention—anything that questions the right of every citizen to walk in dignity before his God—dishonors those guilty of it. It is not Communism, nor Fascism, nor any of the obvious, stupid aberrations of political thought that shame us — it is that any man can harbor such hatreds or acknowlege such prejudices and still say — and perhaps even believe — that he has the right to call himself 'Canadian.'

"To be a Canadian citizen is to share in a common responsibility, a common respect. I get sick and tired of these craven characters who are afraid to stand up and say 'I am a Canadian.' Are not all peoples different, each in their way? Is there anywhere in this world the same set and sampling of races against the same sweep of land and of sky?

"Our ambition is not to be different from Americans any more than it is to be similar to the British. Our ambition, our honest and open aim is quite simple: to be ourselves —, with hypocrisy, without fanfare, without any snivelling, humble pretense to be anything but what we are. As long as we can find and honor as 'Citizen of the Year' a man of humor and wit and humanity, it is evident that our sense of the values of our citizenship is still sound.

"If all the world's a stage, then what we see writ small in the drama we can also see in full proportions in our fellow-citizens, in their lives, in their misfortunes, in their quiet, often desperate and yet often heroic strivings. To the playwright, to the author, to the politician even — to anyone who looks out on the world — through the smokes of battle and smogs of dissension, there appears a shining place, a happy land—Canada. We are surely not too far off the mark here, in this land of ours, as we make our way towards that more purposeful life that in sorrow and hope men have sought for so many myriads of years.

UN SUPPORT

Mr. Martin ended his address with a strong plea for support of the United Nations.

He said Western civilization and "freedom in all its forms" face a challenge. A similar challenge caused Churchill, Roosevelt, and other statesmen to create an organization that would diminish the chances of war. That's why the United Nations was created

As a Canadian delegate to the seventh assembly of the UN, Mr. Martin said he would "try to seek a solution of many of the problems that divide East and West." He stated frankly that he didn't know if the UN, in its present form, could succeed, "but it represents something that's here to stay."

The Minister of Health was introduced by Harry G. Silver and he was thanked by Harry Cherney who also presented him with a gift of Peterborough make on behalf of the B'nai B'rith Lodge. Harry Yudin was master of ceremonies.

Joseph Rogow, president of B'nai B'rith, welcomed the guests and he presented the scroll — "Citizen of the Year, 1952 Award" —to Mr. Davies.

"Thank you for the kindness and the great honor you have paid me," said Mr. Davies in a short address.

He said that artists like to be accepted as an integral part of the community and their reward, in part at least, is in feeling that what they do is of value, and that others think the same about their work.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Tasty Berry Confections Natural For Valentine's Day

Queen of Hearts Tarts would be a natural for Valentine's Day Parties but how many of us have or can find any heart-shaped tart tins? Not I!

But I think I have something for you that will be popular with you and your crowd of young people in love: Marzipan Strawberries. They are easy to make too.

A mound of these luscious-looking confections in the centre of a large glass plate with a wide border of pale shortbreads around it is a sight to behold and a delight to taste.

You can make ham sandwiches for a starter and a filler, and use the Pink Lemonade (below) as a beverage and there's your party, all done up pink.

MARZIPAN STRAWBERRIES
(about 70 or 80 strawberries)

To one can sweetened condensed milk add 1 lb. dessicated cocoanut (Buy the dessicated cocoanut in 4 4-oz. packages. You will be tempted to buy 1 1-lb. package but there is a quicker turnover of the 4-oz. packages so it is fresher cocoanut.) Also add 1 tablespoon fruit sugar, ¼ lb. very finely chopped blanched almonds and 1½ packages of strawberry jelly dessert. (Buy 3 packages—these are usually about 3 for 29c. You need ½ package to roll shapped "strawberries" in—but you may use extra so have the third package on hand) Add 1 teaspoon each vanilla and red coloring. Mix. Chill in refrigerator for ½ or 1 hour to make handling easy. Take up a teaspoonful into bare hand and roll into a ball. Flatten the top and pull out a point at the bottom to shape like a strawberry. Roll in the leftover ½ package strawberry jelly dessert to give a pebbled coating like a natural strawberry. For the hull or top leaf make Green Icing: 1 cup icing sugar, ⅛ cup butter (2 tablespoons) ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon cream, enough green coloring to make dark green. Fill your icing tube with this. Holding each strawberry in your hand, shape a round leaf at top of it, and if you are adept at this you can drag it away quickly to leave a tag end for a stem. Let these dry at room temperature then store in refrigerator to chill and harden until time to serve. A couple of dozen of these arranged daintily in a box make a welcome gift—especially to English folk who have a soft spot in their hearts for marzipan candies.

VALENTINE PINK PUNCH, for 12

One can lemon juice concentrate, 1 cup strained cranberry juice, 1 small bottle gingerale. (If desired a few scoops of lemonade sherbet may be added to make this real posh.) Follow directions on can of lemon juice concentrate to make this up to 4 cups of lemonade. Add cranberry juice. Chill. Just before serving time add the gingerale, 1 tray of ice cubes and mix. Float scoops of lemonade sherbet on top of it in punch bowl if desired.

If you want to make your own lemon sherbet (and it is easy) here's that recipe too.

LEMON SHERBET

One 1 lb. tin evaporated milk, chilled and undiluted, 1 can frozen lemon juice concentrate undiluted and sugar to taste—it should be a little oversweet before freezing for some of the sweet taste is lost when frozen. Turn refrigerator to coldest setting. Whip the chilled evaporated milk until stiff, standing bowl in larger bowl containing ice. Slowly add the concentrated lemon juice, blending thoroughly. Add sugar to taste. Pour into freezing tray and freeze hard—stirring twice as it freezes.

While Valentine's Day only lasts 24 hours I hope it is not a one-day love affair in your house.

THE MOVIE COLUMN:

Barker Says Movie Actors Should Be Wed

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lex Barker says movie actors should be married.

The screen's Tarzan, recently divorced by actress Arlene Dahl, hasn't lost his enthusiasm for marriage as an institution.

"Marriage is wonderful," he said. "It's the only way for an actor to live. Otherwise he can become a bum.

"I've seen it happen to friends of mine. They start playing the romantic field, and pretty soon they're up to their elbows in women. That's all they can think about. Their work is bound to suffer.

"But the married actor has something to work for. He is more happy and secure; he knows the comfort of coming home to someone who cares for him."

Barker admitted others must take a dim view of marriage in Hollywood.

DIVORCE TOO EASY

"It's too easy to get a divorce in California," he commented. "The grounds can be trivial or even laughable. Such as complaining about having martinis before dinner." (This was part of Miss Dahl's testimony against him.) "No wonder people think marriage is taken too lightly in Hollywood."

Along career lines, Barker disclosed that he is through bellowing in the jungle unless Tarzan's boss, Sol Lesser, comes up with a better deal for future films.

"I've gone as far as I can with the Tarzan films," he remarked. "The only incentive to make any more of them is to get better money for doing them. So far that hasn't been forthcoming."

RHEUMATIC PAIN
Can Be Costly!

"This winter I had to quit work because of rheumatic pain," writes Mr. T. Glofcheskie, Wilno, Ont. "I became fearful of being laid up as on a previous occasion with rheumatic pain. My pain became increasingly severe and spread from hip to ankle. Out of bed, the leg felt cold as though in cold water, so I stayed in bed. A friend persuaded me to take T-R-C's and I'm glad I did. In a short while I was relieved of my pain and was soon on the job again."

Dentists' Advice On Diet Interests Mothers

Trinity Baby Band Mothers' Auxiliary met Wednesday evening, and had as their guest speaker Dr. Ralph Honey, who spoke on dental health as pertaining to the small child; a subject most interesting and informative to the group of mothers with preschool children.

Dr. Honey stressed the importance of proper diet, which is the real control of dental caries. When the child is small, change over from formula to solids is all-important, and sugar should not be introduced into the diet. If fermentable carbohydrates such as refined sugar, and syrups are eliminated there will be no dental disease, he said.

Dr. Honey was introduced by Mrs. B. Till and thanked by Mrs. F. Stenson.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Till's group, and Mrs. R. Huffman read the scripture. Mrs. Till read a story entitled "Home," a charming version of a child's idea of "Why it is Home." Mrs. S. Phillips led in prayer, Mrs. J. Stewart, pianist, played two lovely compositions by Brahms.

Mrs. Wm. Taylor presided for the business meeting. A new member introduced was Mrs. Bruce Edwards. Welcome was extended to an ex-member, Mrs. Peter Calhoun, who has recently returned to Peterborough.

Mrs. H. Wilson, convener for the husband's party, reported it is to be held March 6th, at the Kawartha Club. Federation, and ex-members are also welcome.

The spring tea is to be held April 29th. Mrs. J. Skitch, and Mrs. R. M. Elliott were nominated general conveners, and Mrs. O. Jamieson and Mrs. R. McDonald as convener of the bazaar table.

Reports were received from the various committees, Mrs. R. Huffman distributed material with which to make children's pajamas and night gowns. These will be sent to mission hospitals. Wool was distributed by Mrs. M. McCullough for the knitting of baby sets. Mrs. R. E. Seabrooke, librian, reported a goodly number of books which will be loaned to the members. Many of these books are on Africa which is being studied this year.

Mite Box secretary, Mrs. W. B. Arnup told how the money is collected and means of its disposal. She and her husband, have returned from China fairly recently, and she told about Chinese children in respect to food, clothing and habits. Also on display were some beautiful Chinese garments which were worn by her small children. The members were keenly interested in this talk which showed a great difference in the way of living as compared with that of their own children.

The Baby Band rally is to be held in Trinity Church, Thursday 19th March it was announced.

Lunch was served at the close by Mrs. O. Till's group.

Nurses Of St. Joseph's Hold Formal Dance In Residence

"February Frolic" was a most fitting name for the formal dance of the nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital which they held Wednesday evening in their nurses' residence. The nurses and their friends and guests enjoyed it immensely.

Executive of the Students' Council, of which Miss Elaine Graham is president, was responsible for the arrangements, including a buffet supper planned by Miss Catherine Farley.

Miss Joan Gray and her decorating committee turned the large auditorium into a cabaret ballroom most artistically decorated with streamers, balloons and gay Valentine motifs. She also arranged a lounge for the patrons and patronesses in which the feature decorations were figures of a uniformed nurse and a doctor. Another lounge set aside for the nurses and their escorts highlighted Valentine decorations.

In the reception line were Mrs. Bernard Monaghan, president of the Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, and Mr. Monaghan, and Mrs. Grace Poole, convener of the nurses' committee. Other members of the latter committee assisted with the supper.

Also receiving were Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Cahill and Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Calvert.

The guests signing the register were:

Miss Elaine Graham and Bill Casgrove, Miss Joan Gray and John Laxton, Miss Joan Whitmore and Leonard Jones, Miss Joan Saulter and Sherman Harrison, Miss Shirley McArthur and Fred McCarrell, Miss Fay Butts and James Watson, Miss Lucille Cowie and Laurence Salleby, Miss Lorraine Young and Gerry Heffernan, Miss Mary Roddy and Alex. Park St. BYPU Valentine Party

Park St. BYPU played host to Gilmour Memorial BYPU at a Valentine party Tuesday evening. About 50 young people gathered in the gaily decorated basement of the church where the evening's activities opened with a lively singsong and games led by Miss Madalyn Binsted.

During the latter part of the evening a devotional period was led by Miss Buelah Wall. Business was conducted by the president Clair Crown, who welcomed the visitors.

Special speaker was Miss Monica Farrell, a converted Roman Catholic, who spoke on the present-day challenge to Protestants. She was introduced by the Rev. Mr. Morris of Halifax, president of the Protestant League.

An offering was taken for the purpose of helping to set up a fund to assist Baptist young people to attend the Baptist World Alliance being held in Rio de Janeiro in July.

The evening concluded with refreshments. Frank Sanderson, president of Gilmour BYPU, voiced the thanks of the visitors.

Rev. I. G. Pollock Addresses WMS

The Women's Missionary Society of George St. United Church met Tuesday afternoon in the board room. Miss J. Schaffer, president, opened the meeting and reported on the Presbyterial held in St James United Church in January.

The offering was accepted by Mrs. J. Bateson and Mrs. R. Ferguson and receiving at the door were Mrs. G. Benton and Mrs. A. Rosborough.

Reports were heard from the secretary Mrs. J. P. Bickell and Mrs. J. M. Fanning, treasurer. Mrs. F. Burnham reported on calls made and Mrs. E. H. Brown on cards sent to sick and bereaved.

Mrs. S. Booth, leader of district 1, had charge of the devotional period with Mrs. E. H. Brown reading the scripture lesson followed with prayer by Mrs. Roy Brown.

Rev. I. G. Pollock of Grace United Church, a former missionary in South Africa, was the guest speaker. The theme of his talk was "What does a Church do?" He gave an account of how services were conducted in Africa. Africans close their meetings by singing "May God bless and save our Africa."

Miss A. Deyell and Mrs. S. Booth thanked Mr. Pollock. The meeting was closed with the benediction by Mr. Pollock.

Clarence House Refitted For Queen Mother, Princess

LONDON (CP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, back in London after a stay at Sandringham, are supervising final alterations to Clarence House, first London home of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The house is being fitted as two separate flats. The rooms on the second floor, formerly day-and-night nurseries for Prince Charles and Princes Anne, will probably be occupied by Princess Margaret. The Queen Mother, it is said, will use the ground floor.

The Queen Mother now spends most of her spare time at Clarence House, studying plans and color schemes for interior decoration. It is said that little escapes her, and plans must be carried out to her specifications.

No date has been set for the move from Buckingham Palace, which may be in March. One big delay has been caused by removal of downstairs paneling presented to the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh as a wedding present. This has been stored.

Keen interest is taken by both Princess Margaret and her mother in the fitting of the kitchens. The Queen moved most of her up-to-date kitchen equipment from Clarence House to Buckingham Palace to establish the first kitchen attached to the royal apartments—one that could perhaps rival that presented to Countess Alexander, wife of Britain's defence minister, by the women of Canada.

It has been reported that both the Queen and Queen Mary have expressed a desire to see Lady Alexander's Canadian kitchen.

Toronto Groom Formerly Local

NORWOOD— (ENS)—A wedding of local interest took place in St. George's Greek Orthodox Church, Toronto, Saturday, when Miss Eva Karrys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Theodore Karrys of Toronto, became the bride of Mr. Harry Tedford Gee Andrews, son of the Rev. T. W. F. G. Andrews and Mrs. Andrews of Toronto, formerly of Norwood. The Rev. Constantine J. Andrews performed the ceremony.

The bride wore an original strapless gown of layers of white nylon net over taffeta. The redingote of fine lace and full circular skirt, and was embroidered with irridescent sequins. Her finget-tip veil was held by a Dutch cap of net, also sequin-embroidered, and she carried a cascade of lily white roses and hyacinth petals.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. Bruce Fowler, matron of honor, wearing a bouffant gown of blue net over taffeta, with strapless shirred bodice and matching net bolero. Junior bridesmaids, Misses Ruth and Eugenie Karrys also chose blue net over taffeta, with ruffled scoop necklines and full skirts. All had Dutch caps of blue net, and carried cascades of pink carnations.

Mr. Bruce Werry was groomsman and ushers were Douglas Caldwell, James Taylor, Blaine Bowyer and Ted Karrys.

The reception was at the Prince George Hotel.

The young couple are spending a honeymoon in Florida and on return will live in Toronto.

Bowling Club Pleased At Tea Crowd

The Ladies' Bowling Club of St. George's Anglican Church was pleased at the wonderful crowd attending their first social event in several years on Wednesday afternoon. Club president Mrs. I. Harrison and vice president Mrs. L. Jones welcomed the guests. They were invited to seats at small tables which were decorated with criss-crossed streamers scattered with tiny red hearts and Valentine centrepieces.

Servers were Mrs. L. Ritchie, Mrs. N. Stevenson, Mrs. William Prindible, Mrs. T. Busby, Mrs. S. Roberts and Mrs. E. McIlwain.

The refreshments were convened by Mrs. A. Green, assisted by Mrs. W. Farrell, Mrs. Robert Dorrell, Mrs. S. Anderson, Mrs. Fred Dorrell, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Castle.

A home baking table was in charge of Mrs. L. Moore and Mrs. T. Hewitt and a candy table was atended by Mrs. A. Gynane and Mrs. Porter.

DOROTHY DIX:

Dating Ex-Fiance Playing With Fire, Woman Advised

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been happily married for three years and for the past few months have been meeting my former fiance for lunch occasionally, and sometimes for cocktails. There is no romance involved; we are more like brother and sister. I haven't told my husband since he would only quarrel about it, but my parents object strongly to my friendship with the young man. Must marriage break off all ties with old friends, merely because they are of the opposite sex? I consider this man my dearest friend, and I know he feels the same way about me. Perhaps I am bored at home, since we have no children, but I know I would miss this friendship greatly if I had to give it up.

M. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are playing with fire, and you know it! Your specious arguments about "brother and sister" feeling fool no one, not even yourself. How would you feel if, some time during one of your platonic luncheon dates, you happened to glance across the restaurant and saw your husband with another girl? Could you treat the situation casually and graciously? I doubt it!

SNEAKY INDISCRETION

No matter how fine the language in which you attempt to clothe your indiscretion, it's sneaky, and no euphemism will cover the fact. Deceit cannot be excused on the ground that it's practiced merely to save another's feelings. Your clandestine dates are being concealed from your husband, not only because you wish to avoid a quarrel, but also because you actually enjoy the furtiveness of the occasion. To you, it lends glamour and excitement to the affair, but the fact that you feel impelled to seek another's approval of your actions proves that somewhere your conscience is stirring. Heed it, and your parents' advice, before you find yourself in considerable trouble. It won't be long before someone you know sees you on one of these date and passes the information on to your husband. Are you ready with a glib explanation when that contingency arises? Don't tempt fate with the necessity of making one. If you can't bring the gentleman home for dinner, end the friendship.

If your trouble is boredom, there's lots to occupy your time and attention in far safer territory. Offer your services to a children's hospital in town. There is a terrific need for volunteer help in these institutions. Little invalids must be fed and amused; busy nurses haven't much time for these special touches, and extra hands are a boon to all. Do try something like this to distract you from a course that is almost certain to end in trouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband likes to go with his men friends, and whenever he comes home from bowling, or a card game, we have a fuss over it. I'm sorry about it later, but at the time I just can't help myself. We have no children and have just been married two years.

ALMA L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I did some editing on your letter, which was one of the most childish epistles I ever read. If you're old enough to be married, you should have sense enough to exercise some control over your emotions. Your husband's friends are also married, and their wives are undoubtedly available for companionship if you'd make the effort to meet them. Your petulance would be hard to take in a child of six; in a married woman it's slightly sickening. Grow up!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband passed away a few years ago, leaving me with two small children and an income that just about keeps us going. Several relatives and friends have suddenly become interested in me, making frequent calls to check on my welfare—always arriving at mealtime. I cannot afford to serve free meals, and wish they would come in the evening. If this continues, I may have to break up my home.

D. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since you know that these spongers come several times a week, why not prepare just exactly enough food for your own family of three. When the intruders arrive, expecting to be asked for supper, tell them you would like to have them stay, but, unfortunately, since the budget is low this week, you haven't enough food. Mere hints will never cure chronic free-loaders. If they are genuine well-wishers, they would be fully aware of your plight and would come bringing food, instead of taking the little you have.

BABY'S COLDS

Help Nature To Fight Them Off

Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's sniffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.

See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful wastes. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish.

One Nova Scotia Mother says: "My baby of 26 months caught a nasty cold so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and she threw this cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on." Equally good for restlessness and peevishness resulting from irregularity at teething time, for constipation, digestive upsets and other minor infant troubles. Get a package today at drugstores.

SPORTS-MINDED FASHIONS — The year-round woollen classic, left, has a man-tailored short and whirling skirt, clinched by a dashing suede contour belt. GILMOUR —(ENS)—February meeting of the Smith and Lakefield WCTU was held Monday afternoon in Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church.

Worship service was in charge of Mrs. Roland Scott with prayers given for temperance work by Mrs. Ralph Scott, Mrs. Max Archer, Mrs. Reg McMullen and Mrs. Holland Scott.

During the business period in charge of the president, Mrs. J. Gordon Mann, several resolutions were drawn up concerning the divorce laws, liquor advertisement in newspapers, magazines, etc.

Mrs. Elmer Milburn reported that 100 children in the surrounding district wrote the temperance examinations. Miss Milton Clark gave a paper on the life of Frances Willard.

Lunch was served by the Gilmour ladies. Mrs. W. D. Wilson of Fairview invited the ladies to meet in her home for the next meeting.

H. & S. News

dance prize was won by Mrs. Fife's grade 3 class.

Announcements of interest to the general membership were of the annual church service on March 1st at St. Paul's Church and the Grove "fun night" on February 27th.

Grove primary school choir, under direction of Miss Glover and Mrs. Kaye, sang two songs.

The speaker was Miss Phyllis Moore, supervisor of primary grades in Peterborough and her subject was the reading program in primary schools, especially with the aim of showing parents the part they can play in helping children with reading. She said the child's background of experience comes with him when he starts to read and that these experiences are continued and widened in kindergarten. "Once a child learns how to find out new words for himself, both teachers and parents must work to encourage his independence" she added.

Miss Moore stressed that reading is one of the most complex phases in the teaching program. No one method or procedure is suitable for all children.

To illustrate the talk she showed pictures and charts used at school to give the child skill in learning to read and also introduced and spoke about books used in grade one.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Kaye and thanked by Mrs. Franklin.

Lunch was served by social convener Mrs. G. Stewart, assisted by Mrs. K. Mowry, Mrs. N. Howlett and Mrs. K. Johnston.

6—In Memoriam

DELPELLARO—In loving memory of Joseph Valentino Delpellaro, who died seven years ago today, February 1, 1946.
Seven years ago today our brother was called,
To his eternal rest;
Gone where the angels sing so sweet
And taken when God knew best.
We miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seem nigh,
But we all hope in heaven to meet
Where no one says goodbye.
—Remembered by brothers, sisters and mother.

Former MPP A. Belanger Dies In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Aurelien Belanger, Q. C., a former member of the Ontario legislative assembly for Russell and Prescott and a strong proponent of teaching the French language in Ontario schools died at his home here today. He was 74.

A native of St. Scholastique, Que., he moved to Ottawa when he was three years old and was educated in Ottawa schools, and at Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

He later taught at University of Ottawa and later became inspector of Ottawa separate schools. In 1912, the Ontario government passed legislation banning the teaching of French in Ontario schools, and Mr. Belanger launched a long fight to have the law repealed.

ELECTED IN 1923

He carried the battle to the floor of the legislature and was elected MLA for Russell in 1923. He was re-elected in 1926 but defeated the following term.

He ran again successfully in 1934 in Prescott, and remained in Parliament until he retired from active politics in 1945.

He is survived by his widow; three sons, the Rev. Jean Marcel Belanger, Ottawa; Louis-Robert, Philadelphia and Roger, of Winnipeg; three daughters, Mrs. Romeo Delcourt, Montreal, Mrs. W. A. Mennie and Miss Yolande Belanger, both of Ottawa. Funeral services will be held here Monday

Fails To Upset Father's Will

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Dr. Edgar Randolph Parker, Jr., of Vancouver, only son of the late chain dentist Dr Painless Parker, failed Wednesday in an attempt to upset his father's will—and perhaps disinherited himself completely from an estate valued at more than $200,000.

The elder Parker's will, which split the estate evenly between his son and two daughters, carried a provision an heir who disputes it shall be disinherited.

But his son, a 41-year-old dentist, contested it anyway, saying his father had promised him half the estate. He charged his sisters, Mrs. Jane Hewson of Rolling Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Helen Korn of Gilroy Calif., unduly influenced their father to win bigger shares.

Judge Timothy I. Fitzpatrick, who ruled the will valid, will be asked when the estate is distributed to decide if Parker's action actually disinherits him.

Laughter Helps Keep Revolutions Bloodless

LONDON (CP)—Britain's political revolutions have always been bloodless because her people know how to laugh, says a medical correspondent.

The right kind of laughter, says Dr. G. K. Selborne in the current issue of Family Doctor, relaxes tension through a gradual relaxation of the diaphragm, leading to a deeper rhythm of breathing.

Without laughter, there is shallow breathing and increased tension.

Dr. Selborne adds that the British capacity for humor in adversity may explain why Britons "never go berserk and become a maddened mob, and why Britain's great social and political revolutions have never been won at the barricades."

Long Convalescence Predicted For Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano implied today that the Pope's recent illness will require a lengthy convalescence. The newspaper said, however, the pontiff was recovering satisfactorily.

The Pope took to his bed Jan. 22 with what Vatican informants called influenza and bronchial pneumonia. After several days of high fever he began regaining his strength and since has resumed many of his duties. He has not yet appeared in public or held any of his customary audiences, however.

178 Rural Teachers With No Training

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario has 178 teachers in one-room rural schools who have no professional training, the Canadian Education Association reported today.

The CEA said there are also 415 teachers with only partial training in the province's 4,365 one-roomed schools.

In other elementary schools there are 108 teachers without professional training and 197 with partial training. Ontario's teacher shortage totals 956, including secondary schools.

Teachers' salaries in 90 per cent of Ontario elementary schools range between $1,951 and $2 650.

Pirates Roving Mediterranean, Raid Smugglers

By PATRICK CROSSE

ROME (Reuters) — Pirates are roving the Mediterranean again for the first time since the fierce Corsairs of Barbary were wiped out 300 years ago.

They have come in the wake of the smugglers who run thousands of tons of cigarettes from Tangier to Europe's Mediterranean coasts every year.

"We have heard plenty of stories of piracy, but so far these new buccaneers have only preyed on smugglers," an Italian coast guard official told a reporter. "So good luck to them."

A British owner of a large yacht which cruised around Mediterranean ports all last year added: "It is often difficult to draw the line between the crews who run cigarettes into Europe and the pirates who attack them."

CITES INCIDENT

He cited the case of a small Dutch ship which was overtaken by a speedy pirate launch after leaving Tangier with a big cargo of American and British cigarettes.

"Bristling with guns, they had no difficulty taking her over and locking up her crew," he said.

"They sailed her to a rendezvous off the Sardinian coast where they delivered her cargo to Italian offshore smugglers, pocketed huge profits, released the crew and made off quickly in their own launch which had followed."

Although the ships loaded with cigarettes which clear for sea at Tangier are obviously taking part in smuggling, they cannot be challenged legally until they enter the three - mile limit of European waters.

CHASED INTO HARBOR

Another Briton, who claimed to have sailed all last year as cook in a converted British motor torpedo-boat engaged in smuggling, said: "The biggest danger in the trade now lies in fast, unidentifiable craft which loom up at night, sometimes with and sometimes without the splutter of machine-gun bullets."

"On one trip I made, we were chased into Nice harbor with one of these devils after us," he said, adding:

"In the various trips I made, we had no difficulty with coast guards or customs. Our skipper, who was British, said that the organization we were working for 'fixed' them at the points where we neared land with a cargo."

There is little hope of entirely stamping out the smuggling as long as a 79 per cent tobacco tax makes it profitable, he said.

PARKHILL SCHOOL

Parkhill Home and School Association met Tuesday evening with President Mrs. V. Ferguson presiding. Mrs. M. Belch gave a reading entitled, "The perfect home" which was in keeping with the citizenship theme of the evening. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. G. Duncan.

Miss C. Bailey's room won the attendance prize.

Mrs. D. Lamb introduced the speaker, Mrs. D. Rostocky who is parent education convener at Queen Mary School, and also convener of citizenship for the Home and School. Mrs. Rostocky introduced her discussion by asking the question, "What kind of a citizen will your child be?" There are four influences on the child, namely: home, school, church and the town.

Various attributes which combine to make a good citizen are: that the child should be friendly, kind, understanding, tolerant, truthful, law-abiding, responsible and a good provider. Mrs. Rostocky enlarged on each of these qualities by citing humorous examples from her own experiences.

Mrs. Rostocky continued by saying that when parents make decisions they should abide by them and face the consequences. Parents should understand and listen to children and help them through their difficulties. There should be a close relationship between parent and child. Mrs. Rostocky said that children should share responsibilities in the home as well as privileges so they will have a sense of belonging. Children should be given an allowance and taught how to handle money in school accounts. This is important in later life in the upkeep of a home and in the preservation of a happy home of their own, she concluded.

Mrs. F. Barker thanked Mrs. Rostocky. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. Cookman and her committee.

Wallace-Fifield Fight Sanctioned

QUEBEC (CP)—Acting commissioner Gene Letourneau said today the Canadian Boxing Federation will sanction a fight in Toronto Feb. 23 between Gordon Wallace and Billy Fifield for the Canadian light - heavyweight championship.

The decision in effect will lift the title from Eddie Zastre of Montreal, who won it last July from Tiger Warrington of Kentville, N.S.

British Expedition To Tackle Everest

LONDON (AP)—A British expedition left today to make yet another attempt at scaling Mount Everest —the wind-swept 29,000-foot peak in the Himalayas that never has been conquered.

The party has elaborate new equipment for the climb. A Swiss team recently made an unsuccessful attempt to scale the mountain.

Grooms Conceal Jail Terms To Brides-To-Be

LONDON (CP)—Lord Pakenham, first lord of the admiralty in the Attlee government, believes a man about to be married should think twice before confessing to his bride-to-be if he has served a term in prison.

Speaking in the House of Lords in support of a plea to restore a government grant to marriage guidance organizations, Lord Pakenham said that while in office he had advised against such confessions.

VISITS MEN IN PRISON

He related how he had often visited a man in prison. After completing his sentence, the man had called at his office and confided that he planned to get married within a week's time.

"He asked me if he ought to tell his prospective bride he had been in prison," Lord Pakenham recalled, "I said he ought not to tell her as it might prevent the marriage coming off. I need hardly say that about a year later the lady discovered it and I got the blame. I hope, however, I saved the marriage for as far as I know it is going well.",

TO SAFEGUARD TIES

The motion calling for an increased grant was sponsored by Lord Merthyr, chairman of the National Marriage Guidance Council. He argued that more than 200 times the money was being spent helping people get divorces than was provided in safeguarding family ties. More, not less, should be spent on marriage guidance.

The current grant of £6,000 a year was described as "pitiably small" by the Earl of Halifax, Britain's secretary for war in the early months of the Second World War.

Lord Lloyd, under secretary at the home office, said the government would give early consideration to restoration of the full grant.

Japan Menaces British Trade

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Express says today the admission of Japan to the general agreement on tariffs and trade at the current session in Geneva would mean "disaster to Britain."

"Mark this," says the Express, which follows an independent, imperialist editorial line, "if Japan becomes a member of GATT it will mean that Britain will be powerless to protect herself against Japanese goods.

"She will have to stand by and watch her home and colonial markets flooded with the produce of cheap Japanese labor. She will be unable to raise even a penny tariff against them. . .

"There is one way out.

"It is for Britain to get out of GATT herself. And to restore to British hands a right which should never, never have been abandoned. The right to protect our own trade and our own people by the erection of whatever preferences are necessary."

Caribou Trails Clues To Ores

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—An ultra violet ray lamp is becoming the companion of the geiger counter in the hands of the uranium prospector in Saskatchewan's northland.

Prospectors long have recognized the evidences of minerals exposed to the surface. These, acted upon by the atmosphere, often give vivid colors such as cobalt blue and the green stains of copper.

Many of them, invisible to the naked eye, become fluorescent under an ultra violet ray lamp. Uranium is one of these, and that is where the lamps come in.

Some of the most important uranium discoveries have been made on the main caribou migration routes. Prospectors give this explanation:

Vegetation such as moss, lichen and plant algae, growing over uranium deposits, accumulates radioactive particles. The caribou, feeding on this vegetation, cannot digest the radioactive particles and these are excreted.

Prospectors follow the caribou trails. If the caribou traces show radioactivity, they know there are uranium deposits nearby.

Driver Denies Leaving Scene

James Watson, 29, Havelock, was remanded for one week today when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Bail was set at $200.

Watson pleaded guilty to a further charge of careless driving which was adjourned for one week.

Police reported that Watson had struck the rear of a taxi driven by Harry Johnston, 59 Maria St., shortly before midnight Wednesday. The taxi was stopped outside a Hunter St. hotel.

Johnston said Watson failed to stop and he followed him to a spot in front of a Simcoe St. hotel. When he tried to converse with him, he said, he found Watson was quite drunk and he couldn't make any sense of what he was trying to say.

Provincial police reported that they later picked up Watson whose car had gone into the ditch near Havelock, after striking a tree in Norwood. He was brought back to Peterborough by the OPP and placed in a cell by city police at about five a.m.

No estimate was given of the damage to Watson's car.

Suggests Chiang Dropped As Leader

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Allen Ellender (Dem. La.) today urged the Eisenhower administration to consider asking the Chinese Nationalists to get rid of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as their leader.

The Louisiana senator said in an interview the answer to the search for peace may well lie in "weaning the Chinese on the mainland away from Russia" and in finding a Chinese leader "more popular than Chiang," now head of the Nationalist government on Formosa.

REDS BUILDING UP FOR CHIANG RAIDS—Newsmap above shows the China coastline directly opposite Formosa, which the Nationalist forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek may now attack. The extremely irregular contour of the coastline contains innumerable coves and bays which would be difficult to defend against surprise attack. White area on the map indicates the 15- to 20-mile-deep security zone set up by the Communists.. Residents considered likely to help landing forces have been removed from the area. Reports say that defense preparations have been stepped up since President Eisenhower lifted the blockade which prevented Nationalist attacks. Inset shows the relationship of the area to China and Burma, where a Nationalist army of 10,000 is camped just over the border, and also shows Red rail lines which would be likely targets for Nationalist planes.

Court Reduces 6-Month Term

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario appeal court Wednesday reduced a six-month sentence to six weeks and re-imposed a jail term of two months in two separate appeals.

John R. McPherson, 28, of Oshawa, whose sentence was reduced was convicted of knocking an elderly man unconscious. Defence Counsel Russell D. Humphries said McPherson had been drinking heavily last Christmas and had thrown his arm round the man's neck, both falling to the ground.

Crown Counsel W. B. Common said McPherson's sentence was excessive.

Omer Lavert of Sarnia was convicted last July of unlawfully keeping liquor for sale. He was sentenced to two months by Magistrate J. C. Dunlap, but Judge E.A. Shaunessy quashed the conviction Oct. 24, saying that the magistrate had misdirected himself on corroboration.

The appeal court reversed this ruling and held that the county judge was in error.

Discover Army Works Detachment Spent $135,000 On House Without Permission

OTTAWA (CP)—The Army works detachment in Ottawa spent $135,000 to renovate a house in 1952 without first getting authority to do so, according to an official document now in the hands of members of the Commons defence committee. The project was later approved.

The document is a summary of reports by the defence department's auditors about breaches of various rules by detachments of the Army works services in the years 1950, 1951 and 1952.

It is bound to provoke a new battle in the committee because opposition members want to see the auditors' reports themselves and not simply abridged summaries prepared by the defence department.

The opposition members asked for the reports as a sequel to the Currie report which described "a general breakdown" in the works services and said "warnings" by the departmental auditors about various shortcomings were not followed up with adequate action.

GO OVER BUDGET

The summary says the Ottawa works detachment expended $135,000 "in excess of authorizations for the project on file." It doesn't give the total cost of the renovation of a home called Wallis House to make it into No. 13 Personnel Depot.

The Army's comments—they are given in all cases—were that "this involved renovation of a building, which, as the work proceeded, was found progressively to involve more extensive repairs than could be ascertained at the start. The entire project was subsequently approved."

The document is packed with instances of stores being issued, work being started, materials being obtained, all without advance authorization, of failures to carry out stocktaking and of original estimates of costs being exceeded without permission.

There also are various examples of "splitting." This system is used to break, say, a $15,000 job down into three parts of $5,000 each to avoid obtaining approval for the over-all job from higher up in the military hierarchy.

SHORTCOMINGS CORRECTED

The document contains army statements that the big majority of shortcomings have been corrected, that "splitting will cease," that shortage of skilled staff is the explanation, that necessary changes have been put into effect.

In Kingston in 1951, the works detachment spent $2,394 on a job supposed to cost $1,200, the document said. The Army said it is impossible to check every job after completion during the peak months but that steps are being taken to do what is possible.

In Kingston in 1951, three Army refrigerators were being used by individuals. The Army said rent has been recovered for them and that all refrigerators now are in order.

May Be in Jail Rest Of Life

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A man sentenced Wednesday to two years and six months for robbery with violence may spend the rest of his life in prison.

Charles Cross, 42, was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1930 after being found guilty of murder. He was freed in 1948 but the agreement under which he was released said he would "forfeit his licence to be at large in Canada" if convicted on another offence.

Cross was charged jointly with Fred McKinnon, 22, who was sentenced to two years less a day in reformatory.

Cross was sentenced to death in 1930 after being convicted of the robbery-killing of a gas station attendant. The sentence was later reduced to life imprisonment. Eighteen years later he was released on the ticket of leave.

New Railroad Era Opening For People In Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The sound of a horn the other day brought villagers from their homes in a Newfoundland settlement. They rushed out to see a diesel-electric powered locomotive rumble past pulling 22 freight cars.

The incident heralded a new era in railroading in Newfoundland. The narrow gauge railway, first laid down in the 1880s, was carrying a new monster—a General Motors diesel engine—55 feet of modern hauling power.

These locomotives, part of a modernization program for the province's 705-mile rail service, were specially designed for the job, standard bodies on custom built trucks to fit the 36-inch rail gauge.

Canadian National Railways took over the Newfoundland Government Railway at confederation in March, 1949, and has been spending steadily since in an effort to provide equipment and service capable of handling increased freight and passenger demands.

THE "NEWFIE BULLET"

The time for reminiscences had come and old timers talked about the "Newfie Bullet." The improvements were coming, they said, but the old railway was losing its character.

It's costing quite a bit to do away with the "character." CNR Newfoundland service spent about $40,000,000 in 1952 and the expenditure will be heavy again this year.

A diesel costs nearly twice as much as a steam locomotive. It has 30 per cent more power. At present the new 110-ton engines are being used for freight trains. Three are in use and six more are on order. They cost $225,000 each.

Until the service is modernized the old stories and the old name, "Newfie Bullet," will stick.

During wartime, United States soldiers spent so much time travelling across country—it's 547 miles from St. John's to Port aux Basques—that they nicknamed the train the "Newfie Bullet."

FAMOUS STORIES

They should have been around for the incidents which brought other oft-repeated yarns about the railway.

Newfoundlanders vouch for the accuracy of the story that it was possible to pick blueberries without interrupting a trip on the "Bullet." They say that on one occasion a train, slowly making its way around the curves of the Bonavista Bay branch of the line, had a number of holidayers on board. Some of them walked to the front car while train was moving, picked a hatful of berries and then boarded the last car.

This, say the old railwaymen, is character.

CHARACTER MUST COUNT

The character was the downfall of a newly-hired waiter back in the days when first-class passengers gave their meal orders to waiters before they went to the diner.

The waiters, men of superb memories, so the story goes, never took the order down in writing—but never made a mistake either.

But the newcomer, confused over what had been ordered, queried a lady passenger when she reached the diner: "Pardon me, madam, but are you the cold salmon?"

There are a lot of other stories about the individuality of the Newfoundland railway.

BORROWED COAL

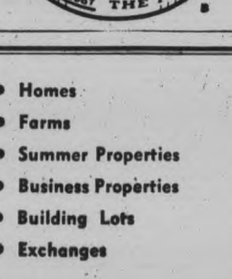
The old timers say that hunters, camped near the railway line in the interior, often flagged down a train to borrow coal from the engineer for their campfires.

The good old times have not quite disappeared, but they are on the way out. For instance, the heating system has been modernized.

As one old timer put it:

"This steam heat might be as warm, but you can't get up close to it, and smoke and yarn like you could around the pot-bellied stoves in the old cars."

VALUABLE FENCING

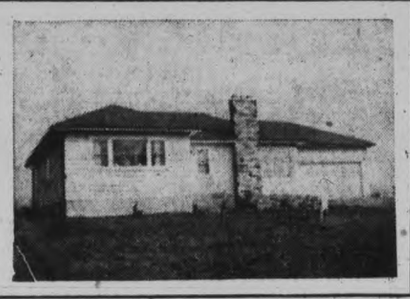


More than $3,500,000 worth of wire fencing is sold in Canada every year.

Big Road Job Tackled This Year

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of highways has $44,000,000 of unfinished construction work to tackle this year, Highways Minister Doucett said Wednesday.

He told the 26th convention of the Ontario Road Builders' Association that about $100,000,000 was spent on road construction last year.



The association is made up of construction firms, equipment suppliers and engineers.

Dikes Hold Firm Against Tides; Fly In Sandbags

LONDON (AP)—A relentless tide thundered against hastily-plugged gaps in the sea walls of Britain, The Netherlands and Belgium today threatening a new loss of life and property. On both shores of the North Sea the battle to hold back the waves reached a new critical phase. This fight, against the greatest tides of the month, will continue until Thursday. Britain, aided by nine countries, got a sandbag airlift under way. Millions of bags were loaded into planes and ships to strengthen the battered levees on England's east coast.

British, Dutch and Belgian service men and volunteers fought at a new tempo to hold back the sea. As new weaknesses appeared in the walls, fresh crews rushed up to bolster the defence.

Britain, The Netherlands and Belgium counted more than 2,000 dead from the storms and floods that swept against their shores from Jan. 31 to Feb. 2. All three countries are better equipped now to prevent more loss of life.

WARNING SYSTEMS

Not only have coastal areas been evacuated in many places, but elaborate warning systems are in operation. The 750 persons still remaining on hard hit Canvey Island in the Thames estuary were assured they would get two hours warning if the present fight against the sea fails.

The wind dropped over the North Sea, but numbing cold was a new enemy for the workers on the dikes. A blizzard continued over much of northern Europe.

Spring tides, pulled by the moon, will reach their peak Monday afternoon. If no new gales whip up the waters the three countries hope to get safely by this period. By the end of next week these giant February tides will have begun to recede.

QUEEN, DUKE ON TOUR

The Queen toured Kent and Essex today encouraging workers and refugees. Her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, flew over England's east coast, making several stops to inspect the sea walls.

Britain is winning the sea battle thus far. The walls are standing up to the pounding in the danger areas of Kent, Essex, Norfolk, Suffolk, Yorkshire and Lincolnshire.

France, Belgium, Switzerland, Portugal, Denmark and the United States are rushing sandbags to Britain. They have offered to send 5,000,000. Nearby countries are sending the bags in ships, the others by plane.

A non-stop bag airlift, instituted by the RAF transport command, began at dawn. Officers gave this operation top priority, cancelling training and programs and other commitments.

TESTING PERIOD AHEAD

Sir David Maxwell Fyfe told the House of Comons:

"The new defences so far have been standing up against the tides, but the real testing period is still to come."

He said the official death toll from the flooding earlier this month in England now stood at 290. Many persons still are missing.

RCMP Studies Defence Contract Charge

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCMP said today they are discussing with defence officials correspondence turned over to them by the CCF alleging extravagance and dishonesty in a secret defence contract.

Out of the discussions is expected to come a decision as to whether there is sufficient evidence to warrant a police investigation.

The correspondence was taken to RCMP headquarters Thursday by two CCF members of Parliament, Percy Wright of Melfort and Stanley Knowles of Winnipeg North Centre.

Mr. Wright first disclosed the existence of the letters in the Commons defence committee and later told a reporter they involved allegations of extravagance and dishonesty in a secret defence contract.

DECIDED ON POLICE

It is understood that the CCF made its own initial investigation into the author of the letters and, being satisfied, decided to go to the police. The allegations also are understood to involve persons in relatively high places on a particular project.

The correspondence is the most serious of a spate of letters to the party about things in defence jobs which have concerned people who have seen them. Other opposition members are also getting letters making various allegations and a number of these have prompted questions on the Commons order paper seeking information from the government.

Reds May Back Pearson For Job

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Informed sources said Thursday that Russian officials have dropped informal hints recently that their United Nations delegation would not veto nomination of L. B. Pearson of Canada as UN secretary-general.

The hints are interpreted here as a possible indication the Russians are determined to get rid of Secretary-General Trygve Lie and will accept Canada's external affairs minister if his name is put forward by the Western powers.

However, it is recalled the Russians turned down Pearson when he was nominated for the post when the UN was formed.

Pearson, president of the general assembly which resumes its seventh session here Feb. 24, has said he will make no comment on the question of choosing a successor to Lie.

4 Mystery Explosions Start Fire On Ship

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — Survivors of four mysterious explosions at sea that blasted sheets of flame through the American freighter President Pierce landed here today.

Fire still smouldered in one hold of the Pierce as an investigation was started. Investigators said there was no suspicion of sabotage.

One of the three seriously injured crew members, Seaman Earlwyn Jocoy, said he was knocked unconscious by one blast and came to on the deck, his clothes blazing.

A human torch, he ran to the side and dived into the Pacific. Then he watched in horror as the Pierce moved slowly away and almost out of sight.

Then it turned around and started back. Jocoy, chilled to the bone and almost despairing of his life, thrashed the water wildly to attract attention.

He was plucked out and returned to the still-blazing ship after nearly two agonizing hours in the salt water.

Hold Youth, 20 For $9,929 Theft

MONTREAL (CP) — Police today held a 20-year-old youth for questioning in connection with the alleged theft of $9,929 in cheques and $213 cash from a clerk of General Steel Ltd. The youth was not identified.

Police said the cheques, which were non-negotiable, were found in the men's room of the Canadian National Railways central station.

Christina Kirkpatrick, the clerk, said a briefcase containing the cheques and cash was snatched from her while she was en route to a bank to make a deposit.

Will Introduce Act On Edible Oils

TORONTO (CP) — An act banning the use of edible oils in some dairy products will be introduced during the current session of the Ontario legislature, government sources indicated today.

Legislation was passed last year giving the government power to control the manufacture of edible oils by licensing, but it was never proclaimed as law.

It is understood the bill will be allowed to die, and entirely new legislation with more teeth in it will be put forth by the government.

Reports said the act would ban use of edible oils, excepting butter fat, from use in the manufacture of dairy products such as ice cream, whipping cream, malted milk and chocolate milk.

Substitutes for those products with brand names clearly designating them as such probably would be exempt from restrictive legislation.

No Country Has Delayed Taking Coronation Seats

LONDON (CP)—An official of the earl marshal's office said today he knows of no delay by any country regarding acceptance of seats in Westminster Abbey for the Coronation June 2.

Similarly, a ministry of works spokesman said there has been "no indication of any uncertainty" by Commonwealth countries in connection with seats allocated along the Coronation route.

The officials said they were unable to say whether Canada will accept her full allocation of seats, since the matter is being handled by the Coronation committee in Ottawa. But they said there has been no indication Canada does not wish to accept her full quota.

They were commenting on a story published here yesterday in the right-wing weekly newspaper The Recorder. The Recorder story claimed that the Canadian government had not yet confirmed with British authorities that it accepted the full allocation of seats on the Coronation route or that it had made final distribution of seats in Westminster abbey.

The Recorder referred to what it called "needless confusion and delay" in advance Coronation arrangements and said some Canadians are convinced there is "a deliberate governmental policy to play down the connection with the crown."

The Commonwealth Relations Office, which acts as liaison between the British and Commonwealth governments, declined comment on the story.

Hint Luciano Involved In Visa Ring

Italian Girl Lure For Official; Couldn't Back Out

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal paper in a newspage story said today an immigration official, who claims he was blackmailed into the Italian visa racket, will be among at least six or seven men to be arrested as "higher-up" within the next few weeks.

This official is said to have had an affair with an Italian girl. He was "compromised" against his will and forced into the racket. He obtained a visa for a friend of the woman and was then threatened with exposure unless he continued to "play ball," the paper's story said.

FEBRUARY HEARING

Five men were arrested three weeks ago in connection with irregular immigration visas given Italians. They will appear for preliminary hearing Feb. 19. A sixth man is being detained in England.

The paper said its source told of lavish parties in Rome and of some possible connection with the visa racket by Lucky Luciano, former vice czar deported from the United States.

A contact man for the racketeers who was deported from Canada five or six years ago for illegal entry was said to have been seen in contact with "a few who are good friends of Luciano."

NATO Official Plans To Visit Canada

PARIS (Reuters)—Lord Ismay, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, will leave Feb. 27 for a visit to Canada and the United States, it was announced here today.

He will arrive by sea in New York March 4 and leave the same day for Ottawa for discussions with the Canadian government.

He is due in Washington March 12 and will stay two days in the capital, conferring with the U. S. administration.

The trip is being made at the invitation of the Canadian and U. S. governments.

Know Nothing Of Pope's Appeal

VATICAN CITY (CP)—The Pope was authoritatively reported today to have sought mercy for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, sentenced to death in the United States as atomic spies. Vatican sources said the Pope intervened before President Eisenhower's rejection on Wednesday of clemency for he Rosenbergs.

Precisely how the Pope intervened on behalf of the condemned couple was not disclosed. U.S. diplomatic sources said they had heard nothing either privately or officially through Washington on the subject.

The U.S. has no diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

In Washington, President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said:

"All I can say is that neither the state department nor the White House received any notification on this subject."

Hagerty said he did not know whether the Truman administration had received a clemency appeal from the Vatican.

A HANG-DOG LOOK, whether it's Friday 13 or not, is justified as far as this poor pooch is concerned. He lost an eye today in some scuffle and is being treated at a city animal hospital. The nameless one is shown above in surgery where he has practically the whole hospital to himself. At least there are no black cat patients on the premises to add to his bad luck and superstitions. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Find Shortage Of $134,000 In Union Funds

OTTAWA (CP)—A shortage of $134,000 has been discovered in the funds of the Civil Service Co-operative Credit Society Ltd., a special meeting of the Credit union was told Thursday night.

A report from the society's board of supervisors said that an audit two weeks ago found that liabilities had been understated by about $134,000 in the 1951 report of the credit union, which has 9,310 members in the federal civil service.

The meeting approved formation of a three-man committee to investigate the shortage. It is made up of David Sim, deputy minister of the customs and excise department; J. C. Lessard, deputy minister of the transport department, and B. G. McIntyre, comptroller of the treasury.

The meeting was told that the government has promised financial assistance of up to $100,000 to keep the credit union in operation.

The board of supervisors stressed that the credit union is still entirely solvent and that there is no need for alarm by depositors and shareholders.

No suggestion was made as to the cause of the shortage.

Belgian King Rouses Wrath

NICE, France (Reuters) — Bespectacled young King Baudoin of Belgium Thursday flew in from his flood-devasted country for another vacation at his father's sunbathed villa on the French Riviera.

In Brussels the Socialist newspaper Le Peuple said bitterly that the 22-year-old monarch was letting down his people again and said it was the fault of his pretty 38-year-old stepmother, Princess Lillian de Rethy. She is the second wife of former King Leopold.

Baudouin cut short his Riviera vacation last Sunday after loud complaints in the Belgian press that he was leading a life of luxury in the Mediterranean sun while his subjects were suffering from floods. He went back, took another one-day tour of the flood area, and set off again for the south.

The newspaper Le Peuple said Baudouin's "going and comings to and from Antibes during last week stunned and deceived people and provoked a deep feeling of discontent."

It criticized newspaper pictures showing the King and his family enjoying the southern sun "when thousands of Belgian families are plunged into despair" and said Princess de Rethy—wore "a rather questionable outfit" in the beach shots.

Hydro Conversion To Cost $275,000,000—Saunders

TORONTO (CP)—Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders said Thursday night the total cost on Ontario's hydro cycle change-over may climb to $275,000,000. The original estimate for the job to change 25-cycle over to 60-cycle, which is only 30 per cent complete, was $191,000,000.

Mr. Saunders said he did not expect the job, begun in 1948, to be complete for another eight years, but he did not anticipate any further increase in hydro rates for at least two years. The hydro commission recently increased its rates 14 per cent.

PAID OUT $118,182,897

To the end of November, 1952, the last date for which figures are complete, Mr. Saunders said hydro had paid out $118,182,897 for the conversion job—$91,199,266 for work completed and $26,983,631 for equipment and materials for work yet to be done.

Following a warning that the final bill would be much higher than originally estimated, Mr. Saunders said the main reasons for the increase could be found in the tremendous industrial expansion in the section of the province affected.

7 People Flee $100,000 Fire

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) —A $100,000 fire swept the top floor of the Knights of Columbus building early today. Fire Chief Clifford Matheson said later the firemen could probably have stopped it soon after it was discovered if their equipment had included an aerial ladder truck.

He said that at first the flames were confined to the northwest corner of the building at the corner of East street and Queen street east in the east-central downtown business district. Then they spread to the attic and for a time were beyond the reach of the firehoses.

Until extra crews, hastily called out, mounted hoses from nearby buildings, the fire burned out of control.

"We could have stopped it at the start with water from above," said the fire chief. City council has been debating whether to buy a ladder truck.

The blaze forced seven second-floor occupants into the street in near-zero weather. They included an elderly woman in a wheelchair.

To Dismantle Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration—with price ceilings pried off thousands of items—is expected to make a start today on the dismantling of production and materials controls.

The office of defence mobilization, it was learned, plans to announce an easing of the controlled materials plan—the basic system for allocating steel, copper and aluminum.

Money Missing Charge Executive

TORONTO (CP)—Gilchrist B. Yates, 41, wholesale paper company executive, Thursday night was charged with using $18,000 of company funds on a four-year horse-betting and entertainment spree.

Twice-married Yates is the father of five children.

Yates has been secretary-treasurer of Canada Paper Wholesale Limited in downtown Toronto for the last 7½ years.

George A. Hayward, vice-president and managing director, said Yates was a highly competent man, "a person we fully trusted." Hayward Thursday swore out a warrant for Yates' arrest after investigation by private detectives.

Police said embezzlement was discovered in a long company investigation by auditors after a check of books showed money missing.

The company charges Yates with embezzling money from 1949-53 and spending it on race horses and entertainment.

Four Nationalist Gunboats Blockade Red Port Of Amoy

HONG KONG (reuters)—Four Chinese Nationalist gunboats have blockaded Communist China's deep-water port of Amoy, merchant seamen arriving here reported today.

"It is impossible for even a British ship to enter the harbor," they said.

The seamen said at least one British-registered freighter had been turned back to Hong Kong with a cargo of fertilizer.

Before President Eisenhower deneutralized Formosa earlier this month, Nationalists had stationed one Navy gunboat outside Amoy, they said. Since then, three more gunboats have been based at Nationalist-held Quemoy Island only 25 miles east of Amoy.

Reliable mercantile sources said few ships try to enter Amoy. The port mainly used now for shipping along the South China coast is Swatow, 135 miles south of Amoy and that much further away from Nationalist bases.

Meantime, British-registered ships here continued clearing port for the Chinese coasts. Three were cleared today for Canton.

British shipping sources said Nationalist gunboats had not yet attempted to interfere with their freighters from Britain or Hong Kong carrying cargoes direct to China ports. They anticipated trouble, however, for ships which, after delivering their cargoes carry Communist shipments on time charters up and down the China coast.

Nationalist "sea guerrillas"—as opposed to regular naval forces—have already been in operation against the Communists. They sank a Communist motorboat and captured two others last Sunday, according to Taipeh reports.

Powder Factory Explosion Kills Six Workers

RICHMOND, Cal. (AP)—Twelve men were killed Thursday in and explosion at the Hercules Powder Company. Bodies and parts of bodies were hurtled as far as 250 feet. The blast occurred after a fire broke out in an explosive-mixing building of the company. As workers hurried to fight the fire, an explosion reduced the brick building to rubble. The explosion threw bricks from the building 700 feet. It shook four Bay area counties. It even got a reaction on the University of California seismograph at Berkeley, 12 miles to the south. San Francisco, 20 miles away, was jolted.

Only two men were in the 25-by-50-foot brick building used for mixing "dope"—liquid ingredients of dynamite. They presumably touched off the plant fire whistle which brought workers running. Then came the blast which "almost knocked our heads off," said workers farthest from the scene.

Those closer didn't live.

Eugene D. Hatfield, Hercules employment supervisor, said:

"We probably will never know the cause of the blast."

INVESTIGATE SABOTAGE

The federal bureau of investigation is investigating the possibility of sabotage.

Construction workers moving dirt only 150 feet from the explosion escaped injury.

John Mountjoy saw a small flame at the building, then "a little explosion, like a tank of gas going off."

He and three other men leaped into the scoop of a bulldozer Mountjoy was operating. Seconds later the big blast came.

$50,000 DAMAGE

Plant manager Clifford T. Butler estimated damage of $50,000.

The Hercules plant has been hit by other explosions. Last March 26, one man was killed in an explosion in a press house on the black powder line. Two others died when the nitro-glycerine building blew up in June, 1948. A similar blast in 1944 also killed two men.

Seven Attacks Hurled Back

SEOUL (AP) — Allied soldiers hurled back seven Communist attacks and killed or wounded 200 Reds as bloody fighting erupted across the 155-mile Korean battle front today.

In the air, three B-29 Superforts followed up a navy strike by dumping 30 tons of bombs on a Red marshalling yard near Wonsan, on the east coast.

Allied infantry and artillery repulsed the Reds' Friday the 13th attacks along the front.

South Koreans killed or wounded 72 Reds in stopping a Communist jab at Anchor hill at the eastern end of the battle line.

The Communist attack, tripped off shortly before midnight, continued until a heavy Allied artillery barrage drove the Reds back about an hour later.

Fire Damages Tanker

PORT DALHOUSIE (CP)—Fire caused $5,000 damage to the tanker Imperial Windsor at this Lake Ontario port near St. Catharines early today. Officials said sparks from a welder's torch lit the main deck and flames spread to the dining room below.

Retroactive Pay For Railmen From April 1952

MONTREAL (CP) — Retroactive pay increases of 12 per cent for trainmen, whose threatened strike was called off late last month, will date back to April 1, 1952, it was indicated Thursday night in a revised financial statement by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

No official announcement has been made of the retroactive date. It was one of the questions to be decided by negotiation, along with certain changes in working conditions.

The CPR revised its 1952 statement on the basis of April 1 as the retroactive date. The same date applies to retroactive pay for firemen and engineers and Sept. 1 is the date for dining car employees. Settlements with these groups were reached before the strike threat of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

For all these groups, the revised financial statement indicates the increased pay will be $1,892,000. This figure is the difference between the previously-announced net earnings for 1952 and the revised statement.

FORMERLY INCLUDED

Increases for employees in the non-operating trades and among non-organized workers were included in the original financial statement made public Jan. 28.

Presumably the retroactive date will be the same for CNR members of the BRT. Both companies acted jointly in negotiations with the BRT.

In the CPR's revised financial statement net earnings for 1952 are shown as $28,930,780 instead of $30,822,780 as announced Jan. 28. Net earnings in 1951 were $26,812,832.

Working expenses now are shown as $428,878,189 instead of $426,986,189. Working expenses in 1951 were $402,098,807.

Canadian Troops Not Resented

TORONTO (CP)—A former West German newspaper editor said here today his countrymen don't resent the presence of the Canadian 27th brigade, they simply don't care.

Herman Luedecke, until six months ago editor of Hannover's Nord-Deutsche Zeitung, said Hannoverians don't take the Canadian force seriously.

"Most Hannoverians don't see any sense in stationing a small token force of only 5,000 men in their city to hold back the Soviets in the event of a Soviet attack. Everybody knows that the Reds have 20 times as many troops just a short distance away."

The 38-year-old newspaperman said he thought this attitude wrong.

"After all the Canadians are there to protect the very people who now don't think very highly of them."

He said Hannoverians, as a whole, were not anti-Canadian and only one newspaper, Hannover Presse, which, however, has the largest circulation in the area, criticizes the brigade.

Canadian troops, he said, "are extremely well-mannered and very polite."

Britain Will Close Recruiting Centres

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said today Britain has accepted India's demand to close Gurkha recruiting centres on Indian territory.

Tough Gurkha troops from Nepal have fought many a distinguished action under Britain and recently have been fighting in the jungles of Malaya.

Britain recruits thousands of Gurkhas through the Indian frontier centres every year. The supply of soldiers is Nepal's biggest industry.

Dulles Sees Chance For Unity

Hopes To See Europe Making Progress In Defence Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles says "there is a good chance" for formation of a European Defence Community, but he hopes that "concrete evidence" of progress will be forthcoming promptly.

Dulles, reporting on his recent trip to European capitals in a radio and television broadcast to the country Thursday night, cautioned that the alternatives to a European Defence Community are considered by President Eisenhower to be weak.

He said the security of Europe itself and in some degree the security of the United States against the power of Russia depend upon successful accomplishment of the undertaking.

RATIFICATION DELAYED

Italy, France, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg signed a treaty to create the EDC last May. Dulles said it was then expected that this treaty and related arrangements for tying it to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be ratified and made operative in six months. Actually, he noted, months have passed and ratification is still lacking.

This has been "disconcerting" to the U.S., Dulles said, because U.S. security plans are based upon eventual inclusion of German military strength in the Western European Defence system. That, he said, is what the EDC was designed to accomplish.

In the last seven years, he said, the U.S. has contributed $30,000,000,000 to Europe and stationed "tens of thousands of our armed forces" there because European security vitally affects U.S. security.

MUST FIT TOGETHER

"But our effort will not permanently serve Europe, or ourselves, or humanity, unless it fits into a constructive program for European unity. Nothing that the U.S. can do will ever be enough to make Europe safe if it is divided into rival national camps.

"President Eisenhower himself said recently that he was impressed with the "feebleness" of alternatives to the European defence community."

Patrol Kills Six Africans

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Six Africans were killed today by a police patrol rounding up suspected Mau Mau terrorists in wooded hill country north of Nairobi.

The patrol said it ran into a big band of armed natives near Thomson's Falls. It called on them to halt and opened fire when they fled.

It was the second clash in the area this week. Two nights ago police shot and killed two of a party of tribesmen supposedly on their way to recruit new members for the anti-white Mau Mau cult.

The seat became vacant with the resignation of J. Baker White, Conservative, because of ill health.

Chrysler Plans To Expand Windsor Plant

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A $17,000,000 plant expansion program will be undertaken immediately in Windsor by the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, it was announced today.

E. C. Row, president and general manager, said the corporation will produce more than double its present output of passenger cars when the two-year expansion program is completed.

Mr. Row said during a press conference the company has made a "very comprehensive study" and its confidence in the future of Canada "demands an immediate expansion of our facilities."

TAKE SOME TIME

"This expansion will take more than the usual time," Mr. Row said, "for we must replace our present loading and shipping facilities before we can undertake other construction for the additions to our passenger car plant."

Chrysler Corporation has spent about $12,000,000 on expansions here since the end of the second world war.

Chrysler of Canada opened operations here under the present name in 1925 with 181 employees. That year it produced 4,474 units.

In 1951 some 74,823 units were produced.

Work on the new plan will begin as soon as the architectural plans are completed. First step will be removal of the present shipping and loading buildings on the west side of the sprawling plant.

Beef 39 Cents Pound In Store In Ohio

MARION, O. (AP) — Ohio-grown beef was on the market here today at 39 cents a pound, the same cut price charged earlier at Columbus for New Zealand meat.

Merle Wise, a booster for Ohio beef, ordered 15,000 pounds and put it on sale at his supermarket after hearing of the four-block-long lines in Columbus for the New Zealand product.

Roasts, round and club steaks went at 39 cents while T-bone and cube steaks sold for 59 cents.

M.P. Would Invite Princess Margaret

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Graydon external affairs spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party, said Thursday Princess Margaret should be invited to Canada to open the 22nd Parliament in 1954.

He said in the Commons that "officialdom" probably would look askance at his suggestion and that it would require a lot of undercutting of red tape brambles and underbrush, but "where there's a will there's a way."

There was much to be said for having a member of the Royal Family in Canada from time to time to open Parliament and since the Queen herself could not come in 1954 Princess Margaret should be invited.

Fuel Oil Prices Fall Half Cent In South Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Prices of light fuel oils have been reduced in many parts of Ontario, Imperial Oil announced today. Prices fell one-half cent a gallon in Toronto, to lower the price of domestic furnace oil to 17.1 cents.

Managers of both the city's largest fuel oil companies were not in town to say whether the prices in Peterborough would be affected. A spokesman for one of the local companies said they had received no word of any change by early afternoon today.

Improvement in supply is said responsible for the reduction, but in some northern parts of Ontario prices have been increased to reflect a nine-per-cent increase in freight rates announced Jan. 1.

An oil company spokesman said a reduction in furnace oil prices of half a cent a gallon has been brought about in all parts of southern Ontario. In the north it may be partly or wholly offset by increased freight rates.

Officials for other fuel oil companies said the reduction came as no surprise. Most said they plan similar adjustments.

Some suppliers who distribute fuel oil on a jobbing basis said they laid in their full season's supply at last fall's prices but will absorb the cut and pass on the saving to customers.

Paratrooper To Stand Trial

STRATFORD (CP) — Reuben Henry Norman, 25-year-old Camp Borden paratrooper, today was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the shooting of a 17-year-old girl here Feb. 2.

Norman, a native of Wellesley about 10 miles northeast of here, is charged in the death of Jean Marie Satchell of Gadshill. The two villages are about six miles apart.

Allan Jones, CNR employee, said he saw Norman shoot at the girl on a downtown street.

Mr. Jones said he ran to the girl as she fell on the pavement and picked her up. He watched Norman reload his .22 calibre pistol. The girl looked as though she would faint and Mr. Jones laid her down.

He said Norman then shot at her three more times.

Denies Island Food Scarce

BATH, Ont. (CP)—A resident of Amherst Island today denied reports that food stocks are dwindling on the island in Lake Ontario about 12 miles southwest of Kingston.

A report Thursday said ice on the lake between the island and this town is unsafe and cannot be crossed.

But Morris Smith, an islander, crossed safely from the mainland Thursday. He said the island has food on hand and bread is flown in daily with the mail.

Another island resident said a scarcity of food is reported on the island every winter. "We get tired of hearing the same old story."

Landlord, Tenant Scuffle Over Rent

LINDSAY (ENS)—An account of a landlord-tenant brawl on Kent St. last Saturday night was heid in magistrate's court here today.

Deputy-Magistrate R. I. Moore dismissed a charge of common assault laid against 37-year-old Robert Barry of 23 Kent St. E., who lives at the same address as his landlord, Lorne Magee.

Magee had a bruise on his forehead that he claimed was caused by a punch from Barry. But Magistrate Moore was unable to decide whether it was caused as charged or whether it was received while the pair were scuffling on the ground.

Magee laid the charge of common assault after the pair had scrapped near their home address on Kent St.

Barry said the dispute arose over rent. He admitted that he was six weeks behind in the payments.

Deputy-Magistrate Moore said he knew something of Magee's nature and commented that it was unfortunate he could not get along with his tenant. And he told Barry that if he couldn't get along peaceably with his landlord he should get out—no matter how bad the housing shortage.

Poultry Inspector Enjoying Retirement

A heading was wrong, but the story carried the correct news recently of the retirement of James H. Hare, for 45 years an agricultural representative with the provincial and federal departments of agriculture.

When he retired, Mr. Hare was senior inspector of poultry products for the federal department of agriculture. The heading on the story incorrectly reported the death of the Cobourg-born man.

Murdered Man 30 Police Reveal

TORONTO (CP) — Police said today the man found slain on the edge of Toronto bay Sunday was not more than 30 years old. Previously he was reported more than 50.

Efforts to trace the man's identity by his boots and clothing have been in vain. The boots appear to be well made but distributors said they have seen nothing like them. They have a rubber sole extending from toe to heel.

Believes Plan To Limit Sale "Unworkable"

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An importer of Cuban refined sugar, Martin J Donohue, local food broker, today agreed with members of the sugar beet growers marketing board in that he couldn't see how it could be kept from any specific area of Canada.

Mr. Donohue said he doesn't know how the plan to keep refined Cuban sugar from the Prairies and Western Ontario, announced by Trade Minister Howe, is workable.

Only possibility Mr. Donohue could see is a provincial ban. The problem appears to be a constitutional one, he said.

DOESN'T MATTER

Commenting further on the situation, Mr. Donohue said as far as sugar beet growers are concerned it "doesn't matter one iota how sugar is brought into the country, whether in raw, solid, liquid or hard candy form—but, it does matter to Canada and Dominion Sugar Company Limited."

Sugar from beets comprises only 25 per cent of the country's sugar requirements, he said, and always has sold for 15 cents less a bag than cane sugar.

During the past 18 months the latter has dropped $2 a bag, so it follows that price of beet sugar would also drop, he said.

B-36 Crashes Three Killed

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A Carswell-based U.S. B-36 bomber crashed and burned 16 miles from Goose Bay, Labrador, just before midnight Thursday night.

Three crew members were killed, six suffered major injuries and eight others were slightly injured, Carswell air force base officials said here today.

The giant bomber, returning from a flight to England, was making a scheduled stop en route to Carswell.

First reports from Goose Bay indicated the bomber was preparing to land when the accident occurred.

Vessel Starts Through Strait

HONG KONG (AP)—The British freighter Incharran which reported an attack by unidentified junks Thursday, started through the Formosa strait today.

The Lee-Kui Co., charterers, said the 2,250-ton vessel, commanded by French Capt. George Lefevre will arrive here tomorrow on schedule. Her last port of call was Shanghai.

The Incharran early Thursday radioed she was under attack but a subsequent message said she had got away.

The incident occurred 158 miles north of Formosa off the coast of Red China. The message did not say whether the Incharran was damaged.

It was the first such action involving a British vessel off the mainland since the U. S. decision Feb. 2 to deneutralize the Formosa strait.

Official Nationalist Chinese quarters at Taipeh said Nationalist Navy craft were not involved.

Jailed One Year On 4 Charges False Pretences

LINDSAY (ENS) — Convicted on four charges of obtaining money by false pretenses, 35-year-old John Ross Lake of Toronto, who travels under three aliases, was today sentenced in Lindsay magistrate's court to a year in the reformatory.

Lake—also known as Maverty, Lee and Wilson—pleaded guilty to all four charges, involving $95 in all.

Evidence indicated he had passed a worthless cheque in Brockville and he was sentenced by Deputy-Magistrate R. I. Moore to one year. He also got three months on a charge of obtaining $25 from Ernie Wright, Lindsay feed merchant; another three months for obtaining money by false pretenses in Prescott, and one month on a fourth and similar charge in Brockville.

All sentences run concurrently.

Lake was recognized as a much-wanted fraud when he appeared in Lindsay magistrate's court on January 28. He was spotted by Cpl. Ken Denniss of the Lindsay OPP, and informations from Prescott and Brockville were forwarded to Lindsay for the trial today.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan read from a police record showing that Lake has spent 15½ months in prison, mostly on false pretence counts.

Lake said most of his trouble has been caused through liquor and he asked to be sent to the Mimico Reformatory so he could take the course there for alcoholics.

Acquaintances 'Being Maligned'

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Ward's lawyer complained bitterly today that mere acquaintances of his red-haired client are being maligned as a result of the vice trial of playboy Minot (Mickey) Jelke.

J. Roland Sala named screen actor Mickey Rooney, comedian Joey Adams and radio disc jockey Jack Eigen as among the maligned.

All three were cited Wednesday by Jelke's lawyers as having met Miss Ward some time before she reached her present age of 19. All three said they only dimly remembered her as someone met casually.

Jelke, 23, heir to a margarine fortune, is accused of forcing Miss Ward and two other young women into prostitution and then living off Miss Ward's profitable earnings.

Press and public have been banned from hearing testimony. Thus reporters have to catch what lawyers and witnesses will spill out of the courtroom into the corridors.

Sala today thundered that "certain men are being maligned" in "absolutely contemptible" fashion.

Find 'Penny' Trading Leading On Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Speculative "penny" trading continued to drive ahead in early afternoon dealings today as prices generally mixed.

Leading uranium issues weakened after noon but continued active. Western oils attracted interest from the opening. Volume for the first three hours totalled 4,335,000 shares — highest since Jan. 29 when 10,000,000 shares were traded during the complete session.

Gunnar led the losses in uraniums, dropping $1 in a turnover of 100,000 shares. Chimo traded 415,000 shares and lost 30 cents. Nesbitt Labine continued firm but Rix slipped. Graham Bousquet and New Delhi traded heavily for small gains.

Leading issues showed strongest in western oils: Husky, Canada Southern and Husky gained. Kenwell added 34 cents in a turnover of 96,000 shares while Cons. Rochette dropped pennies. Cal-and-Ed showed one of the few losses in the list.

The industrials index slipped on losses in leading issues but the list generally was mixed. Utilities gained and banks slipped.

Higher-priced base metals slipped but most others gained. Cassiar, Normetal and Western Tungsten added pennies.

Senior golds attracted little attention and were mixed.

Hoping Britain Will Move Closer To European Unity

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Thursday he hopes Britain will move even closer to the European Defence Community and denied that Canada views European defence with "Olympian" detachment. Completing a speech started Wednesday in the Commons, he said the Communist conspiracy is world-wide and that no action by any Western power should be taken without considering its global effects.

He welcomed the Anglo-Egyptian agreement on the Sudan as a forward step to stabilize the Middle East, an area which was a big gap in the wall of collective security.

Collective security arrangements had become interdependent. Communist policies had forced that situation. No exclusively regional arrangement such as NATO would be sufficient to meet the global threat of communism.

The strength and progress of NATO's 14-country alliance would have to be linked closer with the move towards European unity. There had been hopes that the six-country pooling of military strength known as the European Defence Community would be in existence by now but both France and Germany had shown hesitations and doubts.

EDC is the plan to set up a common army for France, Germany and other European countries.)

These delays had "perhaps caused more surprise and disappointments" in some quarters than they should have. There were involved losses of sovereignty which would have been unthinkable 20 years ago and which Canada even now would hesitate to give up.

But there was a need for decision soon.

Youth Jailed 10 Months Through Mistake

TORONTO (CP)—A detective's belief that Ronald Power, 21-year-old former Nova Scotian, was wrongly identified as a hold-up man resulted Thursday in the youth being released from jail after serving 10 months of a five-year sentence.

Power and Michael Nugent were convicted of robbing Robert James Clarke of a wallet containing $50 and sentenced by Judge Robert Forsyth to five years each in penitentiary.

Two days later, Quebec provincial police arrested Cass Martin, who was taken to St. Catharines on a car theft charge. Clarke's wallet containing identification papers was found on Martin.

Detective Dave Graham of Toronto went to talk with Martin and was struck by the resemblance between Martin and Power. He wrote to the attorney-general's department and said he was certain Power had not been in the robbery. "One could easily be mistaken for the other," he said.

NEW TRIAL ORDERED

Power appealed and his counsel, G. S. Scully, asked for an acquittal, but Mr. Justice J. A. Hope said he felt there was "a great deal of evidence" and a new trial was ordered.

At the new trial Thursday, Power was acquitted.

Martin escaped from the Lincoln county jail Aug. 21.

Power said: "It feels good to be out, but I figure I got a pretty raw deal. Isn't there some way I can collect for the time I spent in the Don?"

Attorney General Dana Porter said he knows of no provision for compensation in such cases. The matter is one for the minister of justice, he added.

Many Attend Havelock YPU Skating Party

HAVELOCK (ENS) — The Young People's Union of the Presbyterial of the United Church of Canada held their annual skating party at the Havelock arena Wednesday evening when 250 young people attended.

Representatives were present from four YPU's in Peterborough city, George St. Church, St. James' Church, Mark St. Church and St. Andrew's Church. Branches in the district represented were, Fairview, Springville, Hastings, Lakefield, Norwood, Trent River and Havelock.

One of the main events of the evening which caused much merriment was a beauty contest in which seven young men in feminine attire took part, one from each of the following branches: Lakefield, Havelock, Norwood, George St., St. James' and St. Andrew's. Their impersonations of the fair sex was very realistic, even to their "hair-do's." The winner was George McClennan of St. Andrews YPU. The judges were the Rev. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield and the Rev. R. G. Newman of Havelock.

A broom ball game between the city and country, played without skates resulted in a win for the city by a score of 1-0. Each side had a girl's team and a boys' team which played in relays and it was while the girls were playing that Peterborough scored their goal.

Skating was enjoyed until 11 o'clock when coffee and doughnuts were served.

Reject Bill For Flogging

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons today rejected a bill to restore flogging in England and Wales for crimes of physical violence. The vote was 159 to 63.

In the heated debate preceding the vote, proponents claimed only the reintroduction of the birch would curb the cosh boys—young hoodlums who use blackjacks to carry out robberies and sex crimes. Opponents said the bill was a reversion to old barbaric theories of judicial punishment.

Both Labor and Conservatives were allowed to vote uninstructed on this private member's bill, although the government had virtually killed it by saying it would like to continue a little longer with the no-flogging experiment.

Flogging was abolished as form of punishment in England and Wales four and a half years ago. It has been illegal in Scotland for 90 years.

Disregard Man's Will Wife Given Estate

SUDBURY (CP) — A surrogate court judgment today disregarded the will of the late Marcien Lamarche of Noelville and allowed his widow the whole estate, valued at $2,600.

In his will, probated in 1948, Lamarche provided that if his widow remarried, all his property would be divided among his children.

Mrs. Lamarche, who has not remarried, brought the action to acquire the estate, which includes a farm, two horses, four cows and some machinery.

Surrogate court Judge J. M. Cooper, who granted the widow the whole estate under the dependants relief act, said that when a woman has lived 25 years with a man and raised eight children, she has earned at least $2,600.

Lindsay Sales School Provides New Topics

LINDSAY (ENS). — Lindsay's first sales school sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce got off to a successful start Thursday night. Some 60 business people gathered at the Town Hall for the first lecture.

Speaker for the evening was Ken Mathews, manager of the hardware department of The T. Eaton Company, Toronto, and a widely known youth worker in that city and in the province.

Principal speaker for the night was secretary-manager of the Chamber, Harold Pollock, who had promoted the idea of the school. He prefaced the speaker's remarks with some of his own ideals on salesmanship.

The speaker was introduced by Gordon Picard, of the local branch of Eaton's.

Mathews spoke on both human relations and public relations in business. The former, he said, was the basis of successful salesmanship — getting along with people, both customers and employers or employees, with the emphasis on better human relations being shown in church, political and business life. The development of this trend, he said, only indicated the completion of a circle in human development.

OPP Team Slows District Squads

Peterborough's Ontario Provincial Policemen are checking the speeding of district hockey players during the past several weeks. In fact the headquarters' hockey team has slowed the opposition's speeding down considerably.

In recent games the policemen have won two, tied two and lost one.

The headquarters' team swamped the Apsley Aces of the East Peterborough League 10-1 Thursday night. The Apsley team were threatened with a goose-egg until the last second when Bert Howden scored.

Archie Eadie led the policemen's scoring with the hat trick, other goals going to Don LaCombe, Wally Gregg and Jim Healey two each and Jack Gray a single.

The policemen have several games arranged but still want more.

No Age Limit For Alcoholism

TORONTO (CP)—Alcoholism is a disease that can strike anyone at any age, Mrs. Marty Mann of New York, executive secretary of the national committee on alcoholism of the United States, said today.

Speaking to a group of doctors, reformatory officials, psychiatrists and social workers at the Ontario Alcoholism Research Foundation, Mrs. Mann said that "the more we know about the problem of alcoholism, the less we know."

Some alcoholics responded to one kind of treatment and some to another.

"But one thing we do know is that alcoholism is best treated by psychological and spiritual means," she added.

While much was being done for the "visible drunk," who comprises about 15 to 20 per cent of the alcoholic population, not enough was done for the remainder.

She said there are not enough psychiatrists engaged in treating alcoholics, nor sufficient social workers trained in the problem.

Poland To Control Church Appointments

WARSAW (AP)—Communist Poland, in a sweeping order to control the Roman Catholic Church, has made all appointments to clerical posts subject to state consent and the taking of a loyalty oath.

A decree, published in the Journal of Laws and made public today, also lays down that only Polish citizens may take up church appointments.

Report Volcano Becoming Active

MANILA, The Philippines (Reuters) — The governor of Batangas province, 40 miles south of Manila, today warned the population to prepare to evacuate after reports that Taal Volcano, quiet for 42 years, was showing signs of activity.

More than 3,000 persons were killed when Taal volcano last erupted in 1911.

Committee To Make Study Lakefield Waterworks Issue

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Lakefield Women's Institute will present a new electric stove to the kitchen of Memorial Hall, it was announced to council members at this week's meeting of the village council. Representing the WI were Mrs. Clarence Foster, Mrs. A. Dainton, Jr. and Mrs. Theodore Nichols. The deputation also discussed the type of stove, and some improvements to be made in the kitchen.

Councillor W. A. Killoran was appointed to work with the women's committee. Clerk Harry T. Hill was asked to write a letter of appreciation to the Institute for their gift.

Reeve William C. Grant presided, and councillors G. S. Dunford, J. R. Hull and W. A. Killoran were present.

Chamber of Commerce president Donald Hendren and retail committee chairman A. W. Stewart formed a deputation from the chamber and showed the council the map being prepared of the village of Lakefield, and explained what information the chamber had regarding the erection of nameplates on the various streets. Council stated that the question of erecting nameplates would be taken up later but the final decision must wait until the striking of the tax rate.

G. Erskine Douglas again raised the question of the village either buying his two houses located in the park, or selling him the land, so that he could sell them himself. The council informed Mr. Douglas, after some discussion, that it was unlikely they would be able to discuss the matter at this meeting. The streets committee will look into the question of abandoning present storage sheds and locating suitable sheds in a new location.

Councillor W. A. Killoran was appointed a delegate to interview with Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, at Ottawa, re obtaining of CNR lands in the village for industrial purposes. George Stenner was appointed a member of the park committee for the years 1953 and 1954.

Reeve Grant was authorized to form a ratepayers' waterworks committee to study the waterworks and sewage problem.

Suspension of Chief L. G. Foster was approved by council until such time as the charge or charges against him under the Police Act are disposed of.

The agreement or contract with Ward C. Martin, sanitary collector, was amended by the addition of the following: "With the exception of the garbage collected on Highway 28 between Peterborough and Lakefield, the Lakefield Preparatory School, and residences adjoining the village of Lakefield in Douro township."

The bylaw to authorize the Reeve to proclaim daylight saving time in the village was given its several readings.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $5,304.47.

Will Crack Down On Transient Merchants

TORONTO (CP) — The agriculture department said today it plans to crack down on transient merchants who are selling substandard potatoes under the guise of first grade merchandise.

The department said there are numerous cases in the greater Toronto area of housewives buying a bushel of apparently good potatoes, only to find, on removing the top layer, the others are damaged or undersized.

Work For Peace In America Dewey Declares

NEW YORK (AP)— Governor Thomas E. Dewey says the Eisenhower administration will work for world peace through a positive foreign policy that will be "made in America."

The United States, he adds, will "no longer sit idly by watching the Free World dismembered piece by piece," and "American policy will no longer be made in the Kremlin."

The governor, a chief supporter of Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency, made the declarations Thursday night in a speech at a Lincoln Day dinner.

Dewey said the induction of Eisenhower as president of the U. S. was "a new emancipation of the deepest world significance."

"History may well conclude that World War II was basically the result of the American vacuum of policy in the 1930s. History will surely record that the vacillation of the Truman regime led the world from crisis to crisis and again to war. The full infamy of that administration is still to be disclosed."

To Strengthen Municipalities

The Speech from the Throne read yesterday at the opening of the Ontario Legislature forecast legislative measures to strengthen the powers and autonomy of municipal governments. This is excellent, if action follows the implication of the words. In political democracies the health and structure of the nation are created and preserved from the bottom up, not, as in totalitarian states, from the top down. The family is the basic social unit. Next comes the municipality, the community of families in village, town or city. Good family and good municipal life are the bases of good Canadian life and of the strength of Canada. To be healthy, the town or city must have identity and independence. Any weakening of its powers or abrogation of its rights to so-called higher authority—the Provincial Government, for instance—weakens the structure of Canadian society.

* * *

Provincial governments in the past have had too little sense of the importance of the municipality. In fact and deed they have increased their own central authority by infringing on the lives of municipalities. They have established overlordship of cities, formed departments of municipal affairs and otherwise dictated to the towns. Their chief weapon has been grants—withholding them, cajoling with them or fixing stifling strings to them. The habit of considering our towns and cities as puppets of higher governments is traditional in Canada and for a historical reason. Most municipalities were begotten by the provincial governments. For instance, the Baldwin municipal act more than a century ago created dozens of municipal corporations by legislation. In older countries the city preceded the central government; Athens, Paris, London, and hundreds of towns and villages existed as independent entities before their nations came into organized form as Greece, France, Britain. The theory in Canada may be that as the State (the Province) has given, so it can take away the very life of municipalities.

* * *

What is a citizen but a citizen of a town? The very word citizen—belonging to a city—spells the historic and ever-present importance of the municipality. Centralizers, aggrandizers and dictators have distorted the meaning of the word for their own purposes and refer to a "citizen of Russia," a "German citizen," a "citizen of Canada." This is a linguistic and historical error which modern nationalism has not yet fully justified. An Athenian was a citizen of Athens, not of Greece, a Roman was a citizen of Rome not of Italy, a Londoner of London, not of England. Primarily we are citizens of Peterborough, Cobourg, Woodstock or Toronto, not citizens of Ontario. Civic rights—city rights—must be vigorously affirmed, since our towns are not rooted in the accumulation of centuries nor their being formed by generations of citizens.

* * *

Whatever the Ontario Legislature does to strengthen the communities of Ontario will be well for Ontario. If the Province is to flourish, its municipalities must flourish. Many municipalities are now enfeebled not only by Provincial interference and edict, but also by having too many financial burdens thrust upon them with too few compensating sources of revenue. It is welcome news that greater autonomy is in store and that the system of grants may be thoroughly revised.

You Tell Them, Mr. Howe!

Hurrah for Mr. Howe! In one blast he did more to freshen the corridors of Parliament and put grasping protectionists in their place than mealy-mouthed pussy-footers would do in a lifetime. Savage? Yes, but there are times and places—and people—for which bared teeth are the best treatment. And Mr. Howe is the only man in the Canadian government able to pounce in the arena of big business and bite hard, for Mr. Howe is a millionaire businessman himself, and understands the breed in all its mutations.

We refer, of course, to Mr. Howe's attack against the president of Canada's largest sugar refinery and against the company's claims. Ferocious as it was, Mr. Howe's experience, reasoning, figures on its profits, and analysis of its intentions justified him. What the company wanted seems to have been no less than complete protection from Cuban refined sugar imports, not to protect a flagging industry but to increase its profits at the cost of an increased price to the households of Canada. And the company wanted this at the very time Mr. Howe and Canadians generally hope to increase reciprocal trade with Latin America, reduce tariff barriers and break down embargoes.

The sugar refining company inveigled innocent sugar-beet producers, Conservative and Social Credit MPs and hometown officials to support its campaign. What the beetroot farmers had to gain, had the company succeeded in bulldozing the Government, was a few cents to every dollar of extra profit for the company. What they had to lose was the very principle of trade under which Canada hopes to secure export markets for farm products. Such gross "protection" as the sugar refining company wanted would have set every other industry howling like wolves for the same sort of monopolies, resulting in higher prices to everybody and restrictions on trade. Mr. Howe stamped on the company and its president hard.

The Minister of Trade also took a fast swipe at lobbies, pressure campaigns and outright attempts by special groups to bludgeon parliamentarians into legislating for their selfish interests. The extension of lobbying and the activities of company public relations officers in Ottawa since the war have been both blatant and insidious. There is too much of it. When Mr. Howe termed the sugar refinery's activities to turn the heat on Parliament the most aggressive pressure campaign he had ever experienced in his seventeen years in parliament, he spoke feelingly. The blow he dealt the company president "in return for my loss of sleep caused me on my trip" may have been vindictive—we hope it was—but it was also a wallop against others who similarly threaten and campaign. Good for Mr. Howe! Stay in there punching with both fists, Right Honourable Sir!

The Pleasures Of Plagiarism

Plagiarism is not an offence that we hear much about in Canada, though it exists here, in a mild way. But in a single copy of the New York Times we noticed two interesting cases of it. John Fernald, an English novelist, was recently able to have a movie called Gift Horse withdrawn from circulation because five minutes of it were "blatant copying" from his novel Destroyer From America.

The other case happened in the U.S.A. Mrs. Shirley Howdeshell Malone, who is seventeen and a bride, recently won a contest for the best essay on "What the Bill of Rights Means To Me"; her work was the best among 17,000 entries. She was whisked from her native Oklahoma to Washington, and many delightful rewards were devised for her. But unfortunately somebody discovered that her essay was principally copied, word for word, from a magazine article which had appeared in 1948. The charming young matron had not considered what the Bill of Rights might mean to other authors. A public relations man, called in to meet this situation, says that "The whole thing is highly embarrassing for everyone concerned." Nobody seems likely to dispute this statement.

The odd thing about plagiarists is their literary innocence. They think that they can pinch another writer's work and get away with it. But the world is full of people with sharp eyes and long memories, and although plagiarism sometimes succeeds it is very often found out. Sometimes the results are serious financial loss, as in the case of the movie which had to be withdrawn; sometimes, as with the bride from Oklahoma, the results are merely "highly embarrassing."

Quebec In The Chips

Quebec's finance minister has reported the Province's financial standing to the Quebec legislature and it is a rosy report. The fiscal year 1952-53 will show a surplus of 42 million dollars after providing more than twelve million for debt retirement. The Quebec debt has been reduced by 25 million dollars since 1945 and, in relation to the Province's income, is smaller than the debt of any other province or of the federal governments of Canada and the United States. The Quebec debt is the smallest per capita in Canada—$77 a head.

We shall see what beautiful financial statement Ontario's Provincial Treasurer, Mr. Frost, will produce to match Quebec's record. His past budgets have been good. Last March the Premier was able to say in his budget address that $110.3 million had been paid into the sinking fund in nine years and that Ontario had the lowest provincial taxation in Canada.

Figures do not tell all the story. The methods of levying taxes and otherwise putting the pinch on people is as important as the amount taken. In this regard, Ontario people who have also had experience of living in the province of Quebec prefer the Frost methods, not the Duplessis and Duplessis-agents' ways.

NOTE AND COMMENTS

"Find a man who is unable to give a decent, hearty handshake and you can bet he never milked a cow" says that salty old farm journal, the Windsor Star. We shook hands last week with a man who had apparently been used to milking ornamental iron reindeer, and we expect to get the cast off our hand next month.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: A fellow in a beverage room said that hotels make their money out of drink, is that so? What about those hotels in other provinces where they can't serve drinks and don't have beverage rooms? And what about places like Toronto and Montreal, where they don't need to have a hotel to sell drinks?

ANSWER: I can't give you recent figures. All I have are statistics for 1941— before Toronto's cocktail bars and before the big expansion in beer and liquor sales in and out of hotels.

Including both full time and seasonal establishments in 1941 there were 5,646 hotels in Canada. They did a gross business of $147,000,000. Of this 53% was from the sale of alcoholic beverages, 22.5% from room rentals, 16.6% from meals, and the remainder from small merchandise like tobacco.

The figures include the hundreds of so-called hotels in Ontario and other provinces whose business is confined almost solely to operating beverage rooms, and it would be ridiculous to try to rent a room or get a meal in some of these "hotels." This may explain why the statistical percentage of business done from the sale of alcoholic beverage is so high, the percentage from room rentals so low. It is inconceivable that large hotels like the Royal York in Toronto or the Laurentien in Montreal get more income from their sale of beverages than from room rentals. The Laurentien, I believe, leases its wining and dining area to another company and confines its profit interests to housing guests.

SIR: Is cremation of bodies, instead of burial, possible in Canada?

ANSWER: Of course, although not in smaller centres. Peterborough, for instance, has no crematorium. Montreal (Mount Royal Cemetery) has had a crematorium since 1902, and since that date there have been 14,130 cremations at Mount Royal.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR ALPHA: The farmer you mention near Peterborough who pays no income tax and yet has become a modern Plutus is a puzzler.

But leaving him out, your answer: "Perhaps they (the farmers) are most in need of help both financial and advisory" is most true.

Dr. Johnson said: "By agriculture alone can commerce be perpetuated; and by agriculture alone can we live in plenty without intercourse with other nations. This therefore is the great art, which every government ought to protect, every proprietor of lands to practice, and every inquirer into nature to improve."

Somewhere in "Gulliver's Travels" somebody says: "He gave it as his opinion that he who can make two ears of corn or two blades of grass grow on a spot where one grew before, was worth more than the whole race of politicians put together."

And William Jennings Bryan: "Destroy the cities and leave the farms and they would soon be rebuilt. But destroy the farms and grass would soon be growing in the streets of the cities."

Many people don't seem to realize that "all flesh is grass." Surely between the city dweller and the farmer "a great gulf is fixed"?

RESPONSE: But, fortunately a lot of people swim it!

Dean Swift wrote in 'Gulliver's Travels' (Part II, Chapter VII, Voyage to Brobdingnag): "Whoever could make two ears of corn or two blades of grass, to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before would deserve better of mankind, and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together." Is this commendation of a good farmer, or of a scientist, like the one in Part III of Gulliver's Travels who spent eight years on "a project for extracting sunbeams out of cucumbers, which were to be put in phials hermetically sealed, and yet let out to warm the air in raw inclement weather"?

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR ALPHA: Why do snow flakes always appear to be coming straight at the car windshield, no matter which way the car is going or where the wind is coming.

ANSWER: I understand that it has something to do with wind-slip. You multiply x by the root of — and you get driving snow —straight at the driver's eye.

COUNTRY NOTE: A blessed event took place at Bellee Acres before dawn on Saturday morning. As I had a premonition — and voiced it here last Friday— the event did not wait the time— that is, until Saturday afternoon when some refuge other than Alpha's kitchen could be made warm enough.

It was two blessings— twins. Lovely little things with legs bending anywhere at all, very close-matted hair and tails that wagged One was smaller than the other —about ten inches long and nearly as high when he could get to his legs. And he had a bleat a yard wide. His voice box must have been as big as himself.

I speak in the past tense about the runt. He survived only one day. In the middle of his first morning he had to be revived with whisky, hot water and sugar on a spoon. He looked all right at bed time — his tail was wagging. But Sunday morning the farm lad came to find the poor little tyke dead. The boy gave him an unceremonious funeral— threw him over the fence for the foxes which lurk in the orchard to feed on.

I think he died from malnutrition, or rather, no nutrition. He couldn't find the taps on which to feed, and when he was introduced to them, couldn't get any milk. We tried this process three times. A rush order went to Peterborough for my little nephew's bottles and nipples; I intended to feed the lamb cows' milk. (Would that have killed him straight away?) But the bottles arrived too late. The other fellow, I am happy to report, is in fine fettle, and bounces up and down on the same spot like a yo-yo without a string.

By the way, we winterized part of the cow barn Saturday afternoon, made a pen, put in lots of bedding, and lamb and ewe seem to be doing very nicely without the kitchen stove .... These are exciting times at Bellee Acres. I'm afraid that if I say "Booh!" loudly to the flock, another couple are going to calve. However, one's first is the worst, I am told. So let the blessings multiply.

TWO SIDES OF MOTHER-IN-LAW

Sir: I have been reading so much giving mother-in-law the slam as she always seems to give so much bother. But as far as I see it mother-in-law is a fine person when she looks after the house when the young wife is sick or when the smart young couple wants money. But when that all stops she is then the troubelsome mother-in-law.

DELIGHT IN GROSBEAKS

Sir: Some of the drabness of winter has disappeared by the arrival of the black and yellow grosbeaks. There are several flights of them around Caddy Street, off the Armour Road. It is indeed a treat to see a little colour after spending several months daily feeding the sparrows.

The only birds outside of the sparrows that I have seen from my window was one little nuthatch and one indigo bunting feeding from a dish of corn meal and breadcrumbs that I provide. The grosbeaks, at this moment, are busy feeding from tree seeds that have lain in the road all winter and only once did I see a young female feeding with the sparrows in the garden. Not a noisy bird! They have a chatter when feeding, similar to the sparrows of which they are a type, but with eyes that are tired with the endless blacks and white of winter. The appearance of the black and yellow grosbeaks is an endless thing of delight.

THE NUTHATCH

The white breasted nuthatch, with wonder
Fills me—Nonchalantly walking headfirst down
The tree. For death, the grim reaper, he has no regard
Walking headfirst down the tree in my yard.

O, bird you are beautiful! soft blue and white
I would not disturb thee or put you to flight.
So delight me O creeper! for you I've regard
And keep your gymnastics confined to my yard.

SAYS BRITISH INDUSTRIAL METHODS SUPERIOR

Sir: Re your article referring to Canadian and British manufacture and labour. I guess that there will be very few replies, as most ex-British citizens in this community will be quietly laughing to themselves, but, I would like to point out a few small things.

It is a well known fact that Canadian workers work harder than their British counterparts. It is also a well known fact that the Canadian works longer hours, but it is also a well known fact British workers produce twice as much as any Canadian worker.

This is due to more modern means of production, whereby the machine is made to do the work of man in Britain.

As for British methods being old fashioned, Sir, might I suggest that you investigate certain firms in your own city, then pay a visit to any British firm, and you will be amazed at the number of years your own city's firms are behind the British. To come here to your own production methods, will be like stepping from the new Elizabethan era, to the old Elizabethan era.

Just to give you an idea of what I mean, I am a tool designer, in Britain I could draw up approximately three press dies per day, here I can only produce one, and this may take more than a day, the reason, here I have to detail all the die, in Britain I only had to draw a plan view, all other views were standard for each size of press.

As for quality not entering into it, this is totally wrong, quality in the first place produces quantity over a longer period, than it does if quanity is the prime object.

You may wonder why we then came to Canada. This is simple to answer.

Being of an adventurious nature and having lost the best years of our lives due to war, we decided to step back into the past and take up from where we left off prior to the war. So naturally we came to Canada.

Yours very truly,
"WELL WISHER."

QUALITY VS. QUANTITY

Sir: The sting of the scorpion is to be found in its tail, like-wise the sting of your editorial of Feb. 9 is to be found in its ending paragraph Quality vs. Quantity! Will Canada wake up to a true sense of values while there is yet time to cover her nakedness with the broad stripes of the Union Jack? It has often been quoted that a country, like a chain, is as strong as its weakest link, in Canada— the strong are so frantically busy producing a quanity of new links there is no time to pause and make strong the weak ones. Last week talking on these lines to one of your more advanced citizens, "Yes" he would admit the weakness. Yes," he agreed it left a wide open door for the Communist to walk in "but what could I do about it? I am only one man, who would listen to me?" To my quiet reply that Christ was only one man, but the whole world still listens to His Words! He gave a dispairing fling of his hands, and muttering its impossible to argue with a woman," fled—probably to produce more quantity—when there was a man capable of producing quality.

Canada why will you not wake up to the fact that your glorious country will be destroyed unless you heed the warning and turn from quantity to quality.

After all, I seem to remember even a Scotch Canadian had to go peddle his wares in England to obtain appreciation of its quality; could be sheer lack of quantity kept the Canadian markets closed to him!

OPPOSES BALLOON SCHEME

Sir: I am writing in reply to a letter signed, "A High School Student," printed in your excellent paper on Wednesday Feb. 11th. I, also, am a High School teenager and as this particular letter deals with how the high schools can take their part in the coming Coronation ceremonies, I can rightfully say that its contents are of some concern to me. Now, the first requisite in this matter, as in most matters, is a certain degree of common sense; and I must say that if our High School correspondent evinces a conspicious lack of it in what he writes. I do not say this in a spirit of ridicule. Goodness knows, I myself, was never famous for this unique quality. However, when a person, no matter how commendable his intention, proposes that the city be flooded with balloons—"multi-coloured" ones at that and what is more, balloons purchased by us, the student body of the city, I believe the situation is taking an obviously ridiculous tone. The suggestion that posters be painted and a parade arranged, with the High School students as the principle participants, smacks of this same ill-considered quality. If the first idea was not so quixotic, do not think even momentarily, that I would begrudge the measly dime or so, proposed to be collected from each student in order to purchase these balloons. That is not the point, and I would even add, that any student who would object to it is a downright miser. My objection is simply this. All these suggestions require time if they are to be carried out with an effectiveness and a dignity befitting the great occasion. And this commodity, just about that time of year will be about as scarce as gold with examinations so monstrously imminent. I hope the reader will not interpret these remarks as coming from some unpatriotic individual with nothing else to do but criticise the ideas of his fellow-students. I believe all the High Schools should contribute in some capacity to the success of the coming festivities. But let us plan something more in keeping with the great significance of the occasion. Let us show taste and moderation and, above all, a little common sense. Thanking you for your space.

Yours truly,
JAMES CLARKE,

SEEKS ADVICE ABOUT PLANT

Sir: Could anyone please let me know through the columns of your valuable paper how to care for a plant called Crown of Thorns? Mine seems to be growing and is budded for bloom but the leaves are turning yellow and dropping off until there are about half the leaves gone.

Thanking you, I remain,
Sincerely,
INDOOR GARDENER.

ED. NOTE.—We think the plant may be getting too much water; has any reader a suggestion to make?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version).

And Saul said to him. Whose son art thou, thou young man? And David answered, I am the son of thy servant Jesse the Beth-lehemite. (I Sam. 17: 58).

❖ ❖ ❖

And it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking, unto Saul, that the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul .... And David went out whithersoever Saul sent him, and behaved himself wisely: and Saul set him over the men of war, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Saul's servants.

And it came to pass as they came, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, that the women came out of all cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet king Saul, with tabrets, with joy, and with instruments of musick. And the women answered one another, as they played, and said, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.

And Saul was very wroth, and the saying displeased him; and he said, They have ascribed unto David ten thousands and to me they have ascribed but thousands: and what can he have more but the kingdom? And Saul eyed David from that day forward. (I Sam. 18: 1, 5-9.)

❖ ❖ ❖

But Jonathan Saul's son delighted much in David: and Jonathan told David, saying Saul my father seeketh to kill thee: now therefore, I pray them, take heed to thyself until the morning, and abide in a secret place, and hide thyself. ....And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father, and said unto him Let not the king sin against his servant, against David; because he hath not sinned against thee, and because his works have been to thee-ward very good. (1 Sam. 19: 2, 4.)

❖ ❖ ❖

A man that hath friends must shew himself friendly: and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother. (Prov. 18: 24.)

Sale Of Canadian Lumber Appears Good For 1953

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The prospect for the over-all sales of Canadian lumber during 1953 appears good, says Foreign Trade, publication of the department of trade and commerce.

The current issue, devoted almost entirely to the Canadian lumber industry and its various world markets, says:

"There is every indication that a reduction in exports to the United Kingdom will be largely offset by increased domestic and United States sales and, to a lesser extent, by increased exports to other markets.

"Preliminary estimates indicate that the 1953 production of lumber in Canada will approximate that of 1952."

LARGER FAIR

Offices of the Canadian International Trade Fair state that with 3½ months yet to go, the fair is already larger than ever before.

So far, exhibitors from 17 countries have taken a total of almost 195,000 square feet of space and bookings yet to come are expected to add another 50,000 square feet.

Canadian products will cover about 125,000 square feet. Britain is making a stronger showing than last year, particularly in the machine tool section. Machine tools will also be the strongest field of German exhibitors.

Other countries expected are France, Belgium, Japan, Austria, Ireland and India. The United States, also a major exhibitor, will specialize in construction and material-handling equipment.

The fair dates are June 1-12, in Toronto.

NEW AIR SERVICE

Air France, announcing plans at a press reception in Toronto, says it will shortly operate new Super-Constellations over the Atlantic and jet services between Paris and the Near East. A traveller leaving Montreal at 7 p. m. will arrive in Paris at noon the next day, in Rome 2½ hours later, and in Cairo in time for tea.

INVADE MARKET

An invasion of the Canadian small-car market is under way by the German Volkswagen. After a two-month survey of the market, Werner Jansen, managing director of Volkswagen (Canada) Limited, with head offices in Toronto, has left for Western Canada to establish sales' depots and appoint dealers.

Old Chess Set For Sale At University

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 700-year-old ivory chess set, once used by Indian princes in matches for women, land and money, is among the $100,000 worth of items on sale at the University of Western Ontario today.

Delicately-carved ivory, textiles, tapestries and brass handicraft, representing some of India's finest arts, are included in the exhibition, sponsored by the World University Students of Canada.

All except two of the items are for sale and Western students said that after the exhibition has toured most Canadian universities the proceeds will feed 150,000 Indians for four months. Some $27,000 worth of handicrafts have been sold, netting a little less than $10,000.

The chess set, priced at $3,900, was sometimes used by rulers to settle matters of state. The two items not for sale are two caskets given to Canadian students by the Maharaja of Mysore. One is carved in silver and gold and valued at $25,000 and the other is made of sandalwood, sacred wood of the Hindus, and valued at $1,800.

The sale moves to the University of Toronto Saturday.

Historic Bridge

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—Suggestion that the famous old covered bridge at West Montrose, 15 miles west of here, be kept intact and converted into a district museum was made at a meeting of old-timers here. It is believed the only covered bridge remaining in Ontario but is scheduled to be torn down as a danger to traffic.

LOGS FOR PAPER—A workman loads logs from the pulpwood forests of the Gatineau valley near Ottawa. Woodsmen follow pre-marked trails during the winter season felling trees. They are cut into four-foot logs and stacked on the sides of paths for picking up by horse and sleigh teams to be hauled to the highways. Trucks take them to frozen lakes where they wait the spring thaw and log drive to the pulp and paper mills.—(Malak Photo).

Had Amnesia Forgets He Has Wife

HALIFAX (CP)—Laurent Dube, the Quebec salesman who disappeared two years ago and turned up this week apparently suffering from amnesia, left Thursday for Quebec and the wife he says he can't remember.

The 32-year-old wax salesman, who found employment as a male nurse here two weeks after his battered car was found near a Shediac, N.B., bridge, was shocked and bewildered when informed Wednesday that he was already married.

COURTING NURSE

He met a nurse here and has been courting her.

"My wife?" he asked. "Nobody told me I was married."

He was married 4½ years ago. The couple had no children.

Dube was believed dead until RCMP officials received a tip that a man answering his description was working in a hospital under the name of Paul Dupuis.

Fingerprints showed that Dupuis and Dube were the same person. But Dube said he could remember nothing beyond waking up in a Truro hotel two years ago with $38 and no identification in his pockets.

Canadian Jet Trainer Turned Over To Claxton

MONTREAL (CP) — The first Canadian-built T-33 jet trainer, Silver Star No. 1, was turned over Thursday to Defence Minister Claxton.

The ceremony was held at the plant of Canadair, Ltd., which will produce more than 500 of the two-seater, 600-mile-an-hour craft for the RCAF. The minister officially accepted the ship from J. Geoffrey Notman, president and general manager of Canadair.

Mr. Claxton said:

"Production of the T-33 and the Nene (engines to be produced in the Rolls-Royce Montreal plant) will give us for the first time in our flying history, either in peace or in war, a complete group of fighters and trainers and engines all made in Canada."

Asks Information About Pole

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel) said in the Commons Thursday that the government should give information about a mysterious Pole who became a naturalized Canadian, returned to Poland and then got expense payments from the Canadian government while attempting to return to this country.

Mr. Graydon said the payments are mentioned in the annual report of auditor-general Watson Sellar. His passage back to Poland was paid by the Polish government. Then he applied for a Polish exit visa to return to Canada and the Canadian government paid his hotel, meals and other expenses while he waited in Warsaw.

The payments had continued even after the Polish government refused the exit visa.

The matter was one that should be investigated by the House external affairs committee.

Ships To Sail Early

SARNIA (CP)—One of the earliest openings of navigation on record was foreseen here Thursday by marine authorities in the wake of an unusually open winter. A heavy influx of crews returning to Imperial Oil tankers here following annual holidays came this week, said Capt. F. C. Smith, marine superintendent for the company fleet. All crews will have returned by the second week in March.

Woman Testifies From Stretcher

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Norman Quinlan, 37, wife of one of three men charged in connection with the Nov. 12 attempt by two masked men to rob a bank, was brought to court Thursday on a stretcher to testify on her husband's behalf.

The case is expected to go to the Supreme Court jury today.

Evidence in the four-day trial was completed when Norman Quinlan, 41, testified he had no knowledge of the contents of a "hide-away" compartment in his home.

Mrs. Quinlan, recovering from an operation, corroborated her husband's testimony. She was brought to court in an ambulance.

Quinlan, Arthur McKay, 24, Windsor, and Robert Woods, 27, alias Sidney Clewes, Toronto, were charged with attempted robbery two days after two men wearing rubber masks fled empty-handed from a branch of the Bank of Commerce.

Food Stocks Dwindle On Amherst Island

BATH, Ont. (CP)—Food stocks are dwindling on nearby Amherst Island as treacherous ice between the island and this village, about 12 miles west of Kingston, keeps communication to the occasional pedestrian or skater.

Ferry service, normal method of communication, was discontinued Feb. 1 and since then island residents report their food supplies declining steadily.

Three youths who attempted to push a cutter the three miles to the island to bring an elderly woman to the mainland gave up after the cutter broke through the ice.

On Tuesday, two men dared the ice to take a veterinarian to the island. On Wednesday, however, a cutter loaded with cream broke through and no further crossings were attempted.

BRADFORD (CP)—The Holland Marsh branch of the Netherlands flood relief fund has raised more than $12,000. West Gwillimbury township council voted unanimously to contribute $500 while a dozen Bradford business men have contributed $1,300. Money-raising projects are under way throughout Simcoe county and committee chairman George Horlings said the $100,000 objective is assured.

Marines, Aces, Shamrocks Win City Championships Move Into OMHA Playoffs

Outboard Marines juveniles, the Martin-Hewitt (Aces) Midgets and the Shamrock bantams won the various city minor hockey league championships Thursday at the Civic arena. At the same time they won the right to enter the OMHA playdowns in the juvenile, midget and bantam "A" classes and are expected to start play shortly.

The Marines carried a five-goal lead into the second game, thanks to a 7-2 win last week, and that lead was never threatened by the Aces who fell Thursday 6-1. Thtt gave the Marines the series 13-3.

Unassisted, McGillen and Pearson put the Marines ahead 2-0 in the first period. Then in the second John Cupoli, helped by Dodds, and Pearson again, assisted by Hunt, sent the score up to 4-0.

Ball made the score 5-0 at the five-minute mark of the third before the Aces' Wasson grabbed a loose puck to score. Corbett ended the scoring at the 14 minute mark for the Marines, coached by Bert Hill.

The midget game was one of the season's best minor games. But the Shamrocks were finally downed 3-2 by the Aces who took the series 8-3 by virtue of a 5-1 victory in the first game a week ago.

The teams battled for nearly 37 minutes before the first goal, by the Shamrocks' Brown from Ferren, was scored. But two minutes later the Aces' Heffernan tied the score and with 50 seconds to go in the second the Aces took the lead 2-1 on a goal by Kane, with Heffernan's help.

But before four minutes were over in the third the score was tied once more as Ferren tallied. But six minutes later Rusaw sank the winning counter.

Shamrock bantams a week ago waltzed through the Swartz bantams to the tune of 13-2. They waltzed again Thursday night, but this time to score of 12-3, taking the series by 25-5.

From the start the result was a foregone conclusion. Darling scored twice while singles went to Daly and Mahoney for the Shamrocks in the first period. They were answered by a solo effort by Patterson.

O'Connell, Baker, Mahoney, Lonsberry and Stewart tallied for the Shamrocks in the second and this time the Swartz kids didn't answer.

The third period was the best. But again on goals by Darling, Baker and Stewart the Shamrocks outscored the Swartz team 3-2 as Hendry and Kelin scored.

NOW FOR THE ONTARIO CHAMPIONSHIP—Peterborough's minor hockey league championships were decided Thursday night, the juvenile to Marines, the midget to Aces, and the bantams to Shamrocks. The three teams will now enter OMHA playdowns. John Cupoli, Joe O'Brien and Coach Bert Hill of the Marines scan the scoresheet after defeating the Aces 6-1 in the juvenile game.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Quebec Rink Has No Jinxes

By BARRY WEST

MONTREAL (CP)—If there's a sophomore jinx in curling, the schoolboy rink from Pointe Claire, Que., has never heard of it.

The quartet from Montreal's Lakeshore topped a field of six teams to win the Quebec provincial curling championship Jan. 24 and the right to represent Quebec in the Dominion schoolboy curling championship at Saskatoon Feb. 16-21.

Playing together for the second year, the team includes Richard Bebee, 15, lead, Jack Mersereau, 16, second, Warren Robb, 16, third, and Graeme McMurray, skip.

"It is our second year together and we have none of those jinxes supposed to affect hockey players," McMurray said.

The boys began curling three years ago. Ivan Stockwell, superintendent of schools in Pointe Claire and Beaconsfield, has been their coach and will accompany them to Saskatoon.

Bebee, Mersereau and Robb are hockey players while McMurray plays basketball. They dropped the other sports to give full time to curling this year.

W. Stanbury Leads

W. Stanbury hit high triple of 887 and D. O'Cononr top single of 366 in the Major Bowling League, Bickell's leading teams with 3780, including a single effort of 1403. They blanked Herb's, as McLeod's applied the brush to Brewers, and Revenoors did likewise to Deeth & White. The 5-2 wins went to Burtol, Plaza, UE, Clapper, Examiner, OPP, Wonder and Silents over Edwards, Crowley, Cherney, Selkirk, Hollingsworth, Sunshine, Irwin-Godson, and E & B. Odeon took Studebaker 4-3.

Good scores were: D. Abraham (303) 786, J. McKenzie 758, E. Reynolds (310) 750, F. Hurley 702, A. Hunter 721, C. Signorotti 730, H. Killen (305) 799, J. Wilson (303) 706, G. Doherty 705, R. Bennett 709, M. Doris 722, G. Walton (310) 773, A. Basciano 730, H. Roberts 709, W. Boon 715, E. Downer 748, G. Findlay 713, G. Stevens 781, E. Amyotte 751, D. O'Connor 788, D. Leether 708, G. Young 709, and F. O'Toole 783.

Ollie Searles High

Ollie Searles had high three of 698 this week in the YM senior girls' bowling circuit, as Shirley Marshall rolled top single of 276, followed by Dorothy Woods with 271, Mary Morton 260, Betty Pogue 254, Addie Jackson 251, O. Searles 245, P. Menard 244 and M. Gimblett 241. Good threes included: M. Morton 691, A. Jackson 664, S. Marshall 663, D. Woods 661, Nan Moffatt 647, Mary Flaherty 609, and M. Menzies 600.

Aces and Bombers whitewashed Corvettes and Hurricanes in that order. Commandos took four points from Tigers, with Lucky Strikes taking four over Glens. Four teams are again tied for the top four spots in the loop, Aces and Lucky Strikes for first and second, with Glens and Commandos for third and fourth.

King Edward Wins

King Edward intermediates of the school hockey circuit took a 3-1 win Thursday over Central at the arena. It was a speedy and pretty even game with both sides showing well. Finnie counted two and Elmsley one for the victors, Finning and Meredith each getting an assist. Vilneff scored from Lang for the losers. There was but one penalty. Teams:

King Edward: Waldie, Rogers, Smith, Meredith, Finnie, Elmsley, Hunter, Outram, Lumbard, Jenkins, Stanbury, Pound, Warner.

Willie Logan of Saint John, N.B., dominated the Canadian indoor speed-skating championships at the Montreal Forum 19 years ago tonight. He won the 220-, 440- and 800-yard events and then captured the three-mile for a point total twice as great as his nearest rival, Leo Friesinger of Chicago.

Marlene Stewart Wins Berth In Finals

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Medallists Marlene Stewart, Fonthill, Ont., and Hobart Manley, Savannah, Ga., grabbed an easy berth in the finals of the Everglades Club mixed foursomes golf tournament Thursday with a 6-and-5 win over Edean Anderson, Helena, Mont., and Art Ruffin, Wilson, N.C.

The other spot in today's 18-hole final was taken by Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Tex., and J. Wolcott Brown, Manasquan, N.J. They defeated Barbara Romack, Sacramento, Calif., and W. A. Pagan, West Palm Beach.

Miss Stewart and Manley were one over par for the 13 holes of their match.

May's Lads Victors

May's juniors blanked Queen Mary 2-0 yesterday at the arena in a tidy public school hockey fixture. Both goals were scored by Grant of the winners, though each team in turn had some good chances but were turned back by stellar netminding. The winners drew the only penalty of the match. Teams:

May's: G. Park, Grant, Hamilton, Hutchison, Bell, Armour, Johnston, Hopkins, J. Park, Snelgrove.

Queen Mary: Bacon, Kearns, Bischof, Clark, Pilling, Sturgeon, Freeburn, Bruce, Currie, Ponton, Hill, Breckenridge, Horton, Banks.

Referee, L. Corbett.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

Rocking back in his swivel chair, Bob Peirson, Timbermen president, said with ease, "It'll be the best lacrosse team ever assembled in Peterborough."

That's his prediction for this year as the Timbermen endeavor to chalk up their third consecutive Dominion title.

Although they were Canadian champions last year, the club president is the first to admit there were a lot of holes in the Timbermen's offence and defence. Over telephones and behind locked doors the executive has been gathering more of Ontario's best players.

Naturally with the signing date well in the future, the club isn't even hinting the names of players they are after. Releases are hard things to obtain when clubs don't want their players to leave.

Jerry Fitzgerald Will Be Playing Defence

But this is for sure. Big Jerry Fitzgerald will be back on defence and he'll be played the whole season. Not attending the Ontario College of Education, Fitz will be looking for a job teaching; he hopes to teach in the Peterborough area.

Top rookie in the B.C. league last season, Jim Heffernan will be in Timbermen's lineup this year. He'll be trying for positions along with former juniors Rock Batley, Red Robinson and Bev Groves.

With the juniors, the old players and the unmentionables, the Peterborough club will definitely be stronger than last year.

At the same time other clubs are scrambling madly for players to bolster the 1952 line. With a possible nine teams this year, players will be scarce.

BOB PIERSON and BOB THORPE

Hamilton will be rebuilding, emphasizing youth along with a few veterans. St. Catharines' youth program of last year will be helped by the addition of Hamilton Tigers' goalie, Dou Favell. (That's right, he's left the Tigers).

Toronto West Yorks (if they get over rumored financial difficulties), Fergus, Mimico and Owen Sound have joined the player hunt.

Brampton Will Return To Senior 'A' Company

Here's something new. Brampton will definitely be back this year. Walter Smart assured me today that the club will be entered this year, built around last year's juniors and former Brampton players. No coach as yet has been named.

Archie Browning anw Whitey Severson, top scorers on the west coast last year with 107 points each, will be back with Brampton. They'll be joined by New Westminster's Lou Landess, plus a number of Huntsville players.

As far as Orillia's concerned, Harry Wilson, club president, said, "Nobody knows yet." There's two schools of thought there: one is not enough money for senior "A" and too strong for senior "B" or intermediate.

There'll be a meeting in Orillia next week to decide just what's what.

With more clubs in the league and the playoffs for the Mann Cup beginning September 14 in the West, the seniors will start earlier, likely around May 1. It'll also mean two and three games a week to get the schedule over by August 1 in order to give time for Eastern Canada playoffs.

Big Moon Would Fill the Whole Goal

One talked-of rule change is causing quite a laugh in the Timbermen camp. That's the one to make the goal, four-foot square. Why, big Moon Wootton can fill that size without any effort.

Another possible change, suggested but unlikely, is six players instead of seven. Coach Bob Thorpe and president Peirson hesitate before discussing that change, but appear to think fewer players will speed the game up.

"In the Gardens that number would be just a handful," said Coach Bob.

There'll be drastic changes in the junior club and the minor association. First, Lou Vitarelli, junior coach, says he'll not be with the club this year. Second, there's a good chance there'll be a new minor league coach.

Harry (The Whip) Wipper will be back however. The McGill University student is planning a trip to Europe, and this will bring him to Peterborough in July, too late to start coaching the kids.

The club's policy has been to hire a lacrosse player attending college to each the youngsters. They've selected their man already. The minor coach will also play senior, but again he's one of the unmentionables.

The Timbermen expect to fill Miller Bowl for every game and have designed a new seating plan. The reserve seats have been doubled and now include the centre of both sides. They're on sale. (That's an advt.)

Orfuns Hunt For Coach, May Get Gnup

Peterborough Orfuns are coaching-hunting again. Without Tony Kotowski, who led the Orfuns to the Canadian intermediate football finals last fall, the Orfuns now are looking over the coaching field in Canada and the United States for a successor.

At present the most probable successor is Frank Gnup who coached the Orfuns in 1951 and who coached the Brantford senior ORFU entry last fall.

Dr. Donald Aitken, of the Orfuns' executive, said today that Gnup will give the Orfuns a definite answer probably around March 1. Much depends upon Gnup's success in the senior ORFU coaching field. Until he hears something definite there, the Orfuns will wait.

At the same time the Orfuns are still looking elsewhere and have approached Wally Masters, former Ottawa Roughrider mentor. Last season he helped coach the Ottawa intermediate club which was defeated by Montreal Lakeshores. Several times last summer Masters was mentioned as possible Orfun coach.

MAY INVADE U.S.

Just in case Gnup and Masters refuse the Orfuns' offer, Dr. Aitken said, "the Orfuns may have to go to the States again" for a coach. They have feelers out now.

Last season's coach, Tony Kotowski, announced after the Canadian final that he hoped to play this year rather than coach. At that time he had been approached by the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

This year the Orfuns hope to enter a five-team league in a separate grouping which may be called senior B or intermediate A. This grouping will include the more powerful clubs now intermediate, such as the Orfuns, Cobourg, Kitchener, Oakville and another entry.

This year there are six new intermediate clubs, Belleville, Balmy Beach Canoe Club, Toronto Notre Dame, Oakville, Welland, and possibly Stratford. The clubs in intermediate last year were: Kingston, Oshawa, Cobourg, Ryerson, East York, Hamilton, Kitchener, Sarnia and the Orfuns.

Dr. Aitken said that there will be nothing definite on the groupings until June.

Bill Bewley Wins Johnny Copp Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—Halfback Bill Bewley of the University of Toronto Blues Thursday was named winner of the Johnny Copp Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to Varsity's outstanding football player.

The 22-year-old veteran of three years in intercollegiate football is a graduate of Saltfleet high school near Hamilton. He was captain of the 1952 Varsity team.

The trophy is to perpetuate the memory of Varsity footballer Johnny Copp, shot and killed by a thug in 1933. The players vote it to the member of the team they judge worthiest by virtue of sportsmanship, character and playing ability.

Martell Rolls 368

Vern Hopkins led lasses in the Mercantile Bowling League earlier this week with high single of 277 and best threesome of 812. Jack Martell was tops for men with a 368 single effort and an 822 triple. Empress rolled high pinnage for teams with a 3,119 try. They blanked A & P No. 2, as the brush was also applied by Braund's over East City, Nichols against Crowe's, and by Prudential over A & P No. 1. Austin's won 3-1 from Neill's.

Standing has Braund's on top with 52 points and 16 extras, Austin's 42 and five, Neill's 38 and 11, Empress 50 and 16, Nichols 47 and 11, A & P No. 2 with nine and one, Crowe's 34 and eight, Prudential 31 and three, East City 23 and 12, A & P No. 1 with 33 and seven. Jack Martell's 368 is high for the year so far, with Harold Page leading men in triples with 833. For ladies, Elsie Penrose has high single of 338, and Gladys Hamilton top three of 855.

Saints Lose District Title As Port Perry Wins 74-62 Take Round By 140-117 Score

St. Peter's High will have to wait until next year for a senior "B" championship in COSSA basketball. For Thursday night at the SPS gym the senior Saints, coached by John Lynch, lost the lakeshore district honors to Port Perry High as they lost the second game of the home and home series 74-62. Earlier this week the Port quintet won the first game 66-55, giving them the points-to-count round 140-117. The Ports now advance into further COSSA play.

In exhibition games earlier this season, the Saints, without too much difficulty, scored two wins over the Port Perry quintet. But by the same margin the Saints beat the Ports, about 11, the Ports beat the Saints in the important games. Those exhibitions had established the Saints as favorites.

For a while Thursday the Saints appeared to be able to overcome the 11-point deficit. But they lapsed into a stage of poor rebounding and thoughtless passing. The underdog Ports grabbed the opportunity to again take the lead and keep it.

The referees cracked down on both teams for the slightest infraction and both teams capitalized on their free throws. But the Saints suffered the most, losing first starry Jack Richardson late in the first half and then Terry O'Leary late in the game. The Ports lost Owen but too late to benefit the Saints.

Doug Galvin and Fred Legros helped the Saints to a 15-14 first quarter score as Lawrence and Waloinsperger kept the Ports in the game. But Lawrence was joined by Owen in the second quarter when the Saints faded and the Ports jumped ahead 29-24 at the half.

Ab Ryan helped the Saints' cause in the third quarter and his teammates cashed in on free throws as the Saints again outscored the Ports 21-19. But Lawrence and Peel rallied the Port quintet in the final quarter and they pulled away slowly to the 12-point lead.

The Ports' Lawrence sank 26 points as top scorer while teammate Owen had 18. The Saints' best was Galvin with 19.

Lineups:

Port Perry (74)—Waloinsperger 6, Haugen 4, Lawrence 26, Robertson, Owen 18, Warriner 7, Peel 6, Dobson 7, Kendall.

St. Peter's High (62)—Galvin 19, Ryan 13, O'Leary 6, Legros 9, Richardson 3, McTeague 2, Braniff, Newell, Quinlan 10, Creally.

Campbelford Takes Win From Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Campbellford took a 9-6 TVL win over Lakefield here Wednesday night in a keen contest. The homsters drew four of the nine penalties. The count was 3-3 in the first frame as Lakefield goals were tallied by Birch, and two by R. Calberry, with Knox and Henry each getting an assist. Wilson counted a pair and Jeffs one for Campbellford. Lonsberry had a goal and an assist next heat for Lakefield, Wasson getting a marker, and Birch aiding on one. For the visitors, Simpson got two, and Taylor and Wilson one each, an assist apiece going to Jeffs, Brown, Payne and Wilson. Millar scored from P. Calberry and R. Calberry in the third, but Campbellford replied with two, Blake on a solo and Wilson from Simpson. Teams:

Campbellford: Goal, Nelson; defence, Eady, Baker; centre, Simpson; wings, Jeffs, Wilson; alternates, Payne, Cole, Reid, Blake, Herrington, Pace, Brown.

Lakefield: Goal, Wingett; defence, Marshall, Millar; centre, Birch; wings, Lonsberry, Knox; alternates, Wasson, Jopling, Henry, R. Calberry, P. Calberry, Sabatino.

Referees: R. Garden and R. Scriver.

Black's To Enter Hoop Finals Against Toronto

Peterborough's intermediate basketball teams, Black's, coached by Phil Macks, and the Marines coached by Doug McPherson, will enter provincial playdowns within the next two weeks.

Black's have been notified that they will meet the Toronto and district winner February 25 and 28 in a home-and-home series, points-to-count. The girls, if they win, will then meet the winner of the western district for the Southern Ontario championship, the winner then meeting the Northern Ontario winner for the all-Ontario championship.

The Marines open their first playoff next Wednesday against the Eastern Ontario winner. Belleville or Trenton will play off to meet the Kingston-Brockville district winner, for the right to meet the Marines. The first game in the Marines series will be away and then back in Peterborough a week Saturday.

This Saturday the Marines play another exhibition game at St. Peters' High gym against the Toronto YMCA seniors.

Wings Drop 3-1 Decision To Boston Bruins; Canadiens Upset Hawks 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The rookies who led Montreal Canadiens into last year's Stanley Cup finals but seemed to fizzle out as sophomores this National Hockey League season are once again lifting the heights. In Chicago Thursday night it was Dick Gamble with two goals and Dickie Moore with one who gave the Montrealers a 3-2 decision over the Black Hawks. The victory moved the Canadiens to within three points of the league-leading Detroit Red Wings, who dropped a 3-1 decision to Boston Bruins. The two points hoisted Boston into a fourth-place dead-lock with the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

Chicago opened the scoring against Montreal when Sid Finney, up from Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League, came through at 5:18, only to have Gamble pot his first goal 12 seconds later.

Gamble scored again in the second session, then Moore scored what became the winning goal. Jim Peters hit for the Hawks' last goal in the closing minutes of the period.

MACKELL FOR BRUINS

Fleming Mackell provided the Bruins with their punch as he tallied twice against Detroit, his first in the opening period and his second in the middle session.

Reg Sinclair scored Detroit's lone goal midway through the first period. Joe Klukay clinched the decision for Boston.

The loss was Detroit's first in eight games. It also marked the third straight clash in which Gordie Howe, the NHL's top scorer, has gone without a goal. He is trying for his 200th marker.

Think Oshawa Will Take Curling Title

OSHAWA CP)—Four Oshawa collegiate students leave this weekend for Saskatoon to represent Ontario in the annual Canadian schoolboys curling championship the week of Feb. 16.

The Oshawa boys, who have curled together as a rink for three years, twice finished as runners-up in Ontario playoffs. They won the provincial schoolboy title here last Jan. 24 by defeating Lindsay, 1952 champions.

Veteran curling observers predict Oshawa will take the Dominion championship. They claim no Ontario rink in past competition has had a better chance.

The Oshawa foursome—Bob Walker, 18, Duncan Brodie, 17, Clare Peacock, 16, and George MacGregor, 19—has practised for many hours and competed against Oshawa's best adult rinks to perfect their game.

STARTED AT 11

Walker, the skip, started curling when he was 11. He curled in competition the following year, and when he was 13 he joined the Oshawa Senior club.

He was the youngest competitor in the first schoolboy bonspiel in Guelph in 1948, and a member of the Oshawa rink that won the Governor-General's Cup in 1951.

His rink now holds four trophies: the Lindsay, Toronto and Oshawa Schoolboy Cups, and the Empire Life Association Trophy, emblematic of the 1953 Ontario schoolboy championship.

Brodie has been vice-skip of the rink since it was formed. He began playing three years ago and has developed into a deadly "broom man" whose smooth delivery and accuracy is a great asset.

Peacock, the rink's second stoneman, also has been curling for three years. For the last two, he has been a member of the Oshawa Senior Curling Club.

MacGregor, also a three-year curler, has been lead of the rink since it was formed.

Expect La Starza To Open Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Roland La Starza is expected to throw some of his caution aside tonight in a bold bid to knock out Rex Layne and earn a title shot this summer.

The 24-year-old Layne, No. 3 heavyweight contender from Lewiston, Utah, and the 25-year-old La Starza, ranked No. 4, meet in a Madison Square Garden 10-rounder. The 10 p.m. EST bout will be televised across the country.

La Starza is rated a 7-to-5 choice to whip Layne. The winner is almost certain to earn a shot at the winner of the April 10 title bout between champion Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott.

Wallace And Fifield Plan New Bout

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Wallace of Brantford and Billy Fifield of Toronto will meet here in a bout for the Canadian light-heavyweight boxing championship late this month or early in March.

The Canadian Boxing Federation will sanction the 12-round bout, stripping the title from Eddie Zastre of Winnipeg and Montreal who failed to defend it within the stipulated 60 days. He won it from Tiger Warrington of Kentville, N.S., last June.

Here And There In Sports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Chuck Connors has made his decision. He'll try for hits in the movies instead of on the baseball diamond.

That became official Thursday when the rangy first baseman sent his application for voluntary retirement to President Don Stewart of Los Angeles Angels. He played for Montreal Royals in the International League three years ago.

A former major leaguer with Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs, Connors figures at 32 he's reached the twilight of a professional sports career that included basketball as well as baseball.

At present the tall slugger plays the role of Burt Lancaster's pal and Virginia Mayo's sweetheart in "Sulu Sea." That's his fifth part since he parlayed an after-dinner rendition of "Casey at the Bat" and his baseball activities into a movie tryout.

In baseball last season, Connors was handicapped by a shoulder injury and hit for only .259. In 1949 he hit 20 homers for Montreal.

Italy Refuses To Join Balkan Entente

ROME (AP) — Italy is making it plain these days that she has no intention of entering the "open door" to be left for her in the Balkan entente Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia are reported framing.

Her old quarrel with Yugoslavia over Trieste is the reason.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi told the Senate committee on foreign affairs Thursday that Italy does not and could not oppose any such Balkan agreement.

But until Italy and Yugoslavia settle their quarrels, the effectiveness of such a Balkan pact will be lessened, he was quoted as saying.

WILLING TO SETTLE

De Gasperi then went on to report Italy's willingness to settle the Trieste question by bilateral agreement with Yugoslavia on ethnic lines. Yugoslavia already has rejected this idea. At present the disputed area is a so-called free territory, part occupied by Anglo-American forces and part by Yugoslavia.

Informed sources say that actually Italy is even cooler to the pact than De Gasperi's words indicated. Top-level Italian feeling is reported to be going through a particularly strong anti-Yugoslav phase as the result of Yugoslav Marshal Tito's rupture of diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

23 Convicted For Treason

VIENNA (AP) — A military court in Red-ruled Romania rendered spy and treason convictions Thursday night against 23 Romanian oil experts and a former cabinet minister accused of slowing down production consigned to Russia. The formal charges were high treason and spying for Western powers.

The finance minister of pre-Communist days in Romania and five of the oil men were sentenced to life in prison or lif eat hard labor in camps. The verdicts and sentences were announced on Bucharest radio.

The group was alleged to have deliberately slowed down development of Romania's post-war oil industry, now devoting 95 per cent of output to Russia.

Several of the accused told the court they delivered information to members of the British embassy.

Alexander Alexandrini, pro-Communist minister of finance, is among the three sentenced to life in labor camp.

Three-Day School For Ball Coaches

BRANTFORD (CP)—A three-day baseball school for coaches which attracted more than 60 mentors from all over Ontario concluded here Wednesday.

Greg Mulleavy, scout instructor for Brooklyn Dodgers, said it was the first school of its kind. Acting as instructor, he said schools for coaches are held in U.S. high schools and colleges, but never any for amateur coaches.

West Indies Beats India By 142 Runs

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (Reuters)—The West Indies Thursday beat India by 142 runs with more than a day to spare in the second match of a current cricket test series here. The first test was drawn.

The Indians were well placed to win when the fifth day's play began. But they lost their last seven second-innings wickets for only 75 runs and were all out for 129.

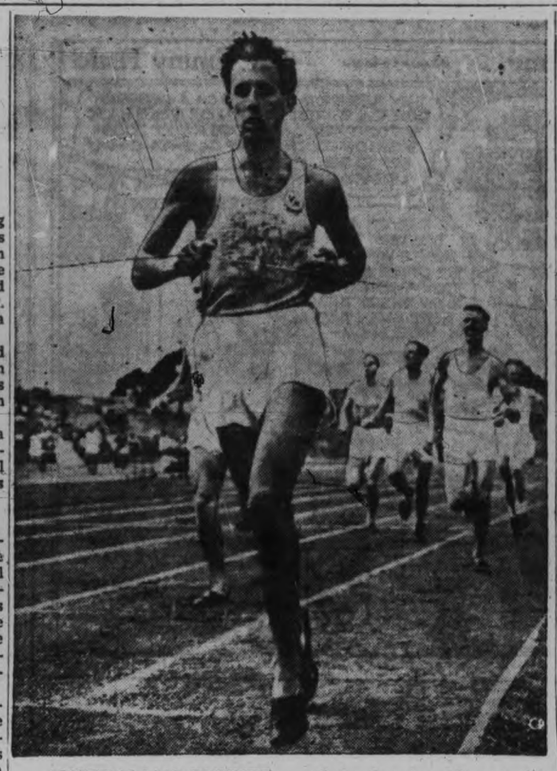
Final scores: West Indies 296 and 228; India 253 and 129.

The third in the five-match series begins in Trinidad next week.

Havelock Victors

HAVELOCK (ENS). — Havelock eliminated Stirling last night in the OMHA Juvenile C series playoffs on home ice by a score of 10-1. A fair crowd of fans was in attendance. The Havelock forward line of Paranuik, Chase and Ruttan was effective with 10 points. Paranuik was top scorer with four goals. B. Laing accounted for three goals for the locals. His third goal, which was the last one of the game, scored at the 16:09 mark, was a spectacular effort as he carried the puck the full length of the ice to land it in the net. Chase scored a goal in the second period for Havelock while his team was shorthanded. He stole the puck from the Stirling defence and went through to score.

The line-ups:



Stirling — Goal, Ray; defence, Munroe, Montgomery; centre, McMurray; wings, Williams, Hagerman; alternates, M. McGee, G. McGee, Ducette, Kingston, Anderson, Scott, Parks, Ackers.

Havelock — Goal, Stackhouse; defence, Drummond, Revoy; centre, B. Laing; wings, R. Pollock, Buchanan; alternates, Paranuik, Chase, Hickey, MacMillan, Ruttan, Logan, Ruttan, Anderson.

B. Flint of Peterborough was referee, and H. Hunter of Havelock the linesman.

PLAN JUNIOR SKI MEET

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—The first Canadian junior ski championships will be held at the Fort William Ski Club on the slopes of Mount McKay March 7-8, it was announced Thursday. The meet, sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, offers prizes for provincial team and individual events. The winning team will be awarded a trophy emblematic of the Canadian junior championship.

AUSTRALIAN RUNNER — John Landy, 22-year-old Melbourne University student, is one of the world's top middle-distance runners. He slashed 14.4 seconds off the Australian two-mile mark recently, completing the distance in nine minutes, 1.2 seconds. The time was 20.8 seconds off the world mark set by Belgium's Gaston Reiff. A few days after the two-mile race, Landy won the Victorian mile championship in the comparatively slow time of 4:11. It was far behind Gunder Haegg's world mark of 4:01.4 and his own 4:02.2 set at Melbourne in 1952.

Keene Juves Victors Against Minden, 8-4

KEENE (ENS). — With Orv. Colby playing a star role in the nets the Keene juveniles took the first game of their second round OMHA playdowns with Minden by 8 to 4 at Keene in a good, fast game on hard ice. Both teams turned it on from the start and kept the pace right through. The game was allowed to get out of hand by the referee and 17 penalties were handed out, five majors.

For Keene, Don. Bethune scored four and assisted on one, Ketch Sellaby banged in two, assisting on two, while Bob Heron had a big night with a goal and four assists, Al. Renwick scored a beauty to open the scoring, Elmhirst and Jim Heron also had assists. Kellett, Vasey and the Yearwood brothers scored for Minden who showed a good, fast team with the Yearwood brothers shining. Al. Renwick and Bob Heron stood out for the homsters with all the lads going well, especially the goalie.

Keene line-up: Goal, Colby; defence, J. Heron, Shelton, Whalen, Coit; forwards, McCarthy, Lang, Renwick, Sellaby, Bethune, B. Heron, Elmhirst, Edwards.

Referee: B. Romanyi.

Linesman: R. Bell.

Peewees Take Tilt

R. Brady's local peewee puckists, IUE-CIO, took an 8-2 exhibition hockey victory last evening over Hastings on the latter's ice. These boys have been staging exhibitions here and around the district during the winter season. They play this evening in Apsley.

Bob Moffatt led the local crew to their win Thursday with three goals and two assists. Art Danahey notched two markers, with singles going to Ron Paul, Gord Dalliday and Wayne Foley.

SUSPENDED 10 DAYS

OLDSMAR, Fla. (AP)—Tony DeSpirito, the leading U.S. rider of 1952, Thursday began a 10-day suspension for interference in a race at Sunshine Park. The track stewards ordered DeSpirito set down for his riding in the second race at Sunshine Tuesday. DeSpirito was riding Hush Money which finished fourth. The stewards said the jockey's mount bore over, causing two horses to pull up short.

Bomb Blows Up Edinburgh Mailbox

EDINBURGH (CP) — A mailbox bearing the Queen's new insignia was blown up by a bomb here Thursday night — apparently the work of Scottish nationalists.

The explosion was heard more than a half-mile away but no one was hurt and there was no damage except to the mail box.

Scottish nationalists strongly oppose any reference to the queen as Elizabeth II. They declare that Elizabeth I never ruled over Scotland which was independent during her 16th-century reign.

Thus, they argue that the present Queen is Elizabeth I — as far as Scotland is concerned.

Postal authorities recently began painting the Queen's insignia — "ER II" — on all government mailboxes. But the painting was suspended after nationalists dabbed one box with black paint and dropped into another a charge which did not explode.

Shocking Resistance By Czech Women

VIENNA (AP) — The Czechoslovak trade union paper Prace reported today a "shocking incident" of resistance by women in that Communist-ruled country.

"A shocking incident recently occurred in the Tesla factory in Prague - Holesovice," the paper said. "The women employees unanimously rejected orders to work at night, failed to carry out plant instructions and came during the afternoon instead of at night."

Prace didn't say what happened after that.

Syracuse Trips Hershey 5-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Syracuse Warriors walloped Hershey Bears 5-3 Thursday night and moved into fourth place in the American Hockey League.

Sam Casanato, moved from his usual wing position to a defence spot, scored three goals for the Warriors in the second period. Eric Pogue scored for the Warriors in the same stanza and Leo Curick sent a screened shot into the Bears' net for the fifth point in the final period.

The Bears hurled their only threat early in the second period when Lorne Ferguson's goal tied the score. Dunc Fisher and Obie O'Brien scored for the Bears in the final period.

WIN BC CURLING CROWN

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Tommy Bell skipped his Kelowna rink to the British Columbia high school curling championship Thursday defeating Nelson and Salmo in the replay for the provincial title. The Kelowna team beat Nelson 10-7 and then came from behind a three-point deficit in the seventh end to overtake the Salmo rink and win 10-8. The quartet will represent B.C. in the Dominion finals in Sskatoon.

Chatham Rink Wins Crown Downs Galt Foursome 11-9

TORONTO (CP)—Peter Gilbert of Chatham, who skipped a rink to the Ontario Curling Association championship in 1949, repeated again Thursday night when his foursome defeated Syd Smithers of Galt 11-9.

The victory gave the Chatham quartette—which includes two sons of the skip—the right to represent Ontario in the Canadian championships which begin March 2 at Sudbury.

The final was one of the most exciting in the history of the championship. The stars were Gordon Gilbert, who threw fourth rock for the winners, and skip Smithers of Galt.

Galt scored three on the first end, but Gilbert went in front on the fourth with a four, only to have Smithers knot the count on the fifth. Gilbert counted three on the sixth and was never caught.

On the final end, Gilbert was lying three with only four rocks remaining. Smithers drew him for a shot and then Gordon Gilbert came through a port to count.

Smithers came back with a perfect draw to the face of the Gilbert shot, but once again Gordon Gilbert drew in to the face of Smither's stone to count one for the victory.

Thursday night's finalists were the last of 129 rinks which entered competition three weeks ago.

In the consolation final Tom Beattie of Toronto Granites drew away from Jack Sands of Kingston in the final half of their game for a 10-7 decision.

Gilbert defeated Dr. A. C. Baillie of Orillia 6-4 to make the finals Haight of Hamilton Thistles 10-8 in his semi-final game.

Beattie gained the consolation final with a 13-2 landslide over Frank Smith of Owen Sound. Sands made it with a 7-5 win from the defending champion Dr. R. Clark of Peterborough.

Members of the championship rink are Peter Gilbert, the skip who throws first stones; Jim Harrington, second; Bob Gilbert, vice-skip and Gordon Gilbert who throws fourth rock.

REACH SPIEL FINALS

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Rinks skipped by W. W. Barnard of Owen Sound and Jack McVittie of Bracebridge Thursday entered the final round of the third annual Grey Granite Club bonspiel; Ivan Brown of Thornbury and W. McClure of Paisley will clash in the consolation event final.

IS THIS A GOAL?

A defending player tries to shoot the puck out of his zone. It hits the referee and deflects to an attacking player who shoots and scores. Would you allow this goal?

Yes, the goal counts. Only when the puck is deflected into the net directly from an official is the goal not allowed.

Tariff Board Finishes Public Hearing

OTTAWA (CP)—The tariff board concluded public hearings Thursday on one segment of a double-barrelled anti-freeze case and prepared to hold hearings on the other.

After several weeks of obtaining evidence and argument, the board reserved judgment on demands for a tariff interpretation which would boost the tariff on imports of anti-freeze glycol ingredients by at least 20 per cent.

The bid for a tariff boost was made by Dow Chemicals Ltd. and supported by several other Canadian companies. The board's decision likely won't be given for at least two weeks.

PRICE INQUIRY

Meanwhile, the board is in the last stages of an inquiry into the price spread of anti-freeze in Canada, requested by Finance Minister Abbott.

While Mr. Abbott has given no reason for the unusual request, it was believed he was prepared to knock down the 20-per-cent duty on manufactured anti-freeze, if the price in Canada was found to be too high.

Before the board reports to the minister it likely will hold a public hearing.

Labor Relations Board Reserves Judgment

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada labor relations board reserved judgment Thursday on an application by the Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada (Ind.) for certification as bargaining agent for a group of CBC employees.

The association seeks to represent more than 900 persons employed largely in administrative and clerical jobs.

At the 1½-day hearing before the board, the application was opposed by the CBC and by the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) and the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians (CIO-CCL), which are certified for other groups in the CBC.

Sale Vote Invalid

SARNIA (CP)—Some 81 Indians of the Sarnia reserve voted Thursday night in favor of selling 320 acres of reserve land to the Imperial Oil Company for $230,000 but there weren't enough of them at the meeting to make the vote legal.

Under government regulations, at least 50 per cent of the Sarnia band's membership of 191 must approved the sale before it can become valid. The vote fell 15 ballots short.

CLEMENCY DENIED—Julius (right) and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted of giving secrets to the Russians, have been denied clemency by President Eisenhower. The Rosenbergs had appealed their case to the President, after having been sentenced to death. The President's review of the case, however, did not alter the sentence.

New Approach To Seaway

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) said Thursday night he is hopeful for success of a new two-step approach to United States participation in the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Wiley said present tactics involve setting up a St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation in one measure. The second would provide funds for the necessary deepening of channels, especially in the St. Claire and St. Mary's rivers near Detroit.

The Wisconsin senator, who is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, said he would appoint a sub-committee on the development corporation to hold hearings shortly.

Addressing a Lincoln Day dinner, Wiley explained the corporation bill would enable issuance of $100,000,000 in self-liquidating bonds for the U. S. share of seaway costs. The channel funds would come from an amendment proposed to the rivers and harbors bill.

USED FOR CANALS

Corporation funds would be used mostly for building canals around international rapids in northern New York state.

As matters now stand, Wiley said Canada is proceeding with seaway plans on its own following failure of Congress to act favorably on U. S. participation at its last session.

"Canada would have the legal right to refuse us permission to take part in the project," Wiley said. "But I believe, on the basis of word from Ottawa, that the seaway can still be worked out on a partnership basis."

In his talk, Wiley cited the seaway as a "major job" for the new administration, on a par with balancing the budget.

Soldier Reunited With Sick Brother

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Pte. Allan W. Belore, of Courtland, Ont., was reunited Thursday with his dangerously ill soldier-brother in Westminster (Veterans) Hospital and his anxious parents after the army whisked him home on compassionate leave from Korea.

Six days after he left the 1st battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, in Korea on the compassionate flight home, he was at the bedside of his brother, Pte. Fred William Belore, a Korean veteran wounded Jan. 29 in a shooting accident near his Courtland home.

His brother, who returned from Korea last November on leave, received serious wounds in the pelvis when a friend's shotgun accidentally discharged.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Bell Arnott, widow of the late Dr. William J. Arnott, died in hospital here Thursday night after an extended period of ill-health. She had resided with her son, Fred, RR 10, London for the last 18 months.

Born in Tavistock, Ont., daughter of the late Fred and Jane Krug, she is survived by three sons, Stewart K., on the staff of the Owen Sound Sun-Times, William K. of Cobourg and Fred S., a member of the staff of the London Free Press. Mrs. Neil McVicar of Waterloo is a sister.

Funeral services will be held in Kitchener Monday with interment in Mount Hope Cemetery there.

Thomas Denies Vote Knowledge

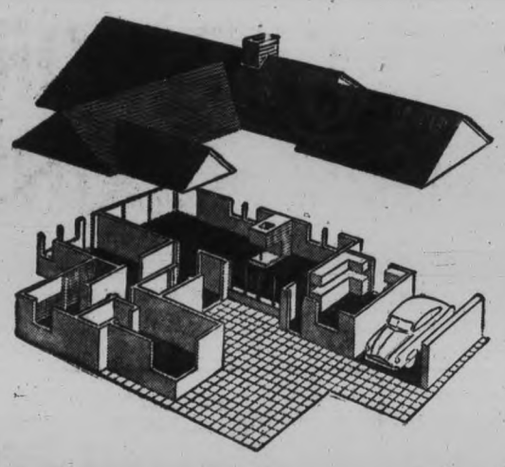
DELHI (CP)—Agriculture Minister F. S. Thomas of Ontario Thursday denied knowledge of a vote among tobacco growers to determine if they wanted a change in marketing organization this year.

In a telephone interview, Mr. Thomas said he could accept no responsibility for the statement made at an Aylmer meeting of the Elgin Tobacco Growers' Association last week that a vote would be taken among flue-cured tobacco farmers to determine if they want to do away with the Ontario flue-cured tobacco marketing association and adopt a marketing scheme under the Ontario farm products marketing act.

At the meeting, John McNab, St. Thomas, said farmer committees in the 14 Ontario zones were organizing the growers for a vote this spring to be taken under government auspices.

Sunday Sport Drive Has Been Checked

TORONTO (CP)—Officials of the Lord's Day Alliance said Thursday that representations of Canadian citizens and of the Lord's Day Alliance have checked a drive to introduce commercial sport and entertainment on Sundays.



At the annual meeting of the association it was reported that in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick, officials have been unwilling to introduce legislation comparable to Ontario's law on Sunday commercial sport.

The Rev. Ernest Marshal Howse of Toronto was elected president. Vice-presidents included the Rev. W. L. L. Lawrence of Hamilton and the Rev. J. A. MacInnis of Orillia.

Gruelling Training For 4 Canadians In Queen's Escort

By ART BRYDEN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Four officers of the 2nd Regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery have launched a gruelling program, preparing for one great day in the saddle.

Part of the sovereign's escort at the Coronation, they are out every day, rain or shine, in temperatures ranging down to 20 below zero, jogging around a paddock and across snow-covered fields, sharpening their riding technique under the patient tutoring of a watchful Dutch immigrant.

For another hour, they run through a strenuous program of physical exercises in the Fort Osborne barracks gymnasium. All this must be done in their spare time. Regular jobs are carried on as usual.

VETERANS OF KOREA

Headed by Lt.-Col. E. G. Brooks of Montreal and Winnipeg, the men, all Korean veterans, comprise the Canadian section of the sovereign's escort at the Coronation ceremonies of the Queen next June 2. Col. Brooks is officer commanding the regiment.

The group includes Lieut. H.E.E. Pepler of Oakville, Ont., Lieut. H. A. McLelland of Sarnia, Ont., and Major J. S. Orton of Ottawa. Major Orton is serving and training at Ottawa. The fourth member at Winnipeg is Lieut. D. R. Foster of Assiniboia, Sask., an alternate provided in case of sickness or injury to one of the other men.

On Coronation day the men will be in the saddle from early morning until late afternoon, a stretch of perhaps 10 or 12 hours. There will be no relief and no lunch. Each man must carry a ceremonial sword, point skyward, in his right hand while controlling his horse with the other hand.

A rigidly smart appearance must be maintained, even while the actual ceremony is in progress within Westminster Abbey and the escort is waiting outside.

The task calls for perfect physical condition and the ceremonial demands special riding training.

REQUIRES PERFECTION

Col. Brooks, a perfectionist by nature, is leading the way in a training routine, probably as tough as any in the men's military careers. The morning and part of the afternoon is spent at regular duties. The rest of the time is devoted to riding, exercises and preparing uniforms.

Frank Dopheide came to Canada less than 16 months ago from Holland where he was an instructor in Haarlan, a famous Dutch riding academy. He puts them through a strenuous period in the saddle. While the men circle him he stands in the centre of the paddock issuing instructions in English to the men and in Dutch to the horses.

Dopheide is employed by J. B. Richardson, a Winnipeg grain merchant supplying horses and a training ground on his summer estate near Winnipeg.

Each man saddles his own mount and unsaddles it when the workout is over. While the tutoring goes on each sheds his identity as an officer and obeys instructions.

WEIGHT IS FACTOR

When chosen for the group each man was given an exhaustive medical examination. Weight is important. Lieut. Foster, through diet and the tough schedule, has lost 28 pounds in the six weeks since the training started. The colonel is trying to keep his weight up.

Uniforms will be identical to the last detail. Every piece of leather will be scraped bare and polished with exactly the same shade. The black riding boots, which accompany the dark blue full dress uniforms to be worn in the parade, will get the same treatment.

Some time late in March the four men will go to Ottawa to embark on full-time training. They expect to receive horses identical in size and color.

After six weeks in Ottawa they leave for England in May. Col. Brooks hopes to spend some time training with the metropolitan police to accustom the horses to crowd noises, bands, the firing of salutes and particularly the whizzing of the ceremonial sword past their ears as it is lowered in salute.

Mornington Township Limits Phone Calls To Five Minutes

MILVERTON, Ont. (CP) — If Mornington township women are short on gossip these days they can blame the telephone company. A five-minute time limit on all rural party lines will halt marathon conversations.

Mornington township municipal telephone subscribers at their annual meeting voted to authorize operators to cut the connection on any conversation after five minutes.

Company commissioner John Atkin said the majority of offenders were women talking about "cake baking, putting the children to bed and the like."

The five-minute plan will be tried out for one year. The subscribers will vote on it again at their next annual meeting.

Milverton is 12 miles north of Stratford.

Rows Of Coffins Line Streets In Two Dutch Towns Of Dead

Written for The Canadian Press
By FRED EDGE

NIEUWE TONGE, Holland (CP) —The word "dodenstad" in Dutch means "village of the dead." Today in Holland it means the neighboring towns of Nieuwe Tonge and Oude Tonge on the North sea island of Overflackkee.

Before the water came, Nieuwe Tonge and Oude Tonge were picture-book Dutch villages, alive with the voices of Dutch women and children.

Today they lie silent beneath a drizzling rain, surrounded by the waters of the killer North sea.

Long rows of coffins line the ruptured cobblestone streets. Wall-eyed cattle, their crazy fright preserved in death, lie chained to their stalls. Rubber-gloved men silently probe with pitchforks, searching for bodies beneath the water-soaked rubble, and the houses tell their own story.

At Oude Tonge, in one house a young Dutch couple scooped up their two small children and roped them high in the rafters. Two days later when rescuers arrived the children were soaked but safe. Their parents were found crushed beneath a heavy sofa.

Everywhere are signs that warn against touching anything without wearing rubber gloves. All dogs and cats, because of the typhus infection from thousands of livestock carcasses, are being shot on sight.

Can't Return Indian's Skull, Haven't Got It

WASHINGTON (AP)—The great white fathers in Washington Thursday sent word to the worried Sioux Indians that they can't return Sitting Bull's skull for a very good reason — they haven't got it.

The Smithsonian Institution has one of the world's largest collection of skeletons, but Dr. T Dale Stewart said he's sure Sitting Bull isn't among them.

The whole thing came up when the Sioux Indians, through a Portland, Ore., lawyer, announced they were petitioning the Smithsonian to send back Sitting Bull's skull. A. W. O'Connell said the Indians figure only a proper resting place would permit his "valiant spirit to gain rest in the happy hunting grounds, rather than wander aimlessly."

TOURIST ATTRACTION

Stewart, curator of physical anthropology for the Smithsonian, said his records show Sitting Bull was buried in Fort Yates, N. D., and that the grave has been a tourist attraction for years.

Sitting Bull, the prominent son of Jumping Bull, once was one of the leading Indian menaces to the United States government. His refusal to return to his reservation in 1876 led to the campaign in which Gen. George A. Custer made his famous losing last stand.

And it was the threat of an Indian uprising later, in 1890 that caused the government to decide to arrest Sitting Bull in an attempt to squash it. Sitting Bull was surprised, captured and then killed when his followers tried to rescue him.

U.S. Price Ceilings Lifted On Eggs, Soap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government Thursday lifted price ceilings from poultry, eggs, soaps, gasoline, crude oil and all rubber products.

Altogether, thousands of items in 18 major commodity and service groups were decontrolled in the Eisenhower administration's second big move within a week to restore free markets.

Milk was kept under ceilings in a decision that reversed earlier reported intentions to free it from controls.

LONDON (CP) — Princess Margaret, kept indoors at Buckingham Palace for the last few days with a gastric chill, had another visit from her doctors today.

The Princess is up and about and the doctors said her condition is satisfactory.

A palace spokesman had no comment on a suggestion by Gordon Graydon, external affairs spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party, that Princess Margaret be invited to Canada to open the 22nd parliament in 1954.

Death, Prison Sentences Partly Avenge Massacre

By JEAN STENTON

Oradour - Sur - Glane, France's "Village of the Dead," was partially avenged today with the sentencing of one German and one Alsatian to death and 13 Alsatians and five Germans to prison terms ranging from five to 12 years. Twenty-five other members of the SS Das Reich division were sentenced to death in absentia.

"We will remember Oradour," has become almost a household phrase in France. To the French it recalls one of the most brutal of Nazi atrocities during their sojourn in their country in the closing period of the war. The massacre of 642 villagers, far from the fighting lines, will be engraved in their hearts for many years.

One bright sunny day in June 1944, the villagers were proceeding peacefully about their affairs when a special unit of Storm Troopers arrived from a neighbouring town. That was the day many of the school children in the surrounding areas had been brought to the village for special inoculations.

In a matter of minutes, the German troops were rounding the men up in the village and marching them to the square. All the women and children were herded into the church and locked in. As shots rang out, outside the building, and the frantic prisoners tried to find out what was happening, the first wisps of smoke and tongues of flame began licking at the corners of the church. As the men were cut down by machine fire outside, the other hapless civilians were being roasted alive. Later the whole village was set to the torch.

Six people of the village escaped, four were absent, one boy who hid in the grain fields and one woman who miraculously escaped from the burning building. When the sport palled the Nazis packed up their guns and deserted.

NATIONAL MONUMENT

Today, the French Government has declared Oradour-Sur-Glane a national monument in memory of the sufferings of their countryment who fought a battle of freedom though far from the front lines. The bodies have been carefully buried and the carnage cleaned up. But aside from that the ruins of the homes remain as they were when the enemy went away. In this house there is a baby carriaige sitting in a scorched kitchen; in that lunch dishes set on a table.

Many have made a pilgrimage to Oradour and it is a place where the visitor has no desire to talk. In summer it is once again a lovely village where flowers now growing wild, dot the streets. A sign near the church ruins, asks visitors regardless of creed to say a prayer for the victims of the massacre.

The French military court of Bordeaux trying 21 former soldiers of Hitler's Elite S S Guard has been winding up one of the most disputed judicial cases in recent French history.

Alsatian Georges-Rene Boos, 27, and German Karl Lentz, 38, were the two ex-sergeants handed death sentences.

BURNING CONTROVERSY

The long-delayed trial aroused a burning national controversy, because it involved defendants from the disputed border province of Alsace, controlled by Germany from 1940 to the end of the Second World War but now part of France. Lawyers for the 12 Alsatian defendants who had been conscripted into the German Army argued for acquittal on grounds they had been forced to serve the Germans and should not be held responsible for their actions.

While Alsatians called for clemency, relatives of those slain in the murderous sack of Oradour-Sur-Glane, demanded revenge.

Urges Using Warm Lake Water To Keep St. Lawrence Ice Free

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — In theory, the warm waters of Lake Ontario could be used to keep the St. Lawrence river ice-free all year round, a Canadian engineer says.

R. L. Wardlaw of Canada's national research council said Thursday that channeling lake water through the river bed would keep the St. Lawrence clear during the five winter months when ice blocks shipping.

Wardlaw addressed the 100 weather experts attending the annual eastern snow conference.

Wardlaw made clear that warming the St. Lawrence was "thermodynamically possible," but that he has not looked into the project standpoints.

A channel 60 feet deep would have to be dug and maintained through the river's 400 miles to carry the warm lake water, he said.

The water would have to flow at least three miles an hour to do its thawing job, Wardlaw said. This would require dikes to narrow the channel at the wider and more sluggish sections.

Cayuga Tribe Paid For Their Neutrality

OHSWEKEN (CP)—Members of the Cayuga tribe of the Six Nations Indians were paid Thursday for the neutrality of their ancestors in the American Revolution.

The actual money is paid into trust and the Indians collected their interest Thursday. However, most of it goes into social services keeping up the roads and public buildings of their reserve.

There are about 905 Cayuga families on the reserve here, southeast of Brantford.

1,500 People Killed In Village 'Quake

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Reports reaching the Iranian government today estimated that about 1,500 persons were killed Thursday when an earthquake virtually wiped out the village of Torroud, in northeast Iran.

Fifteen truckloads of soldiers and 16 army jeeps loaded with blankets, medical supplies and food were sent to the distressed area.

The reports indicated that there were no more than 50 survivors at the most in the village, approximately 90 miles from Shahrud.

The quake apparently occurred at noon Thursday. At that time a slight tremor was felt in Tehran but no damage was reported.

Rawther Jolly Time Enjoyed At U.S. Library Of Congress

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rawther jolly time at the Library of Congress Thursday.

A display of British humor, as distilled from the pages of Punch, the British funny magazine, opened and the British ambassador, and a large group of Britons, dropped around to help everyone get the point.

Verner W. Clapp, acting librarian, set the pace with this story:

Fellow asked the editor of Punch: "Why is Punch losing its wit?"

Editor: "Oh, it isn't losing it. It never had it."

Laughter.

"Good, excellent," said an English accent on my right.

Sir Roger Makins, the ambassador, was introduced. He said Punch is as "British as roast beef, when there is any. In fact, it's the rib of that roast."

DIFFERENCES IN HUMOR

Sir Roger pointed to the differences in national humor. He recalled that Bill Nye, the humorist, made two trips to Britain. On the second trip Nye found Britons had just started laughing at jokes he made on the first trip.

The ambassador said the Scots laugh indefinitely at the same joke.

Indeed, he said, he agreed with someone who said: "The Scots laugh immoderately at stated intervals."

"Very good, excellent," said the English accent.

But, Sir Roger said, as long as we understand each other's jokes we don't have to worry too much about the rest of our relationships. He then gave a sample of American humor.

A fellow climbs into a cab here in Washington. On the way down Pennsylvania avenue he notices a motto on the Archives Building. "the past is prelude." He asks the cabbie what it means.

"That's government language," says the hackie, "for 'you ain't seen nothing yet!' "

MORE IRONICAL

British humor, the ambassador said, is more ironical, more restrained, more given to understatement. He suggested sending American humor abroad on a trip similar to Punch's in the hopes of cross-fertilization.

Sir Roger said everyone could see he hadn't been able to resist an attempt to be funny in his remarks. But, he said, "I'm going to close my remarks without what you Americans call a 'punch' line."

"Very good, very excellent," said the English accent.

Carried away with it all, a photographer came up and told me he was glad they were serving sherry so no one could accuse him of being punch drunk.

I left, laughing moderately.

School Children Given View Of Court At Work

A real-life lesson in what happens to drivers who fail to obey traffic laws was given today to 16 schoolchildren who are doing their own share in helping to cut down accidents on Peterborough streets.

Members of the safety patrols of Confederation and St. John's schools were taken on a conducted tour of the police department by PC Don Mackay. They were able to talk with police officials and note many of the operations that are conducted at headquarters in the daily routine of law enforcement.

SEE DAILY ROUTINE

In the course of their tour of the building, the pupils were able to watch the desk sergeant receiving and checking reports from the various constables on patrol throughout the city; the dispatching of police to investigations of complaints received by telephone and the study of reports by detectives and other officials.

High point of the tour was a visit to police court where they saw the operation of justice in action. They heard crown evidence presented in connection with charges brought by police and watched defence lawyers arguing on behalf of their clients.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw welcomed patrol members to court and Magistrate W. R. Philp briefly explained court procedure.

"We are very glad to have the patrols here," His Worship said. "They may be able to learn something about our procedure here and what happens in cases of traffic violations, as well as how we deal with them."

PC Mackay had high praise for the patrol members of the two schools, which co-operated closely to provide protection for their fellow pupils on their way to and from school in the south section of the city.
